WE MADE a very pleasant visit to pastor C. E. Herbert and his church at Chester on last Sabbath. We were very agreeably impressed by what we saw. The church seems to be in a flourishing condition, and, of course, the pastor is happy. There, as everywhere we go, the work of preparing for conference is pushed with zeal. If we are not greatly mistaken, Chester will hold a proud place in the reports.

SECRETARY TOWNSEND wishes us to call the attention of the ministry to the necessity of sending the reports of conference in at once, Monday. He expects except real promptness on this point this year; so our missionaries must be waited on immediately. Besides this the Secretary wishes to settle up the results of the day immediately. His words the TEN THOUSAND to hand next week. It will require earnest and especial action of each minister to secure this to him.

IT IS A real big way that the real big men of African Methodism is TEXAS does things. Whether making a plea before the Governor in behalf of his unfortunate wife, or erecting a benevolent man in the proper way to dispose of his wealth to bless his race most, directing sinners to escape the wrath to come, looking after educational interests or dealing with the noble sovereign to throttle the whiskey power in his State, Rev. A. Grant shows up a noble, manly soul.

MR. CRADE VENA, one of the most prosperous of Xenia's (Ohio) citizens, will leave that place in a few days for Los Angeles, Cal., taking his family for a permanent residence there. Mr. Vena is a member of the A. M. E. Church. We commend him to our brethren of the Pacific Coast as a first class manhood (carpenter), a first-gifted man and fervent Christian. Despite the fact that our home is no longer in the neighborhood of Xenia, we feel that, personally, we were losing friends, being well acquainted with Brother Vena's family.

"SCHOOLS for Colored Men" is the subject of a recent paper in the New York Sun of Sunday, March 27th, by Mr. J. A. Ansekar, the colored Tragedian and editor of the New York Enterprise. He justly gives the schools to the African Methodist Church the first place in time among colored colleges; Union Seminary, out of which Wilberforce as a college in our connection sprang into existence in 1847, just forty years ago. The Fisk University, Howard University, Atlanta University, Virginia's University and the Tuskegee Normal all have a place in this well prepared paper. Mr. Ansekar comes in for a good share of praise for this enterprise, as well as of commendation for the loss of the Enterprise, his own newspaper.

IN THE Berean Sunday School Journal of the January issue, of the March issue, the question is raised as to whether the negro is a descendant of Ham. The Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner, editor of the A. M. E. Quarterly Review, read an able paper before the Preachers' Meeting, Monday, 28th ult., dealing with the journal's statement. It is well known that science has been a long while hattering away at Biblical truths; now it seems to have entered not the pulpit only, but also the Sunday schools.

Some of the largest societies in our connection ignore our own lesson system; persistently and ecclesiastically stickleg to others; set because they are steeper nor because better adapted to their needs than those published by our own Sunday School Union in Nashville, Tenn., set because these schools are better informed than the average; then why is it? It is high time all our schools had come to the support of their own departments. It may be that science will dethrone the Bible, but we are not prepared to believe it.

LAST FALL, while the editor was travelling, an article was published in the RECORDER in response to a paper written by Dr. Atwood, which was published in the October A. M. E. Review. Dr. Simmons sent his reply in early. Keeping that one reply would lead to another and having for many years believed that no question should long constitute a war field for Christians, we determined not to publish Dr. Simmons' reply. After due consideration, the arguments of the former paper having, in our personal character, we decided it so more than justice to Brother Simmons that he have an opportunity to reply. Hence the reply appears in this issue. Much could be said in response to the Doctor's argument, but unfortunately, so much of the paper to which it is a reply was written in a style that cannot be supported well. He was not critical our careful in his statements. Dr. Simmons' reply is all round to statements as made by Brother Barksdale. As a matter of fact, Methodists like to go right along with Baptists to the pin of leniency and they always come away quite as well satisfied and quite as well supported. This whole topic has been discussed much more extensively than it will be again, in all probability. Methodists and Baptists can live quite happily as neighbors reference to it, but thousands on either side cross to the other, on good record and denominational passports We Methodists and Baptists are both old enough to accomplished better results than can be shown.

NEXT SUNDAY is Easter. With all the tendency to measure up the scriptures by the line of modern science, the great fact of resurrection loses absolutely nothing in extraordinariness. The probability is that never in the past did the anniversary day of the Lord's rising from the dead receive so large attention as in the past ten years. Denominations that formerly passed over the day unceremoniously, or indifferently, now show their appreciation of the glorious idea in "he is risen indeed," that many of their churches are dressed in flowers and their little folks are taught the great truths clustering about and concentering in the Lord's resurrection with joy and song.

It is well that men's hearts are sometimes overcome and dominated by evil. Such is the case with Bishop Turner's letter. Why do we tarry around the cross till this late day? Why visit the tomb? Why still connect the great act of conquest of the grave with the season of each year when nature is laying of her somber shades and putting on her beautiful garments? Simply because we cannot help it. Religion is in our natures; it is in our hearts, the power of the resurrection and the life is promising aroused us. Circumstance admonish us of our own approach to the tomb and hope points us to the resurrected Jesus Thee bring flowers and songs, prayer and praise, joy and love, truth and devotion—by them all at the feet of him who has gained the victory over death and given to us the power of everlasting life.

THE "frequent rallies" attending most of our work are bad in effect. They tend to unsettling regular systems of church support and train the people as well as the preacher to depend upon them. There are probably many churches we know, for the camp meetings of summer to have their rallies to pay what might easily be paid between now and camp meeting time by systematic giving. Much of our trafuing with reference to general work is seriously injurious to growth. Almost everything of this character is deferred till the day, or some day, appointed for the collections by too many churches. Local missionary societies exist in too few churches. Hundreds of ministers have no organized missionary work. Their collections for missions are near the end of the conference year; sometimes regularly, but frequently the moneys for missions, conference contingencies and education, with other interest, occasionally Dollar Money, are taken in a lump, just before going to conference and divided arbitrarily by officers and pastors. Sometimes even a part of the pastor's salary comes out of this fund. It is possibly true that there is as much money raised as by regular system, yet it is hardly probable. The method is an truer to law than it is to the interest of people and pastor. Of course it is not as easy master to exhange from this to a better system; for the people, overstrained by their efforts to send their pastor to conference well prepared to report, are unable to enter upon the work of giving as once after conference. But it can be done. The year in which five-eights of our whole church adopts it, as a few have already done, it is reasonable to believe the congregations of whom people is not superior to that of many places in that part of our country from which the echoles of slavery fell so recently. This is not because they have not had half respectable schools for a half century, so that two full generations have been offered their advantages, not because they could not have read the better books and improved their character as a people, but they have been shut up in their own selfishness and narrowness; in no other respect more than many of the songs they have sung, methods of collecting moneys, embodying service and training money of the prayerful feats of religion. Of course this is an abnormal term, physical feats of religion. We refer to the geographical feats, the literature of religion and the exercise of religion, the financial life. Respecting all this our false notion that we must continue to do as we have been doing must be held responsible very largely. Our brethren in the Sisters had recently released from bondage could certainly be surprised to retire many churches in the land favored with freedom for fifty years to observe their institution to stick to old things that are not profitably unreasonable, and some that are wrong. This is song especially. Our young educated brethren sometimes seem to feel that they must keep up old useless songs that never had much meaning and now have less, by issuing them as "original," selling them at from five to ten cents each, and being considered "able men."

As to our methods of conducting worship is about as good as those of other in the main, but our methods of getting money in many cases are not at all commendable. It is, as a rule, not the people, but the preacher who is responsible for a church remaining from one-half to two-thirds as long to raise a few dollars as they had done in worship. It has a deleterious effect upon the tendency of our young people to spiritual worship, upon that of all the people to orderly worship and a proper sense of church responsibility. It necessitates the growth of false notices respecting ministerial duties and church capabilities. It reduces church management largely to a mixture of boast, jolliness, falsehood, foam and foolishness. Oftimes it causes persons to do more than they really ought to do in order to get relief from the effect of impotently. Our practice of propounding the lists almost every Sunday to raise ordinary sums, and our sticking to a congregation twenty or thirty minutes to raise from one to two dollars, are among the chief features—features that reduce very valuable sermons from our connection. As ministers we can do much to educate our people into better habits—habits that will not cause us to remain weak, but will elevate the whole man, promote spiritual life, and increasing in the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus.

Leaving our churches to look into our Sunday schools; we find much needing that needs changing. The nill ytem of studying the scriptures in the order in which they occur in the Book brought very fair results from those who paid very respectable attention to study. Our lessons selected by the uniform system of taking our Sunday school studies, as some men select them for es, and having even questions and answers printed, is doing little good where the minister, superintendent or other person does not take the lesson in hand and see to it that the questions and answers of the lessons shall be considered as a means to an end.

There are Sunday schools that have gone over the last three months but treasured and g ties scarcely a new idea, having a very limited number of old ones, simply because they have not been taught. Teachers have read the questions from the "leaf" without study, paid no attention to read replies from the "leaf" without study, and the superintendent has reviewed the school by reading the questions, without any preparation. When shall we ever get out of present ruts and this kind of marching? Do we intend to keep our people where our fathers left them by teaching only what they taught, and in no better way? The talk that our people will not be elevated by better methods is all a mistake. We are bring them into better methods. They are being brought into them by the thousands under others. We must do so, or our declination will be equal to our growth.

THUGHTS ON EASTER.

BY MRS M. B LEE.

Again Easter, beautiful Easter, is here. No festival day, unless it be Christmas, brings such joy to Christians or to all humanity, as Easter. Considered in its two-fold nature, it is an occasion of temporal and spiritual rejoicing.

Oetars, Ostor, Angelo-Saxon Easter, the goddess of light, and of spring among the northern European nations. In their rude manner of living, with the few necessities which they had for comfort, winter was a season of severe cold and intense suffering. The most comfortable homes were ill fitted to assuge protect the inmates from the howling winds and sleet and snows of winter. Therefore they may have had their winter sports, to them the winter was long and dreary, so with joyful anticipation they looked forward to the time when the woodlands and fields would be free from snow, the ice would be melted in the springs and streams, the frost come out of the ground, the sun's rays become be higher and stronger, and this time would come, sooner or later, some time in the month of March, when they would see the primroses, the violets and daffodils, followed by all the host of spring flowers. The limpid flowing of the streams, the gentle murmuring of the brook, the soft twittering of the birds and the various animals which surrounded the hills and valleys, all these things they looked for and received and beautiful Spring bedecked with flowers, and filled with joy the beasts; and they imagined that the beautiful Goddess Easter descended, bringing them comfort and abundance of honor of her they held a celebration of feasts, honoring her with sacrifices.

At this time of the year, fac in the east, when there are no flowers to gather and the sun was ever high, God ours manifested his power to deliver those who trusted in him. Then it was that the Paschal lamb which was sprinkled on the lintels and door posts became the Passover of the Hebrews. This festival was instituted in memory of those Israelites in Gasport had been worshiping in the "leaf" without study, paid no attention to read replies from the "leaf" without study, and the superintendent has reviewed the school by reading the questions, without any preparation. When shall we ever get out of present ruts and this kind of marching? Do we intend to keep our people where our fathers left them by teaching only what they taught, and in no better way? CORRECTION OF A "RECORDER" STATEMENT.

BY REV. J. F. A. SIMON.

MR. EDITOR:—In "A sketch of Bishop A. W. Wayman," base of Records February 3rd, some mistakes are made. Bishop Wayne did not gather our people in Virginia, at Norfolk and Petersburg, as the sketch in particular I refer to states, "It was by the prompt and intelligent action of Bishop Wayman in 1865 that the Rev. Thomas M. E Church in Norfolk, Va., with 850 members, and several classmen, was added to the Baltimore Annual Conference as the M. E. Church." These are the main facts: The Bute Street M. E. Church, South, Norfolk, more than 1,000 Portsmouth M. E Church, South, 250 members, and Gasport Church, of the South, Isaacsmith, 50 members, were aporoached by me; I told them that the M. E. Church, the colored Bishops, of the possibility of their ministers being ordained, of the pending the year 1865 and that they would go under their own "vina and fig-tree." Bishop Joshua Soule, M. E. Church, told them of Bishop Payne, proposed to them to take action on the matter. They did so, and by voting to join the African M E Church, and request that I be sent to write to Bishop Payne for them. This I did. He sent Elders A. W. Wayman and M. M. Brown to Norfolk as to the situation of affairs. They returned to Bishop Payne, then in Philadelphia, and Rev. Dr. Ellis, Fellowship and Portsmouth, accompanied by Elder Wayman and Brown, and there received the three societies formally and officially into the A. M. E. Church. Within the two excellent brick churches were consecrated to us in their titles: one in Norfolk and one in Portsmouth. The Rev. Dr. Ellis in Gasport had been worshiping in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of which they were members. Rev. Dr. Ellis, with Rev. Dr. Soule, South, organized Bute Street, were separate congregations, and colored. In their Conference held in Norfolk, Va., they were regarded as the whites to the M. E. Church, South, Isaacsmith, and Gasport, Jesus, the Christ, was slain for us; and His blood was shed, during the Passover, the Passover he arose. It was finished, and the glory of the resurrection glowed in the heavens. Then it was that Mary Magdalene, the weeping, mystical unknown, became a robbed of the victory and death of its sting.

The death and resurrection of our Saviour fill the Christian's heart with more love, gratitude and exultation even than the birth, which was the cause of these glorious effect. The Christian now can say:

"Welcome the tomb,
Since Jesus has lain there; I fear not its gloom.
There's not be my rest till he bids me arise
To hail him in triumph ascending the skies."

With joyful hearts we shall hail the beautiful Easter, so fraught with significance for a glorious and joyful hope and joy! Then bring the lowly, lovely flowers, earth's offerings, the shrics and hope of life.

THE VICTORY.

BY A. R. WOODBY.

All day long had the two contending armies fought with deadly conflict; all day long had the cannon roared and the shot and bomb-shells fallen; all day long had the drums been heard, and at last the battle was over and the shout of victory was heard, "We have conquered!" the plain and was re-echoed again and again.

It was a victory, a grand, a glorious victory. For the Unionists, though far outnumbered by the forces of the enemy before them as the fire in the forest is overcome by the waters that quench them dear, no doubt; for look upon the field of battle, and there are to be seen dead forms, soiled with the many stains of battle, still to the world of spirits.

At one end of the field lay a dying soldier, his life-blood ebbing fast away, but at the cry of victory the little life that still clung to that once beautiful body was aroused, and with renewed energy he cried:

"Comrade, comrade, are we victorious?"

"We are," replied the comrade, bathing the dying soldier's temples and rested them. Yes, we've driven them from the field of battle, we've conquered."

"Oh, I'm so glad," replied the other; "help me to my feet, comrade; I'm a little weak, but I want to join in the victory, too."

"You cannot stand, my boy; you are too badly wounded. There's a wound in your side and one in your left leg."

With a gasp the wounded boy fell back upon the ground and in a hoarse whisper said:

"I feel so cold; the dew falls fast. 'Tis all the night of death I fear, but I go beyond and meet my poor old mother, who has long since gone before. I like many others, never thought of my poor old mother's comfort when she was dependent on me. When the call for volunteers was made I was among the foremost to go, and I was among the first to respond. My mother begged me not to. She said, 'No, my son, for you have remembered how haggard she looked and how her voice was choked with sobbing, 'but I am willing to give up my mother, who has loved and cared for me so long, for my country, for the colors!'

"Yes, I'll send you all my money, mother,' I said; 'we get pay in the army.'

"To get the money, my son. True, we are poor, but we are comfortable, and I wanted to keep you, my lonely child.'

"Mother,' I said, drawing myself up and buckling on my traps, 'my country first. My country calls me, I must go. My country, dear, my mother always, and with a burried kiss I dashed away. Many years have I been a soldier boy here amongst strangers; we left that night for the battle field. Three days since I received a letter from a friend telling me that mother was dead and buried. She died, he said, of a broken heart.

"She asked him to send me her old Testament and to tell me that she prayed it for her sake, and say that she had gone home to await the coming of her boy. Comrade, I have been true to my duty, as has caused me many tears. Don't fet about me, but when I am gone, without funeral ceremonies. You will have it hard enough without them. Bury me in semi-slavery. Entreating readers, read this and act accordingly.

NOTE FROM REV. J. H. BUCKNER.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire to state that I have prepared, with written documents, printed records, facts and figures, to sustain all that I have said in my letters on the above question, notwithstanding Rev. S D W. Smith's "Much Needed Correction" I have no desire to enter into a controversy through the RECORDER. I asked for space to give a brief history of the move, which I have done, giving facts, figures and results. I am satisfied that when the first United General Conference meets, all that is of importance will be produced, and all that is necessary to be done will be.

NEW YORK NOTES.

HOSLEY.—The A. M. E. Church is starting up under the faithful leadership of Rev. J. R. W. West.

BETHEL.—Rev. Simon P. Shaw, D. D., and pastor of Bethel Church, has been blessed in this work. The trustees are taking steps preparatory to the erection of an entertainment for church benefit.

ST. JAMES.—Rev. J. M. Brown is in good condition. The parsonage master has been signalled by the sanctification of trustees and their successors forever—the same has been filed in the clerk's office against the property under the control of the Chicago Agency say.

ZION.—There is a general disposition on the part of police justices to look after the cases of petit larceny, deserving about as much punishment as tresspass, and to regard an attempt at criminal assault as a man's misdemeanor and nonsense, for which a fine is the proper penalty. Rev. Dr. Ellis is diligent on what seem to women to be the most frivolous charges, and when the offenders are convicted, the sentences bespeak no regard for the cause of the offenders. What reasonable man would consider at the court that the attempt of similar crimes, the frequent insults in which the most virtuous women are subjected upon our streets."

The only way to check these crimes against women published as they deserve, is to have women share the law-making with men. Then such outrages would not protect itself. The vote protects. When all the women engaged in benevolent but half-fruits saloons will make common cause with the suffragists in demanding the power to defend as many of them already do—it will not be long before the whole will be in the meantime to surrender petit jurors to the mercy of the grand jury, but this would certainly soon be secured when bad votes and could serve on juries.

Dr. Hall relates this touching incident of Henry Ward Beecher's departure from Plymouth Church for the last time: On Sunday evening, after the congregation had retired from it, the organist and one or two others were practicing the hymn,

"I heard the voice of Jesus say,
Come unto me and rest."

Mr. Beecher, doubtless, with that tire that he always felt on Sunday evening, remained and listened. Two weeks after were prompted to wander into the building, and one of them was standing, perhaps in the position of the boy whom Bethsai has immortalized, gazing up at the organ. The old man, laying his hands on the boy's head, uttered his face upward and blessed him, and with his arms about the two, left the scene of his triumphs, he retain and his successors forever.—Western Christian Advocate.

AFRICAN METHODIST IN ROCHESTER, N. Y.

BY REV. W. S. KRATZ.

All that is in danger is not lost. Always was and always will. I have been a member of the A. M. E. Church 20 years, and under beloved Bishop J. M. Brewer most of that time. Last year he was appointed to the city by the appointed Bishop B. H. Can, whose works can show. The Lord was with him and in him with seven members and six Sunday school children. Now we have 60 members and fifty Sunday school pupils. Six professed Christians have been converted. We have paid $100 on the old church we sold have years ago cannot be found, for owned and church built the debaters. The parsonage was without a stove, and I bought one. The Lord put it into the heart of Brother Burrell and he furnished it and made other improvements. Brother Booker has been assigned to the work at once. Brother Burrell has consented to leave all for safety and he remained Christmas. Here he married a his second wife and remained till the spring of 1886.

Again was he compelled to flee, this time to Canada. He settled in Amherstburch, Ont., where he remained till 1870 when he came to Rochester. For several years past he has suffered from rheumatism and its infirmities of old age, but still he was unable to care for himself. In this condition only two of his children, who had married, proved the first commandment with promises—Mrs. Mary Jackson and Mrs. Hannah Ulsary. The latter, a young widow with three children, has been left to work hard, day and night, to give him comfort in his declining years. After the death of his wife he came to reside with the faithfulness of older brothers. For several years past he has suffered from rheumatism and the

TEARS TEACH MORE THAN BOOKS.

Among other valuable lessons imparted by sickness is the fact that for a very long time Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has been the prince of liver correctives, and the friend of sufferers, being the household physician of the poor man, and the consulting physician to the rich patient, and praised by all for its perfect and thorough efficacy in all diseases of a chronic nature, as malarial poisoning, ailments of the respiratory and digestive organs, and liver disease and in all cases where the blood is impure or the system is debilitated.

CATARRH CURED.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease, was healed, and vastly trying every known remedy, at last found a prescription which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to Dr. Lawrence, 212 East 9th St., New York, will receive the recipe free.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

after a trial of nearly half a century, is universally conceded to be the best ever discovered. It is agreeable to the taste, mild, being highly concentrated, only a small dose is needed.

An old lady of eighty, Mrs. Mary H. Jones, of Rockport, Ind., after forty years of suffering from a frightful form of scrofula, pronounced Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills a perfect cure. Frank Jones, 262 Eighth ave., New York, writes: "I suffered from impurities of the blood, which showed itself in troublesome eruptions and sanitary blotches on my face, neck, etc. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. I had previously tried many reputed blood-purifiers without benefit."

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 14, 1887.

IN THE Eastern cities Easter has much more attention, as a rule, than in Western cities.

WE INTEND to relieve the Book Concern from its indebtedness next fall and place it upon a good business basis. Will you aid us?

THE EASTER decorations and services in Philadelphia churches were very attractive. At our city churches, Bethel, Allen Chapel and Mt. Pisgah. There were good speakers, sweet flowers and sweet songs.

ALREADY orders are coming in for what is probably the lowest price hymn books ever sold at the A. M. E. Publishing House. Presiding elders are wisely seizing the opportunity to supply their district with books. That is right. Our pastor in the Philadelphia Conference took fifty hymn books.

REV. JAMES MADISON, of the Missouri Conference, A. M. E. Church, delegated by his conference, recently bore fraternal greetings to the General Missionary Conference of the M. E. Church, in session at Sedalia, Mo. In his address he gave an outline statement of the material and spiritual wealth of our connection.

IN THE Yonge People's Musical, Social and Literary Society of Allen Chapel, Philadelphia, there is established a Richard Allen Literary Club, the object is to encourage persons to save odds and ends of their moneys. The establishment is under a good system. It would be wise for fifteen hundred other churches to imitate this example.

THE people of Allen Chapel, this city, gave their pastor, Elder Coppin, an entertainment April 5th, with a purse of $10. Brother Coppin has served them three years faithfully. His works in all legislative ways are plain and prominent. So the people think, and from the apparent signs, would be glad to have him remain another year.

THE ELECTIONS of last week made Rhode Island a democratic State, Michigan a non-prohibition State and Chicago Cincinnati republican. Who can foretell the ways of politics? The labor vote played a strong hand in those elections. This shows the increased dissatisfaction aroused by this power of the pressesinfes capital to respect the poor as well as all men to be careful how they exercise their power.

AMONG the many hints and advice to the next General Conference might be inclended the advice to correctness in statistics. In 1880 our report on education contained a list of students, some of whose works had not, nor yet have, any existence. In 1884 similar incorrect statements occured relative to our schools. At least $10,000 worth of non-existing school property was included. This is foolish and it is wrong. We have no Garfield University, Ward Normal School nor Turner Academy.

WEST GRESTON, PA., has been mentioned in this paper frequently, so has its pastor, Rev. L. C. Chambers, but it is a place, and he is a man, worthy of mention. There is probably no place in the State where an equal proportion of colored men are engaged in mercantile and mechanical business for a living. There are two very good groceries kept by colored men. Elder Chambers is completing his second year's work there in the second serire, in having served the place three years in a previous series. His work has been blessed in all respects.

WHY MAY not a minister be appointed to the same charge twenty-years as legally as six years in one conference? The law is as favorable to the one as to the other. The five and six years' appointmetns will ultimately create more trouble than they will avert. The place where time limitation exists is right where the defiance of law begins. Is it wise to stop over the line? On the other side weeds grow much more rapidly than on this side. They will not require much time to gain a general compromise of this single law point and, in addition, scatter their seeds over the entire legal field of our Church.

IN ITS VERY fine illustrations and writings of "The New South" the Harper's Weekly makes showings that are encouraging to all who love humanity for its own sake and love this earth for humanity's sake. As of years, so every painting of the South, "new" or old, shows that the labor is in the hands of the black race and the mind of the white race. The new South could afford to place more of its business into the mind of its black citizens, and they can afford to get hold of it. Colored Americans of all sections must seize the vantage ground of the present in attaching themselves to large business interests.

ON THE 5th inst, Philadelphia passed into the hands of a new municipal administration, republican, like its predecessor. The Mayor, Mr. Edwin H. Fitler, has the fullest confidence of the citizens. The late administration was unsatisfactory to a large majority. The present administration is the first to control the city under the new law known as the Bullitt law, according to which the chief magistrate has the appointment of chief over the respective departments and who have full charge of the operatives in their departments. The Director of Public Safety is ex-Mayor Stokley, who is known as an untiring hunter of dives and slums. Already he has manifested this peculiar characteristic.

O, THAT we could be induced to think of the inevitable consequences of disregard for the laws under which we have agreed to act. Last Sunday was not Missionary Day in all our churches. In some it was quarterly meeting day, though for that another day would have done quite as well, but the pastors so-strictly set the law in defiance. It was their way. It is very unfortunate that on these days, fixed by General Conference for certain duties, there is not sufficient feeling of loyalty to assure us absolute co-operation in all the laws of the Church. Young ministers, of all men, should be careful' to "keep our laws, not amend them" nor discard them. All the beauty of order and the sweetness of harmony are discarded as well as the law. Brethren would think it strange if they were held before the conference to answer for this indifference to law, but why should they not be so held? How they not violated their obligations? Our obligations are very sacred and very valuable. Next Sunday will not do as well as last Sunday.

THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE bill is disorganizing business considerably. Among the first acts of the commission will be that of interpretations that are really modifications of the law. Some of our strongest democratic papers, as the New York Herald and Atlanta Constitution, claim that the new law does for labor and gentlemen designated as colored what the annulled civil rights law did; as it provides against discrimination by railroads against my traveler. There is little doubt that this incident all we send ask so far as law goes, but what is law when it does not agree with the public sentiment? It is clear that the formation of the law, like the greater part of the works of this nation, forgot that this unfortunate element, the colored brother, was about, much less that he might make their law troublesome to them. However, it requires only the decision of the Supreme bench, that is the mind of the legislators and the chief executive nothing like giving the colored American a chance of self-protection under the law was in the mind of Congress, and that, therefore, colored persons as well be satisfied that they have already more rights than they deserve. That will settle it.

THE LETTER of Bishop Brown, together with the circular, is just what we are pleased to hear. Few utterances in our official documents or advisory lists have been better received than in this way. The impression seems too general that the Publishing House has had enough help. So we might say of every ailment of civilization. The business men of the country are not of that type required of it for many years. Doing this has embarrassed it, as similar deaf has done the publishing house of other religious sects. The business of the publishing house would take care of itself after being once put upon such basis as the Bishop's article suggests. Being once relieved of its embarrassments it would do a hundred fold more work and give the Church literature a much better rates. The money paid in this sort would thus prove a highly profitable investment to all of our Church members. The turning the benefits of a year of good-giving and good-by-making on account of the providence that has led and assisted us a hundred years will be one of the best means of perpetuating African Methodism another hundred years. For by its literature a church organization will be known in the future to a large extent. Certainly church work depends very greatly upon this means. As Bishop Brown says, the Publication Department is the general service department of the connection and the pioneer department among the others. This would not be a bad thought for the others to absorb. Next November is close to our General Conference. What an inspiration to our conference to legislate relative to our Book Concern, without the complexities of its indebtedness in its way! We urge our brethren to think on these things.

"MORAL EDUCATION is a humbug" says a worthy cosctemporary. Well might the editor expect this to be a startling announcement, though to Christians it is more humiliating than startling. The legitimate inference is, that the popular paper will cease to teach morals. It is wrong if not useless to teach humbuggery sed nonsense. Shelly said, "Christianity is a lie." The proposition is no more revolting than this under consideration. The Christian world believes that the education of the moral nature is the legitimate work of Christianity. From the preaching of John the Baptist to the present, the coming to God by Christ Jesus has been associated with bringing forth fruit meet for repentance, walking in the light as he is in the light, doing those things, hearing one another's burdens, mortifying the flesh, doing unto others as one would like to be done by, laying apart all filthiness and superfluity of unrighteous; be not deceived, God is not mocked; whatsoever a man sow that shall he reap. They that sow to the wind reap the whirlwind; so walk that men may see your good works, which God is not unrighteous to forget. So run that you may obtain. Every man inspired by the hope of being like him, at his appearance purifieth himself. Let us not love in word neither in tonger, but le deed sad in truth. Little children keep yourselves from idols. Protect your bodies a living sacrifice, which is your reasonable service, and be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind.

It would be fair to infer that the editor was out when this proposition was written did he not intimate that the utterance relieves him of what he has had shut up within him for years. A humbug is something to feed on in the face of the sad state of existing morals, in the face of the efforts of the Christian Church, in the face of Almighty God. Newspapers cannot afford to oppose Christianity. They should be made to bow to the Christian cause; but the Christian cause is the cause of morality. Nothing said in the article referred to redeems it, for the proposition stands as the caption of an editorial—a clear, simple, categorical proposition in plain, unmodified English. It cannot be explained away; because it cannot be misread. What will our respected exchange do with it?

There is not so much in the proposition to startle as there is to awaken regret and humiliation. If moral education is a humbug wherein lies the good of the blood of Christ? He taught that men are blessed in exercising the moral nature consistently with the higher nature; that we are brothers' burdens, subduing and controlling all other personal powers by the moral judgment. He evidently did not mean that all this should result from esteeming moral education not consistently in discipleship, "doing these things," whatsoever I have commanded you."

MR. WANAMAKER'S NOBLE DEED.

Last Friday evening the princely dry goods merchant, John Wenamaker, called his 3,500 employees together at his mammoth store and delivered an interesting and Market streets, Philadelphia, to inform them that hereafter everyone having been in his employ—not even years would share in the net earnings of the great establishment. So Mr. Hands becoming the current year. Mr. Wanamaker says the sum to be thus distributed this year eannot be far from $100,000. The dividends will be struck on the basis of the wages received, as well as positions, amount of sales, salary, etc.

This generous arrangement was simultaneously by Mr. Wanamaker's having completed twenty-five years of almost unparalleled business success that day.

TO '88 INTIMIDATORS.

"Some men might right the RECORDER on every week and I believe their articles would appear regularly. When we see a man, and I think the RECORDER a man and man, I think the RECORDER is common property. I don't see why we should support it sey longer, since it appears to be purely a private concern. I guess I will be heard in 1888." So writes a good minister of the A. M. E. Church because the RECORDER would not publish a notice reflecting upon the character of another minister. Because we believe in the RECORDER to support the belief that say man might get his articles published every week, excepting that for years there has been an effort made by both the present and former editors to have a few regular correspondents to secure a few regular correspondents. But the effort is always unsuccessful, because the paper is too small to permit the display and space which we should like to give to matter, that discriminates against our people on account of color. In all other proiections country a man passes for what he is worth, let him be black, white or any other color.—Xenia Gazette.

Literature.

Vick's Magazine for April concludes among other interesting issues papers on culture, agriculture, etc., interesting articles on "Early Potatoes," "Cottage Designs," "Pear Blight," "Rearing and Training Tomatoes," "Pruning Indoor Roses," "Restoring Branches to Trees," and "April Work."

The April Penny embraces in its contents stories, poems, sketches historical and biographical, teeming with present truths and patents, with life adapted to the needs of its every reader. The Easter poem, as well as the paper on "Some Remarkable Women," are of inspiration, and interest. The former as adapted for a recitation, and the latter being a sketch of Frances E. Willard, with a good portrait, illustrated throughout. $1 00 a year. Boston: D. Lothrop Company.

Joseph Howard, Jr., the widely known journalist and intimate friend of Henry Ward Beecher for the past fifty years, is engaged upon a life of the great preacher and orator, which will no doubt be the standard work as Mr. Howard is in close relation with Mr. Beecher, and his lastly won popularity as a writer, are an assurance of a work of peculiar interest and value. We learn the work is to be brought out by Hubbard Brothers, of Philadelphia, who are employing the best humorous artists in the country to illustrate it, and who are bringing it out the spring at a popular price by subscription. Miss Holly issued all last season amid the whirl of fashion in Saratoga, and takes of frilles, flirts, fans, pug dogs, low-neck dressing, etc., in a style that is overflowing with humor and nature, and must create a great sensation.

W. H. Harrison, Jr., Publishing Co., of Chicago have in press a valuable treatise on orthoepy, the science of pronunciation, by Prof. E. B. Warman, A. M., of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago, who is, without question, one of the best orthoepists in America. This treatise goes more thoroughly into the details of articulation, enunciation and pronunciation than has ever been done before. The work contains an appendix of over 5,000 words that are apt to be mispronounced, giving the correct pronunciation of each word and also the authority for the same. The author has given many years of earnest study and research to this subject, and has produced a work that will commend itself to everyone.

Under the alliterative title, "Celebrities of the Century," the Cassell Publishing Company will soon publish a most important work, which has been in course of preparation for two years. As the title implies, it is a biographical dictionary of the century, containing brief but condensed accounts of the lives of every person who has become in any way prominent during the years from 1800 to 1887, no matter what quarter of the globe they may have lived in. The work is one which is in one large volume of convenient arrangement, is edited by Lloyd C. Sanders, of Christ Church, Oxford. Among the principal contributors are—Wilfrid S. Blunt, Dr. Robert Brown, Hall Caine, H. Sutherland Edwards, H. Barton Baker, Edmund W. Gosse, Dr. R. Garnett, T. E. Kebbel, J. Cotter Morison, Sir F. T. Palgrave, Clement K. Shorter, Lane-Poole, G. Barnett Smith, Prof. Andrew Seth, and Mr. F. Wedmore. The biographies of celebrities have been written or by and under the supervision of well known American writers.

The Rev. Joseph Cook has arranged with the Hand Avery Company for the exclusive right to publish the Boston Monday Lectures for the present course. They are to appear once a week in the form of some pamphlet form, magazine size, in large type on fine paper. They are to be thoroughly revised and copyrighted by Mr. Cook, and are to be the only authentic reports of his lectures. Just as the course of lectures has been given for twelve years without any aim at pecuniary profit, but as a means of grace, so the latter; hence "to do the right as God gives us to see the right" is paramount to all ideas of doing what will capture a General Conference. All deceit seen among as must be disgusted at the extra amount of mats gush and twaddle exercised through the RECORDER and many other means eighteen months before each General Conference about claims of individuals upon the franchise of General Conference. Everyone who observes widely and closely must be disgusted with the machine in ecclesiastisism. Shame should be used instead of the word "disgust." There are men at work an annual conference delegate states, and General Conference slates, who might accomplish much more good by applying their strength to the duty lying nearest. Does the Church owe these busy, ambitious men anything? We think not; so brother—brethren—don't count the editor in among those who are preparing a bill of claims to present to the A. M. E. Church through its '88 General Conference.

P. S.—Will you write Mr. Anderson, only a race writer, but a press writer. The patriots of the Revolution had been inspired more by the noble and burning words of the young African girl, Phillis Wheatly, than by the skill of a slander and defiance form. Her constitution was very frail, and the climate of a mostern home proved to be too severe and healthy. Early in the winter of 1773 she was so poorly that her mistress, Mrs. Wheatly, took her to Europe. She was placed in the care of Mr. Peter Thacher, a merchant of Boston in 1761. Phillis Wheatly was then seven years old, a slender, frail child, with a native modesty and sweetness of disposition that won the love of all who knew her. Her mistress, Mrs. Wheatly, and her daughter, Mary Wheatly, an old Scotsman, Mr. Lucas, and others knew her intimately, and she was frequently their guest. She was a favorite with Governor and General Washington, and often wrote him letters which were full of poetic verse or two, modestly enjoining him. The following is a letter to from Washington:

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 28, 1776.

Miss PHILLIS:—Your favor of the 26th of October did not reach my hands till the middle of December. Time enough, you will say, to have given an answer to the many letters I had written me before that time. The compliments you make me on account of my Christian profession.

I thank you, good lady, for the favor, and am obliged to you for your polite notice of me in your elegant lines on the death of General Mongomery, and for the favor of your company, if you should ever incline to favor Cambridge with a visit. I assure you I should be very happy to see a person so favored by the muses, and to whom nature has been so liberal and bestowed her choicest gifts profusely. Wishing you success in your poetical as well as other laudable pursuits, I am, with great respect, your obedient servant.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Distinguished Americans and visitors to Britain while visiting Massachusetts, were presented to her, and they spread her fame in this country and throughout Europe. So, on her arrival in London she was received by the nobility and presented to the English people. Phillis was presented to many of the notable personages at the Court of St. James, among whom was George III. While in London for the benefit of her health she gives to the world, "dedicated to the Countess of Huntingdon," her second poem of any importance, which is said to have been a surprising representation of genius. During her stay in London, many information reached her of the death of her mistress, Mrs. Wheatly, and a desire to see her before she (Mrs. Wheatly) should die, and she hastened her return to America, where she was quickly stilled in sad clothes. Her age was about seven years. She was married to a man named Peters, who proved to be a worthless husband and a scoundrel. He was a free negro, and was a lawyer, but failed to get a case worth talking for Christ. If you don't like that kind of preaching, you don't like the kind of religion.

I expect my preacher to make a good impression on Sunday morning, and I would rather have him do that than to have him scowling around the house looking for faults.

Next November will be one hundred years since Richard Allen and his colleagues left St. George's M. E. Church, the city of Philadelphia, (1787) and the Bishops of the aforesaid meeting adopted the following Preamble and Resolutions:

WHEREAS: November next, 1887, will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the Trustees would not let us pray in the Meeting House any more," and

WHEREAS: The Board of Bishops of the African M. E. Church, at their session in Washington, D. C., in January, 1887, deemed it wise to take into consideration the suitable manner which they labored, during those united treatment of these fathers of the Church, and become a witness in the house of worship, and were pulled them off their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to "get up stairs" (See preface to the A. M. E. Church Discipline,)

AND WHEREAS: This is the most desirable act of the colored people in the United States, and we know of none like it of the descendants of Africa in the world; if we accept the Resolve of Bishops and Trustees, Centennial Episcopal Address and Report, whose men were to Hayti and San Domingo, and Rev. Dr. Loguen, and Rev. Jermain Loguen, Jones, Spencer and others went to the United States of Amerwere; their act was manhood, freedom, and manhood contributed. We must have a republic, and we have a republic we have—all liberators recognized—and the manhood suffrage declaration their sore prove it. To resist oppression, to be free, to be a man, to be consistent and Allen are by no honored, revered and loved. The renown of Allen and Jones, Spencer and others will be spoken as the largest colored organization in the world. Will this be a fitting celebration? Will it be a befitting way? Would this new instance of your gaining manhood contribute? We must

A SOLDIER's widow earnestly desires the address of two or three living members of the Nineteenth Rhode Island Colored Regiment, Company M. Address Mrs. Amanda E. Lewis and a few states of other States should be made of the laws regulating or prohibiting the sale of strong drink serve as slight checks to its audacity and rapid motion, but its movements are still strong and effective. We do not fool that our own Church is any too pronounced on the subject of temperance, nor that our people are as thoroughly alive as they should be to the danger threatening them by this enemy of all human progress.

THE IRISH QUESTION, as it affects the people of England and the people of other countries according to the interest they have in the one side or the other, seems in for its share of attention in this country. However the relations between Irish and colored people in this country are such that we look upon each other with so great suspicion on the one hand and derision on the other that neither side is prepared to enter into proper human sympathy with the other. We ought to be able to extend much sympathy to the oppressed in Ireland, as the Irish ought to be able to extend much sympathy to us in our unnatural position here, but this is not the fact. The Irish and the colored Americans are about as wide from each other as any two classes of our citizens.

THE NORRISTOWN, PA., people have a grand jubilee over their disenthrallment from church debt. They are a noble people. Their pastor has worked wisely and well. They have co-operated with him. The city folks generally (?) have helped them; they are out of debt, thank God.

On Wednesday night, April 6th, the jubilee exercises were begun by a meeting of Sunday schools and adult Sunday schools. Thursday evening an entertainment was given by the young people's literary. J. B Hill preached on Friday evening. The programme for Sunday occurs in our Church News column. Monday night was given up to the annual Sunday school meeting. On taking charge of that work three years ago, Brother Wilson found a debt of $4,700 hanging over the Church. On the 10th inst., the Rev. Dr. Tanner performed the graceful act of passing the old mortgage over to the trustees.

SEVERAL hundred of the good people of Bethel Church, Philadelphia, joined in giving their pastor, the Rev. J. W. Brown, a pleasant tarry. Collect. Mrs. F. J. Coppin and others spoke. One of the most important theirs of the evening was the presentation of a purse of $200 to the pastor. When the Rev. Beckett entered upon this important charge it was whispered out lend in the church that his salary could not be more than certain figures, below disciplinary allowance, and it was fically entitled that he should have but $1,000. What knows the ability of God's people? Besides paying the thousand they are glad to present him with $200—a great people's appreciation of a faithful pastor. It often happens that pastors go away by halves. The fact is, Philadelphia churches are possessed of a good deal of the genuine Methodist spirit. Allen has expressed her appreciation of the pastor, as stated last week. She is Bethel's own child. Bethel may well be proud of her.

THE RELATION that should always be recognized between morals and human necessity is the point is every honest man's life that forms the center of much thought and consideration. Not only is morality than we are apt to think. There are not half as many in such positions as might be if they would be. The hundreds of young colored men receiving business and mechanical education in this should be set to work by the wealth in colored men's hands.

ELDER J. T. RAY speaks in very high terms of the excellent service rendered him, in his three y ars' pastorate in Atlantic City, by prominent whitecitizens: notably, Dr. Aikman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, also many of his good members. Should Brother Rex be appointed to a new field he will ever remember kindly the good hearts that have aided him

THE DISCOVERY by the Pan Handle Railroad that about seven-tenths of all those comprising its freight crews have for some time been engaged in stealing freight is another sad commentary on the morals of our times. Like the horrible murder of five colored prisoners in South Carolina, murder and other vicitions crimes everywhere, it indicates that this is an awful time to declare moral education a humbug.

"O, TEMPORA, O, MORES!" Can you know? Stands as the excuse for much nonsense and much vice. Vain appease, silly comment and begulling flattery are made to get in their work in making him feel good. So exaggerated has the custom become that some men lure with disgust from their names in a newspaper. This "taffying" is played upon our leading men for all it is worth. Of course we have learned from the practice of our teachers. We hint keep pace with them, if we do that. It is none the less demoralizing.

THE SOLD which the manufacturing, selling and drinking of intoxicants have on the people of our times is terrifying. It is just among the possibilities that the whiskey powers will force actual civil war upon this country yet; at least a state of demoralization that will be equivalent to war. Such modifications as Maine, Kansas, Iowa and a few states of other States for General Conference. The astonishment has been slow to rise, waiting for the RECORDER ahead.

In at least nine conferences of the A. M. E. Church the law relative to the presiding eldership is modified so as to take away from it all the edge intended by the late General Conference. In respect to eight conferences this statement includes all the presiding elders, one in 5 includes only a part. The RECORDER has recovered from its shock long ago. The law in this matter has been compromised to such an extent that it hardly seemed likely that to discuss the propriety of modifying the law in General Conference to accommodate circumstances that certain exscetors of the law have declared actually incompatible with the law would be astonishing. As a matter of fact, there is little doubt that compromise has been made in cases where it was absolutely necessary. We believe in law and have, like the Bishop, been shocked at the disregard for law and the subverting interpretations of law that we have observed in our Church.

It is plain enough that it is not best to publish anything in the RECORDER that tends to impede easy and regular government in the Church by Bishops, elders or others in authority; yet it is frequently impossible to know just where a writer is striking.

The prejudice against being is in itself a good thing in many respects. It is an office, however, which, though as old as Methodism, has for many years been subject to just about such discussions in other Methodist bodies as it is now. There is very little of our work where the office could not be supported well if the proper men could be selected to fill it.

REPUBLICANS, THE NEGRO AND US.

Ex-congressman Wise, of Virginia, was in Philadelphia last week, the guest of the Young Republican Club. He spoke in glowing style of the loyalty, grace and patience of the negro as a republican and citizen. He prophesies a grand victory for the Republicans in 1888. Mr. Wise is the gentleman who does not allow negroes as a gentlemen, even though his State's representatives, to call upon him in his parlor, but in his kitchen. It will require much harder work to secure Republican victory than was formerly. Since the republicans allowed the white South to do what it would with the black South, so it bet only left them the federal government, many colored men have concluded that they had better have the grand grave of freedom in their State, without patronage, than to have the ire of democrats with the mere mockery of patronage. Republicans may not expect to carry the black vote in 1888 by the methods employed in 1884. The colored men are, if not naturally, logically republicans, but the next national campaign will not find them republicans simply on the sentiment of politics to the extent that former campaigns have done. The popular sentiment of the country and the spirit of the laws of this great government must be brought to a state that will make the country as safe and as joyful everywhere and the laws as effective as they are now known as "colored" as for other men. We shall not ask for any more repetition of the money of our patience, our loyalty, our progress and our fealty to the Republican party; we claim the parties to say outright what they will do to encourage us to prosecute the journey of life here with hope and safety. If we do not ask this, we should do so. We want guarantees against our youth on petty offences being tore from their homes and degraded by the chains, the stripes and general stigma of the penitentiary and the lease system. We should ask that we be admitted to all the avenues of honest and noble manhood. If the Democratic party can guarantee that it will be the Republican party for us; if it is the Republican party cannot guarantee it is easy enough, but this is not the only subject for thought. Necessity is large. We can enlarge it artificially, till it is abnormally large. It is this abnormal appetite that sways the consciences of many of the powerfully rich to continue to add to their wealth with utter disregard of objective consequences. The false notion of any one family or variety of men that they are superior to all others, and have the right to maintain certain notions and certain bearings that have characterized their class for generations, without respect to the influence of their classishness upon the whole, may lead to the establishment of a moral judgment as different from Christian ethics as it is injurious to the consummation of the end of Christian ethics. Jesus expresses the truth involved when he declares, "Ye cannot serve both God and mammon." The consideration of our wants, our needs, is disregard of our moral obligations, may finally enable us to easily obey the promptings of the appetites without being interrupted by a disturbing conscience.

IT IS UNPOSTUMATA that the conduct of the RECORDER has astonished Bishop Brown. As much as either Brother Beckly or Brother Woods has said in the RECORDER should be done by General Conference, has been done in nine conferences at least without waiting

Literature.

That very interesting serial, "A Step in the Dark," opens Cassell's Family Magazine for May, and brings us down to the death of eccentric old lady Vane and the loss of her will. The will is found by a paper describing with pen and pencil, "How the Queen Travels." There is a diagram given showing the situation of the coaches with the names of the occupants, and we are also shown a view of the interior of "a royal day saloon" and of the royal train as it leaves the station. Among the practical papers of the number are one on "Kitchen Physic," describing the preparation of certain foods for invalids, a suggestion for generally delightful days by the Family Doctor and one upon "Remunerative Employments for Our Children." The papers on "Famous Flags of Field and Fleet" is continued, and there is one describing some famous cracks of England and the Continent. By the way of amusement, there is a paper on "Gifts and Presentations," with clever sketches by Tom Browne, and two serials are continued, and we find plenty of poetry and pictures, together with the admirable fashion letters from Paris and London.—Cassell & Company, 15 cents a number, $1.50 a year in advance.

St. Nicholas for May opens with a beautiful frontispiece illustration, by Miss Humphrey Rooker, to Miss Preston's "Historic Girl" whose romantic history is related by R. S. Brooks; while Nora Perry, in "An Only Daughter," tells of a very modern and unhistoric girl, whose and sowing the seed of African Methodism.

The setting apart of the colored members into a separate conference by the M. E. Church South in Missouri last spring and the appropriation of $2,500 for missionary work in said colored conference mean that they will not give up the struggle without making an effort to take the field for Christ and Methodism. Let us wake up and back our brown missionary work with a vast amount of prayer.

If the system of presiding eldership is continued in part or as a whole in making presiding elder districts, the conference should take into consideration the fact that there are a great many other contingencies to be looked after besides the presiding elder's allowance; hence he should not be confined to eight or ten weak mission churches who sometimes fail even to meet his traveling expenses; but he should be given a district large and strong enough to support him. If it takes the whole conference, I know a presiding elder who has twenty-six points; one of his strongest churches having been burned and severely members, is only assessed seventy dollars a year for presiding elder's allowance, while a weak one not paying over two hundred and forty dollars a year is assessed for the same. We should remedy and our missionaries will be disregard for law and the subverting interpretations of law that we have observed in our Church.

The presiding eldership is in itself a good thing in many respects. It is an office, however, which, though as old as Methodism, has for many years been subject to just about such discussions in other Methodist bodies as it is now. There is very little of our work where the office could not be supported well if the proper men could be selected to fill it.

CORRECTION OF DATA.

BY REV. J. W. MALONE.

While so much is being said about the late Bishop Ward, I feel that it may seem to omit one part, and thereby take from him one year of his ministry, therefore allow me to add the missing link. In August, 1856, Rev. R. H. Cain met the Indiana Conference at Fort Wayne, and was admitted into the traveling connection and stationed at Indianapolis. Here, in August, 1857, he met the conference at New Albany, Ind., and was returned to Macedonia. At the conference in 1858 he was ordained a deacon and was returned to the Missouri Conference and stationed at St. Paul's Chapel, St. Louis. I wish to correct or add in this link for the benefit of those who may speak or write in the future. Add another year to his ministerial life.

THE LAW ON MISCEGENATION.

THE DEPUTY OF THE REV. JAMES H. A. JOHNSON, D. D., TO MR. A. PARLETT LLOYD.

MESSRS. A. S. ABELL & CO.:—Because of the illegality and fairness of The Sun, I seek a hearing through its columns. The paper that is the most unfriendly to colored people in the city of Baltimore terms the law as just and equal. "Be ye wise and prudent law" Before going one step further I stop to ask you, Mr. Lloyd, to point out to me the law that call evil good and good evil. Where is the punishment for light and darkness that put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter?

If I am to be held accountable there is nothing wise nor prudent, nor good, nor equitable in the law as it is stated. It is bad in the sight of all men, and in the sight of the All Good. No greater expression of antipathy to all colored people has been made since the days of Jacob than is made by the establishment of this law. What if it does impose suffering on both of the parties in the contract? Is that any more heinous than it could not realize, until his matter was brought to light, when the colored people who pray for white people, and strive to do their very best for them under all circumstances, were objects of such signal hatred. Still it stares us in the face as a law, that the majority of the colored people of Maryland shall be effected, even if the whole state as well as black have to be trampled in the dust and every politician has to be cast into the mire of disgrace. Does a good God think that this is wise? Would he not answer unto Job from a whirlwind in the most fragrant method outraging humanity?

But let us now come down to a close consideration of the law in some of its brief bearings. Is it just? Is it right? Is it first asked? What is law? There can be no law that comes from the hands of God. Burke. He says: "Law is beneficence acting by rule." Any law otherwise than beneficial to society. Law in no other sense is acceptable unto God. "Beneficence acting by rule" is the law above and above everything else a higher law than this cannot be found in the word of God. Any law that is not in the fundamental principles of right; and this is done for the purpose of hatred, and is done for the purpose of hatred of a race, and with good will unto all men. Does any one dare to say that this is the case with the Maryland law on miscegenation? What we, my readers, what Christ, what Christianity is there in it? Hatred, oppression and degradation. One of the grandest men of this State, Dr. Bond, Sr., said, he, holds that it is in conflict with citizen's civil rights. And so it is, or such is the case in this State.

But again, let us take a little higher consideration of the law.

This law, regarded by Attorney Ex-General Slade as one of the most oppressive, but a step backward in the civilization of this age," and a trial under it as a crime against the State, is a fearful opposition to one of the highest ordinances of the Almighty. It comes in direct conflict with an institution that is as sacred as the Sabbath. Marriage is held as a sacrament; holds as "what God has joined together let not man put asunder."

The whole Protestant Church looks upon it as an "honorable estate" instituted by God in the time of man's innocency, signifying the mystical union that is between Christ and his Church." Few and Gentle, civilized and Christian nations have such a sacramental relationship as a condition precedent to the highest rights. And to they are right; for the Word of God says "Marriage is honorable in all." In all this there is nothing else but wise and law says that when white and colored people marry they commit a crime. Prejudice is an "infamous crime;" but to marry is a crime of the blackest crime. Does any one, influenced by good reason, believe that a just God would allow any body of people to establish such an awfully pernicious interpretation of the Decalogue? Will he not punish the people who pray for white people, and strive to do their very best for them under all circumstances, were objects of such signal hatred. Still it stares us in the face as a law, that the majority of the colored people of Maryland shall be effected, even if the whole state as well as black have to be trampled in the dust and every politician has to be cast into the mire of disgrace. Does a good God think that this is wise? Would he not answer unto Job from a whirlwind in the most fragrant method outraging humanity?

But let us now come down to a close consideration of the law in some of its brief bearings. Is it just? Is it right? Is it first asked? What is law? There can be no law that comes from the hands of God. Burke. He says: "Law is beneficence acting by rule." Any law otherwise than beneficial to society. Law in no other sense is acceptable unto God. The idea was carried out and the children have started on their long apprenticeship.

The Best Remedy

For Dyspepsia is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Other medicines may give temporary relief; but Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes a positive and permanent cure, so thousands can testify all over the country.

"My stomach, liver, and kidneys were in a disordered condition for years," writes R. Wild, of Hutto, Texas, "and never found any medicine to relieve me, until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than six bottles of this remedy cured me."

Mrs. Joseph Antles, of Holyoke, Mass., was for a long time a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, trying in vain all the usual remedies. At last she began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and eight bottles restored her to perfect health.

"I have great faith in Ayer's Sarsaparilla," writes Mr. J. Pederson, 145 Columbia st., Cambridgeport, Mass., "and can truly say Ayer's Sarsaparilla has cured me."

NOTICE.—All questions and business pertaining to advertisements are to be addressed to the Business Manager; all communications intended for publication in the RECORDER should be addressed to Rev. B. F. Lee, Editor. There is no part of the business of this establishment that will not be troubled greatly to determine in their fathers'ood, for it is many. The friends of the black race here are those who teach him to get all he can of the advantages of civil and political life here in the country that he has helped make great.

It is so evidence that a black man wishes to get away from his race, or that he is ashamed of his color, that he does not continually talk, live and die for Africa, simply because some of his fatherhood came from there. Just as rightcously should we denounce every white American for not despising all the blood of Americus and of farming his entire soul towards the ign-rant millions of his race-vanity sow sitting in darkness. The fact is, we have so much to do as Americans—watched, hated and shunned by many white Americans and jeered by some black Americans for not going to Africa, where they are careful not to go—that we can do but little with reference to Africa. We are busy, just like sleety-nine of every hundred of our own variety who burying ourselves in the mission collection, and it is altogether probable the sum raised for the church was quite as great as if raised on Sunday. Dr. Mitchell, of Allen Temple, assisted in the collection on Monday night. Here is at least a significant hint to those who say, "well, I know my business better than the General Conference."

Last Thursday W. H. AMERICANS FIRST.

The North and the South may forget their animosities and cease their antagonisms. The schools, the business, the social circles, the family ties, the press compacts and the religious organizations of the land may bring them to this end desirable by all right thinking men. Already Northern schools are attended largely by Southern pupils and some Northern patronage is given Southern schools This is relative to the white race-variety especially. But the colored variety there is the very least distinction known as to these sections. The black man of either section has never been engaged in hit dissensions and deadly combats with the black man of the other section. Whatever of difference exists between the colored people of the two sections must be accounted for on grounds altogether different from those mentioned above, relative to white men.

It is easy to see how all black people may dwell together in perfect unity; but not so easy to see how the two races will succeed in living so. And yet this problem is the problem for civilization's best efforts to all the great future. The accomplishment of a living human unity will be a great work for the American people in the next half century. Unfortunately—or is it fortunately?—there enters into this consideration many more than the fests black and white. It has already been decided that a Chinese born in the United States is a citizen of the United States. The Indian is initiated into the mysteries of American citizenship. The Italian is "here to stay." We have the Spaniard, the Hebrew, the Arab, the Jew and Mexican. Of course the German, Frenchman, Englishman, Irishman, etc., being white are easily Americanized. These are received and assimilated naturally. So are most of the dark race varieties mentioned above. Their assimilation is scarcely noticed; notwithstanding its unamerica sing American daily.

The African element of our conglomerate citizenship is more American than all these shifting, emigrating tribes, taking the word in its better sense. He is thoroughly loyal, highly appreciative of American institutions, entirely disconnected with any and all other governments, most sollicely to involve this government in any complexities with other governments and progressive in the American genius and aris. This is the diffeni concerning whose Americanisation there is the greatest question, excepting, possibly, the Chinese. The negro, forced here, and the Indian, born here, should be given the least trouble by their hitrayers, on the one hand, and their intruders on the other.

The colored variety has adopted the house to which it was forced, as has the white race the land to which it was forced; the one by heathen ignorance and heathen stupidity, the other by weariness of oppressive and love of liberty. Like the white, so the black man has lost all family lines and tribalties that once connected his progenitors with their fatherlands. He owes no more of Africa's success and wealth than does the average white man of similar facts to the lands of his progeniters. The white American is ready at say moment to exercise his most subtle schemes in gaining advantage of what might be called his fatherland with the same propriety that makes Africa the American negro's fatherland. He is ready to lure his guee spoe it, to demollish it for the interests of his own race, first, last and on all. All the colored variety have to do in these plain facts there are sewer wanting advisers to black Americans to lavish all their good feelings upon their "fatherland," notwithstanding millions of them would be troubled greatly to determine in their

IN ANSWER to iequiries recently concerning the Pope's willingness to give up temporal authority for the sake of reconciliation with Italy, he replies, so.

REV. W. J. JOHNSON, B.D., Walnut Hills, Cincinnati, O., had appointed April 10th as a day for a grand rally, expecting to raise $250 for the payment of the new church. Remembering after the appointment that that was not legal day, but Missionary Day, he gave the day entirely to mission collections and raised nearly $25 for that. He then appointed Monday night for the rally instead of Sunday. The people came together and turned into the treasury of their church nearly $900. Then the Sabbath was divided by the entire business attending such collection, the law of the Church was not violated respecting the mission collection, and it is altogether probable the sum raised for the church was quite as great as if raised on Sunday. Dr. Mitchell, of Allen Temple, assisted in the collection on Monday night. Here is at least a significant hint to those who say, "well, I know my business better than the General Conference."

BOOK NOTICES.

"Hymns and Metrical Psalms," is a cluster of chaste and spiritual hymns, by Thomas MacCalla, Ph. D. There are many charming, little poems in the work, hymns for the family and the sanctuary. Porter & Coates, Philadelphia.

"Assin Barton's Journal," by Mrs. E. E. Willson. This is a charming little book of 160 pages, cloth bound, on good paper. It is just the book to place in the hands of children and youth to engender and develop virtue. Price, 75 cents. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati, O.

"Natural Law in the Business World," by Henry Wood, is as fine a little work as has been issued on the startling topic of capital and labor as can be found. The author treats the topic from a noble philocophical standpoint. The work is constructed on the basis that through all the rankling questions of the extent of the relations of employer and employes, the interests of both are identical. As theory these laws is the secessity of the hour from those on either side of the question. Lee & Shepard, Boston.

"Memoirs of Henry Ward Beecher," by Lyman Abbott, gives a short but intensely interesting sketch of the great preacher and distinguished citizen—a sketch of the early life of the subject, point, will not be excelled Equally interesting are the sketch in the appendix collection of nearly five hundred of Mr. Beecher's most pithy, apt and cheerful sayings, illustrating almost every form of thought and chrystallization of human experience. There are also some special valet to ministers and parents in the book. Sermons to everyone. 75 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Black Man and His Deconsendants," by Rev. Joseph Mc. Henderson, is a pamphlet containing more thought than is usually found in so small a compass. The author tells in the clearest and most unaffected style the whole subject of the relation of the black man to the picturesque life, its sulphur bathe, coffee plantations, and sugar-cane. The second series of Professor Richard T. Ely's "French and German Socialism in America" is now ready. The little pamphlet can be purchased by addressing Rev. J. M. Henderson, Chicago, Ill. The author tells in the interest of the A. M. E Church, Joliet, Ill., Price, 25 cents. Yes also as well as the wealth of the work, should commend it to all

"Richard Allen's Place In History" is given to the world by the Rev. J. F. Dyson, B.D., author of "Adam Red Eagle" and others. The work is a spiritted style and sets forth the prominent characteristics of the founder of African Methodism with strength. One of the greatest of Americans, he has not received more than the usual portraitures of his great character. The Rev. Dyson has rendered before the public a few interesting points in the Bishop's life that have not had general publicity. A conclusive answer to the communist theory that all land should be the property of the State and not of individuals, is presented in a powerful article entitled, "Is it a Crime to Own Land?" by John Phillip Phillips, the author of "Social Simplicity." THE MINISTRY AND THE WAGE LABORER.

Poor local preachers make very poor itinerant preachers. The whole Church is imposed upon for the want of courage and intelligence to do fearlessly what is right. After awhile these same unqualified brethren are taken to the annual conference to be ledueied into the ministery, to be sent to take charge of congregations, and it often happens that the same brethren who helped them into the local capacity are the conference committee to see them sate into the itinerant ranks. The report of the committee to the annual conference is that the applicants (these same inferior brethren) are "recommended for admission, &c. The conference feels itself in a veiny them to membership. Now, these same brethren got through the quarterly conference on the strong arm of their pastor. They then were not qualified, could not read or write and were in no way adapted to the ministry. This thing ought to be stopped now. How much longer are we to have exhibitions of ignorance and vulgar rants? Now, who is responsible for this? The presiding elder? Of course not. He is a helpless victim of circumstances. Every one knows that. The pastor? Not he. He is a helpless victim of circumstances. Every one knows that. The quarterly conference? Not at all. They are the helpless victims of circumstances. Every one knows that. Who then is responsible, the minister or laymen?

In conclusion, let every minister having charge do his whole duty. We believe God is responsible for this and much neglected as to their emancipation and education. We believe God provides that each pastor on taking charge of a church shall organize and form a class of the children. The editorial department has especial attractiveness for the Sunday School Superintendent. The department is felt and strong, as are those of books and magazines.

RESPONSE TO DR. SIMMONS.

BY REV. J. D. BAKESDALE.

We will notice the doctor says in reply to our last week regarding the candidates having their own choice the doctor thinks the Church should teach the people to choose the people. Well, why I don't think the doctor means that the Church should teach the people, for I am sure he knows as well as anybody else, and no less than I do, what is meant by church. Church is from the Greek term, Ekklesia, (please pardon my use of the word), which was formed in the act, the chosen or selected. Well, may be the doctor has not grasped the whole idea of the word, but I am sure he does not mean that the Church should teach the people to choose their own choice. Now, if the doctor means that the Church should teach the people to choose their own choice, then they are all great fools from the start. That is exactly what the Church does teach the people to choose. Now, if the doctor means that the Church should teach the people to choose their own choice, then they are all great fools from the start. That is exactly what the Church does teach the people to choose.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething; it relieves the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and turns prematurely gray, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will restore the hair to all its luxuriance and beauty in a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel G. Hawley, of Delaware, Ill. "but after using only half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy. I cannot express the gratitude I feel."

Frederick P. Cunningham, Hookseller, 31 Merrimack St., Haverhill, Mass., writes: "Some six or seven years ago my hair fell and I used a newer Hiscox, in consequence of which it became thin. I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and in a few months had a beautiful growth of hair, which all over my head. The hair is now thicker than before, being long, and growing freely. The result is a most gratifying proof of the merit of your admirable preparation."

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 5, 1887.

THE SECRETARY OF EDUCATION thinks the entire country out-stripping.

AS YET WE are not permitted to tell the brethren who labored to make Missionary Day a success, whether the $10,000 was raised for our African mission.

BETHEL'S oldest child, Wesley Church, Philadelphia, has done for her pastor according to the training of her mother, and loaded him down with unstripped her mother, giving her pastor a donation of $70.

THE INCREASE of crime is no greater than the increase of methods of crime and the power to elude the most subtle inquiries. The increase of those who are related to their murderers by ties of kindred, betrothal or marriage, and murder whose cause cannot be found are also worthy of note. All civilization may well join in the awful expression: Q, murder!

PRESIDENT B. B. GOINE, of the Kittrell School, N. C., attended the Virginia Conference and secured the co-operation of that conference in the work of development and management of said school. This is a big step in the right direction. A little more concession in respect to the location of our schools, an increased willingness to co-operate with them will give them a successful standing.

WE HAVE resumed the publication of sketches of useful men. Here are points of interest in the life of Dr. Johnson, whose sketch appears in this number. Next week will appear a sketch of Rev. James H. A. Johnson, D. D., of Baltimore Conference; the following week a sketch of Rev. Henry T. Grant, of Philadelphia Centennial, or Rev. John Turner, of the Colorado Conference, and so on.

IT IS NOT a favorable comment on the morals of "higher" circles that the death of a great man is the signal for displaying his comfortable and costly assumptions. The public seems anxious to give the world the "tilt" between General Logan and General Sherman. Logan is beyond the power of answering back. Christians who are non-Methodists progressing continually. The sentimental year finds an abiding peace and growing unity existing. The revolutions of a century have not removed all the obstacles to our existing and co-operating as Christians in a common Methodist communion in this country, neither with Methodist bodies of our own race or others. Indeed, the sacred facts, with modified force, it may be, set against each unity that prevented it a hundred years ago. It is a little remarkable, considering the philosophy of harmony commonly ascribed to Christianity, that real union between Christian bodies is such a difficult thing to effect. It is an evidence that the churches of the day are far below the height of Christianity or else very untrue to the principles of Christianity in practice. We can see no righteous reason why the A. M. E. Church and the M. E. Church, South, should not unite. It is fair to infer that members of those communities see no righteous reason why the A.M.E., and A.M.E.Z., C. M. E. and the U. A. M. E. Churches should not unite. A few real good Christians who are non-Methodists can see no righteous reason why all the Methodist bodies might not unite.

In the term "we" used above reference is had to the African M. E. Church, and the RECORDER, for the RECORDER is not thoroughly settled in the belief that God's Christian unity would include this idea, especially at this time. His grand unity is not necessarily our unity. The unit must be naturally greatly diversified in all respects. There should be a closer understanding and a broader charity existing among divisions of the Church.

THE SON OF CHURCH ORGANIZATION.

The age of church organizations and "isms," considered either individually or conjointly, is the embodiment of all that is unchristian in our people in this country, as well as the work undertaken in the West Indies; at the same time, enable us to press the cause of Christ in Africa and elsewhere with equal success to that possible under any other cause. It is a thought for young African Methodists.

TOM IOWA COOPER failed to find the murderer of the Rev. Dr. Haddock, who was murdered in Sioux City; so three or four men representing the rum power, poisoned upon and murdered Dr. W. T. Northrop, at Haverhill, Ohio, last week. Yet now and then we hear the sale of strong drink a legitimate business!" The great editor of the Philadelphia Ledger, probably with the belief that a nefarious will never cease, defers the accomplishment of prohibition till that event transpires. Very soon the rum power itself will force an issue. The cause of whiskey, like the cause of slavery of other days, is so mixed with men's money that men's minds will stick to it against reason and against better moral judgment till driven from their stead by the volume of moral influence now accumulating.

THE PRESENT state of the Church is altogether promising and encouraging. The work in the West and South, where our numbers are greatest, is reported as of competent men to man at the same time our important charges and the presiding elder offices is one of the reasons the presiding eldership and all other offices in the connection suffer. If our Bishops are to rotate—and there a so many in our Church who hope they will do so—we must retain the office in full.

UNFAIR PRESENTATION OF THE NEGRO'S CASE.

The disadvantages under which colored men live in this country appear in nearly every phase of our civilization. If one commits a serious crime or be accused of so doing he is published as "a brutal negro" by many of the papers most friendly to the cause of the colored man's success, giving the race a disgraceful advertisement as well as the crime and the criminal. Last week appeared in one of our great city dailies the statement of a single crime by a colored man, "A Brutal Negro," and right at the time of equal measure and magnitude, by other men, but saying nothing about what race they represented. Why did they not head these advertisements with, "A Brutal Caucasian," bringing the whole variety before the world's esteem with murderers' clothes on? Why is this? Is it because these colored murderers represent their race variety any more truly and in larger ratio then do white murderers—the Caucasian variety? The statistics of crime as presented in that single paper would not show the negro to be any more likely to murder than the Caucasian. One to eight is not unreasonable. The unit must be found to include about 8,000,000 in this country; but, if it were slightly against him in single proportion, would it be in compound proportion, consisting of all legitimate elements?

This wretched way of virtually branding the entire variety with the sins of each individual is but in keeping with the customs of our country throughout its history. The negro is "lazy," "shiftless," "improvident," "unreliable," "immoral," everything but virtuous; because some negroes are so. This might do, if in turn his prominent good qualities as displayed by a majority of individuals, were given like prominence, or it might do so far as any one of these qualities, represented a majority of the variety. As a matter of fact, if the negro is more dishonest than the Caucasian, it does not appear by any of the common means of illustrating race variety proclivities and qualities. The lower among colored people steal, hardly ever those in whom much confidence is imposed, but with the white the wealthy, the cultivated, the honored, the religious men in high places, and they steal in large quantities. The colored men who have risen to positions of honor, trust and large emoluments have more than held their proportion in integrity and honesty. The black man in America cannot be branded as a rogue nor a moral nuisance.

In Africa everybody accords the race variety with being highly and strictly honest in respect to the cardinal sins of white men. Missionaries tell us that the white man's civilization plays ruin with the African's morals in many respects. The African is not characteristically a liar, a thief or a violator of the Seventh Commandment; so far as his conception of that commandment goes. In respect to it he does not sin against his knowledge and his conscience equally with the white man. If being subject to the vilest lessons that the white man is capable of giving in this country, two hundred years have not degraded him to an undue proportion of the wickedness of this country, he certainly ought to be relieved from bearing the odium attached to the race variety because of the same on the part of the negro. Of course the living man will be likely to make his case good, but it the dead "lion" were allowed to speak it might be different.

HON. H. C. C. ATWOOD, whose article in the Quarterly Review has been read or extensively, proposes to follow up the ideas therein set forth by an article proposing to change the title of the African M. E. Church to the Allen M. E. Church, thus retaining the A. and a distinction equal to that known at present. Brother Atwood believes the change would do much to better adapt the Church to modifications constantly going on in the social and religious order in the midst of our people in this country, as well as to work undertaken in the West Indies; at the same time, enable us to press the cause of Christ in Africa and elsewhere with equal success to that possible under any other cause. BALTIMORE CONFERENCE NOTES.

BY REV. M. W. TRAVERSE.

As the annual conference approaches the more ardent the brethren are in their efforts to obtain the reports. We anticipate some changes as usual at every session of the annual conference. Some brethren are already advertising themselves in the paraphernalia of solemnity.

The watchful way of virtually branding the entire variety with the sins of each individual is but in keeping with the customs of our country throughout its history. The negro is "lazy," "shiftless," "unreliable," "immoral," everything but virtuous; because some negroes are so. This might do, if in turn his prominent good qualities as displayed by a majority of individuals, were given like prominence, or it might do so far as any one of these qualities, represented a majority of the variety. THE PRESIDING ELDER QUESTION.

This presiding eldership seems to be an especially interesting subject with many ministers. We have on hand three or four articles touching the subject. The one from within the Baltimore Conference cannot appear, because of its reflection upon the writer's presiding elder. Doubtless presiding elders err. But there no presiding elder would be quite so many errors. It is fair to infer that any elder, being pastor, would prefer having a presiding elder out and out, to having his self subjected to the governorship of brother elder. The ex-pastor, but who is exempted from a presiding elder's government. This, as the RECORDER stated two years ago, is an unequal application of law. Seven or eight elders in a conference is without question an excepting that of the Bishop, but at the same time, holding the position of presiding elder, help to arrange the work of their co-equal brethren. This would, to a great degree, be undue humiliation. But to avoid this some presiding elders do not attend to their work, only so far as it applies to those pastors in or below the diocesate. Those are not presiding elders in the sense in which the Methodist discipline proposing to change the title of the African M. E. Church to the Allen M. E. Church, thus retaining the A. and a distinction equal to that known at present. THE CHILDREN'S DAY.

ATTENTION, PASTORS AND SUPERINTENDENTS.

The sands of the Missionary Day bottle having lifted, you are now directed to march your forces to the front, the 12th—the second Sunday in June—which is the date of the Children's Day battle, and to perfect arrangements and employ every expedient to have this the most profitable Children's Day in the history of the Sunday School Union. The great number of needy schools which have been assisted by this department of the Union, and which in return therefor have pledged themselves to do all in their power to make the Children's Day a success; the many new schools organized since last June; the influence exerted in behalf of the Sunday School Union and its work by Bishops, Presiding Elders and Pastors, all combine to make the occasion favorable to the Union and commending its work which has been adopted by district and annual conferences and Sunday school institutes, warrant the belief that the sum contributed on this day for the publishing House Money will exceed any collection hitherto returned on this day.

Pastors will be guided by the following information:

1st. The Jubilee Gem has been mailed to the post-office address of each pastor as per list in the minutes of the annual conference. We have sent to each pastor as many Jubilee Gems as he reported scholars on his list at the annual conference. In the case of circuits the number will differ slightly from the Gems according to his judgment.

2d. Children's Day Service Book has been sent, with instructions to each pastor, who will fill out and return it with the Children's Day Report.

3d. Do not use writing paper to make your reports. If you have the blanks drop us a postal card and we will fresh ones at once.

4th. Do not send us postage stamps. We shall not take them this year.

5th. Please address all letters you must be used to by Sunday school supplies, which must be directed to the

MRS. N. F. MOSELLI ON COLORED MEN'S RIGHTS.

HOW WILL THEY BE AFFECTED BY THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE LAW?

"It shall be unlawful for any common carrier subject to the provisions of this act to make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic in any respect whatsoever, or to subject any particular person, company, firm, corporation or locality, or any particular description of traffic to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever." So reads the first section of the Inter-State Commerce law, which was passed by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, and which has forbidden so many things in the dozing line of color in her face. Is she alive? This heathen despot says: Don't be friend her. Is she weary? Is she in her arms? Don't give her a seat. Is she refined? Don't allow her the association of the refined. If she can't sit in cars with smokers and low-bred men, let her stay at home.

Lastly, as it relates to the crimes of caste, class and race hatred, evil, and friendships, what loves does it forbid? Startling would be the revelations made were the pickings of the hearts of scores and hundreds and thousands in the South, and in the North, too, divulged. Not caste, like a king, sits enthroned, and the American people consent, at least bow in submission. Motherly insinct murdered. Courtesy suppressed Love crucified.—Rev. B. T. Tanner, D.D., in the New York Independent.

OUR WOMAN'S COLUMN.

New Jersey has raised the age of protection for girls to sixteen.

Miss Norman White has offered a prize to the Princeton students for the best theme on scientific crime.

The famous battlefield of Manassas is to be enclosed by a stone wall and kept as a public park by the ladies of Virginia.

A lady of Lewiston, Me., who was recently frightened by a street loafer, now carries a package of red pepper in her pocket.

The W. C. T. U. of New Hampshire is circulating a petition for the protection of women, which will be presented to the legislature at its meeting in June.

A Chautauqua assembly has already has passed both branches of the New Jersey Legislature by large majorities. The bill is now in the lower-south State to extends the right to women.

Mrs. Mary Miller, of Hillsboro', N. H., during the past winter, has fed daily 100 gray squirrels, which came to their door and took every morning and went away after having had their breakfast.

Mrs. Dora Salter has been elected Mayor of Argonia, Sumner County, Kan., by a larger majority than any other candidate ever received in that city. She received a vote of two-thirds of the citizens.

Miss Marie Rose has been "asked to stand godmother to three different babies in Manchester, and has consented, on condition that she be allowed to be interred in the same church and at the same hour.

Mrs. Mancel Talcott, of Chicago, has established and maintains two day-nurseries for the children of working-women. One thousand children on an average have cared for in these nurseries every month.

Mrs. Sarah D. Locke, of the class of 1880, has written a history of Jemima Wilkinson, which will be issued from the press of the Cornell University Publication which has furnished so many missionaries' wives.

Mrs. Harrison, Republican says of the Kansas election: "Never has there been so clear a demonstration that women will vote, or that their vote when cast is on the side of municipal purity and temperance."

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster has broken down from overwork. It is nearly fourteen years since she has taken a vacation. Her friends have made up a fund to defray the expenses of a trip abroad which is ordered by her physicians. She has often referred to our grandmothers as types of true womanliness in the doing of their household duties, but we hardly feel like accepting their those of this relative. In their home ware few aids to intellectual life, and little encouragement given to any training that would draw women from purely domestic occupations. The kitchen was largely predominant, beauty was sacrificed to utility, art was a term not then applied to what little adornment of their homes afforded. Things were made for needs rather than for ornamentation. Now and then a tellled cape or gown made its appearance, but such things were so uncommon as to excite remark. Now the sternest duties of home our grandmothers left to servants, and their household sewing, and intelligence combined will make the home of the future a delightful one.

The Queen having requested the photograph of the Mayor of one of the chief English cities, Mrs. Cowell, the municipal unkindly remarks that Her Majesty had also asked for photographs of the principal animals in the "Zoo," probably to keep her from feeling too much stuck up.

One of the best business men we know was a dreadfully stupid boy in numbers; one of the best writers was dreadful at spelling; he always wrote "which" without a "h;" one of the best conversationalists we ever knew was dreadful stuck with the simplest and details are needed to effect results in any work that is to be done, and the best brains and training are not needed in order to excel in the minor departments of labor. There is no labor more honorable, and none that requires so little judgment, as that of the kitchen and order prevail; and there is no valid reason why such departments should be given over to a region of chaos and silent confusion, as is the case when we come to me, except the Father who has seen it so, knows that the best helper is to abide in Christ, and all his powers be for Christ.—Sunday Guardian.

LAZY PREACHERS.

"We are flooded with applications to join conference," is the one testimony of all the bishops. Why this flood? It seems a largely true of our sister Methodist churches, and the same is largely true of our own. Why are they going too little. They receive the domestic virtues of the family—to us to say, that the whole economy one of great joy, it is nevertheless true that the whole world should receive the most thoughtful consideration. Most only should the usual, but the unusual and extraordinary claims of these goods of appointments to these fields of spiritual cultivation? Is one of the conferences that, as the great majority of preacher to be one that in no way calls for the energy usually demanded in the ordinary business of life, or plain words, they think that any man, however lazy in a matter of indifference, can fill it? The larger number of women will be simply ruined. "Good-bye, sweetheart, I'm going to preach!" and the baskets were returned unopened to Odessa. I received accounts of this incident from the lips of Rev. John P. Newman, late Consul-General to India, and Mrs. Grant.

When Grant reached California, his old friends were there waiting with a new proof of his personal decision. While in the city of Mexico his enthusiastic admirers invited him to what is called "a wine dinner." Bishop Harris was present, and he informed me that Gen. Grant deliberately turned his glass upside down and said: "No, gentlemen, I will not drink with you."—The New York Methodist.

GENERAL GRANT REFUSED WINE.

Let us take a few facts: When traveling in India we have witnessed the social customs, to disregard which required the strongest will and the firmest purpose. Even the English people in the East are hard drinkers. There was a time in the life of Dr. Duff, when he could not accept the invitations he received. To be courteous, he not infrequently accepted invitations to half a dozen tiffins in the same day, at each of which he would pretend to take a morsel, until the last one had been reached. At all these gatherings, wine and liquors were freely used. He became so thoroughly disgusted with the custom that, on his return to his hotel, he said to his self: "I will not bend to this or another glass of wine to please anyone." And he was true to himself from time forward to Mount McGregor, his last penance table were above suspicion.—Rev. Dr. Burnham, in Harper's Bazar.

The reception committee furnished large baskets of champagne and liquors. These were subject to Grants orders. The Rev. Dr. Newman, a distant relative, was one of the committee, the basket was not opposed. Surprise was expressed; but Grant simply said: "Gentlemen, I do not wish anything to drink," and the baskets were returned unopened to Odessa. I received accounts of this incident from the lips of Rev. John P. Newman, late Consul-General to India, and Mrs. Grant.

GOLDEN WORDS FOR YOUNG FOLKS.
"Thinking, trying, toiling trusting in God is all my biography."—John Wanamaker.

PERFECTION.

This word perfection seems not to be in vary good odor now-a-days. If anybody exhaust us to reach a higher life, as finds it necessary to assure us that he would not for the world have so great perfection. This is a root of danger that all Christian navigators find it necessary to keep well away from. It is considered heresy to speak of getting beyond a sinning state in this life. How of all this caution were exercised with regard to a false standard of perfection which encourages us to think they are fully saved when they are not, it would do well. There are many false conceptions of this matter, and many have settled down in the fatal conceit that they are the sternest duties of home our grandmothers left to servants, and their household sewing, and intelligence combined will make the home of the future a delightful one.

THE STATISTICS of our Church as shown by conference minutes indicate a large increase of members during the past twelve months.

TAUNTON OF Wilberforce, observe the Seventeenth of May with annual love feast meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, June 14, 1887.

THE Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting of last Monday passed resolutions of appreciation of the mission of Bishop Campbell and Dr. Townsend, who were present.

AS we go to press, we learn that Bishop Campbell and Secretary Townsend will immediately to Port Dorchigne, Island of Hayti, this day—Thursday—on the steamer Clyde.

THE CANTATA of QUEEN ESTHER was rendered at Horticultural Hall, this city, Thursday evening, the 5th inst., the choir of Union Church and others, to the satisfaction of a large audience.

CANON WILBERFORCE was dined at the Bellevue Hotel, Philadelphia, by Mr. Wanamaker, on Monday last. Among the distinguished persons present was the Rev. Dr. B. T. Tanner, of the Review.

DR. TOWNSEND filled pulpits in Philadelphia last Sunday, preaching for Rev. C. T. Shaffer in the morning. The doctor, in company with Bishop Campbell, will sail for Hayti and San Domingo in a very few days, to inspect our work on the island. May they have a pleasant sail and satisfactory visit.

THE CHARLESTON (S. C.) RECORDER is strong and bold in its claims for justice to our people in the South. Its fearless attitude in denouncing the miserable practice of Slate should commend it as an invaluable defender of the colored race in its fierce struggle for equal chances in life's courses.

THE REV. A. J. MILLER reports over two hundred conversions in the Natchez church; one hundred and thirty-seven accessions to our Church. Some thankful men have given us $2.00 per church, Well, thank God that he has used us to swell the number in the kingdom, regardless of the sect connections.

This would be answered in the affirmative were Christians exempt from sorrow, disappointment, bereavement, temptations and losses; but while these remain, though the majority declare against the class meeting, there will be a precious minority clinging to it for a long while.

FROM A LETTER from Meridian, Miss., we learn that the colored Baptist Church has been destroyed by fire and from the Southwestern Advocate that the M. E. His bereaved parents have our sincere sympathy.

RELIGION for this world is the chief want of men. The full display of Christianity in this life is the sign of a fit religion for peace in the life to come. The constant working out of salvation is fear and trembling in the strongest sign of saving faith in Christ. To claim the benefits of the atonement while doing nothing else but believing is to show lack of the only merit we can bring—obedience.

AN INQUIRER wishes to know whether a minister is required to pay for the Sunday on which he is absent. Certainly the laity have many rights which the pastor is bound to respect, but the pastor also has a few that the laity generously glad to respect. The layman would hardly pay a pastor wages for his absence from church on any given Sunday. The pastor is no more bound to the layman than the laymen to the pastor. Ministers may be in duties away from their regular pulpits as well as laymen from their regular pews. Doubtless each finds it to his advantage, as a matter of duty, to be in his place as nea ly regularly as possible.

THE SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN Advocate publishes a private letter addressed to the editor by a friend, among other things, making some silly strictures on the law of the A. M. E. Church, and the inclination of an African Methodist minister in politics. The writer acknowledges that he has himself ha fallen from grace. It would seem that he and the African Methodist minister both stand in need of the prayers of all good people. We should like to hand the Indiana African Methodist minister, who leads men into the lower vices of political slums, over to the tender mercy of Bishop Campbell. We trust the Advocate gives the name of neither the correspondent nor the A. M. E. preacher.

AT THE recent session of the Interstate Railroad Commission at Atlanta a colored delega ion, composed of J. S. Flipper, H. A. Rucker, J. N. Blackshear and J. W. Toney, appeared before the commission setting forth the wrongs suffered by colored persons traveling through the South. Their bill of items was exceedingly strong, but will they be heard? There colored men have their rights, but will seem very much alike. This is true in whatever realm we may choose to make inquiry. The whole system of existence is supported by principles chiefly beyond human knowledge and has nothing else so clear and so definite as reverence. But revelation, thus far, has not opened to inquiring men the secret chambers wherein are hidden the springs of life so that he can sense into other relation to them than that of faith. This much is revealed: that in the end right will prevail; but that does not imply that in reaching that end the right shall not suffer greatly, or that the survivel of the fittest in this sense destroys the less fit. In all the contests in life there play many elements unknown. Good and evil are associated so very generally that were the results left to taste for which we can account by our own investigation it is hard to tell which would conquer, but faste for which we cannot account, but which we accept because stated by scripture, are taken into account and we believe in the ultimate success of righteousness.

Canon Wilberforce lectured in Philadelphia on the topic of intemperance. "The Enemy of the Anglo-Saxon Race," as if the salvation of that race were all the world existed for, or that Christ died for, or if the salvation of that race guaranteed the salvation of the human race. The notion has apparently sunken into the minds of some members of that race that the "fittest" for survival in the race that has done most. Superficial observers of all races will say immediately, "Well, they are right." But, are they right? Is that not God count upon other bases than doing merely, with all its vice? Doing is responsible for much of the undoing in morals. Will not God weigh the "what" as well as the "how much?" Consequnt of tempers and passions will be worth even more than the unspent of lands. A little use of mind in behalf of God's work, accompanied by no destruction of his work, will be much more to constitute the fittest than much bemoral dolog mixed with much good doing. God is not marked. The wheth a man sows that shall be reap, not seeds of nothing plants are to be than those of healthful plants; hence the increase of vice over virtue in many cases. It is God's best people who will live long.

—The Metropolitan folks gave Dr. Steward a handsome recognition of their esteem at his recent visit to the city, not mentioning its name, simply because it was not advisable to expose its grass error beyond the points where it is known as Christian Recorder. But, this we did, regreting the Southern Recorder would bethink itself and explain how this ge-se philosophy crept into its columns. Our call went unheeded, by either the Southern Recorder or any other paper. But now Bishop Payne has spoken, the Southern Recorder must speak and other papers will say, "of course." There are always strong "backers" re ady to stand when such a man as Bishop Payne backs or opposes. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER saw the untenable position into which the editor of the Southern Recorder had brought himself and promptly condemned its doctrine. There are probably a dozen papers published by African Methodist laymen and a minister. They have all been as quiet as the dead, although some of them have spouted and sometimed on other editorials right by the side of this moral education condemnation. Now it may be hoped that the teacher of such pernicious doctrine, though strong and brave and powerful, will acknowledge at once that he made a mistake. For humanity's sake, for the A. M. E. Church's sake, for Christianity's sake, he can much better afford retreat than advance.

(ADVICE No. 11.)

A little time since an article with this caption appeared in these columns, accompanied by a hint that there might be a sequel.

There we attempted to make the impression that in the Compound Oxygen we possess the safest, the most pleasant, and the most powerful curative agent that has ever been known. We endeavored to substantiate this by giving evidence of various results of our labors in this field.

We gave in evidence that although it cost each one of them fifteen dollars to make the trial, we have been patronized by more than 50,000 people, who are ready to declare now that the Compound Oxygen has been a boon to them; that our success has stirred up a small army of imitators in different parts of the country, that physicians have considered our success of sufficient importance to make a united effort in their corporate capacity, to crush out the Compound Oxygen.

There are other evidences of the sterling character of our Compound Oxygen Treatment, showing that we deserve success in the enterprise. Four or five years ago, as has been stated above, a number of interested persons—not interested in the public weal so much as in the plethora of their own pocket—procured samples, (so they say), of Compound Oxygen and got them analyzed by about a half dozen professors of chemistry in as many different colleges and universities. These professors analyzed over their own names, that the samples analyzed did not contain one ingredient possessing an iota of curative power. These statements, backed up with the weight of such pseudonym and multitudinous credentials, were published broadcast.

What institution that deals directly with the public welfare could withstand assaults like those, unless it were founded and made up of the most sterling elements?

What were our means of defense?

First—They gave no evidence that any of the analysts had manipulated a specimen of our Compound Oxygen.

Second—We brought forward the statement published in every edition of our Brochure, that:—"It is a preparation of which chemists know nothing, and it differs essentially from all other substances used in medical inhalations."

Third.—We put in as a rebuttal, (in the event of their having analyzed a specimen of our Home Treatment), the letters of Judges, Governors, Judges, Congressmen, Clergymen, Authors and others; whose intelligence and integrity are vouched by no one, in all of which cases the results of the Compound Oxygen Treatment had astonished them and their friends.

Do you wish to know the effect of these calculations upon the public mind? At first there was a manifest falling off in our business, but in the years immediately following, the increase was greater than it had been before.

This manner of chemical analysis merits a moment's consideration; mainly because there are still some interested specialists who continue to publish their belief, based upon said analyses, that there is not a particle of curative power in the Compound Oxygen. None of the analysts (and it is slightly amusing that no two results of these analyses are at all alike), pretend that there is anything the least harmful in the Compound Oxygen, but simply that it is inert! Why then will not those who are interested in the public good, have the decency to explain how it is that we have accomplished in so many thousand cases, many times over what themselves have been able to do? Surely, if our Compound Oxygen is inert, that of others must be doing an immensity of harm!

In the above we have endeavored to give our readers a pen-picture of our business. We wish to show a little of the multitude which we occupy to those whom we are able and willing to help. It we have made ourselves appear egotistical, it is because the multitude of comfortatory facts which lie at our hand.

There is one feature in our enterprise to which we attach a good deal of importance, and which we here express, at the risk of appearing to give further evidence of our conceit. We claim to be competent, educated, skillful and practical physicians. We devote our acquirements in this line to watching over and caring for the welfare of our patients, so long as they remain under treatment. In this work, which has long since increased beyond the ability of two men to meet, we have the assistance of four other active medical graduates.

With all these advantages, and we earnestly believe in return to be supported by the confidence and patronage of those who are earnestly seeking for lost health.

"But, do you our ere everybody?" Happily, no! The age of miracles is past. We refuse to treat many who apply to us, because disease has made them completely its own. There are many others whose condition is such that only a trial can determine upon which side of the fatal line the case may be. It is a painful and damaging experience to secure a trial of a remedial agent, by holding out hopes that will be disappointed. But knowing what has been accomplished in many seemingly desperate cases, we prefer, at times, to risk our reputation as prognosticators, and the censure of the friends, to losing one chance for the life of the sufferer.

There are other circumstances over which we have no control, which cause failures. The statement of cases in writing, by the patients, or their friends, is liable to decided imperfections. Again, human nature presents very diverse phases. It is no less eccentric when it manifests itself through a body tortured and warped by disease. Is it not easy to see the difficulty of securing the conditions necessary to a successful issue of the Treatment in any given case, especially with patients whom we never see?

We have now said our modest "say" about Compound Oxygen. Some writer, in the near future, will make this paper like pumy trivialities in the light of developments which are now transpiring in the line of this phenomenal enterprise.

No one who keeps up with the current literature of the day can fail to be struck with the evidence of mental activity in these developments. A healing agent which cures almost all the ills which flesh is heir to, by restoring the whole nervous system, centres, trunks and branches, from foundation to keystone, and through these channels the whole body to a state of perfect integrity, is indeed a most valuable one. Such a healing agent can but modify, if it do not revolutionize the healing art in every department.

Now we have said the least that can be truthfully said of the Compound Oxygen. That it will be a good word who will say the lawful best."

In the above it may be thought that we have made many assertions without verification. We are ready to be put to the test of proving them all. But the proof of them is of less interest to those in search of lost health than the proof that others, like themselves, have been successful. Of course for want of space we can give you very few, but they are taken from hundreds of others equally worthy of publication.

A PRESIDING JUDGE'S EXPERIENCE.

"REVIVALIST."

(Name will be given if called for.)

June 8, 1886.

"I am not only pleased, I am delighted with the Treatment. The third day after beginning to use it in my acute surprise and impressment, I was relieved of a distressing pain in the region of the kidneys, which had troubled me for years. I have not been troubled with rheumatism since. I am much improved in general health, and am now able to preach two sermons on Sunday, which I could not do before. I have also been relieved of a severe case of bronchitis, from which I suffered for years. I have not had a cough since I began the Treatment. I feel that I am entirely relieved of my throat trouble, and that my lungs are sound. Nor have I changed my habits of living in any way. I have been preaching and lecturing during the whole time, and have not had to relinquish my work for a single day. I have also been relieved of a severe pain in the back of my head, which I had suffered with for years. I have gained in flesh, and feel that I am in better health than I have been for years. I have recommended the Compound Oxygen to many friends, and will continue to do so. I am willing to say that I believe it to be the greatest discovery of the age, and that it will cure any case that can be cured

PHILADELPHIA, MAY 19, 1887.

IT WILL be observed that Bishop Payne calls the meeting of the Bishops for July 27th, at Cape May, N. J. This states that the joint meeting of Bishops of the A. M. E. and A. M. E. Z. Churches will take place at Long Branch in August.

"THE A. M. E. CHURCH" is the name of a miniature paper published monthly by Rev. R. M. Cheeks to represent his church in Selma, Ala. This is a wise step. All pastorates would be doubly effective were this auxiliary used. Such a paper might contain forecasts of sermons as well epitome of strong points in preceding sermons and notes on Sunday school lessons.

A CARD DATED May 12th, from Rev J. W. Malone, presiding elder, Des Moines Iowa, states that the Rev. J. W. Taylor died in that city May 9th, lacking just fifteen days of three years since the He G. W. Hann died in the same charge and but about five since the steadwart Cheeks lay down to rest in the same city. All three were young and apparently healthy men. This lends to the thought that should three men go to an especial missionary work in Africa and fall within five years, it would not be strange that African civilization and Christianization are too expensive. But it all pays. Christianity by African Methodism is bringing thousands of souls to the altar that would otherwise rust out. Thank God that he counts us meto fur our Master's use.

THE CHURCH is called upon especially to remember Bishop Campbell and Dr. Townsend in prayer. Their mission is fraught with greater interest than many may think. For forty years there has been more or less talk about the episcopal visit from our church to Hayti. This is the realization of the talk. When Bishop Campbell shall have visited San Domingo, Hayti, perhaps St. Thomas, Kingston, and Jamaica, and come us, we shall know a little about what, under God, we are doing in the West Indies. There could be no fitter person to accompany the Bishop than Dr. Townsend, who possesses the ministerial spirit at home in the interest of that both here and abroad. To him it is quite necessary to know somewhat of the foreign field by actual personal observation. These brothers expect to return in July only. When they reach San Domingo, they will communicate with the Church through the CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

STILL THERE is ten much crime committed by colored men, too much by all colors of men. Our pulpits must pay more attention to the morals of the people. No spiritual enthusiasm can be too great in setting forth the efficacy of the blood of Christ, the soo fact that must receive a wonder to men and angels, but the teachings of Christ must to correction of the moral life. If it is true, as it appears to be, that colored men are as good as other men, still we must cry out for reform, improvement. Sometimes these words "good" are going down under the weight of immorality which they are placing upon themselves, then a race morally hardly must take up the business of civilization. Why shall the not be the African race? But, if the African race does not go down, yet must we work up in the moral life; for surely we cannot secure a proper place among men till we shall put on the garb of godliness. We have an example to do, but, under God, "we are able." Let us strike sin with earnest blows, let us exert ourselves in behalf of purer lives.

THE ARRANGEMENTS for the sentennial of African Methodism are being made on a mighty scale. If, at their next session in July, our good Bishops should appoint an especial agent to act as commissioner from them to inform the people concerning the day by regularly prepared circulars from time to time, make personal appeals to as many congregations as possible and take in hand in a general way the arranging for meetings at central points. There are ministers who could enter upon this work and make it successful.

Committees are usually unwieldy when composed of persons living long distances apart, as must be the case with this committee. A lively centeecial commissioner would have his hands quite full to make proper arrangements by November. If something of this kind is not done, we shall come far short of such results as should be reached. Of course such commissioners should work in harmony with the general committee sent; would make work tor the committee. It will be well if the Bishops can see their way clear to make such appointment.

According to the report of the Commissioner of Educaties for 1883-'85 there are 19,223 schools educating colored children. In the late slave States there are 4,715,556 white and 2,015,209 colored children who ought to attend school, about 62 per cent. of the eligible white children and about 54 per cent. of the eligible colored children attending schools. This comparison is reasonably favorable to the colored people, but taken alone we still have 46 out of every one hundred eligible to school advantages failing to enjoy them. This 46 per cent amounts to 1,013,223. These are too many to have subject to all the false educating influences of ignorant adults, the vicious classes and their own corrupt tendencies.

The report for 1885-'86 shows 17,507 schools for colored children, 1,716 fewer than the year following; and 1,026,-119 pupils, 27,314 less than the year followiog. The difference between 1877 and 1887—ten years—is, in number of schools, 4,843; in pupils, 472,000. It is understood that these figures do not include the hundreds of Christiso schools of all grades where minds are not supposed to have any color. Backsoped as it is becoming, we may repeat, it, "The marvels of the colored Americans in the arts, religion and learning have never been equalled" and will probably never be surpassed.

THE "VOICE," prohibition organ, is terribly shocked because R. D. Gamble, a temperance man, was defeated in Mississippi, May 7th. The Voice is right. Who could but cry out against murder? Who especially when it is backed by a perfect system for maintaining false notions of "rights?" We colored people, Brother Voice, have been not only chocked, but perfectly paralysed for a long time by the murderous methods by which we are "kept down" by the notions of "right" on less false than those upon which the whiskey power rests its case. Only rarely does the general press become horrified by the bloody sets inaugurated in the South for the purpose of intimidating our manhood and indoctrinating us with the idea that if we are not an inferior race per se we shall be inferior by their rope, their lash, their revolver, their gunbeau. Do you see this, brother? The dullness of the press and the apoloetic fear of the time, to say nothing of the carisature and oee-sloduess of the press on this matter, are doing great service in the cause of intemperance among colored Americans by discouraging them. Does the Voice know that the determination that the negro shall not be a man is all the significance of the term is not small in Northern States as well as Southern? Does it know that our little crier now and then are but the whisperings of what we really feel? Men say of us, "O, they're doing well enough. Its only natural discontentment. Look at the scores through which the Anglo-Saxon perfection has had to come." Yes, but we have had enough, now we want to be allowed a man's chance for our race-life. If our men will be quiet enough to want for justice gentler and we went good papers to join with us in saying so. The cause of temperance is the cause of humanity and of God. We join in the cry against the horrible crimes of the rum power in Iowa, Ohio and Mississippi; then call upon the Voice to help us. It is plain enough to all who are without the false sentiment engendered by the Southern indulgence is strong drink that the reasoning powers of unskied are becoming really weak on this drink question and that unless it is strengthened soon the most sublime efforts that have marked the risings of man must prove its raddest failure. The efforts of Tories to saddle the responsibility for the Park murders upon the great Irish leaders, Parnell and Dillon, are unreasonable compared with the shirge that may be made against many great and (so-called) good men for the license they give to the use of strong drink and its awful consequences. The Voice is a noble paper and in doing noble service in the course it has espoused, but it may do well to broaden its platform.

"SUMMARY TEXAS JUSTICE."

O, yes; justice! This is the heading of a Times (Phila.) statement of a cowardly sad villainous murder of one or more men, whose only crime was that, though black, they dared defend themselves. The sense of decency is outraged, the profession of fair chances for life and safety are mocked and the poor negro left without the moral protection of even respectable newspapers. President Cleveland is paeegyrized by some prominent young colored gentlemen, lawyers, editors and the like. The humanity party is declared "not so bad a thing" in the same breath that bears to our weary ears, "new look at President Cleveland!" Yes; we look, and look, and look; to see what? A man whose utmost only expression in defense of the colored American have been a sort of generalities and sentimental theories. This miserable slaughter of colored men meets with little pointed, emphatic condemnation from either the President or his party.

When a high official degrades questions like this down to a common level with general politics, the colored man who talks of such official's being our friend, is simply out of his head. The grandest opportunity offered any President since the days of Lincoln are offered President Grover Cleveland to become the friend of the friendless, by not dealing out general platitudes, but, studing as the leader of his party, the chief of the Nation, he could become the great moral chan pion. He could at least de something especial. The colored men who threw his moral influence in favor of the Democratic party, that party being composed very largely of the class of men who ask, when a crime is charged against a colored man, not "why was it done?" but "how us the nigger," at least, mistaken.

These two Texas men had defended themselves against the mean enaroshment upon and unrighteous robbery of their rights on a Texas railroad. The coroner's jury fed that the man who, at this writing, is dead, came to his death by unknown hands. Texas is satisfied, are not the Philadelphia Times, the President of the United States and the Democratic party to well satisfied? Are not too many professing Christians, and too many elequent preachers and humanitarians too well satisfied? Where is our manhood? Where is our boldness? Asinuts, that spends hundreds of thousands of dollars, seeing to it that meu do not maltreat their donkeys and dogs; that they do not protect the animal life against violence, the humanity of the black man! O, where is Christianity? Were it not for faith and hope, blessed angels to man, we would be, where is the Christ? Shall we look for another? But shattering all he has promises we plead with him yet to avenge us of our enemies, even though, like the Philistines with Sampson, they take us down with them.

THE CRUELTY OF AMERICAN CASTE.

Reviewing the record of the colored people in America it would seem that we had suffered enough to atone for the sins of Canaan, Ham and Noah, if caste liability of suffering for the sins of others. There are thousands of the more highly favored who think sins and who are glad to render us any service in their power as in some sense the debt of their race to ours, but the great majority of them pay little attention to the matter, seeming to allow it to pass as a matter of course. Recently a Boston, Mass., Gazette, published a list of the inquiries after friends made in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. The Gazette has more than once kindly referred to this appendage of newspapers published by the world of newspapers published by white men will pay very little, if any, attention to it. It is remarkable that such a sad plaint should go up to this intelligent age, that the colored man must feel largely responsible for the pains that underlie it, with so little impression. It is remarkable that the pulpit, as well as the press of the land, has so quiet on the subject. We receive an exchange one of the most prominent church organs in the United States, representing the most powerful body of Protestants in America, perhaps in the world, and including several hundred thousand of this suffering people as its communicants, a little to one side, it is true, but still inside dime them. In a recent issue of this great paper issued through the South, writes glowing editorials on his trips, its incidents, the colored people, the African Methodist brethren, etc., etc., but very seldom does it make an appeal for the outraged and down-trodden black Americans as it could do. It seedemns outrages upon the Chioese, outrages upon the Indian, outrages upon youth, outrages upon apostacy, but the horrible outrages done the colored man and brother seem to be matters of comtan. The New York Christian Advocate is probably going to leave that to take care of itself largely.

It is remarkable that in the South, where the colored people are most numerous, most abused, yet most held to when they attempt to leave in large numbers, most protected against exodus agents and most abandoned to lynchers, the religious press and the pulpit are so easy on this subject. It is remarkable that the press will so very generally accept the unreasonable fallacies concerning the murdering of colored men and send them up North. It is remarkable that when time and again it has been ascertained after these cowardly assaults upon imprisoned colored men, that the wrong men have been slaughtered, there is no attention paid to the matter, and white murderers of the bloodiest kind are well received in good society in high circles. Will the white American ever give the black American a respectable obance in the human race?

GENEROUS TREATMENT OF GENERAL TOPICS.

It serves well to have the brethren do the presiding eldership and the sew Bishop talk all up at once in this benHut our friend Dr. Steward need not look for say reply from the class of men in whose behalf he has interested himself especially. Candidates are like dead men, they tell no tales. It is the man stranger who cries out; who is going to acknowledge himself streak! Brother Steward and Brother Crosby seem to coincide on the Bishop question as well as Brother Crosby and Brother Wood on the presiding elder question. The latter two are quite severe on the presiding eldership as it now pertains. Presiding elders have a hard lot in many cases, like other pastors, but, unlike other pastors, they are more removed from the people; hen seember, everything looked gloomy. It was said that I was from Africa because I represented the African Methodist Church. I found two preaching places on the circuit; now have twelve. Presiding Elder Watson will appoint another minister on a part of the work. He will have to suffer some, but by God's help he will live. March 27th we held a memorial meeting with reference to the life and death of Bishop Cain. Unless we can get aid our church will be sold for debt. I hereis call upon all pastors to kindly send money to help us out. Address Rev. J. W. Williams, Forest, Miss."

J. H. L. Clark, Gallipolis, D., writes: "The sending of Rev. Tolliver here, though unbought and unexpected, has been a blessing to us. Rev. J. H. Hill's interests here had grown almost a thing of the past, but he has now hold up his heads. We have had over 60 added to our church roll by admissions and by letter, and we are now rejoicing in hope. Dr. Tolliver has often been mentioned as a man of their rights on a Texas railroad. for the Presidential office, but when they use their powers to educate the ministry to a noble, independent Christian life, they increase their own influence. Such presiding elders are the men to be selected for our work. The others will have a certain kind of power, but these have an unpalpable influence. Presiding elders who seem to have unlimited control of "their men" might learn from some of these. There is bitter complaint against "our elder," with a sigh and a "well, we can't help it." These reflections would lead to the idea that we need in this office just what we cannot get—a good man for every post.

May we not hope that as the wisdom and Christ-like spirit necessary to proper communion increase within us we shall succeed with the presiding eldership? Brother Woodie will find a number of presiding elders in the conference who get their salary. Dr. Steward, don't subject brethren to competitive examinations. You know that A. M. E. Green suggested something of that kind in 1880. Brethren said "no."

There are many who agree that there should be a condemnation of what are known as general offices, or of the unseemly interests as are of a common class as publishing. To continue in our present course in this matter is to do almost all in our power to prevent the general material interests of the connection. We called the attention of the Church to this subject long ago. The very thing aimed at by the sectional committee could have been done long since, if we would combine our opportunities for supporting our own Publishing House. We will use our own money and the moneys that are carried much farther from the conferences that raised them than this place, to be given to publishers in little sympathy with us as a people or as a Church. Secretary of Atlanta, Ga., an instance to which the RECORDER has mentioned previously! We scatter, scatter, scatter.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.
HOW THE SCIENCE OF MEDICINE HAS BEEN HAMPERED.
"PROFESSIONAL ETHICS" WORSE THAN EASTERN CASTE—A LETTER FROM A PHYSICIAN WHO FOLLOWS THE "SCHOOL," BUT FREE-PERS HUMANITY TO "PROFESSIONAL ETHICS."

While the medical profession has made great progress in the treatment of disease, it has been greatly hampered by the fact that it is itself, and knows as "professional ethics." There is a code of ethics which binds every member of the medical profession, and which prevents him from publishing to the world any discovery he may make in the treatment of disease. These ethics are due to the fact that the medical profession is a close corporation, and is governed entirely by its own members. Following the practice of another "Professional" corporation, the bar, which is strictly exclusive in organization, a physician is bound when he discovers a remedy for disease not to introduce it to the people and the profession at large, but to submit it to the medical society of which he is a member, and if he is not a member of some medical society, he is bound to submit it to the medical society of the county in which he resides. If the society approves of the remedy, it then submits it to the State Medical Society, and if that approves of it, it is then submitted to the National Medical Association, and if that approves of it, it is then submitted to the profession at large. Now, it is a fact that the medical profession is composed largely of men who are not competent to pass upon the merits of a remedy, and the result is that the remedy is generally rejected, and the discoverer is denounced as a quack and a charlatan. Many of the most valuable remedies that have been introduced to them by the members of the medical profession have been discovered by persons who were not members of the profession, and who were therefore denounced as quacks and charlatans. "THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

The following words, in praise of DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. They are fair samples of the spontaneous expressions with which thousands of women have voluntarily testified to the truth of the statements made for the unfailing action of their world-famed medicine.

$100 THROWN AWAY.

Mrs. SOPHIA F. BOWERS, White Sulphur Springs, writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and two vials of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and feel like a new woman. I had been sick for some time. I have had to employ help for my household work, but now I do it all myself, and attend strictly to my business. I have gained in flesh, and my friends say I look like a new woman. I have had no more pain in my left side, and feel as well as I ever did."

THE GREATEST EARTHLY BOON.

Mrs. GEORGE HENDON, of Westfield, N. C., writes: "I was a great sufferer from female weakness, bearing-down pains, and pain constantly in my left side. I had given up all hope of ever being cured, when I was induced to try your 'Favorite Prescription.' I have used five bottles, and feel like a new woman. I was troubled with a bearing-down pain, and could not walk across the room without holding my side. I can now do my work all day, and walk a mile without fatigue. I have not had a sick headache since I commenced taking your medicine. I have gained in flesh, and weigh more than I ever did before. I feel like a new woman, and can truly say that I owe my present good health to your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

IRREGULAR AND PAINFUL MENSTRUATION.

Mrs. MARY HARRISON, of Hartford, Ky., writes: "I was troubled with Irregular and Painful Menstruation, Leucorrhœa, and Female Weakness, and had given up all hope of ever being cured. I had been under the treatment of two physicians for some time, but received no benefit. I had to employ help in my household work, and could not do it myself. I was induced to try Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription,' and have used seven bottles of it, and feel like a new woman. I have gained in flesh, and can do my own work. I have no more pain, and can walk with the help of crutches. He does not suffer any now. I am very grateful to you for the benefit I have received from your medicine, and shall use it in my family in the future. I have had more trouble since he commenced using your medicine. I can now do my own work, and have not had a hysterical spell since I commenced using your medicine. I have also used your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I think is the best medicine for blood diseases in the world. I have recommended your medicine to many of my friends, and they have used it with the same success as myself. I have been a sufferer for years, and have tried many physicians, but your medicine has done me more good than all the rest. JONES' SERMONS SIFTED.

When you tap up a horse, if he don't want to go along, the next best thing he can do is to kick, and a lazy Christian is like a lazy mule in the team. He is the man to tap up, and a horse that responds to a tap in a forward move must I haven't got time to stop and kick.

A boy gets $10,000 in the Louisiana state lottery, but I would rather be a boy who had ploughed a whole week for $1. I would slip that dollar into my pocket, lash my breeches under my head at night, and the magic on that dollar would turn into a blighingale and ring us to sleep.

Suppose you go down some day and try to hypothecate your Methodism for some dry goods. How much do you suppose you will get for? Why, say dear, the store-keeper will say: "I can show yo the names of Methodists on my books who have been owing me for 20 years."

Every time you come to church you bring a broken pocket-book, and we pray: "Lord give me something." "Why, what do you want?" and you reply: "Anything you may have." And then you have brought your basket or your basket for it, crying: "Lord, give me something." I say to him: "Lord, give me smashing orders," and he never sent a man to the front without sending a forage waggon with him.

HIGHSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE, HUNDREDS OF BOTTLES PRESCRIBED.

Dr. C. B. DANE, Bellevill, Ill., says: "I have prescribed a number of bottles of it. It is of great value in all forms of nervous diseases which is accompanied by loss of power."

A stroke of misfortune seems to have befallen a Pittsburg family. The 12-year-old son was drowned, the father had a stray bullet, and the father, while en route to the doctor, was thrown from his horse and sustained a broken leg.

In chronic diseases, medicines should be restoring, and not debilitating to their action. The wonderful strengthening and curative effects produced from the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, attests the reputation of this remedy as the most popular blood purifier.

A KANSAS VIEW.—Kansas city Man —"I suppose you've never been in Kansas City, Mr. Jones?" Jones—"Yes, I was there last week." "Last week! Oh, but we ought to see it now."—Omaha World.

A TOTAL ECLIPSE of all medicines by Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is approaching with unparalleled rapidity in orders. Impure blood, and consumption, which is scrofulous disease of the lungs.

It is the Bishop's duty, as required by certain provisos deeders, gardeners, fishermen, &c., who sell their wares about the streets to alter and renew the silver badges supplied gratis by the city. For bachelors a special badge is to be provided, which can only be procured upon payment of the regular license fee.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is the debilitated women's best restorative tonic.

The temperature at Albany, N. Y., according to a local Signal Service summary of the month's records, was the first four months of the year, averaged over 2 degrees per day less than the normal in temperature for the past twelve years.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing, with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

"Yesterday," remarks a territorial editor whose name is Dakota Bill, "one of two were again married. It will be remembered that both of our former wives eloped with the foreman of the office. To avoid a future inconvenience of the kind we have this time married a lady who is herself a compositor."

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED.

To THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease; and that by its use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have a case of the above. Give Express and P. O. address. Respectfully, DR. T. A. SLOCUM, 181 Pearl St., New York.

NOTICE.

To the Ministers of the Board on Publication Department. Brethren:—On assuming the Presidency of the Board in the room of my late lamented friend Bishop Cain, it becomes my official duty to address you this notice. I have had no consultation on the subject, we find it impracticable to call a meeting of the full Board, as such a meeting involves a very large expenditure. We are obliged, therefore, to ask the co-operation of the Executive Board to meet me at Wilberforce University, Tuesday, June 14th next, being the day before commencement at the college. Each member is notified in bring to the meeting all books and vouchers, etc., for audit and examination as heretofore. The Executive Board are: Revs. Theonas W. Conrad, Washington, D. C.; H. A. Johnson, Baltimore; Wm. B. Derrick, New York; C. C. Asbury, Pennsylvania, and M. W. Bachly, ——. Each one shall be glad to meet any other members who can possibly come.

I am, dear brethren, fraternally yours, J. P. CAMPBELL, Chairman.

In All Complaints

Of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, and Kidneys, Ayer's Pills are taken with excellent results. Being purely vegetable, they leave no ill effects, and may be safely administered to any one, old or young, in need of an aperient and cathartic. Physicians, all over the country, prescribe Ayer's Pills and recommend them as a good Family Medicine.

"If people would use Ayer's Pills," says Col. B. W. Bowman, of Franklin, Ind., "there would be little or no necessity of the serious ailments that come from torpidity or derangement of the liver and from material infections would be avoided. I have used these pills above a quarter of a century and know from experience what they are."

Herman Bringhoff, jewelry engraver, Newark, N. J., writes: "I continued to be troubled by my sedentary habits of life, because chronic Ayer's Pills relieved me speedily relief. Each occasional use has made my health as good as ever."

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 2, 1887.

THE SCALE of crime must be lowered. The figure given in another column by Mrs. N. F. Mussel are startling. We are standing the familiarity acquired by the constant sights and sounds of crime. The inability to manage ourselves is plain. Is this a civilized country, where murderers stalk abroad like beasts in the wilds of Africa? With all our boasted institutions crime is on the lowrease. What are we going to do about it?

THE 73D SESSION of the Philadelphia Conference passed off very pleasantly. Nearly all the brethren seem well pleased with their appointments. Being the first full year for Bishop Ward, it may be said to have been presided over to the satisfaction of all concerned. The impression of the session on the people of Columbia was very good. The religious services, as well as the business sessions, showed that the conference is composed of ministers throughly in earnest.

IN THE NUMBER of the RECORDER our readers will find an exceedingly interesting article from our Senior Bishop, "Critique the Second," in which he gives an exegesis of the teaching of our Lord on moral education. In his neat he will give the teachings of the Apostles on the same subject. The correct paper is a strong rebuke to any one or clique at moral education. For the sake of checking the tide of immorality it would be profitable to read it in every congregation in the land.

THE OHIO CONFERENCE BIBLICAL Institute will sit in Paul Quinn Chapel, Chillicothe, O., August 9-12. First, to examine thoroughly all applicants for Holy Orders and for admittance to conference, and, second, to interchange opinions on subjects relating to the work of the ministry and the general interests of the people. The programme is commendable. If carried out it will make a highly serviceable meeting. The silent ministers in the conference need to be heard, and the eye fixed upon the text, so that independence of thought and the benefit of knowledge are lost. A little attention will reveal the fact that all over the school the same question is being asked about the same time, answerlog pupils reading from the lesson. This is not teaching nor is it learning. When on review day the reviewer holds his journal and makes his questions the questions and the school makes its answers theirs, the farce is complete. Of course there are noble exceptions, in which the student studies, the teacher teaches and the reviewer reviews. It is remarkable what little attention is paid to the real life, the soul, of the lesson; as the contemporaneous, civil and religious history, and the geography connected with it. The routine is too often gone through about as follows: Teacher, "What is the topic?" Whole school reading, "Zacheus in the Tree." Teacher, "Yes. What is the Golden Text?" Whole school reading, "He that humbleth his-self shall be exalted." Teacher, with eyes lifted from the page long enough to reply "Yes. Now, what is the outline?" Whole school. Then a short man exalted. Has he any knowledge of Jesus and sitting together at meat." "Correct," says the teacher. "What verse teaches the necessity of climbing a tree to see that which is hidden from your present standpoint?" Whole school, "The sixth verse." Teacher, "Right. Will you tell me where in this chapter we are taught to expect to be heard in our petitions in the Lord?" Whole school reading, "The seventh and eigth verse." So on and on, week after week and year after year, the hum drum of question and answer according to the strictest order of the lesson paper is kept up. Two minutes' intelligent questioning after lesson leaves are all gathered by teachers would be more serviceable to the school than an hour spent in bowing the head to God, answers and raising it to state them. Twice every month, at least, the lessons should be talked over without a single leaf in hand. As for the teacher or reviewer holding the journal to ask questions it reminds one of the young minister who was rigidly examined by one of our Western confer ence committee men; his questions being all read from the books. After the examination was closed and the committee had retired to a side room, the examiner was heard to say, "I don't believe he can preach worth a cent, for he never looked off his book once." Whether this be true or false, a fact which in itself has no natural laws preventing the entrance of light. It is the ruling strong chief's unchristian treatment of a weak class that drives it to separate church organization, not to exclude the strong, but to enjoy itself. It is the unrighteous treatment received by the weak class from the strong that forces the latter to separate organization. The religion of a country seems to be modified very largely by the sentiments of that country, as well as to be a modifier of sentiment.

THE NECESSITY of study in Sunday school work requires great attention from our ministry. Any olden observer will be struck at the slavish stickling to the Lesson Leaf and Journal, which characterizes both student and teacher, superintendent and pastor. Questions are asked with the eye fixed upon the text, so that independence of thought and the benefit of knowledge are lost. A little attention will reveal the fact that all over the school the same question is being asked about the same time, answerlog pupils reading from the lesson. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are teething. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Best Remedy

For Dyspepsia is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Other medicines may give temporary relief; but Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes a positive and permanent cure, as thousands can testify all over the country.

"My stomach is fixed, and kidneys were in a disordered condition for years," writes E. Wild, of Hutto, Texas, "and I never found any medicine to relieve me, until I began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than six bottles of this remedy cured me."

Mrs. Joseph Ashby, of Holyoke, Mass., was for a long time a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, Irritability, and all the usual symptoms. At last she began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and only three bottles made her a perfect health.

"I have gone through terrible sufferings from Dyspepsia and Indigestion," writes C. J. Bolcomet, 125 Columbia st., Cambridgeport, Mass., "and can truly say Ayer's Sarsaparilla has cured me."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all druggists. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle.

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 9, 1887.

NEXT WEEK will appear an interesting sketch of Rev. R. H. Dixon, of the Alabama Conference.

WE SHOULD have said all Scripture is against this notion instead of "this nation," in editorial, last issue, under subject, Presbyterians and Evolution.

WE were made to say, last week, "To A. M. E. C." Church occurs in the 1st col. to the C. M. E. church in narrowness on the race question, whereas we meant to say the M. E. South.

WHAT are both sides of the Bishop election question and the presiding elder question been discussed as extensively as the people care to have it, seeing that the discussion cannot make one hair white nor black?

THE commencement exercises of Paul Quinn College, Waco, Texas, begin to-morrow, June 10th, and continue till Tuesday, June 15th. June 14th and 15th the annual session of the Board of Trustees take place.

WHILE in North Carolina we had the pleasure of meeting Hon. C. W. Hoover, member of the North Carolina Legislature from Wake county. Mr. Hoover is one of the most intelligent gentlemen of the legislature. He has done good work for his county and the colored people.

PROF. W. H. CONNELL has brought the case of his ejection from a car in Tennessee, and attendent outrage, before the Interstate Railroad Commission for settlement, demanding $25,000 damage. Commissioner Bragg knows Prof. Connell, and speaks very highly of him, as well as of the necessity of railroads recognizing the rights of men. This is a very fortunate for Prof. Connell. Railroads will become straight before long. Tennessee and Georgia are no worse on this subject than New York was twenty-five years ago.

THERE is no one grumbling, brethren; we have told you again and again that since the presiding eldership has been made universal, it is out of the question to publish the half you write about the districts, their meetings, etc. You say, why not put them in items instead of so much other matter? Our reply is, because it would make up our paper of uniform matter and thus render it monotonous and unreadable. We publish about as much of this kind of literature as our space, our taste and the success of the RECORDER warrant. Much sent to most remain unprinted.

NEXT SUNDAY is the gleaning day for the Sunday School Union. Children's Day has become one of the most popular days of the Church. It has been attended by more enthusiasm than any other of our general days for some time. The enthusiasm has been accompanied by generous contributions, and these have been used to establish a good and growing Sunday school business. The prosperity of the Union should encourage the connection to redouble its efforts this year. The patronage of the department is doubtless becoming quite general, compared with what it was a few years ago. The probability is that the Union will be self-supporting after the next General Conference.

A FEW DAYS ago we received a communication saying, among other things, "Wilberforce University is old enough to be self-supporting." We advise our good brother, asking the many patrons of institutions of learning. He will find that no university can be made self-supporting till it has an endowment fund equal to at least five times as much money as Wilberforce has ever handled, from all sources. He will find that not a few that have once been endowed with funds excelling all that the Church has given Wilberforce are unable to support themselves. Princeton, a century old, begs for aid.

We heard a wise woman make a remark like this of Brother Edwards' eight years ago. Wilberforce is no richer now than it was then. The fact is, colleges do not grow wealthy with age but with giving. The untiring support is the thing upon which they are sustained, not the accumulation of years. There is nothing in them as a business.

THE "SOUTHERN RECORDER" EX-PLAINS.

The following occurs in the editorial columns of our good contemporary of May 27th:

Bishop Payne's review of our position upon moral education, published in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER is gladly reprinted in this paper. We shall reprint as many as is written, and at the proper time reply as we should to a kind and wise father. Yet, we wish a man more our equal in years and labors was our critic; for low can we take exception at anything Bishop PAYNE may say, when we have been accustomed for years upon years to sit and listen to his words as oracles divine. Our reverence for him forbid it. All we shall say at present, is that we conceive in everything our senior says, The difference is simply, he is advocating and defending moral training, culture and discipline, while we are denouncing the theory that schools can make Christians without being justified by faith through our Lord Jesus Christ. But we propose to wait his castigation, and then say God save Bishop PAYNE! Yet we shall speak at the proper time, though in terms mild and tender, for our unworthy revolt at anything more than that. Read him carefully, for his article merits it, while it is no reply to us.

How unfortunate that the editor of the Southern Recorder should have headed his editorial of April 1st, "Moral Education is a Humbug," when he meant only "The Theory that Schools can Make Christians is a Humbug." Toen, did he mean to say in the first sentence of the text, "There is so much 'fog' as the theory that schools can make Christians?" With this idea there is almost universal agreement. Too many thousands of our people depend upon what is said in our papers to allow us to speak thus carelessly. When the carelessness is discovered fell explanation is due in order. If the Southern Recorder does not mean the moral education is a humbug, it can easily say so; since it certainly knows it is not a humbug. If the editor of not mean that there is no such thing as moral education, it can easily explain its position; for it admits in the misheaded article that there might be such thing. The article of April 1st should read itself "a stutter to many who would read it." Why, if it meant only that schools are not Christian makers, should it imagine that it would excite many? Who thought differently? It is not at all probable that any considerable number of our ministers or laymoc differ from the editor on this position. We have heard much preaching in the past forty years, but have never heard this wonderful "theory" that caused the Southern Recorder to "stutter many" pronounced or expounded We have heard much light and blasphemous treatment of the moral subject. Those who talk most of moral education also talk most about the atoning blood, of Jesus and of getting "nearer, my God, to thee."

The editor's declaration—April 1st—"moral training or teaching may assist in keeping a person within the bounds, civil limits, or decent deportment, but it never fitted man for heaven," is not startling. But this is very inconsistent with the denunciation of moral education as a humbug or declaring that there is no such thing. The Southern Recorder now seems to ask its readers to understand that it retreats from this inconsistent standing, without its saying so. It can afford to say that it has made a mistake; for it certainly did so. Moral education is not a humbug. There is such a thing as moral education.

THE KITTRELL NORMAL SCHOOL.

The commencement exercises of this institution took place Tuesday, May 31st. As many as two thousand persons were present, it is out of the question to publish the half you write about the districts, their meetings, etc. You say, why not put them in items instead of so much other matter? Our reply is, because it would make up our paper of uniform matter and thus render it monotonous and unreadable. We publish about as much of this kind of literature as our space, our taste and the success of the RECORDER warrant. Much sent to most remain unprinted.

The faculty is composed of President B. R. Kittrell, A. M., and Prof. J. W. Hawkins. They all seem confident of success, patient in tribulation and buoyant with hope, but not uneasy about being robbed for the money they make. There were about seventy students in attendance last year, many of whom were from families able to keep them there a long while.

The essays and declamations by the children and young ladies were of a very good style; songs sung were charming. There has evidently been good work done at Kittrell. The Trustee Board met 31st ult. Rev. R. H. W. Leak, the chief spirit in this enterprise from beginning to the present, is chairman of the Board. Besides hearing the report of the officers of the school, the Board received a commission from the Virginia Conference, asking the latter's co-operation in the ownership and control of the school. The commissioners were Revs. J. Strange, W. D. Cook, W. H. Hunter, J. E. W. Moore and R. H. Bolden. Rev. Bolden and Cook were not present. Dr. Hunter was spokesman. The North Carolina Trustees received the commission courteously and cordially, offering them equal share with themselves in the future weals and woes of the school's life. The commissioners accepted the gracious overtures and turned what there is of the William P. Dickerson Memorial School, of Virginia, over to the Kittrell School, whose deed in to read hereafter, "of the North Carolina and Virginia Conferences of the A. M. E. Church." This is a noble step on the part of both those conferences—a step that will result in vast good to both conferences.

There is a world of promise in the little school. The patience, faith in God, spirit of sacrifice and wisdom that appear so prominently in the present faculty will bring success, if supported by devotion, diligence and faith on the part of the trustees. They have an immense responsibility. Should they be broad, liberal and gracious towards each other their work will prosper in their hands; should they be narrow, jealous and consequently indifferent, their work will wither in their hands. Much will depend upon the manner in which their work is placed before the public, also. Besides the generosity of colored people there are hundreds of white people in the Old North State and other States willing to aid them. Their site would be hard to excel. As Elder Leak says, "I cannot see if God himself must have directed them to that beautiful place, to succeed if they will, to blame themselves if they will not." Among the pastors present were Revs. W. H. Giles, P. F. Giles, J. G. Fry, J. E. C. Bertham, C. Sampson, R. H. W. Leak and J. W. Telfair, of the North Carolina Conference; Dr. W. H. Hunter, Revs. J. E. W. Moore and J. Strange, of the Virginia Conference. There were several editors at the reporter's desk. We remember editor W. Hunter, of the Outlook, reporter Hunter of Mr. O'Hara's paper, and the editor of the Orphan' Advocate. The latter should look after this school. The North Carolina Conference should arrange to place to its treasury within the next twelve months $2,000. This can be done easily if the work throughout the State is thoroughly organized, the hearts of the people being thoroughly aroused by the agent or agents of the school and a general cooperation guaranteed. Prof. Hawkins has been appointed financial agent, as well as General Manager. President Goins is agent ex officio. They propose securing as much of the country as possible within the next three months. Prepare to meet them.

A VISIT TO RALEIGH, N. C.

On invitation of Rev. R. H. W. Leak, as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Kittrell Normal School, North Carolina, the editor of this paper delivered the annual address before the school, May 31. We spent Sunday, 29th ult., in Raleigh. This is a lively Southern town. No man is too black to take soda water at its best fountains. There is considerable only fear is that he undertakes to be so many that he will not be able to become so much to the people as he would otherwise be. There is no inclination of the people to let him rest, to say nothing of resting and sleeping. They are striving to complete a church building, whose walls are partly up. The design is large. They are attempting to seat one as nearly C. O. D. plan as possible; hence, are collecting rather than constructing now. They intend to complete the walls by conference, but will hardly get the roof on. There is a very good Sunday school connected with the church, under the superintendency of Mr. Hunter, graduate of Lincoln University. It is rarely that we find a better conducted or better drilled school. Mr. Hunter does not teach the "leaf" mechanically. Raleigh needs a new church badly. With such business men as J. O'Kelley, S. E. Lines, Jeffries, Tucker, Bishop, Turner, Hunter and others, it would seem that they ought to manage to secure better quarters than they have now. Brother O'Kelley told the church that we would tell the world, through the RECORDER, that they failed to raise our traveling expenses one way; but, of course, he did not know what a generous-hearted man he had to deal with. It is not best to tell the world everything we know. The pastor was absent delivering the annual sermon at Kittrell; "the cat was away."

The Rev. J. W. Telfair, of New Bern, spent the Sabbath in Raleigh preaching a very serviceable and strong sermon Sunday morning.

The Rev. Warren is pastor of one of the Baptist churches of Raleigh and the best we have seen, colored and white. He has evidently been good work done at Kittrell. The Trustee Board met 31st ult. Rev. R. H. W. Leak, the chief spirit in this enterprise from beginning to the present, in chairman of the Board. Besides hearing the report of the officers of the school, the Board received a commission from the Virginia Conference, asking the latter's co-operation in the ownership and control of the school. The commissioners were Revs. J. Strange, W. D. Cook, W. H. Hunter, J. E. W. Moore and R. H. Bolden. Rev. Bolden and Cook were not present. Dr. Hunter was spokesman. OUR WOMAN'S COLUMN.

Mrs. Richard Bond, of Boston, has left $25,000 to Dartmouth College.

Mrs. Mary A. Talcott, of Chicago, gives $1,000 to the Humane Society of that city every year.

Kate Sanborn, the well-known writer and newspaper correspondent, is a niece of Daniel Webster.

The Marquis of Northampton has placed his Scarborough property under the supervision of lady visitors to be appointed by Miss Octavia Hill.

Dr. Mary E. Bates, regarded as one of the best surgeons in Chicago, was the first woman to graduate from a medical college in that city. She has a large practice.

The women of New York have been granted more patents than their sisters in any other State. The women of Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin rank next in order.

Miss Frances Helen Colesco, who has left Lima, Ohio, and her daughter of Bishop Colesco, and joint author with Colonel Ingersoll of "Dotted on the Shores of the Zolo War." She contributed the editorial letters and the descriptive narrative. Afterwards she published a work called "The Rein of Zaluland," which was written with a number of her father's letters. Her early death will be lamented by the Zulus.

A bill granting municipal suffrage to single women and widows in Copenhagen passed the Danish Folkething by a majority of 70 to 7. It was practically equivalent to our House of Representatives. It has yet to pass the Senate, but the committee of the Upper House reported favorably, four to one. The bill was supported by a petition from the Danish Women's Society, signed by 7,653 women of Copenhagen, including 554 tax-payers.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg says that an American girl need not study abroad to become a professional singer, but can learn in her own country. On the other hand, give up most of the pleasures of young people, study drama and music as well as singing, and give her whole time to preparation. Her greatest success will be accomplished only after years of hard work. She must eat nourishing food, take plenty of exercise, and get nine hours' sleep.

A woman who, six years ago, knew nothing of business, is now one of the big blankets in the country that can compete with those of the famous Mission Mills, in California. She has a small farm by which she lives, and on which she experimented in her own kitchen before she ventured to go into the business. Her blankets can now hardly be distinguished from those of the Mission Mills, and her little mill is kept running day and night to fill heavy orders.

At the late municipal election in Leavenworth, Kan., the democratic candidate for mayor was elected by one vote. A Republican gentleman in this city says he has a daughter who was politically shocked the other day by receiving a letter from her stating that she had been married. The bad beau a resident of Kansas about six months and only late in the afternoon on the day of election learned that women were entitled to vote at that election. Grieved at her political residence. She quietly exercised the privilege by voting for the democratic candidate, and thus gave him the victory by the best man.—Dayton Democrat.

A BRAVE WOMAN.

Sister Marie Therese, a French nun, who has been lately decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor for forty years' service in the army ambulances, seems to be not only a brave but a merry woman. During a time of hard fighting in Tonquin, a bomb fell into an ambulance full of wounded men. Sister Theresa seized the bomb and carried it to a distance. When she set it down it exploded, but, luckily, not till she had time to throw herself flat on the ground. Her abdominal rushed up in terror, and found her unconscious and covered with blood. When she regained her senses she silenced her customary phrase, "Is he only a joke." At the ceremony of the decoration, none of the customary tot? mailties were omitted. The general who conferred the little chevaliere on the brave nun touched her with his sword on both her shoulders, and finally brushed her cheek with his white mustaches.

The Princess of China issued a decree, just before her retirement, advocating the abolition of the custom of compressing the feet of female children. Grown women, crocheting and embroidery give many poor Irish women a chance to earn a few shillings to help the family fend. Mrs. Hart is also trying to revive the lace-making industry in Ireland.

The Rev. J. W. Telfair, of New Bern, spent the Sabbath in Raleigh preaching a very serviceable and strong sermon Sunday morning.

The Rev. Warren is pastor of one of the Baptist churches of Raleigh and the best we have seen, colored and white. He has evidently been good work done at Kittrell. The Trustee Board met 31st ult. Rev. R. H. W. Leak, the chief spirit in this enterprise from beginning to the present, in chairman of the Board. Besides hearing the report of the officers of the school, the Board received a commission from the Virginia Conference, asking the latter's co-operation in the ownership and control of the school. The commissioners were Revs. J. Strange, W. D. Cook, W. H. Hunter, J. E. W. Moore and R. H. Bolden. Rev. Bolden and Cook were not present. Dr. Hunter was spokesman. The North Carolina Trustees received the commission courteously and cordially, offering them equal share with themselves in the future weals and woes of the school's life. The commissioners accepted the gracious overtures and turned what there is of the William P. Dickerson Memorial School, of Virginia, over to the Kittrell School, whose deed in to read hereafter, "of the North Carolina and Virginia Conferences of the A. M. E. Church." This is a noble step on the part of both those conferences—a step that will result in vast good to both conferences.

There is a world of promise in the little school. The patience, faith in God, spirit of sacrifice and wisdom that appear so prominently in the present faculty will bring success, if supported by devotion, diligence and faith on the part of the trustees. They have an immense responsibility. Should they be broad, liberal and gracious towards each other their work will prosper in their hands; should they be narrow, jealous and consequently indifferent, their work will wither in their hands. Much will depend upon the manner in which their work is placed before the public, also. Besides the generosity of colored people there are hundreds of white people in the Old North State and other States willing to aid them. Their site would be hard to excel. As Elder Leak says, "I cannot see if God himself must have directed them to that beautiful place, to succeed if they will, to blame themselves if they will not." Among the pastors present were Revs. W. H. Giles, P. F. Giles, J. G. Fry, J. E. C. Bertham, C. Sampson, R. H. W. Leak and J. W. Telfair, of the North Carolina Conference; Dr. W. H. Hunter, Revs. J. E. W. Moore and J. Strange, of the Virginia Conference. There were several editors at the reporter's desk. We remember editor W. Hunter, of the Outlook, reporter Hunter of Mr. O'Hara's paper, and the editor of the Orphans' Advocate. The latter should look after this school. The North Carolina Conference should arrange to place to its treasury within the next twelve months $2,000. This can be done easily if the work throughout the State is thoroughly organized, the hearts of the people being thoroughly aroused by the agent or agents of the school and a general cooperation guaranteed. Prof. Hawkins has been appointed financial agent, as well as General Manager. President Goins is agent ex officio. They propose securing as much of the country as possible within the next three months. Prepare to meet them.

A VISIT TO RALEIGH, N. C.

On invitation of Rev. R. H. W. Leak, as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Kittrell Normal School, North Carolina, the editor of this paper delivered the annual address before the school, May 31. We spent Sunday, 29th ult., in Raleigh. This is a lively Southern town. No man is too black to take soda water at its best fountains. There is considerable

NORTH CAROLINA NOTES.

BY REV. W. H. GILES.

In your publication of "North Carolina Notes" in your issue of May 26th stated that "the Rev. W. J. Jordan was broken down in health and had gone home to die." This is simply a typographical error and that it was Rev. W. J. Gaines instead of Rev. W. J. Jordan. Brother Jordan is well and at his post. He is building a large church at Wilson; Raleigh is dry. Raleigh had no drunken, boisterous young men on till after they got some of the Durham wetness—if they did so. Two of the best temperance speeches we have heard were delivered by Hon. Williams, one of the colored State legislators, and Hon. C. L. Harris, white. Mr. Harris had, the week previous, written an editorial which reflected severely on the colored race. Rev. Leake had given the article a cutting criticism. Mr. Harris seemed exceptionally kind to the race in his remarks at the prohibition meeting.

D. plan as possible; hence, are collecting rather than constructing now. They intend to complete the walls by conference, but will hardly get the roof on. There is a very good Sunday school connected with the church, under the superintendency of Mr. Hunter, graduate of Lincoln University. It is rarely that we find a better conducted or better drilled school. Mr. Hunter does not teach the "leaf" mechanically. Raleigh needs a new church badly. With such business men as J. O'Kelley, S. E. Lines, Jeffries, Tucker, Bishop, Turner, Hunter and others, it would seem that they ought to manage to secure better quarters than they have now. Brother O'Kelley told the church that we would tell the world, through the RECORDER, that they failed to raise our traveling expenses one way; but, of course, he did not know what a generous-hearted man he had to deal with. It is not best to tell the world everything we know. The pastor was absent delivering the annual sermon at Kittrell; "the cat was away."

Obituary.

Sister Lucy Green, the wife of Elijah Green, departed this life at Clarksville, Md., April 7th, 1887, aged 71 years, one month and five days. She was not a member of the Union M. E. Church, but was like many of our old mothers who have passed away in the days of slavery and remained there until death. Sister Green was a kind friend to her husband and a loved mother to her children.

The Rev. J. E. Thompson died on the Gem Swamp Mission April 1st. Brother Thompson was a devout, prayerful, "Lord, conquer me about with the Holy Ghost" man. He was a good companion and kind and take me to glory." He was a diligent student of Revelation, sang the hymns, "Shall we gather at the river?" "Sweet by and by," "Blessed be the name of the Lord," "Crown him Lord of the crown!" Finding his utterance failed, he said, "Good bye, brethren," in chapter of Gen. 10th verses. Then commended his spirit to God, and he was no more. Brother Thompson was a native of Virginia, but was converted in Baltimore, Md., and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was a member of the Gem Swamp Mission, and left a wife and seven children to mourn their loss. Funeral services were held in the Gem Swamp Mission, and the remains were interred in the Mission burying ground. Rev. Thompson was a member of the Philadelphia Conference, and was appointed to the Gem Swamp Mission by Bishop Wayman. He was a faithful minister of the Gospel, and his memory is precious to the Church.

Mrs. Frances Ann Holden, wife of Rev. Wm. Holden, and daughter of Bishop Coleman, and joint author with Colonel Ingersoll of "Dotted on the Shores of the Zolo War." She contributed the editorial letters and the descriptive narrative. Afterwards she published a work called "The Rein of Zaluland," which was written with a number of her father's letters. Her early death will be lamented by the Zulus.

A bill granting municipal suffrage to single women and widows in Copenhagen passed the Danish Folkething by a majority of 70 to 7. It was practically equivalent to our House of Representatives. It has yet to pass the Senate, but the committee of the Upper House reported favorably, four to one. The bill was supported by a petition from the Danish Women's Society, signed by 7,653 women of Copenhagen, including 554 tax-payers.

Miss Clara Louise Kellogg says that an American girl need not study abroad to become a professional singer, but can learn in her own country. On the other hand, give up most of the pleasures of young people, study drama and music as well as singing, and give her whole time to preparation. Her greatest success will be accomplished only after years of hard work. She must eat nourishing food, take plenty of exercise, and get nine hours' sleep.

A woman who, six years ago, knew nothing of business, is now one of the big blankets in the country that can compete with those of the famous Mission Mills, in California. She has a small farm by which she lives, and on which she experimented in her own kitchen before she ventured to go into the business. Her blankets can now hardly be distinguished from those of the Mission Mills, and her little mill is kept running day and night to fill heavy orders.

At the late municipal election in Leavenworth, Kan., the democratic candidate for mayor was elected by one vote. A Republican gentleman in this city says he has a daughter who was politically shocked the other day by receiving a letter from her stating that she had been married. The bad beau a resident of Kansas about six months and only late in the afternoon on the day of election learned that women were entitled to vote at that election. Grieved at her political residence. She quietly exercised the privilege by voting for the democratic candidate, and thus gave him the victory by the best man.—Dayton Democrat.

A BRAVE WOMAN.

Sister Marie Therese, a French nun, who has been lately decorated with the cross of the Legion of Honor for forty years' service in the army ambulances, seems to be not only a brave but a merry woman. During a time of hard fighting in Tonquin, a bomb fell into an ambulance full of wounded men. Sister Theresa seized the bomb and carried it to a distance. When she set it down it exploded, but, luckily, not till she had

A MEMORIAL MEETING.

IN HONOR OF THE LATE REV. C. P. S. RIVERS, A PATRIOT AND LOYAL CITIZEN.

The memorial meeting in honor of the late Gen'l Prince S. Rivers, held in the Bethel Church, Augusta, Ga., on Sunday, C. April 31, 1887, was well attended, and was a most interesting occasion. It was an highly respectful tribute of admiration of the noble character of the deceased. The meeting was

It was the editor of one of our esteemed morning contemporaries who once characterized a "gent" as being a vulgar fraction of gentleman.

"Now, woman's sphere"—began Mrs. McS. "Oh, I know what that is," replied her husband. "Well, what is it?" Why woman's fear is a mouse."

One of the old settlers at the Isles of Shoals seeing the name "Dyche" on the hull of a yacht, the other day, spelled it out slowly, and then exclaim ed, "Well, if that isn't the most out o' way to spell fish!"

Talmage says that "the man who can sing and won't sing should be sent to Sing Sing." That would be to severe. It is the man who won't sing and will sing who should be sent to Sing Sing.

Dean Howson was joint author with Dr. Conybeare of the "Life and Epistles of Saint Paul." It was very sharp in Dr. Thompson, after hearing Dean Howson preach, to say "I, for my part, used before what an able man Dr. Conybeare is."

THE POOR LITTLE ONES.

We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores on the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing period, children have need of pure blood by which to build up strong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given, the blood is purged of its bad elements, and the child's develop ment will be healthy, and as it should be. Scrofulous affections, rickets, fever sore, big-joint disease or other gravn maladies and suffering are sure to result from neglect and lack of proper attention to such cases.

"Ah, what's this!" exclaimed the intelligent compositor. Sermons in stones, books in the running brooks? That can't be right. I haven'll Hemeans Sermons in books, stones in running brooks.' That's sense." And that is how the writer found it.

Secret Nostrums or drains upon the system promptly cured. Large book giving particulars, 10 cents in stamps. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Is that a Landseer, Mr. Cornut?" asked the visitor, pausing before the painting. "No," replied the artist, "it's reckon is a Durham. See how broad across the forehead it is, and how the cow ns and the curl on its forehead. That's a genuine Durham, sure. That ain't no Landseer."

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla has established its wellearned reputation, as a blood, skin, and scalp purifier, and powerful yet safe and speedy cure for all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Try it.

Teacher: "Miss Sinneco, please parse the sentence, 'Adolphus married Caroline.' Miss S.: 'Adolphus is a noun, because it is the name of a thing; 'married' is conjunction, because it joins Adolphus and Caroline; 'Caroline' is a verb, 'cause it governs the noun."

"Sir, your honor," said the prisoner, "I am not guilty of the crime I have three witnesses who will swear that at the hour when this row was rubbed I was at home in my own chamber, taking care of my baby." "Yes, your honor," glibly added the prisoner's counsel, "that is strictly true. We can prove it fullaby, your honor."

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Once there was lying by the side of the ditch a pig. On the other side lay a man. The pig had a ring in his nose, the man had a ring on his finger. Some one passing exclaimed, "Look at pig beard it." "One is judged from the company he keeps." Instantly, the pig rose and went away.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and soon prematurely gray, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will preserve the hair in all its luxuriance and beauty to a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Healy, of Waterbury, Ill. "and after using half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became soft and glossy." A number express the gratitude it has given.

Frederick F. Coggeshall, Rockville, S. Dartmouth St., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Some six or seven years ago my wife had a severe illness, in consequence of which she became almost entirely bald and gray. She tried, in turn, a half dozen months since she began to apply Ayer's Hair Vigor to her scanty, gray locks, and, after using three bottles, had a good head of hair, and it is now of its former color. The hair is also growing much faster than before using. I am satisfied that Ayer's Hair Vigor is the most valuable and powerful preparation of the kind."

Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; than send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

"IN THE MIDST of life we are in death; as Job says," was cut out of an obituary notice published this week. Job did not say that, brother, nor did any Bible writer. It is English, not Jewish.

REV. R. C. RANSOM was assisting a committee of ladies to decorate the Allentown (Pa.) Church for Children's Day when we unceremoniously rushed upon him last Saturday, after learning where his church was and running there to be back to the train, all within "twenty minutes for supper."

IF IT SEEMS, dear brethren, to ask that we give place in the RECORDER to notes harlequin, with reference to what may be said concerning General conference or anything else. We do desire that the CHRISTIAN RECORDER shall be serious and manly. Please do not expect me to publish digest-matter or reports composed of street slang, as the silly expression, "cuss words."

IT IS PLEASANT and promising to observe how much less complaint and unkind criticism is heard than formerly of ministers preceding present incumbents in the pastorate. We were highly gratified to hear from the pastors at a recent session of the Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting, embracing many in both the Philadelphia and New Jersey Conferences, very kind expressions concerning their predecessors. Rev. Theodore Gould, who succeede Dr. Jeaffre's six years' pastorate in Boston, says, "Dr. Jeaffre has certainly done a most excellent work there," and enumerates his good deeds with an enthusiasm that would well become him, if speaking of his own work. Thank God for his promise of the end, "Which I came to see that this work was all torn up;" "Brother X didn't do this and that, but I-I-I-I have now need to everything—of course—under God."

THE COMMENCEMENT at Lincoln University is said to have been very entertaining this year. Many of our noble, thoughtful and leading men have come from this institution, whose education seems to make good Methodistic, Baptists and Episcopalians, as well as good Presbyterians. The Alumni Association includes such men as Bishop Allen Chepel, Philadelphia, where they were given a grand reception by the genial pastor and accommodating people. This is fraternity and good scene combined. The interests of honest, manly, much alike; their community feelings and principles should be given as full opportunity to play as is possible. The speeches at the entertainment are said to have been of a high order; some striking issue with the disinclination of Lincoln to give a more liberal American character to her education for the more present status of the colored American.

A CORRESPONDENT in the Southwestern Christian Advocate states that a local preacher of the A. M. E. Church murdered a man to louisiana recently. This is sad enough, if true. We add the phrase, if true, because we remember the Advocate once stating that Rev. J. L. J. S. Sweet was a minister of our Church, when it could easily have known better. We called its attention to the mistake, but it seemed to prefer that the mistake should stand, though it had the opportunity to know that Brother Sweet had been a minister of its own Church more recently than of ours; but there was a chance to cast a reflection on the A. M. E. Church by the false statement of which the Advocate availed itself; for Brother Sweet was said to be in a suffering condition.

Last week a paper stated that Rev. E. Winston Taylor, a member of the A. M. E. Church, was in prison on the charge of arson to secure insurance, but this was a mistake. Rev. Taylor is the worthy witness brought before the public by the New York Christian Advocate some months ago to prove that the Advocate told the truth when it said a Bishop of the A. M. E. Church did a certain thing in Atlanta, S. C. He was then a member of the M. E. Church, but has since become a member of the A. M. E. Church. He was at one time member of the A. M. E. Church, but, like other noble men spoken of complimentarily by the New York Christian Advocate in connection with the Allen affair, he would not submit to "their (A. M. E.) methods." We do not believe the charge against him is true, but if it is, neither of the churches of which he has been a member is to blame, but only his own bad nature. It was our intention to say nothing about it; as it is our rule not to spread the failures and sinfulness of Christians, let them occur in any church whatsoever, where we can see no necessity of doing so; but we feel that it is well to say this much here.

WILBERFORCE FOR THE WHOLE CHURCH FOREVER.

Brother N. W. Edwards' article, in this number of the RECORDER, is well worth reading. We referred to it last week, respecting a remark made concerning the self-support of Wilberforce University. We take this occasion to say that the mistake of Brother Edwards is in limiting Wilberforce to any State or States, less than all the States. The Ohio Conference would be less liberal than they should be if they knew no other educational interests than those connected with Wilberforce University. The same is true of the New England Conference. It is a mistake made by some elders and by some Bishops, that because church educational needs are great in every point of our work, therefore church schools should be established at every point. Education by the Church, in the special line of the Church's theology and polity, is a universal need, but this does not necessitate many schools. No one, however, traveling through the great African Methodist States—we mean those that have the great numbers of African Methodists—can call in question for a moment the necessity for all the schools that we have in activity there. No one can doubt that their support should be much better than it is. Paul Quinn, the Kittrell School, Morris Brown, the Jacksonville School, Bethel University and Allen University ought to receive from the people of our Church no less than seventy-five thousand dollars annually, and through proper agencies, from the wealth outside of our Church no less than fifty thousand dollars. There is doubtless a strong reason why the Philadelphia, the Colorado and other conferences should contribute to this fund.

The A. M. E. people of the several States in which these schools are located, respectively, should raise a very large part of this money also. The best way to maintain the unity of the A. M. E. Church is to pull away on its common and universal interests from every standpoint of the connection. As to wealth among African Methodists, it is tolerably well distributed over all the States, though very small before and after distribution. We may be found necessary to change the law by which Wilberforce draws the twenty-five per cent of all educational money raised under the Church educational system. That will be considered subject, we opine; but it is well at the same time for our Church throughout all the States not to be too ready to cast from the conference the practical connection with, and interest in, Wilberforce University that has been bequeathed to them by our fathers. From Brother Edwards' State the late very venerable A. T. Carr and the late eloquent B. H. Cain, but especially the latter, possessed large and active opinion this school and incorporated much of their strength in its life. The same may be said of the active, throbbing race leaders, H. M. Turner, W. J. Gaines and H. Hobkson, of Georgia; E. E. H. Pettigrew and B. M. Dickerson, of Arkansas; B. Taylor and L. Evans, of Kentucky; Jonathan Minhan, of Indiana; J. J. Herbert, J. H. A. Johnson and A. Handy, of Maryland; B. W. Arnett, R. A. Johnson, John G. Griffin, Alfred J. Anderson, J. P. Underwood, J. R. Blackburn and Simpson Smith, of Ohio; John E. Scott, of Florida; William Seed and William Gordon, of Pennsylvania; Deaton Derrell, of New York; Peter Lowber and D. P. Hamilton, of Delaware, and many more equally zealous and efficient workers from among the people and the great names of our present Bishops, before or since their consecration to their present ecclesiastical office. Thus Wilberforce, from the first, was founded by the whole connection, and its connection spread in the path of freedom, the interest in and support of Wilberforce University spread with it.

The history of no other school in the connection has this broad foundation, though the time will come when the interests of several will broaden greatly. Let the connection have Bishop Stevens on this point in fair enough; we only beg him sed all other brethren, for the sake of the connection and the men who have made Wilberforce, to cower allow the share of liberality and responsibility belonging to every section, to be given to the whole Church, less a single one of its sections. It is a sad thought, if South Carolina cannot feel that our conference as a whole is Wilberforce University. Shall our people of any State feel called upon to relinquish their claims upon or slacken their support of Wilberforce because it is not located within their own State, or because they have commenced an institution in their State? We make these remarks in no sense counter to Brother Edwards' notion that Wilberforce should be established every five per cent, but to urge that all parts of the connection hold fast to what the fathers have given them in this institution. We plead not for money especially, but for pride in and sympathy with the vast work the University is doing. It will be many years before we can raise any other institution to a place equal to that held by Wilberforce. Its standing, its honors are "ours," may be said, should be said by all parts of the connection. The fact is, it should be said by the colored race of this continent, for Wilberforce University has the distinction of learning by the colored Americans.

The harvest already given the world from this field is considerable. If our Church will remain as broad as "our fathers' church" on this work, it will not yield a harvest compared with which the past is as nothing. Already our schools in the sections where African Methodists are most numerous have received several observes from Wilberforce University.

Paul Quinn has had no fewer than five of her students in its Faculty and is now under the absolute control of Wilberforce graduates. One of the leading spirits of Bethel University, Rev. A. A. Williams, was one of her students. The principal of Morris Brown College is a graduate of Wilberforce. Three of the teachers of Allen University have been Wilberforce graduates. Allen would have been quite as well off if, at her founding, a graduate of Wilberforce had been placed at her head.

We are aware that the misapprehension is liable to pertain, that all this is a special pleading for Wilberforce, regardless of the good or evil connection with said school. We have received gracious expressions like the following, "Of course Editor Lee is partial to Wilberforce, we cannot blame him." No, Editor Lee is not partial to Wilberforce by reason of his connection with it, but sees plainly its value to the Church and is fearful, lest loud zeal in any given section of our work may lead to the abandonment of claim and interest in the school, which he considers a far greater calamity to the section so acting than to Wilberforce University. The editor of the RECORDER, as a matter of fact, is just as highly interested in education in one place as in any other. It is education that is wanted, not education in a given place. We would see the spirit of our young men broaden, rather than narrow in behalf of Wilberforce for the Church, not Wilberforce for Ohio. We desire to assist in preventing the localizable loss to the section dropping Wilberforce that would follow the narrowing down its operations, management and worth to any less than the whole connection. We shall never ask for the continuation of any support to it from any part of the Church, upon the ground that it is its race.

—Mr. Theodore Gould, Jr., completed the post-graduate course in the Yale University of Pennsylvania last Wednesday. Mr. Gould takes high rank in his class and in his church. A thorough African Methodist, he has been elected by the Philadelphia Conference as one of its trustees to Wilberforce University, and confidently expects to be elected by the next General Conference. He will probably be found among the faithful sons of our fathers as I see them.

—Rev. J. H. Morgan cites brethren to the New Jersey Conference wishing to secure their "cuss" slice see his conference history to Editor Gardner, of Medford, 717 Sansom street, Philadelphia.

—Mrs. Ada A. Harris, teacher in the Raleigh (N. C.) schools, after taking in the Livingstone University commence ment, May 31st, came on to spend the summer vacation with her father, Rev. A. H. Newton, at Sandbee, N. J.

—Rev. C. H. Gibbs, of Long Branch, has twenty-five members. He sells forty copies of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER weekly through the summer and thirty-five through the winter. He has a share of the sales last year paid his house rent for six months.

—Mr. Parnell, the great Irish leader and defender, who has carried on an obstructionary warfare in Parliament, has been decided to cease his obstructionistic abilities to Wilberforce University. We verily believe that every school in the connection will grow faster and stronger by all our conference statesmanship absent and by every conference visiting about this school as the bequests of a large acquaintance in this city.

OUR NEEDS.

BY REV. N. W. EDWARDS.

In view of the fact of the approaching General Conference and its importance, I crave space for a little thing or two to those who may be delegates to the General Conference from the wells of some of our laws as I see them.

First, I would say to the brethren composing the delegation, that you send to the next General Conference men who are not tricksters, men who are truly devoted to the cause of African Methodism, men who will dare to speak the truth, dare to do right and who will lift their voices in behalf of the down trodden people and the great needs of our people, especially in the South. And you, brethren of the Colombia, South Carolina, Conference, now is the time for you to begin to turn your thoughts in that direction, and as we are entitled to four delegates, we are delegated for next time wise, good and true men, into the bounds we are entitled to keep this all-important matter of legislating for the future of our

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 23, 1887.

THE Cosmopolitan Magazine is now published in New York City, instead of Rochester, as formerly.

THE COLORED people of Georgia own nearly eight acres of land to every colored voter in the State.

ON AUGUST 4TH Zion Mission, Murray Chapel and the A. M. E. Publishing House will take out an excursion to Chester Heights, the popular campground, for a day's pleasure.

IT IS COOLING for colored men to compare themselves with white men as patterns on the score of morality. A man is what he will be, as a rule. The colored American is about as pure as other men.

THE IMPULSES gained by observing the growth of our youth are among the greatest of our encouragement as we observe. A visit to a school in action or on exhibition, commencement days, is worth very much to aid in elevating our thoughts.

HON. JOHN SHERMAN and Governor Foraker failed to reach Wilberforce University on time for the 19th commencement, but Judge Lawrence was there and made a stirring speech. Drs. J. C. Embry and J. C. Price addressed a large audience very entertainingly on the occasion of the Alumni Association's anniversary.

AGAIN death has visited the home of our friend and brother, Dr. R. H. Harvey, of New Orleans. His oldest son, Clarence, was drowned while bathing in one of the city basins, June 11th. He was a Christian. Only a year and a half ago Dr. Horley lost his oldest daughter. Brother, "earth has no sorrow that heaven cannot heal."

THE ACT OF Bishop Shorter in his gracious donation to Wilberforce, like that of Mr. Hill, of Texas, goes far to establish the contradiction of the statement that the negro likes education, begs others to assist him, but does not make sacrifices to educate himself. Fortunately the refutation of the charge does not depend upon these acts alone; for hundreds of colored young men and women are acquiring an education in circumstances as adverse as any other people.

OHIO in casting off the colored teachers up in the rapidly-hewn shire will be a few colored teachers retained. Cincinnati closes up the Gaines High School, which has been for colored people.

A gentlemen, member of the school board of a green city, informed us that if the board had abolished the colored schools as they did, the principal of said school would have certainly been elected to teach in one of the mixed schools. Other towns may do the same way. Likewise, there will be a sufficient number of teachers left off the State's force to afford business among colored people considerably. Many arrangements made last year for payment of moneys, etc., must be violated, owing to this fact. But the same persistent courage that opened all schools to colored children must be brought to bear against invidious discrimination in the selection of teachers. The battle will be hotter than that for recognition of colored pupils; since it asks a division of the money in school treasuries, while the old fight resulted not only in a saving of money to the treasury, but in turning that which was spent into the white man's coffers exclusively. But persistency is just cause must win.

IN OFFERING back to the ex-rebel States the battle-flags that had been wrenched from them by our troops, President Cleveland has made a most graceful bow to the "lost cause" and furnished to admirers sod all others proof that he is in favor of the greatest undertaking ever made to destroy this government. He did not aid personally in bearing their flag, nor in tearing it down, but after he fell he bastens to inform them that he has it at their service. He does not even so much as ask that they give back to the loyal States, or the federal government, the flags which they may have captured in their unworthy struggle. Now, take which ever hero of the dilemma they please, his friends must choose between consummate ignorance and especial favoritism or disloyalty as the foundation of the stupendous blunder of the object of their devotion.

THE BUDGET for 1885–'86 is out, full of valuable information. The mechanical work, though not what it should be, is better than we usually get in the Budget. The same lack of care that has characterized all previous numbers is manifest in this, respecting spelling. The Budget being an account, and the present issue a biennial, we should have throughout the work the same accuracy that characterizes the greater part of the work. Doubtless the absence of the editor from his office, attending to official duties at the Rustoro conference, should be accredited with much of the poor proof reading. The matter contained in the book more than compensates for all shortcomings. It is a vast affair. This Budget idea must be set down as the greatest service of our present Financial Secretary. Its historical data are the finest ever collected and published in our Church.

The correct item contains interesting sketches of the rise and progress of the various Methodist families. You will do well to send to Dr. Arnett, Wilberforce, Ohio. There is probably a few books left that gives the comparative and relative history of the three colored Methodist churches as does this. The historical comparisons settle the absurd age-question, showing that Bishop Campbell, and not Bishop Heed, was correct in the controversy of two years ago.

THE COMMENCEMENT exercises of our schools have compelled the attention of the students, faculties and trustees for the past two weeks. The Allen University leads in the number of her graduates this year. Four young men graduated from the Law Department—Messrs. E. J. Dinkins, Jr., of Allen; T. A. Saxon, of Laurens; A. F. Jamison, of Abbeville, and A. F. Hampton, of Richmond. The normal department turned out nine young gentlemen and eight young ladies. The degree of A. B. was conferred on six young gentlemen of marked intelligence. The scientire Board of Trustees of the two conferences were present and provided for the opening of the school in the fall with a corps of fine teachers and Prof. J. W. Morris as President. The Board of Trustees elected Rt Rev. James A. Shorter, President; Rev. S. H. Jefferson, Vice-president; C. M. Crosby, Secretary; R. E. Wall, Treasurer; W. H. Heard, Financial Agent. With this efficient executive board the work is in trim for a successful year. We predict for this school a place in the foremost ranks of our colleges. The curriculum is up in the times for such schools. The normal and industrial departments, as organized, will educate the head and hand. The "Age," a weekly newspaper, will give employment and a useful trade to students. The Slater Fund should find its way into the treasury of this institution at once. The wail of the widows of the South that are doing the same work for the same race. Colored men are at the head of this institution, but the number of its graduates and the thoroughness of its work commend it to those who control these funds for aiding in educating colored people of the South.

A GIFT TO A UNIVERSITY.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Wilberforce University, Bishop James A. Shorter formally presented to said university one thousand dollars on his own account and paid over one thousand bequeathed by his late wife, Maria A. Shorter. Thus Wilberforce, that has done more for the education of this noble people from the time our Church came into possession of it, now bar this $2,000 in round numbers. This money is to remain as endowment fund forever. This is not much more than the amount of their small donations in twenty-five years. This philanthropic act is worth much more than the mere intrinsic worth of the money, in that it serves as a leaven to others. Many strifes carefully the quality of Christianity given to the American, this hardly seems reasonable. To one who observes the fact that, considered as a whole, the enlightenment of many sections of Africa is almost equal to that of the segment of the race, in this country, and, in some respects, superior, this theory seems strange.

The best effects of the play of this theory have been spent in Liberia; yet Liberia is by no means the most hopeful center of Africa, considered as to intellect or morals, refinement or religion. The comparison of the Hebrew Egyptian bondage with our case is not strong; while there are some points in common, there are more of difference. The fact is that it would be hard to establish the fact that, in God's economy, even the Hebrew slavery had an essential place. But if it had and if American slavery is like it in this respect, then must it not follow that all the subsequent wrongs perpetrated upon the colored Americans are in the same scheme of providence? Shall we not then find ourselves involved in the inscrutable meshes of a providence that is in some way dependent upon evil as a means?

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

COMMENCEMENT AT WILBERFORCE.

Thursday, 24th inst., was the twenty-fourth commencement anniversary at Wilberforce. The anniversary of the Philomathean Society was held on Friday night, June 10th. An entertaining programme is always guaranteed by this society of young ladies. Some who were present think that of the present year was quite equal to the best.

On Sunday morning the President delivered a very able baccalaureate sermon. At night the Annual sermon was preached by the RECORDER editor.

On Monday night the Sodalian Society's exercises were highly entertaining. I have never witnessed better programs at the University. The star exercise was on Tuesday night, when Rev. J. H. Price, D. D., President of Livingstone College, Salisbury, N. C., delivered the annual address before the college societies. Dr. Price is a man of almost matchless eloquence and strong argumentative powers. His oration has the sweep of a tornado with the variety and beauty of the bow in the cloud. Hearing him, one wonders no longer what is the secret of his popularity. His style and acquaintance with him shows that he is a man of unshaken confidence in God's willingness and ability to save the Negro race with all others. He believes in the race as possessing a future of power and goodness. The Dr carried away from the institution the respect, probation of almost everyone. He may be a little too radical on the idea of the especial work of the race, but if so, it is a splendid fault.

Wednesday afternoon class day exercises took place. On Wednesday night the Annual Rhetorician said prizes were awarded. This was also a very interesting meeting. There were two prizes award ed; one a gold medal, by Rev. D. D. Derrick, to the best essay by a young lady, and the other by Bishop Payne, to the best in oratory.

At this writing the exercises of the Theological School have taken place. The Trustee Board began its sessions on Tuesday last. Bishop Campbell, of Philadelphia to the pleasure of those who heard him preach in Bethel Church.

The best efforts of the play of this theory have been spent in Liberia; yet Liberia is by no means the most hopeful center of Africa, considered as to intellect or morals, refinement or religion. The comparison of the Hebrew Egyptian bondage with our case is not strong; while there are some points in common, there are more of difference. It is an interesting fact, says the Medical Times, that there is now a larger number of Jews in Palestine than at any period since the days of our Lord. There are now about one thousand Jews in the fatherland—almost the same number as returned from the captivity in Babylon.

Sixty-five thousand persons, now residents of Europe, will this year leave for America, and are only waiting for the steamers to bring them across the Atlantic. A recent visitor who declined to produce his records or a copy of them for the Boston Globe, in Augusta, Maine, on Tuesday, in a hearing to which the records were necessary to make a prima facie case against a saloon, said in a taper prosecution, the Judge ordered the Collector to jail, although the latter was acting under what was claimed to be instructions from Washington.

"A mule with an artificial throat is the latest thing in mules in Macon. A veterinary surgeon in that city slashed away at it filled with a disease similar to laryngitis. W. C. Timberlake proposed to doctor him, and to-day he sent around the mule's life. Finding that it would soon be impossible for the animal to breathe through his windpipe, a portion of the pipe was removed and a silver tube was inserted, and now the mule breathes freely. It was a delicate and difficult operation, and many were in doubt as to whether the mule can whinny his thanks to Mr. Timberlake for saving his life.—Savannah News.

The most hideous idolatry in this country is a Voodoo ring, near Cairo, Illinois. The proprietor raises snakes of various kinds, but makes a specialty of rattlesnakes. A firm in Philadelphia has given a standing order for all the rattlesnakes he can furnish them with. They are worth $2 25 each when they attain the length of four feet. These snakes are bought to be stewed into soup, all which is advertised to cure rheumatism.

In the South, or in many of the States, a great work of building and prosperity has come, such as that region of the country never had before, and in nearly every instance it has come to the State to which population has been attracted by new branches of business and new industries. Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee are the three Southern States which have had the most prosperous, Texas being next.—Iowa State Register.

Whether by land or sea, who are liable to be out of reach of first class medical assistance, should do well to have a supply of Ayer's Pills at hand. Y., in giving their high testimony as to the excellent medicinal composition of Ayer's Pills, state their opinion: "Their beautiful coating of sugar, and sugar to a great advantage, in that it protects them from change by time or climate, and renders them as pleasant and even agreeable to take."

"During the twenty-five years I have lived on the frontier," writes Judge McDowell, of Somerwaller, Col., "Ayer's Pills have been my best friend. I have lived, mostly, where there was no doctor within thirty miles, and have brought back several times. I always kept Ayer's medicines on hand, and used them, and the Almanac, later pulled out, and I have no doubt directly saved me and before I have noted more valuable lives by the use of Ayer's Pills."

AN APPEAL TO THE CHURCH.

We are struggling to build an A. M. E. Church at this place, Fort Smith, Ark., to cost about $7,000.

We call upon our sister churches for assistance, being unable, from various causes, to raise the amount ourselves. Many small ones will soon be a large one; but the several churches contributing will not feel the giving. Within a month we will address ourselves through the RECORDER to all those churches.

Please remember us.

Rev. J. P. Lee, Pastor.
Rev. P. W. Wade, Fort Smith, Ark.

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS, AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH,
No. 1434 S. L. STREET,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 4, 1887.

TO THE BISHOPS, SUPERINTENDENTS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

DEAR BRETHREN:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subjoined matter of circular.—Its "Centennial of African Methodism" is the coming year. We have more money than we have had to do with for many years. Let us thank God for the preservation of its life for our present venerable Father and devote our time to thinking what changes are needed in our Book of Discipline that will usher the A. M. E. Church to march on to victory and elect more Bishops, and to increase the number of the office, but when the Church needs the same. If our heavenly Father spare the lives of our present Bishops until the General Conference of '88, then for that Church's sake give us no more Bishops.

OLD ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, NOR-FOLK.

BY MITTA B DILLARD.

It has been a long time since you have heard of us, but our silence must be regarded as good news Jehovah has been sending down showers of blessings and we have been sending prayer and thanksgiving up to the throne of grace for your way. At our session of conference in 1886, our much loved bishop was sent to the Virginia District, but to send us he left William D Cook, of North Carolina, who has labored with us for a time with great zeal and energy. The church repented and gathered around him, and God has crowned his labors with success.

During the early part of the season the sisters met the foes and humbled the heart and prayed for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the unconverted. For six long weeks we labored, and our labor was crowned with success, seventy and one hundred and twenty-five accessions to the church.

After all, the secret of success should be in the power of the Christian church. "It was for the purpose that Christ came into the world, he humbly and suffered himself to be born of a woman. It was for the saving of souls that he stumbled Calvary's rugged summit and died upon the cross. It was for the purpose of the saving of members of the church; to God he all the glory.

We have an immense congregation. Notwithstanding our church will seat two thousand persons, our Easter night fully three hundred could not gain admission. Our Sunday school at 9 o'clock A. M. with 500, (four hundred nice hundred dollar) scholars. Our services for the above thousand persons knelt around the altar and partook of the communion service. Our Sunday school closed one hundred and fifty

PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 30, 1887.

THE ALUMNI association of the University of Pennsylvania, at its late session, resolved that hereafter none but graduates of the University should be admitted to its membership.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS of Wesley A. M. E. Z Church, Zion Mission A. M. E. Church, Union A. M. E. Z. Church and Moore Chapel, of Philadelphia, go to Nashaminy Falls July 20th.

JUNE 12TH, Dr. John O. Mitchell raised in Alton Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio, over $2,000. He would probably have raised $3,000, as he had hoped to do, had he been permitted to supervise the arrangements in his usual way, but he was officiated so that he could not move about as he would to inspire the people. Two thousand, however, drew very well, doctor. He had the sympathy and cooperation of many young persons, residents of his membership. The fact is he is popular in Cincinnati; because his measures and labors are backed by energy and sympathy with the people, and because his life is as strong in morals as it is serviceable in business. He does not appeal to our lighter side, as Harper's Magazine would imply that a colored preacher must do to succeed.

READ the article of Rev. W. D. Chappelle. There are points in it worthy of calm consideration. Instance: the idea that our Bishops might be more widely situated is the consection. The fact that the great bulk of our people have the presence of so few Bishops has been more than once referred to in these columns. As to the Church Offices, those that do more than five-sixths of the financial business of the Church are supposed to be located in Tennessee and Georgia. We refer to the Financial Department, the Book Room, School and the Educational. The school question is quite different: Wilberforce University was long ago made a general connectional school. Every conference is supposed to contribute to trustees to help supervise it. Of course it is useless to say that that is the case with Allen University, whose Trustees are nearly confined to the State of South Carolina. It is probable that another General Officer but Dr. Johnson received an invitation to or notice of the commencement at Allen, while there was probably none that failed to receive an invitation to Wilberforce. The annual meetings of Wilberforce are advertised in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. All the Bishops are Trustees of Wilberforce. Any one of them may be made chairman of the Board. Whose vice-President lives in Georgia. Certainly these facts alone account for much greater attention being directed to Wilberforce. But why should this remain so? Why should not the Church in general know when these annual sessions come at each of our schools? Why should not all broaden their list of trustees beyond their States, that it might become a General Church to come from a distance to attend their commencement? It will be quite difficult to show that the failure of any Bishop or General Officer to attend the school exercises that they are supposed to is evidence of sectionalism. This word sectionalism has become a very convenient bugaboo recently. The fact is, it is not a very large stick in our Church after all. In this case it seems to be used under the misapprehension that Wilberforce University is a school of Ohio alone, as Allen University is a school of South Carolina alone. There is nothing sectional in the matter complained of. There are several men for whom we can speak freely, who would be glad to attend commencement at Allen. We have reason to believe that some of our Bishops have said as much they connected with it as they are with Wilberforce. Try this plan, Brother Chappelle; it can do no harm.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN.

There is frequently discussion respecting the claims individuals make of being representatives of "the people." The difference of opinion usually arises from considering opposite sides, or the double meaning of the terms. A representative man, in some minds, is the man who is a sample of the average man in his constituency. With others, the representative man is the man who, knowing what are the wants of his constituency, is able to set them forth clearly and strongly. He may be very unlike the majority of those whose cause he presents to the world; but he must know them thoroughly. He may be far in advance of them, but must reach back to them and bring them forward as rapidly as possible.

The man who is more like the masses in feelings, wants and tendencies may be a very poor representative of them in the better sense. The people must produce their representatives. As a rule they who are educated in circumstances similar to those whom they attempt to represent succeed best.

PRAYER FOR THE SICK.

A minister, a friend of ours, called on a sick minister a few days ago. After conversation, he made a short prayer in behalf of the sick. When the prayer was ended, the sick minister said, "That's a sensible prayer. Short and strong. A brother prayed with me so long the other day that I fainted, being very sick." There is a moral in this. Long prayers are not serviceable to sick nor well as a rule, but especially not to the sick. There are some class-meetings seem to feel called to go on the sick with long talks, long prayers, long hymns and long Scripture lessons. They seem to think if a sick person cannot endure all the rackit that is made he hasn't got the feet and tongue, he will not be able to stand death. They sometimes say, "Better have some noise here than to have it all hereafter," etc., exacting their shouting. Shouting persons may stand this, some enjoy it, but not all do. Ministers should visit the sick with as much preparation and consideration, at least, as physicians do. They cannot be their physicians, but they should be regularly unpleasant they connected with their visits coy more than can physicians guarantee that they will not make trouble in order to secure peace. Yet they should go according to be of service to the sick, as do physicians. Nothing is more cheering to the sick than the appreciation of friends. They are often permanently benefited by such visits.

THE WILBERFORCE COMMENCEMENT.

No fairer day could have been asked for this important occasion than was Jose 16th. No greater avidecon could have been asked of public appreciation and indorsement than was evinced by the thousands of visitors. Every year the Recorder made its explanation, we noticed it to the effect that it did not sound very reasonable and that it fitted the facts which it attempted to explain very poorly.

The Southern Recorder may as well know that we cannot be driven from these conclusions by its sarcasm. We regretted that it was no more shocking than the statement that "schools can never make Christians." Anything reasonable that the Southern Recorder has to say, in support of its unenviable position, we shall certainly hear, both cheerfully and kindly, "pogues editorials, literary etiquette" and all. When the Southern Recorder shall succeed in establishing the text that moral education is a hanging, we shall not take refuge in subterfuges, but freely acknowledge our life-long mistake.

IS IT TRUE.

Negroes exist preachers in proportion as they are able to excite emotion in their hearers.

A darky was questioned as to the respective merits of two colored preachers, or "sorters," which is short for "exhorters." His judgment was this: "Dey's bofe of 'em mighty pow'ful 'sorters, but dat Rob Strettin has a de best. He 'kase he's got de most tones."—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine for July.

What negroes? Does the editor of Harper's know what he is saying to be true? As applied to some negroes it is true. If the Harper's editor will take the pains to see some class-meeting this summer he will find that some "lightics," as well as some "darkies," like the man that has "de tone' tones." While it must be admitted that many of the preachers who excite most emotion speak to emotionality than to reason, it is also true that many white preachers seem never so well satisfied with their efforts as when they can excite in their hearers demonstrations that lead to physical demonstrations. In the city of Philadelphia, we have heard a white minister tell his white audience how hard he had labored as a previous Sunday to get them to shout from an audience to which he had preached.

We would call the Harper's editor's attention to the fact that though colored Americans are scredited, by a set of men who know little about them, with having a minister's worth upon the amount of noise he can make, the most thoughtful ministers among us are the ministers upon whom we depend most; they like white people, we are called out in largest numbers by the men who make much noise or are highly scientioned. A large amount of this twaddle about the negro's love for noise grows out of his not having had many preachers who were not noisy; hence he appreciates noise as a novelty. Literate as he is as yet many competent to particepate in legislation for the general good.

It is said the construction of one of our greatest lines of railroad was most seriously delayed by a backwood's congressman because the route as surveyed would cause a depreciation in the value of a small property owned by him in some remote hamlet.

Many of the warmest and most zealous advocates of slavery had no other conviction than that they were to be protect the few thousands of dollars of property owned by them.

A man is unfit for prominent position or general authority who has not learned to be governed by principles of general equity, wisdom or expediency. The men who cannot frame their own personal and private interests and be governed by a consideration of the general welfare is unfit to legislate or to rule. Yet in the history of humanity it is quite plain that just such men have always been the most ardent aspirants to positions of authority and the professions seekers after power. Philanthropy, statesmanship and religion are the demand of their disciples that they leave off the love of self-aggrandizement. Philanthropy demands of her followers that they rise above the petty selfishness and prejudices of childhood and manhood, and from the heights of broader thinking fall in harmonious line with the logic of great and general truths. This principle lies at the foundation of our theory of representative government: it is the true spirit of true republicanism. It is intelligent men, who make literature for the whole world, to handle the colored man as if he were universally a fool or a rascal. The Harper's includes in this foolish expression, made in spirit of correction or truth, J. B. Reeve, F. J. Grimke, Grafton H. Orcham, J. C. Price, Alex. Crummell, W. H. Thomas, I. N. Bergan, Wallace Shelton, every colored preacher living and Andrew Jackson, F. Douglass, Gerrit Smith, of Philadelphia; the eloquent Charles Burk, M. M. Clark and many scores of other learned, eloquent ministers, who have passed beyond. The fact is, the Harper's does not know what it is saying. We propose exercising our influence to check the use of this nonsensical talk, began by white preachers and colored men did not read, having now acquired push deep seat is popular opinion that it is maintained since colored people do read. We are aware that many colored people sustain and libel on the race and would flood the Harper's with testimonials to its correctness; but, at the same time, there are other many thousands who would claim exception from the charge. They refuse to sell the Harper's if it wished to be truthful, it would say some "negroes," instead of negroes.

THE GENERAL GOOD TO BE FIRST CONSIDERED.

BY REV. JOHN M. HENDERSON.

One of the plain and prominent features of the true minister's character is a forgetfulness of self. Selfishness is dedead oea of the first great steps toward reconciliation with God. The great aim of true education, as well as religion, is to lift a man out of himself; to bring him into a sphere of thought and feeling broad as are the great and general principles which should predominate therein.

The statesman must learn to colect and feel in sympathy with a great country; he must be lifted above the petty local or provincial notions and aims of the rustic or the village squire before he is to be very competent to participate in legislation for the general good.

It is said the construction of one of our greatest lines of railroad was most seriously delayed by a backwoods congressman because the route as surveyed would cause a depreciation in the value of a small property owned by him in some remote hamlet.

Many of the warmest and most zealous advocates of slavery had no other conviction than that they were to be protect the few thousands of dollars of property owned by them.

A man is unfit for prominent position or general authority who has not learned to be governed by principles of general equity, wisdom or expediency. The men who cannot frame their own personal and private interests and be governed by a consideration of the general welfare is unfit to legislate or to rule. Yet in the history of humanity it is quite plain that just such men have always been the most ardent aspirants to positions of authority and the professions seekers after power. Philanthropy, statesmanship and religion are the demand of their disciples that they leave off the love of self-aggrandizement. Philanthropy demands of her followers that they rise above the petty selfishness and prejudices of childhood and manhood, and from the heights of broader thinking fall in harmonious line with the logic of great and general truths. This principle lies at the foundation of our theory of representative government: it is the true spirit of true republicanism. It is intelligent men, who make literature for the whole world, to handle the colored man as if he were universally a fool or a rascal. The Harper's includes in this foolish expression, made in spirit of correction or truth, J. B. Reeve, F. J. Grimke, Grafton H. Orcham, J. C. Price, Alex. Crummell, W. H. Thomas, I. N. Bergan, Wallace Shelton, every colored preacher living and Andrew Jackson, F. Douglass, Gerrit Smith, of Philadelphia; the eloquent Charles Burk, M. M. Clark and many scores of other learned, eloquent ministers, who have passed beyond. The fact is, the Harper's does not know what it is saying. We propose exercising our influence to check the use of this nonsensical talk, began by white preachers and colored men did not read, having now acquired push deep seat is popular opinion that it is maintained since colored people do read. We are aware that many colored people sustain and libel on the race and would flood the Harper's with testimonials to its correctness; but, at the same time, there are other many thousands who would claim exception from the charge. They refuse to sell the Harper's if it wished to be truthful, it would say some "negroes," instead of negroes.

OUR WOMAN'S COLUMN.

Miss Clara M. Fowler will present to the city of Concord, N. H., a building to be known as the Fowler Library, in memory of her parents, the late Judge and Mrs. Asa Fowler.

Miss Luella Verney, of Cleveland, is a rising sculptor. She has recently finished a bust of Bishop Gilmour, of that city, which exhibits much force and is a striking likeness.

Miss Alice Freeman, President of Wellesley College, has received 980 applications from young women wishing to enter Wellesley next year. There are only 100 places possible at present.

Vassar College has just conferred the honorary degree of LL. D. on Mrs. Chelsea Jane Franklin, of Baltimore, who had previously been appointed fellow of the Johns Hopkins University.

Miss Grace Howard has gone to the Crow Creek Agency in Dakota, where she will fulfill a two-years mission as instructor of the Indians. A school-house is to be erected there and a school established.

Mrs. A. K. T. B. Carey has invented a new style cover for tambiars or jars. It is made of a tough paper, neatly pasted, with space left for marking the variety or date of making, and fastens securely at once.

Frances E. Willard has gone to Manitoba, to attend a W. C. T. U. Convention. She will stop in Minneapolis, Dakota, and take in many outlying towns, everywhere carrying the good gospel of the ballot for women as the best temperance measure.

An attempt to indict Mrs. Barber in the Federal Courts, for illegal voting at this last general election in New York City, has lately failed, an effort that has been made to indict her in the State Courts. This, one has failed, and the case will be adjourned, leaving Mrs. Barber still out of the situation.

Ruth E. Wilson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has patented an "Illuminated Sewing-Box." The invention consists in providing the piece with a reflector in keeping with the design, with jets of light introduced before the reflector, in such a way that all-chambers interiors be illuminated by the same.

A bill which Governor Beaver, of Pennsylvania, has signed, provides a series to married women of the State all the property rights which unmarried women have, except that they cannot endorse for another, or mortgage or convey their real estate unless the husband join. Those who remember the time when all the property of a woman, by the fact of marriage, became absolutely the husband's, and when the use and profit of her real estate for his own, will appreciate this Pennsylvania law. Strange as it may seem, the first efforts to secure property rights for wives were opposed by many women, who feared that they were to the ballot is now. "Do you think I would give myself where I would not give my property?" was the indignant wife who was asked to sign a petition to secure to married women their own property. So great is the force of custom!

CAN A HUSBAND OPEN HIS WIFE'S LETTERS?

That would depend, many would say, upon what kind of a husband he is. But the question is not to be put in this manner, for it is a legal right that is in literally opposed by a backwood's congressman because the route as surveyed would cause a depreciation in the value of a small property owned by him in some remote hamlet.

Many of the warmest and most zealous advocates of slavery had no other conviction than that they were to be protect the few thousands of dollars of property owned by them.

A man is unfit for prominent position or general authority who has not learned to be governed by principles of general equity, wisdom or expediency. The men who cannot frame their own personal and private interests and be governed by a consideration of the general welfare is unfit to legislate or to rule. Yet in the history of humanity it is quite plain that just such men have always been the most ardent aspirants to positions of authority and the professions seekers after power. Philanthropy, statesmanship and religion are the demand of their disciples that they leave off the love of self-aggrandizement. Philanthropy demands of her followers that they rise above the petty selfishness and prejudices of childhood and manhood, and from the heights of broader thinking fall in harmonious line with the logic of great and general truths. This principle lies at the foundation of our theory of representative government: it is the true spirit of true republicanism. PHILADELPHIA, JULY 7, 1877.

BISHOP JAMES A. SHORTER.

Last Friday morning the sad news came to the RECORDER office—Bishop Shorter died this morning. Heart disease. B. W. Arnett." Thus ends, to the world, the life of a hard working, true, consuming, pious, able man Only two weeks before the day of receiving the sad news, we had enjoyed his hospitality in his own home and shook hands with him, receiving his hearty "God bless you," and good-bye. How little we dreamed that we were parting to meet only in the great beyond!

James A. Shorter was born February 5th, 1817, in Washington City, D. C. He went to Galena, Illinois, when he was seventeen years old. He joined the M. E. Church. Coming East in July of the same year, he united with Bethel A. M. E. Church in Philadelphia, then under the pastoral care of Bishop Morris Brown, who was pleased with the outspoken zeal of the young sister. In the month of September, having married Miss Julia Evans, he returned with his bride to his birth city, Washington, D. C., and united with Israel Church, Rev. John Cornish, pastor. He was received in the Baltimore Conference in 1840. Came out on slavery and its concomitant evils, and with a view of educating his children, he transferred to the Ohio Conference in 1857.

In 1868 the General Conference met in Washington, D. C. At this conference James A. Shorter was elected Bishop of the A. M. E. Church His first field of labor included Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. In 1872 Bishop Shorter was appointed to the First Episcopal District, composed of the New England, New York and Philadelphia Conferences. He organized the Second Sunday Conference at Trenton. At the end of his term he was declared the "banner district," having received the largest amount of Dollar Money to proportion to the number of members. In 1876 he was appointed to the Fourth Episcopal District, embracing Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska and the Territories. He did not reach the last district. In 1880 he was appointed to the Third Episcopal District, which includes the Ohio, Indiana and Pittsburgh Conferences. The General Conference of 1881 assigned Bishop Shorter to the Sixth Episcopal District, embracing the five great conferences in South Carolina and Georgia, and the most populous episcopal district of the A. M. E. Church. He was one of the delegates to the Methodist Ecumenical Conference in London, England, September 7, 1881. He visited France and Switzerland. He was President of the Parent Home and Foreign Missionary Board.

From its incipiency to the present, James A. Shorter has been second to none in interest in Wilberforce University. He stood by the side of Bishop Payne as soon as the latter had determined to purchase the property, probably advising him with reference to the purchase. It has been one of its trustees since it came into possession of the A. M. E. Church, and has probably contributed as much money to its support as any man in the connection. For many years he was its treasurer and president of its Executive Board. His counsel has done much to support the management under all its presidents, from President Rust to President Mitchell. We noted two weeks ago that he had given the university $2,000.—The loss of this wise man to Wilberforce University is almost irreparable.

The mental, moral, religious and ecclesiastical growth of James A. Shorter was regular and seimal. He grew like the oak; like the oak withstood the storms of life and afforded protection and succor to those around him. His conversion was pronounced, his learning definite though not great, and his judgment usually correct. From the ground up he was a man. His very first appearance in any company made that impression. Though a man of rather fine taste respecting the art of appearence, he was so simply natural that the nobility of his own personality always eclipsed anything that the arts of dress or the prerogatives of position could give him. The openness of his character was remarkable. What his very expressive face, lighted by remarkably brilliant eyes, failed to say of the thoughts within, the tongue would certainly utter in no uncertain sound, when it was deemed necessary. He could never have made a faithful deemer to the mysteries of corporate secret organizations; since, with him to know was to use without let or hindrance. To illustrate: When the Council of Bishops was considering a certain difficult subject during the General Conference of '81, the majority agreed to a given plan of action in laying an important proposition before the conference. The same majority resolved that given facts should be kept secret. These were the very facts that helped to settle Bishop Shorter on the side of the minority. Some men would have considered it best to join the majority in the presentation of these facts; but Bishop Shorter felt obliged to make his position known. So he said to the other Bishops "You see this little hole here," pointing to the opening left by extracted teeth; "it's more than likely all things can be brought here." The expression of his face settled it with all the other Bishops that Bishop Shorter would not help them keep the secret. Sure enough, before noon the plan proposed by the majority and some of the leaders in the conference of a dangerous point that had better be mentioned while passing upon the report that the Bishops were about to make.

His steadiness of character was marked. He was in this respect a Martin Luther. While he was not regardless of human distinctions, this did not prevent his measuring human rights and wrongs as they are, per se. Before he was consecrated to the office of Bishop, he was a fearless advocate for the right of individuals, in conference and elsewhere, to express themselves freely and boldly in their own way, as became a power or dictated. He could not endure for himself nor his brethren cringing or crouching before a man simply because of his more exalted position. He respected position when accompanied by merit, but despised one position, as he would have done had he relative standing been different.

As a Bishop, he granted to all other men just what he had exercised with reference to Bishops, the right of petition, appeal, explanation, protention and decision. He has said over and over again that no man could lose anything with him by being manly, and that no man could gain anything from him by a process of praising and fondling. He was a broad and liberal men on all subjects. His own views on all matters were freely expressed, but no other man had any thing to lose by expressing counter views.

As a churchman he was exceptionally strong in all respects; well posted in regard to his own church, single and in connection; loyal and devout. The deep, penetrating character of his intellect made him a good reader of men and things, and rendered him a wise Bishop and Texas. In 1872 Bishop Shorter was appointed to the First Episcopal District, composed of the New England, New York and Philadelphia Conferences. He organized the Second Sunday Conference at Trenton. At the end of his term his was declared the "banner district," having received the largest amount of Dollar Money to proportion to the number of members. Very thin, slender shavings of wood are now used in France, not only for packing but for filling mattresses, littering cattle, clarifying liquids, and stuffing horse-collars, and so on. Its workshops the wood-wool is even replacing cotton waste for cleaning machinery, as it costs far less.

HOBSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE
Dr. GEO. MCKENOUT, Hannibal, N. Y., says: "I have used it in cases of nervous exhaustion, with quite satisfactory results."

An ounce of aconite was furnished lately by a druggist in Nashville (Tenn.) to G. G. Smith, a negro boy who was fond of practical jokes and who asked for some, saying that he would kill him quickly. The old man drank the aconite, but it will not quickly say that he had no idea that he had really been given poison. The druggist thought Smith was jesting and that he would not drink the drug.

PROBABLY INNOCENT.—A Despatch from London, Kinnicky, under date of May 3d, says: "Samuel Bernard, who was cooked in the Lancaster [Pa.] county ice a sentence for manslaughter executed a sentence which he was charged with murder to be called here to-day. Three days ago he was released from jail. He had no money and walked 137 miles in two days, reaching here in time to appear at the court house this morning."

PRACTICAL USE OF PHOTOGRAPHY.—One of the latest uses to which photography has been put is that recorded by the Pall Mall Gazette lately. A correspondent in the Pacific, writing a report of a meeting at which the Pall Mall calls "A Reign of Terror in Tonga," learing that his life was in danger, took the precaution of having every lolio photographed. The accurate delineation of one contemporary printed was from a photographic duplicate.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, approach them in a body, and say that the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present the proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [Note.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and turns prematurely gray, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will preserve the hair in all its luxuriance and beauty to a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mrs. Mary G. Hardy, of Delaware, Ill., "yet after using only half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy. I cannot express the gratitude I feel."

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 14, 1887.

THE "Signal and Cyclone" is not a blustering, pretentious 16 page paper, but a dear little folio, book size, published by Rev. M. M. Mayo, of Port Gibson, Miss., in the interest of St. Peter's Church at that place. There is much good to be done in this way.

OUR NEW RITUAL, suitable for carrying in the pocket, will be out very soon. It is intended to meet the wants of ministers in all the sacramental and ritualistic services, including Scriptural and hymnal selections for those services, with litany, etc. The book is to be in flexible binding. It will satisfy a want felt by our ministry for many years.

NEXT SUNDAY afternoon, at 3 o'clock, there will be a meeting at the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons, West Philadelphia, to commemorate the death of Sarah Marshall, whose death was mentioned in these columns, as well as her generous bequeathment of nearly three hundred thousand dollars to benevolent institutions of colored persons, and to others where, with reference to her bequests, it is stipulated that no discrimination shall be made against persons on account of color or race.

PROF GUERNSEY thinks too many colored persons walk through the country with a chip on their shoulder. If the Professor's face were several shades darker, or were he observant, he would soon learn that the chip theory is not necessary. There are certain walks in which it is not intended that the negro shall tread. His very presence there is considered a taster. It is time that a little common sense to talk of his carrying a chip. It would be well if he entered a little more fully into the "chip" business.

THE WHITE people of the South, or some of them, pretend to believe that the formation of labor leagues among the colored people is equivalent to their organizing an insurrection. The colored men of that State seem to live clear up under terror of white organizations; it is no wonder that the terrorizers can think the terrorized are about to exchange places with them. However, there is scarcely any danger ahead. If the white Southerners, and Northerners as well, will study to add colored education to their legitimate struggles, they will be troubled with very few illegitimate struggles by them.

THE GEORGIA STATE BOARD of visitors to Atlanta University have reported to their legislature that foods appropriated to said university by the State are misapplied, simply because being appropriated for the education of negroes, they are also enjoyed by three or four Caucasians. Here is another case of superior wisdom. Of course the few white students have been enjoying a small part of the appropriation since it was made, but the outcry against it is just now heard. Poor Georgia. We would suggest that her very conscience be cased by turning the appropriation over to Mo rie Brown College.

THE BISHOPS' MEETING at Atlantic City, next week, will doubtless have many grave subjects under consideration. Twice, already, they have been obliged to recast their districts. Now they are called upon for the third time in this quadrennium. Surely their work of building over forty conferences within nine months after fall conferences begin will be all that seven Bishops can do, though we observe that Dr. J. H. A. Johnson, in this number, counts but six. It is plain that delicate questions are involved in difference of counting. But it is probable that, all things considered, there are some strong grounds for saying, "Nay, master, we are even."

THE LOCAL committee appointed by the Philadelphia Conference to arrange to co-operate with the general committee in celebrating the one hundredth year of African Methodist history next November met at the Publishing House last Monday, the Chairman, C. C. Foltz, presiding. All members present. Provisions were made to render this occasion one of the most interesting in our history here and to suggest an elaborate programme to the whole connection. It is important that the entire Church become inspired with the importance of the affair. If the ministers of all localities feel as much enthusiasm as was evinced in this Philadelphia meeting, the starting point will be very favorable to general success.

THE GENERAL interest of the whole connection has a splendid opportunity for demonstration in the suggested centennial celebration. The men and churches that wish to go down in history as thoroughly African Methodist will be found earnestly engaged in this matter. It is the opportunity for the great number, the hundreds of societies that have become a part of the great bend of struggling Christians and philosophic plats, long since the historic days of Allen, to come forth shoorfully and heavily to the celebration of the event that under God sent out the freedman, while the galling chains were yet threatening the entire subjugation of him and his fellow forever, to preach the unsearchable riches of the gospel, proclaim the year of jobilee and herald to the captive the will of the Lord that he should go free.

THE DEAREST catalogues of Kittrell Normel School, Bethel University, Allen University and Wilberforce University, all schools connected more or less intimately with African Methodism, have found their way to our table. These institutions, with others, appeal to all the manhood of our Church for aid in tones that cannot be unheeded. Neither poverty nor ignorance constitutes a more sounding cause for indifference toward them. If the seat Endowment Day turns them off with results that cannot be published, we might as well acknowledge our inability to conduct our educational system. Any less than $10,000 raised on that day, not $40,000 counting all moneys raised by the regular methods of the schools themselves, will justify us in the Church in ridicule or pity. If Bethel Church, Philadelphia, would become the standard for all of our churches, we should foot up the slow little sum of $128,000. The Philadelphia Conference alone gave $382.99, within $206 80 of double as much as the next largest sum, that of the Ohio Conference. Seventeen conferences contribute $2,200.64. The Philadelphia Conference has contributed $631 28 more than one-fourth of this sum.

This $2,200.64 is no money for the First Educational District to raise. It is nothing compared with what it will raise if properly worked. The idea of Kansas and Missouri reporting less than $50 from their three conferences is too ridiculous to talk about. Our Church must bestir itself, or by this very one read me to ruin. We cannot be too strongly in earnest on the subject. Our Educational Department should have no less than $500,000 to report for its four years' work.

THE FOURTH OF JULY speech of President Paton, of Howard University, at Woodstock, Conn., where Mr. Bowen, of the Independent, holds annual jubilicitos as regularly as the "Fourth" roll around, was white. The subject, "The Extinction of the Negro," was treated in the best white American style. It is strange that an audience like that at Woodstock, of the best minds of New England, could require, not to say receive, such a speech. All talk of that kind seems to rest upon the presumption that it is issued to only big boys and girls. Yet such is the benumbing and belittling influence of a legalized slave history in the United States that great people do not regard themselves insulted by a man who spends an hour on a hot day telling them what the common sense daily experience on other subjects would naturally hold on this subject, if allowed to act freely. Can white Americans, while so dull, claim, with justice, to be enlightened? The education of the Negro is the greatest question of the age, for there are thousands of nonbuilds to America prepared to deny this proposition. That is why so much time must be lost discussing race axioms.

THE BISHOPS' MEETING at Atlantic City, next week, will doubtless have many grave subjects under consideration. Twice, already, they have been obliged to recast their districts. Now they are called upon for the third time in this quadrennium. Surely their work of building over forty conferences within nine months after fall conferences begin will be all that seven Bishops can do, though we observe that Dr. J. H. A. —June 19th, at Camden, Rev. G. M. Witten performed the marriage service of Mr. Jonathan Jackson and Miss Lizzie Handy. Brother Witten has made a very successful opening in Macedonia Church, Camden.

—Rev. J. C. Ayler's lecture on Seven Languages, last Thursday evening, attracted an unusually large crowd. It was a masterly effort and an intellectual treat. He described in a very graphic manner, with rare oratorical powers.—Princeton Press.

—Rev. O. N. Carter, of Knoxville, Texas, is making great preparation for the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of African Methodism next November. He is pastor of Travis Circuit, which is thriving under his administration.

—Rev. I. J. Coppin entertained Bishop Campbell at the parsonage on Tuesday night. Allen Chapel is usually ready to do the honors in the Bishop's absence. This reception to Bishop Campbell at the parsonage is but in keeping with its general goodness.

—Rev. C. C. Felts will open a woods meeting at Freehold, Monmouth county, August 8, and continue it for two Sundays. This will afford an opportunity for thousands who leave Philadelphia on Sundays to worship instead of revel-ing in the country.

—Rev. J. H. Garner, pastor of Bethel, Camden, Ohio, held his quarterly meeting June 27th. Rev. Garner is doing a very good work. He believes in Methodism all. He is presiding elder, Rev. J. G. Mitchell, baptized twenty-five children there at the quarterly meeting.

—Rev. C. C. Green, of Snow Hill, Md., had a rally at Bethel, Princess Anne, at which $131 was raised. The elder says their church has been closed for years for an old claim for salary. This is to be regretted. Nine hundred dollars is a little difficulties without wasting money on lawyers' fees.

A GOOD MAN HAS FALLEN.

BY REV. A. W. TALBERT.

Brother Curtis Smith departed this life on Thursday, June 23d, at 1 o'clock P. M. He died in full triumph of faith. Brother Smith was born in North Carolina forty-four years ago. He was brought to Missouri when quite young. He here met and married his wife, now sister—he was sold away from them. In '57 he married a Miss Francis I Gaines, by whom he has since that time served in the faithful and devoted wife. Brother Smith was the father of three children, three of whom preceded him to the gates of pearl in the city of the blessed. As a husband and a father he was affectionate, faithful and devoted. He also converted many years ago, under Sweet Springs, in Randolph county. An old gentleman who was present at the occasion said, "Brother Smith was powerfully converted, he was so happy that he could not do anything with him." Brother Smith has lived an earnest and consistent Christian. He was a member of the M. E. Church, South, for years, but when the banner of African Methodism was first unfurled to the breeze in Hootsville, Mo., and a call for volunteers was made, he fell in line and for a time has been spent in pioneer and missionary work in the Northwest. Many unfurled the banner and planted the standard in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Dakota, etc., have suffered much from cold and hon ger; sometimes twenty to thirty hours without a meal of victuals have been the portion of the preacher, and thirty miles regularly, from appointment to appointment, at times ploughing through the snow waist deep, have been out all day and nearly all night when it was from twenty to forty degrees below zero; have been at railroad crossings and stations, where there was no building, walking in the cold and storm, with the head and the jump to and stir around to keep from freezing, etc. I have been away from home at a time before returning to my family in order to succeed in organizing in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Dakota, etc. Others are now enjoying the fruits of our labors. During all these trials and hardships my family never suffered for food and raiment, etc. Thanks the good Lord I am still in the field doing service. Therefore, brethren of the Des Moines district, sally to the front and stick to the word.

But I must stop this train of matter, also the brethren will accuse me of egotism. No sir, it is not egotism, but when I as so many fathers and brethren leaving their work, etc., it stirs up the old missionary fire in my soul and makes the "old missionary war-horse of Iowa," as I am sometimes called, feel like rallying forth to encourage the men to buckle on the armor anew by putting on the whole armor of God and taking the sword of the spirit—the word of God. Let us take the field and in the name of the Lord set up our banner. I must call a halt; I have said more than I intended to say, and said what I did not expect to say.

If Bishops are to be elected let them be well qualified, godly men, yes, sanctified men, and if the presiding Elder system is continued let the Bishop appoint godly men with the necessary qualifications, and not such men as Revs. Cheeky and N. W. Rivers write and shout. Such men ought to be relegated to the rear. Down with the tyrants, whether they be Bishops or elders. How dare any man lord it over God's heritage. No man has a right to do so save he has doubled herself in every church, and then now, and not before speak in too high praise of the brethren for their courage in contributing to the boro dons for the building up of the district. The following are the statistics: Number of full members, 1,800; number of probationers, 73; number of Sunday schools, 22; number of officers connected 26; number of teachers, 60; number of pupils, 351; number of books in libraries 77, 1,011; increase of full members, 132

Remember, dear brethren, the Dollar Mony of the district. Let us make it a year Not less than six hundred dollars from the district. Let every pastor, by his help you to collect said moneys on our third round. Let us be more in earnest spiritually, now let us do a good work financially.

It is stated that the council of the Indian Empire has decided, for State and trade reasons, to build a railroad from St. Petersburg to Pekin. A teacher in a San Francisco public school was informed by a lawyer at 2 P. M. that she was heir to $800,000. He expected her to grasp her bonnet and run, but instead of that she calmly replied: "I will hear the class in geography, while three boys, and he at your office in an hour."

One day the children were having an object lesson on the blue heron. The teacher called attention to its small tail, saying, "The bird has no tail to speak of." The next day she asked the scholars to write a description of the bird, and a little German girl wound up by saying: "The blue heron has a tail, but it must not be talked about."

In a suburban Sunday-school last Sunday, the teacher of a class of little ones was about to entertain her young friends with the story of Abraham and Isaac, but, wishing first to gauge the children's knowledge of the chief actor in the story, asked: "Now, my dears, who was Abraham? Can any one tell me?" There was a silence for a minute or so, and then a little girl held up her hand and, triumphantly, amid seeing his superiority over his less informed and puzzled associates, "I know Miss——" "Well, Alfred, who was Abraham?" "He was the man who used to come round to my house and buy pa's old clothes."

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 21, 1887.

ELSEWHERE we publish list of Bishop Brown's conferences, which was forwarded by Rev. P. W. Henderson on the Bishop's order.

ALREADY a pastor of one of the large churches in the West proposes to take one hundred copies of our new triennial. Bishops Ward and Brown say several hundred will be wanted in their respective fields.

THE REPORT of the Secretary of the Sunday School Union is very encouraging. The Church will feel glad that the Secretary is to remain in his present office, even though himself unable to be at his post at times, his efficient management has secured such clerical aid as to insure success.

IT IS August 4th that Zion Mission and Murray Chapel wish to take short one thousand persons out of the heat of Philadelphia to enjoy the refreshing breeze of Chester Heights, hear important popular topics discussed and here a day of good social pleasure. The round trip fare will be 75 cents.

THE PHILADELPHIA PREACHERS' Meeting, at so extra session, July 11th, passed memorial resolutions on the death of the late Bishop James A. Shorter. Owing to the number of ministers already in hand and the many more that will doubtless come, we must ask our good brethren to consider the limited space in the RECORDER and pardon the non-publication of their resolutions. Of course there may be some exceptions.

THE EDITORIAL which we reprint from the "The News," Philadelphia, is one of the best things, and in the right way, of all the utterances of the Northern press in behalf of our suffering people in the South. The report of the Hinds County, Miss., grand jury would like the report of men with conscience recognizing both the solemn character of their oaths and the equal rights of colored men in respect to justice. If all the great papers of our great cities would speak as boldly as does the News and all our grand juries act as righteously as the Hinds County jury, our hope for success would enlarge rapidly.

ST. JOSEPH'S ADVOCATE," a magazine published in Baltimore under the auspices of the Catholic Church, in the especial interest, we would infer, of the colored people, and from its own standpoint a royal defender of them, justly criticises the A. M. E. Review for April, for not publishing the sketch of the Rev. Peregrine Wormley, D. D., lately no. When will the St. Joseph's become sufficiently liberal to publish a picture and sketch of so African Methodist minister, who has been educated and ordained in the Church, and is a sister of Christ? There has been as much talk about this ordinary fact, a man ordained to the ministry, as if so extraordinary specimen of humanity had suddenly come to America, where as it is only an ordinary American. The Catholic Church may possibly afford to gush over the matter; it will be profitable among the colored people, but why show our Protestant superiority need to do the same, when we ordain numbers of ministers equal to the lifeored Tolton! On the other hand, the St. Joseph's condemns the editor of the A. M. E. Review for publishing the article on Hayti by the late Mrs. Mossell. Similar criticism has been made by members of the New York Conference and a few others. The St. Joseph's does not hesitate to speak contemptuously of our good Sister Mossell, because she had written, and after her death her husband had published, what she believed to be the truth. Doubtless, though a Protestant, she was an honorable lady, and though she may have spoken slightingly of Roman Catholics, it is only once to the many times Roman Catholics have spoken slightingly of protestants. So far as the criticisms by Mrs. Mossell go, they are just the same as have been made scores of times. Our own Church critics and the St. Joseph's critic may as well know there are many Haytiens who will corroborate the statements made by Mrs. Mossell. Perhaps she was not careful to discriminate between Haytiens and some Haytiens, but it is useless for "our friends, the enemy," to try make us believe that Mrs. Mary Ellis Mossell intended any wrong. As to the criticism on our Church, we have only to say that they will observe that the mistake of noting the general term where the particular should be used, is a fault often committed. They say the publication of the article will be against us in our work on the island. If so, utterances of some of the young ministers from Hayti, educated at Wilberforce University, must also be against our cause in Hayti, for they eagerly authorized organization. The home was well filled by many of our best citizens and incidental sojourners. The Bishop, though weary from travel and grief stricken by the loss of his wife, fully beloved colleagues, and in happy, lucid style the chief incidents in his interesting journey to Hayti. He stated that he spent Ascension Day on Staten Island. In the Seeley fellowship he preached a sermon suitable to Ascension Day at Cape Haytien, where he found an English-speaking congregation, with an English-speaking pastor. In San Domingo he and Dr. Townsend were guests of the Hon. Mrs. H. C. C. Astwood, wife of the Consul General from the United States. They were well received by both civilians and State authorities. The Bishop organized a conference, ordained a native deacon and our good bother, A. H. Mves, missionary to San Domingo, elder. At Kingston, Jamaica, he found a large congregation, and Dr. Townsend ordained six high regular movements, free seats, tuition, investments, bequests, etc. The Church should have the statement that any movement of this kind would be disrespectful to our chief pastors. Nor should the Church's all sides on this subject, when again expressed, be thwarted by the excuse that the Church will not have erected or purchased episcopal residences at the places designated as episcopal centres. It would require a full quadrennium to build or pay for such residences, the Church suffering all the while. Houses can be secured or rented for Bishops as well as for other ministers. This distribution of Bishops will be very defective—if applied only to Bishops that be elected. The conference will be wise to appoint a special committee to arrange for this important progressive movement, or require the committee on Episcopacy to report on it.

PUBLISHING the report of Dr. J. G. Mitchell this week, we are reminded of the Brown University, formerly the Western University, located at Quindaro, Kans. What is the status of this school? What is its relation to the Church? Why no notice of it in the report of the Secretary of the First Educational District? These questions are suggested by the fact that so little money is reported by the Secretary from the Fifth District, the fact that more endowment money must have been raised in said district than is reported, by the fact that said school is said to be the property of the A. M. E. Church and by the fact that the school is said to be in operation.

Does the law prevent Secretary Mitchell from reporting all from taking cognizance of this school and educational funds raised in the Fifth District, or does it stipulate that the Church Educational Money of that district shall not be sent to the Secretary? Would not the Fifth District do later to fall in line and in lieu? Somebody is at fault for the non-reporting of this school and the Educational Money appropriated to it. Both the money and the school appertain to the under the general system of church collectional work should stand connected with those of other educational work of the district in which the school is located.

HOW CAN WE forbear calling the attention of our good Secretary of Education to the fact that his report in the number of the RECORDER is unfair and misleading? The amount of money raised for education in 1881 is said to have been $5,315.11; that of 1886, $45,216.97. The report of 1884 includes simply the results of Redemption Day, while that of 1886 includes all the money coming to our schools in their regular movements, free seats, tuition, investments, bequests, etc. The Church should have the statement of the two years' work from the same basis, or not in comparison. This way of exaggerating our statistics by no means right nor worthy of compliment. The sad feature of our work is that the real work of Redowment Day for 1886 is probably slightly less than that of 1884. Compare $5,315.11 with $5,597.01. Another fact is that many of us have been mistaken in counting the appropriation of $10,000 by the legislature of Ohio to establish a normal and Industrial School at Wilberforce University as an appropriation of $10,000 to Wilberforce University. This the Secretary, it may be observed, failed to report in his report. That $10,000 must not, ceases be included in the work of our Church. As such, the State of Ohio could not have appropriated it. That money will not be coming to us. Needs of our University treasurer otherwise than incidentally, if at all.

The fact is, our Educational Department has hardly come up to the expectations of the Church. Those elements of revenue that would have come into our schools regularly ceased be ascribed to it. The Church, as we intimated last week, should have done much more than it has done through the general office. Forty-five thousand dollars is a very small sum of money for a Church of our numbers to expend or as many institutions of the grade of ours to twelve months. Are less than that amount or one respectable university would be economical living. When we divide that sum among six or eight schools and at the same time support the General Department, and $12,000 or $13,000 at the Redowment Meeting, we should by our statistics and give the schools at least $100,000 to the work of education. We must remember that $100,000 from 400,000 persons is only 25 cents per person. This would not show a very dreary organization in behalf of education, but $45,000, including endowment and appropriated money, is less than 12½ cents per person; over $10,000 of that coming from outside our Church leaves but $35,000 to our credit, or a little less than 9 cents per member. Our figures must spur us to greater energies. The great number of our schools make it the more necessary for us to be double our diligences. The report of our Secretary should be doubled this year, at least.

ST. JOSEPH'S ADVOCATE," a magazine published in Baltimore under the auspices of the Catholic Church, in the especial interest, we would infer, of the colored people, and from its own standpoint a royal defender of them, justly criticises the A. THE OFFICE OF PRESIDING ELDER.

BY REV. S. SICE.

It has been often affirmed that the presiding elder office does no good; his salary has to be paid, while the pastor does the preaching. This argument is supported on the presumption that the presiding elder does no good. The fact is that the same proportion of failures may be found in the pastorate that in the ranks of the presiding eldership. The presiding elder may discharge his duties in a perfunctory manner, so may the pastor; but the office of either, rightly or the account be condemned. The presiding eldership lends to hold pastors to duty, and there is no office in the Church, but a positive disinterestedness is everything except the line between the pastor and presiding elder, and that is a crime worthy of death? God forbid; we have been called to preach a man who would escape the penalty.

In search of a man worthy to adjust the office, some say that all the presiding elders can do and are doing they as pastors can do. Here is a case for a hearing along the line the same argument is made by local preachers against the pastors, and is there not as much ground for it? Are not the pastors, as such, as then articles are members of the A. M. E. Church, but are they Methodists? Possibly they are of a kind for order. Not being well informed as the good brethren who have had the benefit of college elder's office, I will not presume to speak for them the whole connection, but I can say of South Carolina, the people themselves the office, or will reserve to themselves the right to direct the functions and dispose of them by vote when they think judgment will be subserved by

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 21, 1887.

ELSEWHERE we publish list of Bishop Howe's conferences, which will be attended by Rev. T. W. Henderson as the Bishop's order.

ALBANY, a pastor of one of our large churches in the West promises to take one hundred copies of our new ritual. Bishops Ward and Brown say several hundred will be wanted in their respective fields.

THE REPORT of the Secretary of the Sunday School Union is very encouraging. The Church will feel glad that the Secretary is able to renew business and that, even though himself unable to be at his post at times, his efficient management has secured such clerical aid as to insure success.

IF IS August 4th that Zion Mission and Murray Chapel wish to take about two thousand persons south of the beat of Philadelphia to enjoy the refreshing breeze of Chester Heights, hear important popular topics discussed and have a day of good social pleasure. The round trip fare will be 75 cents.

THE PHILADELPHIA PREACHERS' Meeting, at an extra session, July 11th, passed memorial resolutions on the death of the late Bishop James A. Shorter. Owing to the number of similar papers already to hand and the many more that will doubtless come, we must ask our good brethren to consider the limited space in the columns and pardon the non-publication of their papers. Of course there may be some exceptions.

THE SOCIORIAL which we reprint from the "The News," Philadelphia, is one of the best things, said in the best way, of all the utterances of the Northern press in behalf of our suffering people in the South. The report of the Ninth Church, New Orleans, greatly increased like the report of men with conscience, recognizing both the solemn character of their oaths and the equal rights of colored men in respect to justice. If all the great people of our great cities would speak as boldly as does the News and all our grand juries act as righteously as the Hinds County jury, our hopes for success would enlarge rapidly.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE of 1888 will fail to do the thing which, above all others, would tend to the advancement and unity of the African Methodist Episcopal Church if it does not have all our Bishops, within six months after its adjournment, located at such places as will give all parts of the Church an equal showing in episcopal presence and supervision. The Church has suffered too much to longer indulge the sentiment that any movement of this kind would be disrespectful to our chief pastors. Nor should the Church's will on this subject, when again expressed, be thwarted by the excuse that the Church will not have erected or purchased episcopal residences at the places designated as episcopal centers. It would require a full quadrennium to build or pay for such residences, the Church suffering all the while. Houses can be secured or rented for Bishops as well as for other ministers. This distribution of Bishops will be very defective if applied only to Bishops that be elected. The conference will be wise to appoint a episcopal committee to arrange for this important progressive movement, or require the committee on Episcopacy to report on it.

PUBLISHING the report of Dr. J. G. Mitchell this week, we are reminded of the Brown University, formerly the Western University, located at Quindaro, Kans. What is the status of this school? What is its relation to the Church? Why no notice of it in the report of the Secretary of the First Educational District? These questions are suggested by the fact that so little note by is reported by the Secretary from the Fifth District, the fact that more endowment money must have been raised in said district then is reported, by the property of the A. M. E. Church and by the fact that the school is said to be in operation.

Does the law prevent Secretary Mitchell from taking cognizance of this school and educational funds raised in the Fifth District, or does it stipulate that the Church Educational Money of that district shall not be sent to the Secretary? Would not the Fifth District do better to fall in line and in law? Somebody is at fault for the non-reporting of this school and the Educational Money appropriated to it. Both the money and the school appearing to be under the general system of church educational work should stand connected with those of other educational work of the district to which the school is located.

HOW CAN we forbear calling the attention of our good Secretary of Education to the fact that his report in this number of the RECORDER is unfair and misleading? The amount of money raised for education in 1884 is said to have been $5,815.11; that of 1886, $45,216.97. The report of 1884 includes simply the results of Endowment Day, while that of 1886 includes all the money coming to our schools in their regular movements, fountains, tuition, investments, bequests, etc. The Church should have the statistics of the two years' work from the same basis, or not in comparison. This way of exaggerating our statistics is by no means right nor worthy of compliment. The sad feature of our work is that the real work of Endowment Day for 1886 was probably slightly less than that of 1881. Compare $5,815.11 with $5,597.61. Another fact is that many of us here been mistaken in counting the appropriation of $10,000 by the legislature of Ohio to establish a Normal and Industrial School at Wilberforce University as an appropriation of $10,000 to Wilberforce University. This the Secretary, it may be observed, includes in his report of 1886. That $10,000 must not, cannot be included in the work of our Church. As such, the State of Ohio could not have appropriated it. That money will not belong to the funds of our University treasurer otherwise than incidentally, if at all.

The fact is, our Educational Department has hardly come up to the expectations of the Church. Those classes of revenue that would have come into our schools regularly cannot be accredited to it. The Church, as we intimated last week, should have done much more than it has done through the general office. Forty-five thousand dollars is a very small sum of money for a Church of our numbers to expend on so many institutions of the grade of ours in twelve months. Any less than that amount at one respectable university would be economical living. When we divide that sum among six or eight schools and at the same time support the General Department, and $12,000 or $15,000 at the Endowment Money, we should be stir ourselves and give the schools at least $100,000 to the work of education. We must remember that $100,000 from 100,000 persons is only 25 cents apiece. This would not show extraordinary organization in behalf of education, but $45,000, including endowment and appropriated money, is less than 75 cents per person, even if $45,000 of that coming from outside our Church leaves but $35,000 to our credit, or a little less than 9 cents per member. Our figures must spur us to greater energies. The great number of our schools make it the more necessary for us to double our diligence. The report of our Secretary should be doubled this year, at least.

Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

In All Complaints

Of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, and Kidneys, Ayer's Pills are taken with excellent results. Being purely vegetable, they leave no ill effects, and may be safely administered to any one, old or young, in need of an aperient and cathartic. Physicians, all over the country, prescribe Ayer's Pills and recommend them as a good Family Medicine.

"If people would use Ayer's Pills," says Col. D. W. Bozeman, of Franklin, Texas, "in nine cases in ten, as you direct, many of the serious ailments that come from torpidity or derangement of the liver and from malarial infections would be avoided. I have used these pills always a quarter of a century and know whereof I affirm."

Herman Brimhoff, jewelry engraver, Newark, N. J., writes: "Continuous headache by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic, and Ayer's Pills afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has kept me well ever since."

PHILADELPHIA, JULY 29, 1897.

IN our reference to the Brown University last week, we said it is in the Fifth District, whereas we should have said the Fourth District.

BISHOP BROWN is sounding the ecclesiastical trumpet wherever he goes. We notice in a correspondence from the Fourth District that he has lectured on the subject in several places. If all our Bishops will thus call the attention of the masses to this important subject they can do much towards making us a race, one of whole-souled ecthusiasm.

DO NOT our brethren see that a number of brethren have already said the same thing? Why not improve something new instead of going round and round on the "Bishop question" the "Presiding Elder Office" and the "General Offices?" Brother Strange has referred to a good subject, "The Relation of our Bishops." We believe the majority of our ministers, as well as a majority of our Bishops, concurring the interest of the connection, its unity and its growth, will agree that our Bishops should rotate. So far as the residences are concerned, the circulation or rotation is more favorable to an equitable distribution of episcopal residences than is the district plan. The liability to move often is not nearly so great as in the former plan as in the latter. The presiding eldership is likely to remain throughout the remaining history of the Church. With it, the rotation of Bishops is consistent, the station is more hardly needs such an aid, if the Bishop resides in his district.

THE CHURCH AND THE PEOPLE.

How often we hear these terms thus united, as if the Church were not the people, so far as "people" refers to church members. The tyranny, the oppression, the outrage, the taxation of the people by the Church are frequent and choice expressions of dissatisfied and disloyal members. You are the Church, brethren. Hot you reply, no, we don't make the laws. Yes, but you do. The balance of power in our General Conference is held by the laity. They can modify or prevent any legislation concerning which there is a considerable division in the ministry. It is possible for the laity to have more than one hundred delegates to the next General Conference. Thus far they have elected none but very able men, so far as we have learned. F. P. Main and D. H. Hamilton represent the Fifth Episcopal Conference; F. Savage and J. Holden the New York Conference; W. H. S. Seals and Nathaniel Dyson the Illinois Conference; and J. P. Shorter and W. S. Thomas the Ohio Conference. If this class of brethren can be secured by all the conferences, the laity will be quite equal to the ministry, man for man. But the obligation of every member to be subject to the law of the Church is sufficient to keep every man in the line of duty. Now and then a thoughtless member, who dotes on his obligation to pay all the dues and assessments of his benevolent societies, says: "I don't care anything about the law." That truth is out. He would recall it, but it has past and is recorded. In this case way members sometimes say to their government, "I won't help the law; I am a law unto myself" All this means destruction of our organization; leaving the matter only a question of time.

The loyal minister and the loyal layman have much to do to hold the Church in the proper line. Men who talk about the Church of to-day being more oppressive than the Church of former times are simply ignorant. Those who think that there is less tendency on the part of men to loyalty to the Church than there was formerly, that the little flights of such men as Heiskell, Hyssaysh and McGlynn are instances of an uprising against church government, peculiar to the present times, show an ignorance of church history or a will inclination to stir up dissension among those who do not know anything of church history. The fact is that never, since the solidifying of Christianity into organization, has there been comparatively a greater manimity than at present. True, there is questioning on all sides. This fact has marked the formation of religious, degmatism and orgoism always. If there are indications in this Church or that Church of disintegration, it must be remembered that the very foundation of "this or that church" is to be found in the very conditions to some other church that are complained of in "this or that church." The spread of the church has been founded largely upon this very unreasonableness and dissatisfactite.

OUR CENTENNIAL.

The time for preparation for the Centennial is very short; the cause is of great interest. The ministry proposes to push the matter from this time forward, throughout the summer and fall, closing with November.

The prime object is that the Church may get all large and due advantage of the feelings that the occasion is calculated to inspire. The hundred years that have passed since Richard Allen determined to establish a society where the oppressed, insignificant, despised and feelings inspired by Christianity should not be prevented from legitimate action by the simple incidents of the color or previous condition, have been years of great changes. These changes have not yet made it certain that the African Methodist Church is not needed, nor that its formative and development were mistaken. Instead of preventing progress among the colored masses, it has been the greatest promoter of that fact. There may every now and then be seen in papers, promoting the idea of the half association of the two races in their government, "I can't help the law; I am a law unto myself" All this means destruction of our organization; leaving the matter only a question of time.

The loyal minister and the loyal layman have much to do to hold the Church in the proper line. Men who talk about the Church of to-day being more oppressive than the Church of former times are simply ignorant. Those who think that there is less tendency on the part of men to loyalty to the Church than there was formerly, that the little flights of such men as Heiskell, Hyssaysh and McGlynn are instances of an uprising against church government, peculiar to the present times, show an ignorance of church history or a will inclination to stir up dissension among those who do not know anything of church history. The fact is that never, since the solidifying of Christianity into organization, has there been comparatively a greater manimity than at present. True, there is questioning on all sides. This fact has marked the formation of religious, degmatism and orgoism always. If there are indications in this Church or that Church of disintegration, it must be remembered that the very foundation of "this or that church" is to be found in the very conditions to some other church that are complained of in "this or that church." The spread of the church has been founded largely upon this very unreasonableness and dissatisfactite.

THE CHURCH AND THE PEOPLE.

How often we hear these terms thus united, as if the Church were not the people, so far as "people" refers to church members. The tyranny, the oppression, the outrage, the taxation of the people by the Church are frequent and choice expressions of dissatisfied and disloyal members. You are the Church, brethren. Hot you reply, no, we don't make the laws. Yes, but you do. The balance of power in our General Conference is held by the laity. They can modify or prevent any legislation concerning which there is a considerable division in the ministry. It is possible for the laity to have more than one hundred delegates to the next General Conference. Thus far they have elected none but very able men, so far as we have learned. F. P. Main and D. H. Hamilton represent the Fifth Episcopal Conference; F. Savage and J. Holden the New York Conference; W. H. S. Seals and Nathaniel Dyson the Illinois Conference; and J. P. Shorter and W. S. Thomas the Ohio Conference. If this class of brethren can be secured by all the conferences, the laity will be quite equal to the ministry, man for man. But the obligation of every member to be subject to the law of the Church is sufficient to keep every man in the line of duty. Now and then a thoughtless member, who dotes on his obligation to pay all the dues and assessments of his benevolent societies, says: "I don't care anything about the law." That truth is out. He would recall it, but it has past and is recorded. In this case way members sometimes say to their government, "I won't help the law; I am a law unto myself" All this means destruction of our organization; leaving the matter only a question of time.

The loyal minister and the loyal layman have much to do to hold the Church in the proper line. Men who talk about the Church of to-day being more oppressive than the Church of former times are simply ignorant. Those who think that there is less tendency on the part of men to loyalty to the Church than there was formerly, that the little flights of such men as Heiskell, Hyssaysh and McGlynn are instances of an uprising against church government, peculiar to the present times, show an ignorance of church history or a will inclination to stir up dissension among those who do not know anything of church history. The fact is that never, since the solidifying of Christianity into organization, has there been comparatively a greater manJust as they left their native State seeking to live on less expense of society than is possible in a free citizenship, are willing to go to Africa to try it there.

Mr. Coppinger's argument is continued thus: "They feel that they are not a part of the dominant race and that they are not properly recognized socially and politically by the whites and never will be." The first member of this interesting sentence amounts to little, for going to Africa will not constitute them "a part of the dominant race." It will do as much toward it as going anywhere else, perhaps. The dominant race is not composed of sponge and feeling, but of muscle and mental energy. To become a part of it is to take on its qualities. This only. It is not made of color nor physical contour, but of inner energies. These make the proper color and physical contour; not the converse. If the Colonizeties Society were truly the friend of the American negro he would invest its forces in aiding him to hold and depart himself at home like a man instead of sending him to Africa to add to the overwhelming, dependent people there. Liberia is nearly bankrupt. It is only a question of time when, without a great material change, it must become subsidiary to England or some other power of the "dominant race." Mr. Coppinger and all of his class must see clearly that they are not the friends of the American negro. They must see clearly that the condition of the "twenty thousand whom they have given homes in the land of their fathers" is no better than that of the seven and a half million of the negro residing in America. They may compare them from all standpoints, with reference to present facts and pointings for the future. The colored Americans should give these organizations a wide berth. It is quite only man of the negro race who has published a treatise in the English language.

Several other journals condemn the Press and Banner particularly inconsistent, as it has always been a champion of negro education. The Press and Banner declared it was working for the interest of the people, and proposes to have the cheapest and most satisfactory labor without regard to the boycott.

OUR NEW DEED.

We again call the attention of the pastors and preachers to the new form of Warranty Deed we have prepared and published for the sale and purchase of church properties. The form is very full and plain as plain can be, yet it is believed to cover every point in the case. It was drawn by an old conveyancer and is the result of twenty-three years' study. Price, 25 cents per copy, or 5 for $1.00.

Address,

J. C. EMBRY,
Box 906, Philadelphia, Pa.

While we are rejoicing over our progress, we can only look upon the rise of another Bishop. Attar our last conference Bishop Jones A. Shorter visited Lafayette, Ind., and was the guest of Rev. Dr. Hamilton, of Centenary Church, and Mrs. Laura Craig, of Omaha, Nebraska.

All the changes in the district were favorable. Every charge on the list of appointments showed a gratifying advance. Even a number of years ago the churches and schools throughout the district. The University of Kings College, Windsor, Nova Scotia, is the oldest of all the British North American colleges. The royal charters under which it was founded in 1788 explicitly provides that its academical beliefs shall be the same as those of the University of Oxford. And its exercise is conducted every year with all the pomp and circumstance of an Oxford exercise. The Rev. Dr. Isaac Brock, Oxon., is the president.

The feature of the Fourth of July celebration at Norwood, N. Y., was the presence of Mr. William Whitley, a native of Stanley County. He was born in 1775, and in 1808, when 33 years old he married his wife, who died about 1881, when she died, aged 101 years. Uncle Billy, as he is called, sat on the platform and was created over, and likewise the exercises by firing of an old flintlock musket that had been used in the Revolutionary war.

A friend of Sir Edward Leadster, who accompanied him to Kessington Museum on the first occasion of its exhibition to fashion, relates that Leadster stopped short before his lance picture, "A Troll to Waterloo." "I must have that," said he, "when I painted that." And washing up to the picture he placed his hand over the part where the knight held his crithism. An attendant policeman shouted in his native nasalism—"Now, then, take yer hands off them!" "My good man," said Sir Edward, "you are really remarking how bad that was." "Then why don't you go good or better?" said the policeman. The bell interrupted by whom he was speaking. "Quite right, quite right! I am ashamed of it," he stammered.

Joseph Garrison, of Harley, Idaho, has lost bees noticed from Washington that his claim for pension was allowed. His claim dated back twenty years ago. By temporarily waiving a heavier claim for heavy disability resulting from a wound on the head, inflicted by a bowlder thrown from the roof of a house at the storming of the city of Mexico, he has been allowed $18 per month, with 4 per cent. interest per annum since 1848, a period of thirty-nine years. History records the case of the soldiers at Bentiesford in the 21 California Cavalry he expects to get quite an additional sum. The allowance is for life and he will secure him over $10 000, and when his other claims for increased pension are adjudicated, he expects to receive $15,000 or $20 000 more.

Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents. Total four months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full SIX months for paying the subscription.

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 4, 1887.

THERE is no reason in doubt that our next General Conference will be an improvement on our last in point of order and wisdom.

DR. W. D. JOHNSON called at the RECORDER office, on his way home from Atlantic City. He is hopeful of great results from the next Endowment Day.

IT MAY REQUIRE considerable effort to keep cool now with the thermometer at 105 and the General Conference at 1888. Yet with ice and honest purpose the end may be obtained.

THE North Ohio Conference failed to appear in the oalsedar last week, because it was omitted from the manuscript for awarded by the good secretary of the Board of Bishops. It will be found in place this week.

SOME correspondents to certain contemporaries seem to forget that they are not writing to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, hence refer to this paper as though it could hear what they say to another. Can't always do it, brethren.

WE WERE glad to read in the Southern Recorder of the proceedings of the Ontario Conference, which seems to have been a very pleasant affair. Bishop Brown and Dr. Derrick were present. Their visit was altogether pleasantly and thankfully received.

NEITHER orators nor writers can expect to crowd too nervasonable lies down the throats of the masses. It is remarkable how bold they sometimes become in their efforts in this direction; as if there were no sense to limit to these things shenid all be tested before the great Judge.

A READY invitation from Bishop Wayman to attend the memorial services of our late and beloved Bishop Shorter, to be held at Wayman's Grove yesterday, could not be complied with, owing to previous business engagements. The oration was delivered by Bishop J. P. Campbell. It was doubtless worthy of the man in whose honor and love it was delivered as well as the good orator himself.

"WHERE ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise," is not so true as it is old. It is a pity for men to be unwise, though their foolishness is a source of pleasure to them. At this time we are suffering much because of our inexperience and lack of observation. A man once said, "I know this or that." So he does, but he may not know it as he might. His ignorance often creates arrogance, as well as bliss.

WHAT may be said to enlist our readers in the call of Wilberforce University? Cannot her alumni and undergraduates show themselves worthy of the noble work done by our fathers is founding and perpetuating Wilberforce for our benefit by making up a purse of one thousand dollars to help the university through its temporary peril? The best institutions in the land have had their waste and have been elevated to their present standing largely by the efforts of those whom they have trained. There are times when we must make efforts. Will not the students of Wilberforce University come to the relief of their alma mater at once?

DR GAINES, on route from Atlantic City, called in for a few minutes. The Doctor does not think the Glenn bill, now before the legislature of his State, making it a penal offenses to educate white and colored together, will pass. The Doctor thinks the good men of the State have too much influence in allow it to become a law. He also thinks that the colored men of the State could raise the $8,000 appropriated to the education of colored children would be of more service in ten years than white men's management of the same finds would do in thirty years, in that colored men would be educated in the management itself as well as the children.

SHOULD SOUTH CAROLINA allow a little colored child of twelve years, who killed a white baby, to be hanged in accordance with the amusement of the court, she would sap the climax of wrong and outrage upon the negro race. She would demonstrate the fact that what the white men of that State want is not the reformation and security of the negro in her jurisdiction, but his degradation and final extinction. It was a bad hearted child that cruelly took the life of her ward, so infant, because she was determined not to nurse it; a child that should be placed in a reformatory. The woodie is, however, that, with the lessons of brutality under which the existence of colored persons is begun and ended, they are not more heartless than they are.

SOUND NIB notes of the centennial of African Methodism. Tell the children of it. Let the Sunday schools participate in the joyousness. This is the centennial of local African Methodism. Only very few of the active men and women of to-day will see the centennial of connectional African Methodism, twenty-one years hence, but there are thousands of our boys and girls who will be controlling men and women of that day; hence the necessity of stimulating them to make the occasion all that can be expected. To do this we must touch their young hearts eow with the magnitude of the work undertaken by Bishop Allen and brought down to the present time. Besides this we must use this occasion to fit them the more lovingly to the Church of our fathers, that they may take delight in strengthening its pillars.

FROM A REPRINT from the Wasu Day on our first page it will be seen that Paul Quinn College has an excellent character. President Burgee deserves great credit for his pluck and patience, energy and success. The new trustee of the Texas Conference alone have managed this institution and have done it very well, judging from their report. Their catalogue shows an enrolment capable of making good scholars and a government capable of making good men and women. In undertaking to erect a sow building Paul Quinn should receive aid to the tatoest of not less thse fifteen or twenty hundred dollars from our connection. This cannot be done by taxation and appropriation, but it ase be done by consideration and appliesation. There are several members of our Church who can give from $10 to $100 to Paul Quinn this year. Education in Texas is of great worth to men everywhere. We must eot think of the matter as State education, but as the education of men. God bless the work. Men, aid the work.

BISHOP WARD and Turner spent a few days in Cape May, and Bishops Payne and Campbell a few days at Ocean Grove, where the enlargement of the ocean-front hotel has attracted many hundreds, but out of whose clutches we had hoped he was about rescued. At this writing, July 29th, it is said he may be improving. Surely the prayers of the Church will be offered in his behalf, that the Lord will spare this useful minister, who, by human calculation, has just entered upon his life work in earnest and has been most brilliant and successful.

The General Officers, having the responsibility of money and large business transactions committed to them, reported to the council of Bishops, who reviewed their work generally; that they might set out on the fourth year of this quadrennium thoroughly furnished. The Departments are said to be in fine condition. The Sunday School Union seems in stand "up head." No doubt the visit to Hayti rendered the Missionary Secretary's report especially interesting. The Business Manager's report must be considered among the subjects for congratulation. Though our publishing interests are embarrassed, they are improving. The Review has made a real success. The future cannot score for it a failure on the ground of lack of proper foundation. If the management succeed as well in the fourth year as it has done in the first two of its existence, the A. M. E. Review will be reported to the next General Conference as a business very nearly, if not quite, self-supporting.

GEORGIAN EDUCATION LAW.

Mr. Glenn has presented to the Georgia Legislature a bill making it a penal offence for any teacher in the State to teach a white child and a colored child in the same school, making the penalty imprisonment and a heavy fine. The reason for such law, while Mr. Glenn is reported as giving to a reporter, are as foolish as the law is slaveocratic. Mr. Glenn must have it in mird that the old days of ralvery still exist and that the white strength of the South, or of yore, must be bost towards the subjection of the negro. The bill has been reported to the house by the committee to which it was referred and will probably become a law, though Dr. Gaines, one of the wide-awake men of the State, thinks these are too many good, sensible men in Georgia to allow it. He thinks the State of Georgia would do wisely in arranging to have the control of the $8,000 appropriated to the education of colored persons in the hands of colored men; as it would have the twofold influence of educating the colored children and improve the whole people of the State with the ability of the negro to discharge responsible trusts.

OUR COMING CENTENNIAL.

This is the only opportunity that the most of those on the active stage of African Methodism will have to celebrate the centennial of a noiled organization of colored men. There are but few institutions that have existed one hundred years in the hands of colored Americans. Many think the colored race incapable of organizing for long continued activity. We are said to lack that togredient of character that holds men a long while in co-operative unity. The A. M. E. Church settles the fact that we are misjudged in this, as in many other things. We make no claim to superiority in this respect, but do believe that we are about equal to other races in similar ocoditions. Reading history, we learn that all other races have been disunited and self-hindering till they have reached a standing of respectable intelligence.

The existence of an organization one hundred years omeeg a people to the dire circumstances of the A. M. E. Church is its first century is one of the most powerful arguments it could be addressed in favor of the worth of the negro to the world; for, if he is capable of such fidelity to right principles and progress in morals as the A. BOOK NOTICE.

"Molukahiie" is the odd name of one of the most interesting works on mission work and the influence of Christianity on savage life that has been written. It is by Harry S. Willcome. The story is of the adventures and observations of Mr. William Duncan, who thirty years ago began his mission work among the Metlakahtlan Indians of British Columbia, then cannibal barbarians of the lowest type, but now a civilized community. The mode of Mr. Duncan was much after the plan of William Penn, so far as honest trade with the Indians was concerned, and like Bishop Taylor as far as concerns dealing with them religiously. These are the methods that have given the "Apostle of Alaska" success. The treatment of men with respect and placing upon them moral responsibilities is not likely to fail to give them moral stability. The style of this work is as beautiful and happy as its contents are interesting. It contains many fine pages, both of death. Price only $1.50. SAXON & Co., New York.

DOING GOOD.

"He went about doing good."—Acts, 10, 38.

What a beautiful life those words suggest to us as we look upon them—the life that came coming from heaven to earth to go among to doing good. What a noble life! Not a selfish one, whose goodness love he felt toward an. Other men had done good. Other men were doing good, actuated by various motives; but all of which stood wide from the motive which led him to go and let him to take up the work that he did. Which were great motives, but they were low and pecuniary gains, he acted purely and strictly by the love of love for love for himself, not for wealth and glory, but for our happiness, our enjoyment of heaven and future and eternal life.

Doing God. Can anything more noble be said of a man? Can he be said to do more than to go, upon the tree basis of selfish love—that love which reaches out to God and to man, and not to self, on the other, he then has reached the highest pinnacle in the sphere of humanity. He then stands in the sunlight of the great and glorious. He breathes the pure breeze that come sweeping down the delectable hillsides of heaven, and hears the delightful music of the angels upon the spiritual chords of his soul.

Doing good. When and where did he do it? He did good when he went to the house of the bereaved sister and brother and friend of the dead. He did good when he followed the two disciples from the synagogue to their home. And he went to the Master's crown.

To lay of this Master there are a few dirty bowls and a mosque with a high minaret, from the top of which we had a splendid view. We could see all those of his class in the man-made world. Some were delighted with the beauty of individual with the good of all the species in the whole God-made world. Jesus teaches universally that the man who would have the high reward must become the willing servant of others, and by his example by giving up himself entirely in ministering to others and in other his life a ransom for the many.

The question of importance, in view of the fact that we, each one of us, have our own good while serving others? Can I minister to others and yet be true to myself? Will not such a motive vitiate the action, and make it selfish? That is to say, I do good things to others with a view of securing my happiness or my ultimate good, and I feel destroyed or suppressed my benevolence by self love? Not at all. He did good to others and yet he answer this complex query from the Bible, by saying:

The Bible represents man everywhere as fleeing from the wrath to come to the Saviour for safety, and as finding a Master's frown or courting e Father's good pleasure.

21. It does not condemn our especially a reward, providing we do not let it be the motive for our doing it. Heaven. To expect blessings coming, not by caprice, but by law, from the Father of lights with whom there is no variableness nor shadow of turning as a result of unchanging principles of action, is encouraged.

Jesus was rewarded as a compensation for his humiliation and suffering; but he never occupied this ground. It is evident from his prayer in John xvii; and the writer of Hebrews says that he, for the joy that was set before him, endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God."

The man, therefore, who, in the light of God's revelation, is willing to forget himself best mist do so relatively or incidentally, by giving himself up to the service of others. This accords with the simple statements of Jesus, and with the laborious conclusions of the moralists.

PARABLE OF THE ALLIGATOR OF THE GANGES.

BY REV. J. H. ADAMS.

The daughters of Zion were often invited to the top of the alligator on the holy mount. It was a living animal, covered with reptiles, and very dirty. Many of the daughters of Zion who went out in draw water were lost. Dilligent search was made for them in vain. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of the Church. Some of the State normals, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we are glad to welcome to our halls students of every nationality and religious faith; but the Methodist Church is founded upon the rock of the Holy Ghost, and the body of the voracious creature is covered with a species of armor so thick and firm as to be scarcely penetrated by spoken word. The best way they could do was to face it courageously, with a bold attack upon its filthy scales back and pierce it with the sword become of their message and simplicity. But her doors will not be closed; you are free to enter and remain in the fair name of our great Church. Brethren and sisters, lend your aid, we want to drive these four-footed, long-tailed animals where they will not trouble the Church or her work, but where they will be confined to their own element. Let us not be timid in doing good in this and other connections. Remember that it was just such creatures as these we were to meet Jesus think for a moment. Within this form, petched and dirty appears a mortal frame which, if properly cared for, may become almost all in the good home and a living gem of society. Feed within that frame dwells an immortal soul, which, if properly developed by the Spirit of God, will become a shining star among the constellations of heaven. Let us not be timid in doing good in this and other connections. Remember that it was just such creatures as these we were to meet Jesus think for a moment. Within this form, petched and dirty appears a mortal frame which, if properly cared for, may become almost all in the good home and a living gem of society. Feed within that frame dwells an immortal soul, which, if properly developed by the Spirit of God, will become a shining star among the constellations of heaven. He is the Christ-like brother, whose religion soothes us till we realize that the same law which binds the light of the sun to the material world, fills those who are in the man-made world, and binds all together in the bonds of love. Let us not be timid in doing good. When and where did he do it? He did good when he went to the house of the bereaved sister and brother and friend of the dead. He did good when he followed the two disciples from the synagogue to their home. And he went to the Master's crown.

Another view we had which equaled that. It was from the alligator's back. It was the road to Bethlehem. From the fair green plains where still the shepherds watch their flocks. A view which makes the journey to Bethlehem, however, a pilgrimage. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of the Redeemer; for the sake of all this institution has become a glorious and blessed institution in the past and for the sake of what lies before it, we beseech and implore you to stand as early as possible in the forefront of reforming items in regard to its rise and progress of African Methodism. His visit and his words have raised the standard of African Methodism higher than ever before; both colored and white of different denominations were present and listened attentively and pronounced their verdict that it was never heard before. During his lecture he read the resolutions passed by the Board of Bishops in regard to the centennial of African Methodism in the United States, and also the system supported by above-mentioned board to lift the indebtedness of the Publication Department. We think that the right men have been selected for the work, and work in concert the desired wish of the connection shall be reached.

A STRUGGLING PEOPLE NEEDING AID.

GREENVILLE, S. C., July 19, '87.

We are not sold out yet. It will be a disgrace to the race to lose this property. If we lose it we lose shame and school. We hope to commence our district school here the first of October, 1887. I was appointed to this charge December, 1886, by Bishop Gaines. Our last, found $15.50 due the church. I had much up bill work to do to get things in working order. for three had started to work in hops of better days. The Lord has been with us. We have erected and paid on church debt: 1886, $297.40; up to July 19, '87, $477. 5. Amount, $774.84. The amount due up to date, $1077. This amount we are working here to reduce in five hundred dollars by the time the conference meets in December, 1887. Therefore I appeal to the connection for the five hundred dollars. This can be done easily in this way: Let each brother or sister who is able, send me one dollar. Send by the 15th of August. Every third Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of the Church. Some of the State normals, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we are glad to welcome to our halls students of every nationality and religious faith; but the Methodist Church is founded upon the rock of the Holy Ghost, and the body of the voracious creature is covered with a species of armor so thick and firm as to be scarcely penetrated by spoken word. Personal.

—REV. L. Stirges reports the work of our church in New Brunswick, N. J., in fine condition.

—REV. J. H. Morgan is pushing the work of his history of the New Jersey Conference forward.

—The Missionary College of the West Texas Conference has elected Messrs. H. J. Macadoo and William Hunter lay delegates to the General Conference.

—Dr. Gaines is very hopeful of the success of Morris Brown College, under the presidency of Rev. W. J. Lee, a favorable young minister, graduate of Atlanta University.

—Dr. Tanner and the editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER are attending the Iowa Conference in the interest of their respective departments of the Publishing House represented by them.

—Bishop Turner spent two or three hours in the RECORDER office last week. He has had an interesting temperance campaign in Texas, having delivered twenty-five long speeches in fifteen days. The Bishop stands in the fore most ranks of temperance lecturers.

—Rev. L. Burgee, president of Paul Quinn College has an excellent character. President Burgee deserves great credit for his pluck and patience, energy and success. The new trustee of the Texas Conference alone have managed this institution and have done it very well, judging from their report. Their catalogue shows an enrolment capable of making good scholars and a government capable of making good men and women. In undertaking to erect a sow building Paul Quinn should receive aid to the tatoest of not less thse fifteen or twenty hundred dollars from our connection. This cannot be done by taxation and appropriation, but it ase be done by consideration and appliesation. There are several members of our Church who can give from $10 to $100 to Paul Quinn this year. Education in Texas is of great worth to men everywhere. We must eot think of the matter as State education, but as the education of men. God bless the work. Men, aid the work.

—Bishop Ward and Turner spent a few days in Cape May, and Bishops Payne and Campbell a few days at Ocean Grove, where the enlargement of the ocean-front hotel has attracted many hundreds, but out of whose clutches we had hoped he was about rescued. At this writing, July 29th, it is said he may be improving. Surely the prayers of the Church will be offered in his behalf, that the Lord will spare this useful minister, who, by human calculation, has just entered upon his life work in earnest and has been most brilliant and successful.

—The General Officers, having the responsibility of money and large business transactions committed to them, reported to the council of Bishops, who reviewed their work generally; that they might set out on the fourth year of this quadrennium thoroughly furnished. The Departments are said to be in fine condition. The Sunday School Union seems in stand "up head." No doubt the visit to Hayti rendered the Missionary Secretary's report especially interesting. The Business Manager's report must be considered among the subjects for congratulation. Though our publishing interests are embarrassed, they are improving. The Review has made a real success. The future cannot score for it a failure on the ground of lack of proper foundation. If the management succeed as well in the fourth year as it has done in the first two of its existence, the A. M. E. Review will be reported to the next General Conference as a business very nearly, if not quite, self-supporting.

GEORGIAN EDUCATION LAW.

Mr. Glenn has presented to the Georgia Legislature a bill making it a penal offence for any teacher in the State to teach a white child and a colored child in the same school, making the penalty imprisonment and a heavy fine. The reason for such law, while Mr. Glenn is reported as giving to a reporter, are as foolish as the law is slaveocratic. Mr. Glenn must have it in mird that the old days of ralvery still exist and that the white strength of the South, or of yore, must be bost towards the subjection of the negro. The bill has been reported to the house by the committee to which it was referred and will probably become a law, though Dr. Gaines, one of the wide-awake men of the State, thinks these are too many good, sensible men in Georgia to allow it. He thinks the State of Georgia would do wisely in arranging to have the control of the $8,000 appropriated to the education of colored persons in the hands of colored men; as it would have the twofold influence of educating the colored children and improve the whole people of the State with the ability of the negro to discharge responsible trusts.

OUR COMING CENTENNIAL.

This is the only opportunity that the most of those on the active stage of African Methodism will have to celebrate the centennial of a noiled organization of colored men. There are but few institutions that have existed one hundred years in the hands of colored Americans. Many think the colored race incapable of organizing for long continued activity. We are said to lack that togredient of character that holds men a long while in co-operative unity. The A. M. E. Church settles the fact that we are misjudged in this, as in many other things. We make no claim to superiority in this respect, but do believe that we are about equal to other races in similar ocoditions. Reading history, we learn that all other races have been disunited and self-hindering till they have reached a standing of respectable intelligence.

The existence of an organization one hundred years omeeg a people to the dire circumstances of the A. M. E. Church is its first century is one of the most powerful arguments it could be addressed in favor of the worth of the negro to the world; for, if he is capable of such fidelity to right principles and progress in morals as the A. M. E. Church shows, in these circumstances, what may we not be expected of him when more highly enlightened? It is considerations of this kind that should ocoss every African Methodist to enter largely into the rejoicings of our centennial. Our present status is a glorious foundation for building by the next generation; therefore the young as well as the old may enter into the spirit of a grand jubilee.

A New York firm advertises skeleton suits. Undertakers ought to look well in them.

With the average man the pleasantest hot-weather drink is the drink some one else pays for.

It is no credit to say of a man that he is regular as a clock. To some it might imply that he moves through life on tick.

It has at least been observed by so many Chinamen call themselves Lungs. It is a name that is spelled with considerable o's.

All the waves of the ocean do not ocreate by the seashore as great a sensation as a pretty woman by a single wave of her handkerchief.

To the man who is hunting for an opportunity for marrying a fortune, the best sum her resort is the place where the most heiresses congregate.

The new French rifle will shoot through an eight-inch brick wall. Thank goodness. A weapon that can be used against a book agent has been discovered at last.

It often happens that the man who cannot hear the call to duty when it is uttered in ordinary tones will catch the lowest whisper when it conveys an invitation to have a drink.

The disagreeable feeling that follows when a fly steps upon you is due to the fact that the frequent appearance of the fly in a base ball field necessitates the worship spilles in the shortstop.

A man in Mississippi has a beard over six feet in length. Americans have the reputation of being restlessly energetic, and here is a striking example. What business has a man wasting six feet of good hair when thousands of women are positively pining to death for new switches.

A Pennsylvania man tried to secure a patent for producing cool weather by insulating all the thermometers in his water at the commencement of a hot spell, but he has given up his noble and charitable work because the Patent Office refused to grant him perpetuities.

It is very probable that a woman may occasionally forget that her husband does not like to be back-combed at dinners, but when she forgets to see how her back hair looks after she has put on her bonnet, she is no longer interested in earthly affairs.

A Cincinnati milkman who was arrested for watering his milk out-third is highly indignant. He has been in the habit of putting in half water, but, troubled by conscience, he had reduced the quantity to one-third as stated.

In Japan, according to a newspaper correspondent, a man introduces his betrothed as "my fool of a wife." The correspondent does not inform us with regard to what the wife does to the husband when she gets him home and alone.

The young lady who, while taking her morning bath among the murmuring waviets of the shore in the shoals of our summer resorts, steps upon a crab is forced to the conclusion that the act of catching on is not wholly confined to the dude of the period.

Young man to messenger boy—What did the young lady say when you gave her the flowers? Boy—She said, "Oh, you're the new man with an ulster on the porch with her if he didn't want some for a button hole bouquet.

He was an artist courting the daughter of a sea Captain. While he was whispering soft nothings in her ear in the parlor, a friend of the family was telling the rest of the ancient mariner in a neighboring room, "Cast off that painter!" But she explained that her father often used nautical phrases in his sleep, and the engagement proceeded to a finish.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE
Gives Satisfaction.

Dr. S. Nichols, Bellows Falls, Vt., says: "I have used it and it gives good satisfaction."

"Hanging is too good for you," said a Judge to a condemned man, "and, therefore, I replied the prisoner frankly; "and if you can suggest anything else, Judge, you can't do it too quickly."

The tonic and alterative properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla are best adapted to require the specious and of any exaggerated or fictitious certificate. The genuine of the marvelous cures effected by the preparation are to-day living in every city and hamlet in the land.

"Rum is a curse and must cut," snorted a frenzied temperance orator. "I really said a thick voice near the door, "down with it."

"Yes, we had quite a scullation; pretty good, two, most of it. But there was one dish that I couldn't make out what it was. It was like Roman cement, all ready mixed for building purposes, and it tasted like shoe-pegs! Oh, that was chocolate ice cream."

A soft, silky mustache is imported to the ruin by the use of Gloss's Sulphur Soap. Sold by druggists. Mailed for 50 cents by Gloss & Co., 48 Bank street, N. J. It is also especially useful as a wash for the hair, and for all cutaneous and scalp troubles.

"Give the new boarder whatever he wants," says an experienced country shark, "and you will get his money. He will eat cucumbers and milk and green apples and boiled pork and pickles, and then he will send for a doctor, and go without eating for a week, and all the time his board bill is going on."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are teething. It relieves the pain, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty cents a bottle.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and turns prematurely gray, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will preserve the hair in all its luxuriance and beauty to a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mrs. Mary Lee, of Delaware, Ill., "but after using only a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy. Former expressed with gratifying results."

Frederick P. Coggeshall, Rockville, Ct., Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Some six or seven years ago my wife had a severe illness, in consequence of which she became almost entirely bald, and was compelled to wear a wig. Her humiliation over the loss of her hair, during three years, had a great effect upon her health. Her hair started all over her head, and is now from two to three inches long, and growing freely. The result is beyond gratifying, proof of the merit of your admirable preparation."

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS SOCIETY.

No. 1434 R. I. Avenue, N. W.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4, 1887.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Head, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are of vital importance to every member in the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask your father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness!"

Next November will be one hundred years since Richard Allen and his companions left St. George's M. E. Church, in the city of Philadelphia, (1787) and the Bishops of the semi-annual meeting adopted the following Preamble and Resolutions:

"Whereas, at a special session of the Bishops, held at the Union Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because the colored people belonging to the African Methodist Society of Philadelphia convened together in order to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of divers of the members of the Methodist Church, and from a disposition manifested to be a nuisance in the house of worship, and were pulled off the seats, while they were in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the gallery, or to the pews allotted to the M. E. Church Disciplines;)

And Whereas: This is the case in the city of Baltimore, and the colored people in the United States, and we know of none that is the independence of Africa in the world; if we except the Republic of the Hallions under Toussaint, the Governor of Hayti, and Gen. Bradley. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo, where they went and established a free, allies, loose, Papuco and others were to Liberia, Africa, and others went to Sierra Leone, and others to their act was manhood, freedom, and manhood christianity. We must have a name, and we must obtain a name as a republic we have—all therefore recognize—Ethiopia—Ethiopians—as our name. We must have a name as a republic we have—all therefore recognize—Ethiopia—Ethiopians—as our name. We must have a name as a republic we have—all therefore recognize—Ethiopia—Ethiopians—as our name.

Resolved, first, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church recommend to the Annual Conference in that month be hereafter fixed, to commemorate the one hundredth year of African Methodism in America; and

That services be held at all our churches throughout the connection, and that such order of exercises to be fixed by each Conference, quarterly conference, and preacher, and that a general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Resolved, second, As our publishing interest has long and justly been in debt, bar indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches throughout the connection, to be appropriated to assist in the paying off of debts now resting on our Publishing Interest.

Adopted.

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 11, 1887.

THE Secretary of Education has issued his outline for Endowment Day work. It will require thought and work to realize his hopes.

CHURCH troubles usually grow out of misunderstandings. As a rule all parties see after things settle down how easily they could have been settled earlier.

It appears that $4,000 to $6,000 is the measure of our connection in an annual simultaneous action. No department management somes short of the $4,000; none goes over the $6,000.

THE PEOPLE'S ADVOCATE very aptly suggests that Bishop Wayman might have found other names for the triplets that he baptised in Atlantic City than the names of our United States Presidents and political candidates. He might have called them Richard Allen, etc., but no other three names would probably have pleased the Bishop just at that moment.

YOUNG MEN will be old men after awhile; much sooner than seems to be realised in many cases. The one great accomplishment sought to be reached by every well-advised adult is, after personal success, to make the way to success easier for the next generation. It is a little more than a large majority ever succeed in doing; hence the slow progress of humanity.

IT MAY seem heroic for the governor of Ohio, in the exuberancy of a free nation, to compare the President of the United States to "a whipped specie!," but those who respect government and appreciate the highest objects of its existence, the governor of Ohio must appear to be acting in bad taste. Such degradations of name of the chief officer of the nation is but sowing the seeds of anarchy.

THE ESCAPE of one of the Chicago boodlers from the sheriff while allowed to take a bath after condemnation to three years' imprisonment, does not reflect great credit upon that officer. But that Mefarlane fraud it necessary to meet justice after his successful trip to Canada suggests that it will be well hereafter for our intended emigrants to that good country to examine their standing on that side before moving.

IT is designed that the centennial of local African Methodism, i. e., African Methodism in Philadelphia, shall be not only a day of jubilation, but also a day of service. The financial results of the day are to be appropriated to the discharge of the indebtedness that has so long hung as a cloud over this department. It will not require much money from each charge to accomplish this and, in addition, place the department upon a living basis.

SIX HUNDRED miles from home, August 2d, the news reached the editor of the brutal, outrageous murder of Justice W. S. Derr, of Camden, N. J. Squire Derr was a very useful member and officer of our church in Camden. He has been for several years Justice of the Peace. He had had before him the case of a husband and wife, between whom there were disagreeable relations. The justice had ordered the man to pay a certain weekly stipend to support his family. Later a new quarrel broke out between the man and woman. The latter appealed to Esquire Derr. The husband followed her and opened a quarrel in the office. The Esquire remonstrated with him, whereupon he fired two shots into his wife and one into Brother Derr, then walked out and put the fourth shot into his own brain. All three died almost instantly. The A. M. E. Church has lost a worthy, loyal and valuable member. Esquire Derr leaves an orphan son. It had been but a little more than forty-eight hours since the editor and Esquire Derr had had a half hour's conversation, in which the subject of death came up accidentally.

WE HAVE received a letter from one outside of our connection implying that our Church is gathering money from the South to expend in the North. There is no line in our Church that makes all the territory so nephilosophically called the South a distinct work But the unfortunate impression has been made that the educational work of our Church is what is just as nephilosophically called the North is supported largely by money collected in the South. The fact is that the three 1886, three years, our educational department has probably not exceeded of such money in such way more than $1,800, or $600 per year. These figures include moneys received from all States in slavery when emancipation was declared. This statement is made that the dear friends outside of our Church and within it may hold up on this cry.

If an educational department is maintained in the Church, the 25 per cent. should be no longer a consideration after 1881 It is not this that has prevented the progress of our work, in fact, but the talk over it has injured us If our Church is wise it will arrange for the educational department to negotiate the founding of schools to be called Church schools and will order no eyes collected for educational purposes by the ministers and other agents to be applied to the Lincoln or Wilberforce work in the conference territory to which those agents belong. This will end this discussion of our Church's (so-called) inconsistency on this subject. The success of educational activity among us is paramount to everything excepting the growth of true manhood by the grace of God and the enjoyment of the benefit of the atonement. Whatever, therefore, prevents our best conscientious convictions in educational matters must be removed; the twenty-five per cent. is soon an obstacle; it must be removed. A greater obstacle, however, is the attempt to carry needs more than we are able to do. Will this obstacle be removed also! It should be. If all our educational secretaries would put forth such exertions as are exercised by the Secretary of the First District, much not smaller more largely! They make few reports through the HECORDER. They grow weaker yearly to calling the attention of the connection through the RECORDER as to their duty. They do not see the paper in their work; will they not avail themselves of it? We hear so little of the Third District that we wonder if it has given up the struggle. The field is ours, brethren; shall we hold it, or miserably succumb to lassitude and discouragement! There is no educational district that can not raise $5,000 with perfect ease.

BISHOP ALLEN.

As we approach the time for celebrating the centennial of the assertion of the spirit of African Methodism, the life and character of Richard Allen must be studied more and more important study.

There are many among us who do not know that there is a book describing the early life of this remarkable man, written by another part of our work and give him the best appointment in the conference. He wouldn't dare do it; the brethren would object so strongly." A great mistake. Our Bishops dare do it and do do it, but brethren of one section complain about as strongly as those of any other section do. There are instances illustrating this all over our connection. There are prominent churches that are seldom filled by other than transfers; for many years Sullivan street, N. Y.; Wylie street, Pittsburgh; Quinn Chapel, Chicago; at present St Paul, St. Louis; Bethel, Wilmington, Del.; Union Church, Philadelphia; Charles street, Boston; Bloomingston, Ill.; Harrisburg, Pa. But these are only a few of the many churches that are supplied by transfer at present and of those that have been so supplied. The attempt to show that our Bishops act differently respecting transferring ministers from any section from what they set in any other section must fall, because it has no foundation in truth. The attempt to impose this misrepresentation upon our credulous laymen and the sisters who cannot know much about the matter is unworthy of the brethren who engage in it. Again, it is said that ministers transferred to certain sections of our work are always give big appointments.

If those who try to make our people believe this wish to be consistent with things as they exist, they must change this language. If they believe themselves consistent, let them seek light, the former, one of the most eminent temperance men in the United States, professor of anatomy in the Northwestern University), Dr. J. H. On Wednesday morning Bishop Brown called conference to order. The most of the time was spent in preaching. Rev. Reynolds was made Recording Secretary; Rev. D. H. Newton, Missionary Secretary, and the widow of the late Rev J. W. Taylor, Engrossing Secretary.

The Bishop had circulated his bulletin of committees and programme of exercises some days previously; so that the organization proceeded into a few minutes I have rarely seen a conference organized in so short a time. In the afternoon the missionary sermon was preached by Rev. C. S. Jacobs. The sermon was unpretentious, preached by an unpretentious preacher; yet it was not without good effect. Again, the collection was not what we could have wished, in closing the meeting when it was ended, without lacking a business session to-day. Rev. Dr. Rev. J. M Henderson, who occasionally writes us valuable articles for the RECORDER, preached the educational sermon. He is a vigorous thinker, a close reasoner and a promising scholar. Being obliged to write editorials, I could not attend the service that he conducted; but I heard him preach nine years ago. He was then more than an ordinary preacher then. I met here my young friend, Rev. W. H Foster, who should be a graduate of Howard University, having completed the theological course there, but who is a graduate of Wilberforce University, if not so noted, still a very useful school, a school of which the Rev. Daniel Payne, the Nestor of the Methodist Episcopal Church has said, "I was at Yale last week, and I was at Wilberforce last week. I am not quite sure that this University is not doing more and better work for the human race than Yale." If Z. Roberts is also an old conference man, sanctified health. Rev. R. J. M. Long, formerly of the New England Conference, has been transferred here. Welcome up with the country." Messrs. Joseph Williams, A. W. Pine, W. H. Jones, and many others former Wilberforce students are living in and near Chicago. Dr. Arnett arrived here the night. Business with the Publishing Department opened this morning. I close my writing to enter upon the conference duties of the second day.

THE GREAT CENTENNIAL OF AFRICAN METHODISM.

In the month of September next the African people in commemoration of the sublime series of events leading up to the establishment of the great Republic will be held. The people and government of the United States in a manner worthy the foremost nation of the earth. This is proposed as a simple tribute of patriotism, of loving admiration for a great Providential event. Tens of thousands of dollars will be voluntarily given as expressive of these event. There are no appropriations given for this celebration by either city or State. It is to be a purely voluntary patriotic jubilee

GRADUATION AT MT. PLEASANT, IOWA.

BY REV. A. W BUCKLEY.

MAY 31st I started to Mount Pleasant, Iowa; I spent that night with Bro. Jas. Madison, at Sedalia. Though I arrived there late, I was kindly received and well entertained. Leaving next morning, I met Rev. A. A. Gilbert at the depot. He reports his work, Odessa, in good condition. Sedalia should receive her share from our conference. That energetic people should not be allowed to fail. Pray for her. I leave Sedalia at noon. Rev. G. W. Gaines, pastor at Hannibal, met me at the depot at 5 P M, took me to his lodgings and entertained me nicely. By his appointment I preached a night. He is an able minister and infuses prophet life into the people. Doubtless the annual conference in the fall will be well provided for at Hannibal. At 7 A M next day I reached Mt. Pleasant, where I had spent some of my early ministerial days. Here I met my mother-in-law, Mrs. M. Fidler, whose daughter, Miss Emma M. Fidler, was my fiancee. Mt Pleasant has always had mixed schools. Every year colored youth are graduated from here. Mr. Fidler has raised a family of eight children here, having come here had set his wife and children well with honest clothing. Heavier matter and temperance principles were not neglected. Nothing to mar the pleasure of the trip.

The fields from Pittsburg to Chicago are blasted with the incessant dry weather of many weeks Many corn fields look as if they could not yield effective broiler per acre. The fires from locomotives set fire to the railroad, have consumed fences, grass fields and forests to many places. Arrived in Chicago, the conference and other brethren were given an entertainment at St. Paul Church, Rev. H. Bonfoy, pastor. There many old friends, formerly of Wilberforce, were present, some assisting to make the ely entertainment. The address of welcome was made by Hon. Alexander Clark. Present were, among others, Drs. Williams and Wesley, medical and surgical, respectively the former, one of the most eminent temperance men in the United States, professor of anatomy in the Northwestern University), Dr. J. H. Now, then, the coopertenant of this national centennial is the one hundredth year since the organization of the first fully guided man, Richard Allen, with a few persons, left St. George's Methodist Episcopal Church, in the same city, and set up a standard of independent Christian organization that should be free from outside control. Bill Johnson, a stage robber, now languishing in an Idaho jail, speaks despondently of the business as follows: "Since after stage has been held up without getting a nickel, and it seems as though all the money in the country was in the hands of the bankers, the railroad managers or the express companies."

A Tennessee newspaper contains the following: "We are rejoiced to know that J. C. He is a gentleman of the old school and knows a good piece of plank when he sees it."

Two skeletons dug up several months ago in a cave in Union county, Illinois, appear to belong to the oldest race of which any record exists. These prehistoric individuals were fully contemporary with the mammoth, and inhabited the country before the great ice age. They were short and thick set, with broad shoulders, low foreheads and narrow head, with an extremely low forehead.

The International Institute of Statistics has just had a convention in Rome and one of the most interesting points established is that the average death rate in Europe has been very much reduced during the past century. People are living longer and are more healthy than they were one hundred years ago and the happy result is attributed to the progress of the medical science, and especially to the enormous increase in measures that have been adopted everywhere.—Boston Budget.

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 15, 1887.

THE YELLOW fever still continues at Key West, Fla., but has not extended beyond there.

THE SCHOOLS of our Church will all open within the next two months. It is to the interest of every minister to assist in making the opening large.

THERE is considerable uneasiness in the money markets now. Some wise men think that there may be an extraordinary financial pressure in this country next fall and winter.

IF ANY ONE of our readers has lost a friend, otherwise than by death, we advise him not to give up searching for him till things is restored. Lost persons in this great city come and go from nearly every town he has known.

THE ELECTION of delegates to the General Conference requires much care. In the Iowa Conference it transpires that three separate churches, not connected as a circuit, all united in choosing the same delegate to represent them in the ecclesiastical college.

WE ARE GETTING into our connection a splendid class of young men; as may be seen apparent everywhere. The ambition of these young men is equal to that of their fathers. Their piety being equal, it is required that they be as wise in their day and generation.

IF ANY ONE of our readers has died in his city and wanted to see the younger men go. No one who has attended the General Conference since 1868 can forget William Bradwell. He was well beloved by all his acquaintances. Like our late Bishop of blessed memory, he was stern, positive and reliable. In his departure a very useful minister has left us. The solemn question comes to those whom he has left, "Shall we be sufficient for these things?" Rev. Bradwell was the brother of Rev. C. L. Bradwell, ex-traveling agent for the Book Concern.

NO OTHER subject is emphasized in Bishop Brown's conferences more than the centennial of African Methodism. Every minister is instructed to prepare for a rousing jubilee, and what makes it doubly interesting to this department is the fact that the Bishop lays quite as much stress on relieving the Book Concern from its indebtedness as upon the necessity of rejoicing and thanksgiving. The early fall conferences may do much towards making the centennial successful. There will be twenty or more conferences held after the close of November. Will the Bishops and pastors think and act enthusiastically with reference to the centennial exercises and the centennial relief for the Publishing House?

IT is reasonable to believe that a strong effort made now will relieve the Church from all future care for the work of this department further than to throw into its hands all the business created in the connection, instead of helping to support so many other publishing houses, as we are doing now. We expect all who are in sympathy with the connection to aid in making the centennial fund at least $10,000.

THE ARTICLE of Dr. Mitchell's is ideal in spirit and may be kindly answered. The reference of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER to the Fifth District (the Fourth was intended) related to the facts that said Fourth District must have raised mere money in the redemment effort than has been reported, is said to have a school in active within its boundaries, and said school seems not to have any place in the Secretary's report, made the inference that educational moneys raised in the Fourth District did not find their way into the treasury appointed for it by the General Conference, but did possibly find its way to the school in its own territory. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER, having noticed that our conference in said Fourth District had voted that the moneys in the delegates of their youthful conference in 1884.

A FEW DAYS ago it was thought that M. Boulanger and M. Ferry, two of the most prominent citizens of France, were coming together in deadly combat to settle differences by "the code," but, fortunately, the danger seems past and the great champion of France's honor before the German empire remains as popular as ever. It is a matter of congratulation that appeal to "the code" is thus shown not to be the only means of settling personal outrage even in impetuous France.

IF SEVERAL churches not united in one circuit may be represented in an electoral college by one and the same man, why may not all the churches of a given conference authorize a single individual to represent them, thus saving expense? Of course he would cast all the votes for himself. So would the delegate who represents two or more churches be likely to do. To admit a delegate thus elected to the General Conference would be to establish a precedent calculated to subvert the spirit of the law relative to lay representation.

AN INTERESTING episode in the Iowa Conference was the presentation of a beautiful gold headed cane by D. H. Williams, M. D., to Right Rev. John M. Brown, as an instance of the Doctor's high appreciation of the Bishop. The presentation speech was very neat and elequent. The Bishop made an appropriate response in acknowledgement of the Doctor's generous consideration of himself, saying, in the future when the rheumatism seizes his frame, he will lean upon the physician's cane, hoping, by pleasant recollections of the Doctor, to draw some relief. Brief addresses were made by Drs. B. T. Tanner and B. F. Lee.

OUR OF the regular correspondents to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER writes that he will publish certain facts in the Southern Recorder if they are not published in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, but he is probably mistaken. While the two papers enter into controversy, occasionally, editor Turner and editor Lee understand one another. The Southern Recorder will no sooner publish an unreasonable hint at wrestling division in the A. M. E. Church than will the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Both talk will find no place in any paper edited by a loyal AFRICAN Methodist preacher. There can be found no cause for the publication of such thoughts. The organ of the Church will not be their medium. If there were any grave reasons for their dissemination the case would be quite different.

THE DEATH of Rev. William Bradwell, of the Alabama Conference, is announced in the Southern Recorder. Brother Bradwell has been a faithful minister in our Church. He has done much work in Alabama. He was brave and strong, true and good, cheerful and hopeful. In the late session of his conference, when delegates to the General Conference were being elected, he said he did not wish to go; he had had his day and wanted to see the younger men go. No one who has attended the General Conference since 1868 can forget William Bradwell. He was well beloved by all his acquaintances. Like our late Bishop of blessed memory, he was stern, positive and reliable. In his departure a very useful minister has left us. The solemn question comes to those whom he has left, "Shall we be sufficient for these things?" Rev. Bradwell was the brother of Rev. C. L. Bradwell, ex-traveling agent for the Book Concern.

mind an interesting occurrence in the late probation campaign in Texas: At a great mass-meeting—a meeting of twenty or thirty thousand, who, though they drank no strong drink, "barbecued" nearly three quarters of a hundred sheep and bullocks, Senator Reagan being chairman of the day and our own Bishop Turner chief orator of the day, Mr. Reagan introduced Bishop Turner as "the most popular orator in the prohibition field." This brought the curl of derision to the chief editor of the town, who declared the only thing lacking to make him the greatest of all the race that Davis and Reagan had so stoutly and bravely held in bondage as the most inferior of all, was for Mr. Davis himself to endorse Mr. Reagan's statement that Bishop Turner is the lion prohibition orator. May it not be that this bit of sweetened acrimony has reached the ears of the ex-chieftain and impelled him to say that he cannot favor prohibition? If his disfavor proves as fruitless as did his disfavor of abolishing slavery, good men will rejoice.

THE ADDRESS of the presiding Bishop and the Iowa Conference to the probationers and full members received was one of the most thoughtful and correct that could be given. He dealt long upon the all-important subject of the marriage relation, and came down on bigamy with unmerciful force. Among other things he remarked that no Bishop in our Church would allow a minister to exercise the pastoral functions who had married a divorced woman. This should be the height of our episcopacy on this subject; but what about pastors who have more wives living than the law allows? Deuhlhus the Bishop would discontinue these for the sake of relieving the Church of scandal? This question seems to remain somewhat unsettled.

THE idea that after a divorced remarried minister has suffered reputation four years he may be duly received and placed in the acting pastorate of our Church, the same as when expelled for other sin, appears to find a small place among our chief pastors. The subject is somewhat delicate, owing to several important historical facts, but ought not on this account to be ignored by our General Conference and our higher councils. It is reasonable to infer that this subject will be one of the leading questions of the Iowa Conference. Law declares that the only society of the Iowa Conference, Aug 10th, was a merely disorganizing, illegal, theological class would gain much from it. Elder Law stands among the first in the conference in oratory.

—Lawyer Alexander Clark, "of Muscatine," is one of the most illustrious examples of business success that the race has to present. Besides certificates of admission to practice at the bar for this act, the orator, the historian, the philosopher, holy woman and leading Bishop will rise up and call him blessed.

It is a mark of logical and providential development that great truths and great events press upon all sides for expression; just as you will find when one man says a great truth, many others were just about to say it; or when a great subject comes before a conference, many people, many others were preparing to do the same thing. Hence it was not alone the spirit of his gifts; but what makes them permanent is the fact that they were developed. Of course the history is to be immortal, with no short principle, no sense and no spirit of local interference, be it sure to find a level that will bring to him a life of desperately and wretchedness, constantly intensified by advancing years. There is nothing which adds so much to the beauty and power of a man as a good moral character. It is the basis of confidence, his life. It dignifies him in every station of life. It adds him in every condition and glorifies him in every period of time. Such a character is to be desired before all else on earth. It makes a man free from anxiety, and gives him a peace that passeth all understanding. Day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year, he is growing in favor with God and man, and when he comes to the end of his days he is ripe for heaven. Such a character is to be desired before all else on earth. It makes a man free from anxiety, and gives him a peace that passeth all understanding. Day after day, week after week, month after month, year after year, he is growing in favor with God and man, and when he comes to the end of his days he is ripe for heaven.

—Rev. J. Morris, M.A., was received in the Iowa Conference, transferred from the Virginia Conference. He is stationed at Minneapolis, Minn.

—Rev. W. J. Johnson has had another rally at Wilson Hills, Cincinnati, realizing nearly $400. He thinks they will clear the church of debt next fall. That is success.

—Rev. W. R. Alexander, though for over four years affected by almost nervous debility, is still a faithful minister, a moving machine, a cultivator and a road-sarpeer. It is said these impediments have points of particular merit: the road scraper is proposed to be worked, including the driving of the team, by the man. The corn planter is intended to plant two rows at a time, without any previous lining or shocking, leaving the hills in orderly checks. Thus far these implements are still in model. The inventor is developing excellent debating qualities. The veterans Hall, Trevan, Lee, Decker, Fairfield and Scott by no man to take their crown. It is a question, indeed, whether they will not add to the wreathedness, it is said that Thomas Bagnall, Esq., of Indianapolis, Ind., has consented to write a history of the Iowa Conference, and the publication of the same at the close of the work. The chief characters in the drama of Iowa Methodism will be Taylor, Wade and Higgins are prominent ministers. The more advanced readers remember many years ago the doctors of the Lord; as Revs. Peterson, Wright, Knight, Knight, Hamilton, Holly, Reed, T. W. Henderson, Knight, Thompson, Brown and Barr. Manager's Notes.

What we must say

now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, on account of the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Instalment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for this purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will not for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and turns prematurely grey, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will preserve the hair in all its luxuriance and beauty to a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Bishop, of Bishop, Texas, "but after using only half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy. I cannot express the gratitude I feel."

Frederick P. Coggeshall, Rockwell's, 51 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Some six or seven years ago I became bald, and, in consequence of which, I was induced to use Ayer's Hair Vigor. I soon had a new growth of hair, and have used it ever since. Ayer's Hair Vigor is the best dressing for the hair I have ever used. The result is a fine, healthy growth of the most beautiful hair started all over her head. The hair is now from two to four inches long, and growing freely. The result is a most gratifying proof of the merit of your admirable preparation."

PHILADELPHIA, AUGUST 25, 1887.

TRUTH is not only stranger than fiction, but it is better than fiction. There is one truth of our times that this superior worth is not known. Truth is the corner-stone of civilization, the bulwark of society.

PATIENCE and considerateness will save much from many lecerizable difficulties. Our Church law is not exceedingly complex. Failures in the practical enforcement of our chiefs ought to secure consistent execution of every law made by our last General Conference.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, Cleveland, O., held memorial services relative to Bishop Shorter on July 31. Memorial resolutions have also been passed at St. Vernon, O., and at Birmingham, Ala. At Newport, Ark., elaborate memorial services have been held. The good and true man had a friend in nearly every acquaintance

IT seems to be difficult to tell just where our people stand as a people. The great South is closing up against as more and more. In the great North opposing to no more and more! We look up: the heavens smile. We look down, the earth answers to our impressions and our investigations just as they do to any other minds. We are doing just about like other people around us.

AT NO PERIOD in the railroad history of our country has there been a greater number of up-rolling accidents than the present. One hardly has time to suppose the coolness of one horrid story of death and destruction until another blood-curdler is told. Last week in the West, this week in the East.

In God judging and punishing the Nation through these calamities for its sins and public corruption? If so, it must be said of all, "The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

WE are going the rounds of the colored press the remark of the Manager of this paper, that seven to nine hundred dollars per month is required to meet the expenses of his business. This is astonishing if quoted by some with surprise, and the remark that a good many of the colored papers do not receive that amount for a year. This we confess is a little surprising to us. How any paper can be made out of less than seventy-five dollars per month, that has any circulation, is a mystery, and none so still when we remember that they are rated at $1.50 to $2.00 per year, the same as this paper. Our composition, done at the lowest possible rate, costs seldom less than $1,700. Our paper, bought directly from the mill in lots of six to seven hundred pounds, costs, nevertheless nearly as much more. Add to these two chief items, the pressework and mailing, and you will see how nearly four hundred dollars per month is required for the paper alone. Still we are encouraged to believe that when our people, generally, that the sheriff will have no business here for some time to come.

Just now we have frequent hints and allusions to a possible or desirable union between the old "bis oris" Protestant Episcopal Church and our own. No one conversant with facts abroad can doubt that there are both Bishops and clergy of that communion who desire to have fellowship in some way with the A. M. E. Church. In view of the prevalent spirit of caste in that Church, as in most others composed almost entirely of white people, it is difficult to see just what is the ground of this desire. Be it what it may, we can say to them in all good conscience that they can find many things that would give them far less trouble than organic connection with the A. M. E. Church, even as so "sects."

There is also a small but very respectable number of our ministers who are probably inclined to favor such relation to the old Church or would secure at least recognition and hearty fraternal sympathy between the two bodies. Looked at from a "worldly" point of view, it would appear to be "a good thing" if something of the kind could be done. But, practically, how can it be? Echo answers "how?" There is, however, no such intolerant feeling on the subject as the Southern Recorder of that week intimates. There isn't a spark of danger that any one, even a bold open advocate of union with the Protestant Episcopal or any other church, would be martyred therefor. Dogma and not nature was the cause of ripple on the surface in '83. The same dogma's suggested, viz., a perpetual priesthood and apostolic succession will create a bigger ripple every time they may be propounded among us.

THE PARIA of colored newspaper men and professionals in the South are anything but encouraging. Is it because they are injurious to society that they are a nuisance? Were this true of them, it could be proven true of others, also; but it is not true. The fact is, the ledicerities of colored editors are not numerous nor serious, but our friends at the other race do not propose that colored editors shall say anything concerning them, excepting their good acts and qualities, though the vilest things that can be said of our people are said by their papers. This is unjust. There is much to be written that will do more good than the thoughts to which they object, but men do not enjoy unreasonable disinsinuation. Editor Duke is said to have been driven from Montgomery for publishing what was regarded by Caucasian citizens as out of his line, and Principal Council has been forced to resign the principalship of the Huntsville Normal School because he demanded his rights on the cars. Georgia has made it a penal offence for a teacher to instruct children of the two races together. Slowly the soil is being drawn from under the "New South." The tendency of the white men of the North and South seems to be to leave this matter to the States; only here and there a democrat. Never has the condition of our people in the South—indeed, in the whole country—been more perilous then now.

Is our condition hopeless? No, but it is not very assuring. There is a point in the way of overcoming the difficulty. It is not by the ordinary methods of men; it is by the acquisition of moral excellence. The power gained thus are threefold: the individual is made more worthy, this worthiness overcomes the prejudices of others and, at the same time, insures the protection of heaven. By the popular methods of reaching security it is clear that we shall not succeed.

THE PROPOSED UNION.

As the coming General Conference approaches the question sometimes occurs: What is the status of the proceedings looking to union of the A. M. E. and A. M. E. Zion Churches? So far as we are able to answer such a question, we can only say we do not know. Three years ago there was, beyond dispute, a considerable amount of enthusiasm on both sides in favor of the consolidation of the two great elevation on the outside of the shoe, appears to serve in complementary to aid the great trains to steal up the freezing mountains and shun the mocking steam. The late below sad the green trimming of the mountain side render the scene exceedingly picturesque. There is a horse-shoe bend, and it is this that is to have especial attention here, that is not so elevating and inspiring to contemplate. It is the bend that the world is making to the horse-shoe, amounting to appreciation but little less than beatification. If the horse-shoe does not serve in thousands of cases all that the idols of the beathen do, its existence one is hard to understand. If its frequent use is not in violation of both the word and spirit of the second commandment, it is poorly manufactured. Being such, it is the more outrageous because it reduces the mind to worship to such a degraded type. In millions of houses there are more horseshoes than Bibles placed about and the worn, rusty circle of a half or whole shoe is the object of more immediate reverence and consultation than is the living God. The practice is a disgrace to our civilization and a mocking of our religion. The "bend" is always degrading. There are many persons who worship at the shrine of a donkey's coat off shoe with all the ardor and faith that characterizes the services of a Mohammedan device, who claim that there is "nothing in it."

THE TRANSFER SYSTEM.

It is the duty of every member of our connections to protest the Church against all laws and usages that are made against negligers without. Our transfer system is not made an occasion for unfair treatment of or unkind discrimination against any conference, member or minister. It is not in our Church only, but in all those who pastorate by intinct methods, there is more or less unpleasantness caused by the transfer supply system. The people and the preachers are usually pretty well satisfied. The greater complaint comes from the ministry. Transfers are not the subjects of attack when appointed to very poor work, but only when appointed to large charges. Many of our Bishops are severe in respect to these appointments, notwithstanding their judgment is overruled with as much godliness as in respect to other classes of appointments. Nevertheless, the appointments are probably supplied by transfers more frequently than our smaller ones all over the connection; because of the natural unsettled condition of congregations, the ecclesiastical competition and superior intellectual development in large cities. The churches of Boston, New Bedford, Providence, First Church; New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Camden, Wilmington, Del.; Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Washington, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Richmond, Wilmington, N. C.; Columbia, Charleston, Augusta, Macon, Savannah, Jacksonville, Vicksburg, Natchez, Montgomery, Mobile, Selma, Memphis, Nashville, Nashville, Atlanta, Galveston, Austin, Waco, San Antonio, Hot Springs, St. Louis Leavenworth, Des Moines, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Louisville and Lexington are places to be served by transferred ministers often. The reverse is not the case in these stations. If any minister will question our Bishops on this subject they can be satisfied that no ill is intended to be done in this exercise of their episcopal powers. If they will do, do not some disinterested persons inquire of the people of those cities if they will find that in the greater number of cases they do not regard the practice as an oppression. For do the people, as a rule, object to these ministers because they are transfers. In many cases they are quite as urgent upon the Bishops to send them certain transferred ministers as the Bishops are to appoint such ministers. Nor will our Bishops hesitate to transfer properly prepared ministers from any given section of our work to any other given section. Nor will the people of a church of any section complain against any adequate pastor, simply because of the section whence he has come. Some foolish members may, but an able, supporting majority will not. All that is necessary in the ordinary are unfair, unjust, mischievous and misleading. It is comparatively easy to get any one section to pose itself as a martyr to the whole Church, but there is no martyrdom necessary for its or righteousness in it. There is no Bishop in our Church who will hesitate a moment to transfer a minister from Florida to Pennsylvania, and appoint him to Wylie Avenue, Pittsburgh, or Bethel, Philadelphia, when he sees this to be his duty. While it would hurt some ministers, just as a scooter transfer between the same two places would do on the other side, there would be no trouble. The Bishop would no sooner have to "track down" in the one case than in the other. Our Bishops may depend upon the loyalty and good sense of the masses of our ministry everywhere and all the while. So far as the people of Bethel Church, Philadelphia, or other large churches are concerned, they would, in many cases, be too glad of such changes.

THE HORSE-SHOE BEND.

All Americans know that this term designates a beautiful curve in the Pennsylvania Railroad a few miles west of Altoona, as the road ascends the mountains. When a train is rounding this curve, persons can look out of the window of one car and see other cars of the same own train running almost parallel with theirs, but in different directions; hence the name horse-shoe. One never ascends the Alleghanies by this graceful curve, observing the reliability of the builders of it, the boldness of genius and the gorgeousness of nature, so often that he will not look out for the curve every time he passes that way. Nor will his observation ever result in only such feelings and thoughts as characterized former observations of the same phenomena. The curve is a beautiful object lesson ever leading to good. The great chasm below, between the sides of the curve heritage and asylum in the great old Church. It is plain enough to the majority that this improper firing is, though not so intentionally, simply giving away a great negro cause, under Christ, to the negro's enemies. That same majority will hold to itself, for it is the A. M. E. Church. It is the A. M. E. Church now in a fuller, larger sense as now related than it could otherwise be but in its present constituent relation. It is as useless as it is wrong to ask the organ of the Church to publish these wrong leaders. Every wrong in the connection can be corrected in the connection. Everyone of these writers is supposed to be responsible for his share of the wrong.

—The Hon Frederick Douglass arrived last week from his long sojourn in Europe. He tells the New York reporters that he has enjoyed the travel greatly and that he has been received everywhere in Europe cordially, and treated with much personal consideration. There has been no slavebolding in Europe for many years, and that is the element of difference in the good manners of the people there and the gross, ill manners of Americans toward men of African descent.

THE CENTENNIAL OF AFRICAN METHODISM.

BY REV. L. J. COPPIN.

In the midst of preparation for the General Conferences, which is indeed a great undertaking, it is well for us to take a halt long enough to take into consideration the approaching event, namely, that November, 1887, marks the centennial of our Church? It was in November, 1787, that fathers assembled in Philadelphia to consider certain evils that they were laboring under. This gave rise to what is the African Methodist Episcopal Church of America. This was the germ, the original seed that became a mighty tree. Allen, Tapsico, Clayton, Durham, Dougherty, Cornish and Quinn were the reborers with them were building better than they knew. What do we know of the inheritance left us? How much do we love our fathers' Church? It is next November a shout should go up from the colored people in general, and from the members of the A. M. E. Church in particular. Indeed, it rather pity the man, a member of the Church, who would not feel like shouting on such occasion. Dr. Benjamin, our General Manager, thinks if he has half a chance he will jump a foot. The editor of the Recorder is trying to do his article is this: we should make the centennial of our Church a year of jubilee. The people of the United States of America should be made to know that the colored man owns an institution a hundred years old, and that we are proud of it. Anything less than a great demonstration will be exceedingly unworthy the occasion.

Let the cry be taken up and passed all along the line. There are many in the men and women who love the race, who love freedom and manhood, who love Christianity pure and undefiled, and who therefore love the principles upon which our Church was founded. These are not found in our Church alone; there are many outside of the Church and the race who rejoice in the success of the enterprise. But it is with us to set the ball in motion. Let every man and woman among us awake to the duty of the hour, and make the celebration one of the great historic events of the nineteenth century.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

STEARTON, ILL.

Everyone read of the terrible explosion of a magazine which came nigh racking this thrifty mining Illinois city about four weeks ago. When freed of the catastrophe, f bed no thought but I should ever see Streator, but scarcely had I landed in Chicago when Rev. T. A. Clark, pastor of our church at Pontiac and Gibson City, Ill., sent me and urged me to join him in camp-meeting services at Streator on the following Sunday. En route for the city Saturday, a car brakeman said, "Well, 'goes' you're going to the Streator camp-meeting?" On receiving an affirmative response, he said, "Well, I don't see how you can have a camp meeting there; they ain't no colored people in the town. I don't like Streator; it's a hard place, rough, rough; made up of all sorts, you know." This was not inspiring. I was startled from the train, on arriving, and rushed on the camp ground before I could recover my senses and forced to preach to a crowd that had swelled my coming to 1,000.

On Sunday I preached three times to large congregations, and three times to thousand. Many of them entered into soul-stirring with a manifest interest and soul-strengthening. A slight disturbance at the night service—talking only—was quelled by the sole Democrat in the city. Many persons had come miles to attend the services. I was informed that I was regarded as the disturbance by the leaders. Streator is a western "Pittsburg." Instead of being a rural center, was Hard-scratch. About twenty-two years ago, Rev. Ralph Flenner came from Ohio, representing a prejudice of Eastern capitalists, and founded the town. Being a spirit of the place, which numbers 15,000 citizens. He is the most remarkable man of this district in Congress.

The explosion of a few weeks ago is said to have done damage to the tune of one hundred thousand dollars. When I left Streator scores of buildings had not in utter ruin, presenting the appearance of the destructives work of a cyclone. Things in the case are remarkable: the first, that no fire occurred, and the second, that but one life was lost, which houses fell entirely in. The magazine was built of brick and of solid masonry. The concussion crushed nearly all the window panes in town and set the bells to ringing. Rev. W. H. Fischer is the most active colored man in Streator. He is a graduate of Oxford College, Ohio county and in Europe. I was kindly received by Mr. Fischer and the people of Streator appreciated Brother Clark's camp-meeting and aided him all they could.

GIBSON CITY, ILL.

By the appointment of Brother, many were misled relative to the time of the Illinois Conference, which should begin August 31st, instead of August 17th. The editor of the RECORDER was among the misled, and I premised Rev. J. Wesley Cooper, to spend Sunday, 14th, at Gibson City, Ill. But when the Illinois Conference would meet 13th, he still insisted that I should remain and hold the second quarterly conference for the pastor. I preached there twice; Sunday 14th, in the M. E. Church to a large audience in the open city park. Gibson is a beautiful little town, fast in our largest appropriating, temperance town with a population of about fifteen hundred. The Rev. Mr. Cooper is a graduate of Oxford. There he is a foundry and a canning establishment. The Methodist Episcopal there is a mine of coal beneath Gibson. They are a people of means.

Gibson has seven or eight churches. It was my fortune to meet five or six of them. Brother Cooper has a good, intelligent class of men, yet they remain joint heirs with the devil. The evil of this foolish practice is serious. These tiring Sunday services are a burden and a bore about the house, very often in seconded books and corners as well as over the doors, are drawing more less to a finality of the right sustained by the mission to be the representatives of a great Church had to be proved to the satisfaction of the people, for the authority and support we claimed to have received from the mother church did not seem to be so great when, after so great a conflict and wrong, no assistance was delegated to oppose the agitation. The absence of a missionary on the ground and the long delay of the Bishop of the Church sufficiently could only satisfy all concerned that this undertaking was a questionable scene,—a failure, therefore deserved no encouragement.

The visit of the Bishop and Secretary to us and to all these. They identified the interests in a manner that it never commanded both before the masses and their co-operators, and thereby greatly strengthened the ministeries, and after a thorough survey of the field, they laid a solid basis for security for all the future inalienable success.

It required simply that the mission should base itself identified through the person of the Bishop of the Church it represents to rally the masses and have them express their readiness to connect themselves with the Church. Since the departure of these brethren we have received into the Church about three hundred members, whom we found very much disorganized and scattered. They showed by their indebtedness was $432 when Rev. Clay began his labors, but after ten months' hard battling for money that debt has been cut down to $130, and the installation Monday night that it will be paid. Collection are paid up to January, 1889. Many of these people are poor, but they rallied with their leader and rejoiced with him at the healthful financial condition of the church. Many cities have Clay's administration every department of the church has been revived and the Bethel Church is alive and thriving in every department. Its membership is not large, but what it lacks as to membership it makes up in loyalty. The Sunday school is well organized and is increasing in interest and numbers. It is in charge of efficient officers and teachers and is destined to be a fruitful, prosperous and influential factor in the church. Rev. Clay has used his unstinting energy to build up every department of the church in which he has been placed to its membership, revived the church in which he has been placed to its indebtedness and placed it in good financial condition. Rev. Clay has won a large number of friends in our city and has demonstrated his fitness for the position he holds as pastor of the latter and has clearly shown his ability to build up a church. The members and friends of the church are a unit for Rev. Clay for another year, and will unanimously petition the conference for him to be sent back to this charge.

Memorial services in honor of the late Bishop Payne will be held next week at Bethel Church, Sunday, August 7th, at 3 P. M. Clay's address is "Samuel 38, 3, reading thus: "And the king said unto the servants, know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel?" for his text and paid a glowing tribute to the life and the history of the deceased. His discourse was well timed and impressive and brought tears to every eye. The effort was a great and good deeds of the deceased and showed how much he had done to elevate his race and to disseminate seeds of truth that would germinate and bear fruit unto eternal life. The discourse was pronounced by the people who are struggling against strong opposition to the elevation, moral and intellectual elevation of the race."

Church News.

Children's Day at Emanuel A. M. E. Church, Charleston, S. C., is said to have been "the most stimulating occasion attended for years."

J. Offer Dustin, of Bridgetown, Va., writes that the church at that place has long been waiting consolation, and with their pastor, Rev. H. F. Goynes, they hope to accomplish their purpose.

Mr. J. Cannon, superintendent of the Sunday school at New Haven, Conn., has sold his interest in the Church Home Shorter! We keenly feel the loss to the Church of Brother Cannon, a flower of the Church of Bishop Shorter's happy spirit has gone to a most timely place. Allen, Payne, Quinn, Reary, Dickerson and Cain. Good-bye, dear brother.

Rev. W. H. Coleman, Jackson, Miss., writes: "The church here is still on the upward move. We have just closed an organize the Daughters of Conference, with twenty-one members. We are gaining in the social life and especially. We have just put a new fence in front of the church lot. The church is now setting ready to entertain the Annual Conference in October, the maximum mark. Her thesis was "Individualism vs. the Church." Her terms of their neighborhood and stupidity. Her conclusion was that the people will not suffer such a shame to blot the fair name of our great Church. Brother Coleman, we are here ever ready. Our monument of pride (Wilberforce) is still standing, and we look for a visit with all of our other worthy institutions. And the 18th of September, which is the 3rd Sunday, is the day set apart for the educational work. See chapter 5, page 340, Discipline.

Yours for the work of Christian Education.

COMPARATIVE LONGEVITY OF THE SEXES.

The Hebrew women are the longest lived, and the colored men the shortest. It appears from the subjoined statistics of the world that women have a greater tenacity of life than men. Names were ships the female in all its varieties. Among those in the male population in relatively sedlar period. In places the mortality becomes decidedly less, and the long delay of the Ohio Methodist Conference, which only finally adjourned on the 4th inst., after a week's hard work. "THE LIFE AND TIMES OF JAMES A. SHORTER."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER:

As a Church we have so few books that we can call our own, that the publication of the "Life and Times of Bishop James A. Shorter," from the pen of Rev. John H. Clay, Sr., is a welcome event. We will be pleased to have contributions from the Bishops and ministers.

GOOD LITERATURE.

BY REV. J. E. CONNER, LL. D.

This subject is one of great importance and the necessity of its discussion is in consequence of the ignorance and causes the glorious rays of the blazing sun of civilization to be obscured. A well-written and published by good men. In all ages of the world, literature has loved good books. The people who had good literature in their homes, and who had noble sons and daughters, were those who had the greatest wealth. In the middle ages, the 400,000 members of the Roman Church become responsible and are responsible for the ignorance and the darkness of their neighborhood and stupidity. Had they had good literature, they would not suffer such a shame to blot the fair name of our great Church. Brother Coleman, we are here ever ready. We as a Board are your servants, ex-officio. Call on us, and we will. We ask you to give us aid by your prayers. We need to pay the expenses of the educational work, including the salary of Secretary Dickerson. We need to pay the principalities, to be paid from General Treasury. We need to pay the debt on the Sunday School Union, which is now due, and to be paid to Wilberforce University. But ALL MUST SEND AS DIRECTED.

Send to Rev. J. C. Embry, treasurer, or for the schools in the several Districts of the District Secretaries as follows:

Send to Rev. J. C. Mitchell, D. D., Sixth and Broadway, Cincinnati, Ohio, for Conferences that have yet elected said delegates, secretaries are requested to send names of delegates and also names of conference at their earliest convenience, that we may be able to give them dollar rate. The Ohio Conference give God will bless you many fold for your liberality. Send on the money as acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home and abroad will aid us in this work. Our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with us in this work. We have a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that we can raise the debt in full. Let ten hundred dollars will be realized and the burden removed. Brethren, for the sake of the cause, please do not believe us of this embarrassment. It is humiliating. The sending of the names of donors after the canvass of our local agents should have been avoided. It is necessary hope to be able to have in the list the name s of every trustee of the University.

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, $1,000 by the 18th of September next, that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have added this matter to our present debt we have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these pressing demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also to the public generally. This appeal you are now reading. What will you do for us? We ask, Every one? How will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over the matter carelessly and say to your self, or your Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not of State normal, as some have already said. Brethren, we are opposed to all such, and we cordially invite and appeal to the students of every nationality and religious faith to come to Wilberforce. It is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned, controlled and managed by that Church become responsible and are responsible for the ignorance and the darkness of their neighborhood and stupidity. JOHN M. BROWN,
SECRETARY.

Address,

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, No. 663 Main Street, BUFFALO, N. Y.

The following words, in praise of DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. Mrs. Forman's letter is but one of many expressions with which thousands give utterance to their sense of gratitude for the inestimable boon of health which has been conferred upon them by the use of this unrivaled medicine.

JOHN E. SHAAR, of Mitchell, Va., writes: "I have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with my wife, and it has done wonders for her. She was troubled with female weakness, and had given up hope of ever having children. She was induced to try your 'Favorite Prescription' and did so, and after using three bottles of it, was blessed with a child. She is now in the family way, and we have no doubt but what she will be safely delivered of her child. We have also known it to cure a bad case of leucorrhœa in a lady friend of ours, after she had been troubled with it for a number of years. We cannot say too much in favor of your medicines."

THE GREATEST EARTHLY BOON.	IT WORKS WONDERS.
THE BEST CATHARTIC.	JEALOUS DOCTORS.

MRS. MAY GERAHM, of Nesmot, Gilmore Co., Miss., writes: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' are wonders in my household. Again she writes: "Having taken several bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I feel like a new woman. I took them according to directions, and can say that I have been troubled with sick headache, Dizziness, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Pain across the back, and Female Weakness, and feel as well as I ever did."

MRS. MAY GERAHM.

MRS. SOPHIA F. PERRY, of Monte Ordinary, writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and can say that I have been cured of Female Weakness, Leucorrhœa, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Pain in the back, and Dizziness, and feel as well as I ever did."

MRS. SOPHIA F. PERRY.

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain low or there, and in fact they all present quite a variety of symptoms, each one thinking that she is suffering from some disease for which he prescribes the pills and potions, examining their to be sure, which, in reality, have only very remote connection with the disease from which the patient is suffering. Now, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the exact seat of the disease, by its tonic, invigorating, and strengthening influence upon the entire system, and especially upon the organs concerned in maternity, will in almost every case permanently remove the disease, thereby dispelling all those symptoms which are but the effects of the disease.

3 PHYSICIANS FAILED.	JEALOUS DOCTORS.

MRS. E. F. HODGIN, of No. 17 Lexington St., Baltimore, Md., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhœa, and falling of the womb, and had given up hope of ever having children. I was completely discouraged, and my husband was about to leave me, when I was induced to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had not taken it long before I found relief, and I have now been blessed with a healthy child. I recommended me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced against patent medicines, but they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that if he would get me a bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' I would take it. He did so, and I soon found relief. I have taken seven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for my self and baby, and can say that I am a well woman. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a sound woman for four years. I have also used your 'Pellets' for my self and baby, and was induced to do so by a friend who was troubled in the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years."

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

UNTOLD AGONY FROM CATARRH.	CONSTANTLY HAWKING AND SPITTING.
THRE

It is all well enough to say there is nothing in a name; but suppose a man named Slaughter should start a summer hotel, and call it Slaughter House?

There was a Quaker lady once who was called upon to speak, and she gave a sermon in a single sentence. It was this: "Beware of puffed-up noses."—Boston Journal.

Sorrowful child to the pastor: "Mr. B., mother sent me to tell you that father is dead." Pastor: "Is he? Did you call a doctor?" Child: "No, sir, he just died himself."

"My dear fellow, you ought to go to Europe. You don't know how much change and rest the trip affords." "Oh, yes I do. I know that the hotel porters get the change, and the landlords the rest."

"Don't you suppose," said a member of the police force, "that a policeman knows a rogue when he sees him?" "No doubt," was the reply; "but the trouble is that he does not seize a rogue when he knows him."

TO SECRETARIES OF CONFERENCES.

DEAR BRETHREN:—Many thanks for favor. Please send me a copy of your last conference minutes.

WM. D. JOHNSON,
Secretary of Education, Box 263, Athens, Ga.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE
IN PROSTRATION.

DR. F. C. HAWLEY, Canandaigua, N. Y., says: "I used it in a case of congestion of the lungs, where there was great prostration, with marked benefit."

There was an amusing incident connected with the election for mayor in a Southern city. The Republican nominee was working hard for the colored vote. At one meeting, he said, "I am a white man, I admit, but, fellow-citizens, I have a black heart."

If you desire to possess a beautiful complexion take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses and purifies the blood, and removes blotches and pimples, making the skin smooth and clear, and giving it a bright and healthy appearance. Take it this month.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Manager's Notes.

What we must say now, is that we are opening a regular campaign for the CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

We want two thousand new subscribers, and all the old ones to renew. Now, appreciating the dullness of the times, we have resolved to put the paper within the reach of all, adopting the installment plan.

Installment

costs a little more, but is easier because it gives more time. Hence, we make the following offer to all who desire to have the RECORDER:

Send us 50 Cents and we will enroll your name in a special book kept for that purpose and will send you the paper for sixty days; then send us 75 cents, and two months after 50 cents, and two months later 75 cents more. Total, $2.00.

All our Pastors

are Agents for the RECORDER, and are hereby authorized to present this proposition to their people and receive their enrollment fee (50 cents), and give their receipt for the same. [NOTE.—We will send a few blank slips of receipts to all who will act for us in this matter.]

On this Plan

we give full six months for paying the subscription.

"Pastor's Memorandum Book," by Rev. C. T. Shaffer. Price, 45 cents, no discount. An excellent book.

J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

ROYAL
ROYAL BAKING POWDER
BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders.
Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

PEARLINE
BEST COMPOUND EVER INVENTED FOR WASHING AND CLEANING
IN HARD OR SOFT, HOT OR COLD WATER
Without Harm to FABRIC or HANDS.
SAVES TIME, LABOR and SOAP.
As now sold, by all Grocers, is of great value to Housekeepers. Beware of peddlers and some unprincipled grocers who offer you a WHITE COUNTERFEIT in place of PEARLINE as the ONLY SAFE ARTICLE, and AS WHAT bears the name of JAMES PYLE, New York.

Be Sure

To ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If you are in need of a blood-purifier—the only certain and reliable remedy for pimples, blotches, and all other eruptions of the skin. As an alterative.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

After a trial of nearly half a century, is universally conceded to be the best ever discovered. It is agreeable to the taste, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed.

An old lady of eighty, Mrs. Mary L. Stone, of Ho Spirit, Ne., after forty years of suffering from a tumor in the blood, manifesting itself in Erysipelas and other distressing eruptions on the skin, at last began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking ten bottles, she is now, she says, "as smooth and fair as ever."

Frank Jones, 922 Eighth ave., New York, writes: "I suffered from the impurity of the blood, which showed itself in troublesome eruptions. The most watery pimples on my face broke out. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. I had given many tried many reputed blood-purifiers without benefit."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. What this is not does our rule is to send that amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circular desiring it sent to some other place, and do not mention this very important fact.

4th. For all money sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, numbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, write to us about it, but be sure to give the number of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it. When a pastor writes to us that his superintendent sent us money, etc., we do not know who is his superintendent unless he writes us his name. A. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circuits, stations, etc.

5th. Begin your name to your communication. We cannot tell who sent a letter to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flourishing. It is useless and often renders obscure what would otherwise be legible writing.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without saying in your communication what to do with money sent thus.

8th. Write all business letters and orders for literature and supplies to the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church, and not to individuals connected with the department.

9th. Be sure your business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them, or send you a catalogue, price list, blank and return envelope.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginning of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not arrive until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature for the benefit of two or three persons or else lay ourselves liable to "taking over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Lesson Papers are ordered, they are rolled in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessons, reward cards and other such matter are never in one wrapper. When you order both inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and number. Unless you do this will be returned to us while you are absent on for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for the bundle school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office. This method of communicating with us through a person who has permanent location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above suggestions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who are, with us, interested with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S SMITH.

Box 345 Nashville, Tenn.

NOTICE.

All communications intended for the Sunday School Union of the A. M. E. Church that are addressed to Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tennessee, will be received. It is not necessary to give the name of the street nor the number of our business place. Rev. C. S. Smith, Nashville, Tenn., is sufficient. Telegrams addressed the same way will reach us. We are fully settled in our new headquarters and prepared for business. C. S. SMITH, Secretary.

IF I SHOULD DIE TO-NIGHT.

If I should die to-night,
My friends would look upon my quiet face
Before they laid it in its resting-place,
And deem that death had left it almost fair;
And, laying snow-white flowers against my hair,
Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness,
And fold my hands with lingering caress—
Poor hands, so empty and so cold to-night.

If I should die to-night,
My friends would call to mind with loving thought
Some kindly deed the icy hand had wrought,
Some gentle word the frozen lips had said,
Errands on which the willing feet had sped,
The memory of my selfishness and pride,
My hasty words, would all be put aside,
And so I should be loved and mourned to-night.

If I should die to-night,
Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me,
Recalling other days remorsefully;
The eyes that chill me with averted glance
Would look upon me as of yore, perchance,
And soften, in the old familiar way,
For who could war with dumb, unconscious clay?
So I might rest, forgiven of all to-night.

Oh, friends! I pray to-night,
Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold brow;
The way is lonely, let me feel them now;
Think gently of me; I am travel-worn,
My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn.
Forgive, oh, hearts estranged, forgive, I plead;
When dreamless rest is mine I shall not need
The tenderness for which I long to-night.

MORE BISHOPS.

BY REV. JAMES H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

THE EPISCOPAL COMPLEMENT THAT SHOULD BE KEPT IN EXISTENCE.

Eight more Bishops added to the Board would make the complement fourteen. This number would clearly meet the demands of the extended connection. It is the only number that is adequate to the demand. The work to be done stretches from the borders of Canada to the remotest point in Florida, and from the Pacific Coast in California to the Atlantic boundary in New England. The churches which are to be supervised are counted by thousands; and the number of members by hundreds of thousands. These, for prosperity, are to be brought directly under episcopal influence. Every church and every congregation is to be made familiar with the existing heads of the Church. How can this be done? By submitting to two or three Bishops who imagine that they can do it? No. It can be done only by the elders of the connection fully comprehending the nature of the work and making provision for it.

Now, then, let us call their attention to a few ruling, stubborn facts. We will not take the extravagant computation of membership, although that would make our position still stronger, but the probable number in existence—the minimum at least—that is 200,000. All of these should be brought fully under episcopal influence by the making of such arrangements as will enable the Bishops to reach them. This can be done by cutting up the 200,000 into just so many parts as can be handled by just so many Bishops. Suppose we say that we will divide this great number of members into fourteen parts. Then it is observed that we would have 14,285 members in each episcopal district, or that each Bishop would have a district composed of three conferences and a command of all the floating members of the congregations. This would make a task that would require all his time, talent and energy to put his district in the highest state of efficiency, to make the people more spiritual, to increase the finances, to make other denominations more appreciative of the connection. This seems to be as plain as daylight. Military power in manipulating such a vast body of men would divide them into 40 parts, that each might have a general. Forty generals would be appointed that each might command 5,000 men. The expense would be an after consideration from the very fact that efficiency would be the all-important object. And this, too, must be conceded in the regulation of the Church.

There should be 14 Bishops always kept on hand. When one passes away speedily another ought to be put in his place. A smashing up of districts is a smashing up of advantages. It is in the highest degree detrimental to the connection. It breaks down that which was built up by the General Conference and makes confusion, if not a mild degree of anarchy. What would be the case in military government if, on the death of a general, there should be a smashing up of the brigade? Would it be regarded as a good thing, because of the death of a governor, to smash up a State? What good, then, can come of smashing up episcopal districts? This is a vital point, and this has been a smashing age; but the General Conference ought to see well to it that smashing is done no more. The Church cannot thrive under a smashing government, so then let every needed provision be made to keep intact all the important machinery until the time comes for it to be changed by the power that made it. Whenever districts are formed and a number of Bishops are made, common sense alone tells us that some arrangement ought to be instituted to keep them in existence during a quadrennium. The magnitude of the Church work now, in consideration of the territory and number of members embraced by it, requires us to divide it into 14 districts and to put these districts under 14 Bishops.

This accurate systemization of the work would advance the interests of the connection to a greater extent than ever has been done by any other process. It would give us full control of all ecclesiastical mimtia conducive to the growth of all our various departments. It would place the A. M. E. Church before the world as one of the most effectually organized religious bodies in it. And this of itself would beget a higher degree of substantial respect. Loyal adhesion to the fundamental law and a prayerful study of certain subjects belonging to the Church government make the writer see clearly that such a systemization would increase the grandeur and glory and influence of this strong organization.

Episcopal grace communicated (as it cannot be done now because of the present limitation and confusion) to every obscure part of the connection would arouse the most indifferent followers into action. It would lay hold of all the talent that now simmers in darkness in every nook and corner and make it contributive to the increased power of the connection. Fourteen good men in this wise ordained and commissioned to go as Episcopal heralds throughout the land would do more in one year than six could do in two.

Eight more added to the present number would be like putting an equal number of faithful horses to a team of six, staggering under a heavy load. None can fail to see this but those who are so blind that they will not see. This would make an adequate complement; and this is that upon which the General Conference should rest its decision. Without doing this there is never any meeting of demands nor bounds set to diminution. The work that is to be done may from time to time receive only partial attention, and the Bishops who are to do it may dwindle from nine down to six, and from six down to one; and then the smashing business would cease and virtual disintegration would be the consequence. Is it not high time, then, that the General Conference had comprehended this important matter and acted upon it?

It should ascertain for itself the precise number of Bishops needed; and then designate them and provide the means of keeping the designated number in existence. The course heretofore pursued has been seemingly on the assumption that a few fellows wanted to be made Bishops, and that the conference had to make them, and have that as the end of it; so that if they lived they lived, and if they died they died. Better polity, though, now needs a better conception.

We want so many districts firm, well organized and indestructible by any power ad interim. Then we want it as a recognized necessity that so many Bishops shall always be kept in office to attend to those districts. Nothing less than this can be conceded as a substantial form of government.

This would signally increase the dignity of every district. It would confirm the fact that each Bishop had at his command something more durable than even his own existence. He might die, but the charge would remain demanding his successor: and it would be known that his successor had to be elected. The Easton Diocese of the Episcopal Church in the State of Maryland some time ago lost its Bishop and remained bishopless until the meeting of the convention: a successor was then elected to the poor, uninviting position, but he declined. The convention had to meet again and elect another. It did so, and he declined. It met again and elected another, and he declined. Again, and elected another, and he declined. The next one died before he had time to decline. And in all of this there was no attempt made to cut up the diocese, or block it out of existence. It stood as the vacant charge of the venerated Bishop Lay, claiming the election of another Bishop.

Let us observe this uniformity in government by establishing fourteen districts; and it will always be known that we must have an equal number of Bishops, and that no election is to take place unless there be a vacancy in office, or that the extension of the work has necessitated the organization of another district.

This will put an end to so much needless discussion concerning aspirations and elections. It will exalt the office more and be better for the Church in general.

Washington, D. C.

THE CLOSING WORDS FOR THE QUADRENNIUM.

BY BISHOP T. M. D. WARD.

We are entering upon a momentous and exciting era. Thirteen years more and we shall have entered upon the twentieth century. We know the wonders of the last hundred years. The triumphs of telegraphy, the wonders of electricity, the marvels of science confront us everywhere. The victories of the gospel; her banners have been kissed by every breeze.

Africa, with her dusky millions, hears the rumble of his chariot wheels while Asia waits with expectant joy the coming of the Prince of Peace; our own America has broken the iron-shod hoof of the proud oppressor while her emancipated millions chant freedom's glorious jubilee. The continent has been spanned by an iron bond and teeming cities have been planted in arid deserts and on lofty mountain slopes. The Orient shakes hands with the Occident. The alien armies have not been idle; agnosticism, deism, atheism, formalism, ritualism, libertinism, rum, pedantry, hell born caste, unbelief, the race for riches—all these vampires have been sucking up the life blood of the Church, the Nation and the race. These myrmidons of wrong still menace our civil and religious liberties.

"Judah became his sanctuary, Israel his dominion." 1787 witnessed the unfurling of the banner of religious liberty. Nearly a million of colored people are marching under that ensign to-day while the sons of Allen head and lead the column with her Payne, Wayman, Campbell, Brown, Turner, Disney, Astwood, Tanner, Townsend, Owens, Jacobs, the Hendersons, Turners, Shaffers, the Hubbards, Grant, Armstrong, Howard, the Gaines, Saulters, Lee, Embry, Hunter, Leake; the Derricks, Coppin, Gould, Jenifer, Shrieger, Green, Heard, Yeocum, Smith, Arnett; the Mitchells, Becketts, Cooper, Newton, Handy; the Johnsons, the Jeffersons, Goodlow, M. Bryant, Bedford Green, T. G. Steward, Phillips, Carolina, Weathers, Watson Miller, Parks, K. D. Brown, and a list too long to name; a line of noble men and illustrious women who stretches from the gulf to the lakes, from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

This is the centennial host. The ability of the negro to manage and direct his own religious organizations has been partially demonstrated. We as a Church are not old enough to know whether we shall hold together or not. We need more time to demonstrate this fact. We have had an amount of ignorance and a mass of poverty to handle that no other people have had and often as a result godless, ambition avarice, envy, jealousy, personal ill-will, treachery, superstition—all these formidable obstacles have met us at every turn.

Time must prove whether we can hold our people together, whether the work done by us is deep, solid and impregnable. To stand we must be built upon Christ, the Rock of Ages. Many have prophesied our downfall. They have said we have made a splendid beginning, but shall we be equal to the emergencies which shall confront us from time to time? Israel, Washington, Cape May, Newark, New Haven, Fleet Street, Norwich, Portland, Columbia, all are significant of weakness somewhere. Were not all these blunders of the most ineffaceable character, and they will be repeated if our leaders are not more rigid and exacting. We have men who could have saved all these churches. We are not to listen to selfish growlers and chronic grumblers, but save our people and the property which has been purchased by work, tears, groans, prayers and gold. Men made commanders who have never learned to follow and obey will always bring us disaster and shameful defeat. Put none but true, tried and experienced men on guard. Lincoln was not a great scholar, but he saved the nation, and with the stroke of his pen wrote the ransom of millions. Our guards must not sleep while on duty. They must "walk about Zion." The Roman Church is skillful, wise and strategic. They are cutting away our roots in many places. They don't want the old people. They pant for young blood. This church-loving business must be stopped. The General Conference should come to the rescue and shout back to this recklessness, down brakes!

Once more, and for the last time, we appeal to the Eighth District. Yours has been a splendid record, moving upwards and heavenward in all directions. What shall the harvest of '87 be? The centennial year South Carolina will do her best, I am quite sure. Shall it transcend all former years, as did Philadelphia and little New England? I think I hear the echoing, yes, from Cairo to Woodville. More souls shall be delivered from the dominion of satan, more churches, parsonages and school houses built, remodled and paid for, more books placed in our pews and our homes, and all pastors take our splendid New Ritual. We will collect a dollar from or for each member. This will increase our Missionary, Church and Educational Money. Allen, Wilberforce, Paul Quinn and Morris Brown, as well as our baby school at Little Rock, shall have our sympathy, prayers and dollars.

The new-made graves of Bishops Cain and Shorter admonish us and tell us in tones of pealing thunder, work, for the night cometh! Let the month of November roll up a glorious response for our crippled Book Concern. Strangle the debt which has clipped and broken her wings. We must purchase a good property for our Publication Department. All books published by our brethren should have the imprint of our own department. We have made it what it is.

From your swarming battalions wheel your guns in line, drum out the drunkards, liars, slanderers, bigamists, thieves and cheats; sound the bugle note of advance and write upon your bannerhead, "The world for Christ." Rally, ye host of the living God, and roll the grand hallelujah across the century so that '97 may know that '87 lived.

P. S.—$2,000 would redeem New Haven property, worth $7,000.

CAN WE NOT SUCCEED IN HAYTI?

BY JOHN HURST.

The editorial comment in the issue of the RECORDER of March 31st ult. on the assertion of the New York Freeman relative to Mr. Mossell, the Haytian government and the A. M. E. Church missionary effort here, is, to us, very significant, and the assertion itself very cunning.

"The future success of the A. M. E. Church in Hayti" would not be "a difficult thing to measure" if the inconveniences connected with the mission itself had not opposed its progress and the parties concerned in this special work had a thorough understanding among themselves from the beginning. Such divergence of feelings and antipathy existing during so many years between those in the field and those at home could only have been baneful to the mission. Why should the success of the A. M. E. Church be more doubted than that of the other denominations here? Is it because its inherent adaptiveness to the need of the people with which it is working more directly with overwhelming success, too stiff and unpliable to the Haytian people, or it is because the latter is incapable of Christian civilization? It cannot mean either of these. It is true that nine years of arduous labor and the investment of many thousands of dollars in this field required a better return than that we are willing to admit; but in overlooking this seeming failure, we rest satisfied that much has been done and more has been done during these nine years than others have done, at their best, in scores of years.

The strict adherence of the people to our usage and their willingness to subscribe to our rules in preference to others empowered in the field with higher ecclesiastical dignities and perhaps more generous, bespeaks of the superiority of our system and the sincerity of our zeal. The firmness with which our Church stood together during the last three years, when so much tended to disband them, is sufficient proof of the permanence of the African Methodist success wherever it goes. I doubt not that if the mission, for reasons alleged in my first paper, had disappeared from among this people entirely, when it would strive to revive it would find its scattered parts restored intact to its bosom. No other Church is to do the mission work with more success in Hayti than "our Church." No other title, no other system is better adapted to the ideas of this people than African Methodism; all we ask is a fair chance for a while.

The New York Freeman betrays its ignorance of Haytian ideas in presenting that a difficulty between one man (if there is any) and the Haytian Government would prevent the A. M. E. Church from preaching the gospel successfully here. Hayti is too far advanced in the study and application of the Droit des Gens to permit the mistake of an individual to frustrate the interest of a whole society and act against the material, moral and religious development of a nation. Never was the sympathy of the government for the A. M. E. Church greater than it is now. Never were the prospects of having the practical, tangible support of the government in the educational department of the mission greater than now. A wise chief, an intelligent and unparalleled negro presides over the destiny of this country. He understands that the preaching of the gospel under the auspices of any church is not for its benefit, but for the welfare of the nation to which it is preached.

Bishop Campbell and Secretary Townsend's visit strengthened much that tie of deep sympathy existing between the government and the Church. During twenty minutes of private interview with the President, and an afternoon's pleasure at the friendly and sympathetic United States Minister, Mr. Tompson, in company with the Secretary of Public Worship and of State, not a word was exchanged on the question presented by the Freeman to the next General Conference. All was on the need of a Christian civilization in the country and the good wishes for the advancement of the A. M. E. Church. All that was plus a l'ordre du jour than that trifling.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—ITS PRESIDING ELDER SYSTEM.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 4.

When we examine the reasons given why the A. M. E. Church should abandon its presiding eldership, we find that man relative to Mr. Mossell, the Haytian government and the A. M. E. Church missionary effort here, is, to us, very significant, and the assertion itself very cunning.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—ITS PRESIDING ELDER SYSTEM.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 4.

When we examine the reasons given why the A. M. E. Church should abandon its presiding eldership, we find that seventy-five per cent. of these reasons spring from personality. Brother A., who has itinerated twenty years, looks and sees Brother B., who has just been ordained an elder and has only traveled five years, lifted into the presiding eldership. And hence Brother A. concludes that men are not being rewarded according to their deeds; and, to revenge himself upon Brother B., he draws his bow at a venture, and attempts to smite this blessed old system "between the joints of the harness." But his arrow misses its mark, and goes skimming through space, without even touching a gnat or frightening a "skeeter." Here is Brother C., who believes that he knows more about Methodist polity than Bishop Simpson or Bishop Turner; and just because the presiding elder will not let him receive, try and expel members without law, judge or jury, he denounces the presiding eldership as a damaging, blistering curse, that must be laid aside at all hazard. Brother D. meets conference for the first time, joins it, gets his appointment, and sets out for his field of labor; but, instead of going as a lamb among wolves, he goes as a wolf among lambs; and in the place of Christ, he takes along with him astronomy. He swaps humility for self-aggrandizement, and in the place of preaching Christ and Him crucified, he is eternally angling among the stars; and hence he catches nothing but tad-poles, and that, too, in the earliest stage of their transformation. The effect of this kind of playing the fool with the high destiny of mankind is quickly seen, for in a few months Christianity is seen retreating in disgust, religion retires, heartily ashamed, and common sense flees as a routed army, and there is nothing left but a self-appointed cox-comb, with his head full of the sciences. Here comes the presiding elder. He knows something about the stellar host, but he knows more about Jesus. He is acquainted to some extent with the natural sciences, but he is an expert in the science of humility. Now, just because the members love this godly presiding elder more than they do this stuffed up pastor, he gets jealous, and his jealousy makes him a bitter enemy to the presiding eldership. Brother D., whose presiding elder is a boss, a tyrant, and a despot; but instead of Brother E. saying so, he makes him the standard of all the other presiding elders throughout the connection.

The same charge is made against the presiding elders is made against our traveling preachers,—against you and against me. One brother says this system causes too great an expense upon our Church. This may be true, but who made you the champion guardian of the people's pocket-books? The people declare that the whole itinerant system is too expensive. And here we have it "tit for tat." Another one says the presiding elders are bad men Yes, and the people say our deacons and traveling elders are bad men. So here is your gun that kills before and behind. So the members bring charges against the preachers, the preachers against the presiding elders, the presiding elders against the Bishops, and the Bishops against the General Conference. So here we have charges and counter-charges throughout every rank and file of our Church. Now, I believe there are men filling the presiding eldership who have no more business there than I have in the moon; but shall we kill the system and cripple our Church forever just because some bad men have found their way into this office? We say no, let us kill these bad men. But this, you say, cannot be done, because some of these men are the "Bishops' pets," and they will be kept in the office, no matter what is said. Well, let me tell you what to do: In our next General Conference change the law, giving the annual conferences power to elect its own presiding elders, and you will have the power to get rid of these worthless men of which you speak. So long as the appointing power is in the hands of the Bishops, just so long will you complain. You must understand that had men are generally shrewd men, and many of them are gifted in the art of deception. Our Bishops, like other men, must learn before they know, and often are often been deceived in putting men in the presiding eldership. There are none of our Bishops who know the members of the Florida Conference as we know ourselves and each other, and of course we are better judges as to who are better fitted for the office of presiding elder. I repeat it, give the annual conferences power to elect presiding elders, and we can save the system; but without this it is in danger, for it is well assured that the enemies of this system are making rapid headway. The South, heretofore, has almost been a unit for it, but not so now. I have received in the last three months twenty-nine letters and eighteen postal cards, all from southern preachers in regard to this system. Thirty-six of these speak against presiding elders, nine defend the system with vigor, two speak as though it were an expletive. Some of our Bishops are opposing it, and hence its friends must rally to its support.

As figures and facts are stubborn things, we present the following table for the information of the opposers of the presiding elder system:

The M. E. Church, with presiding elders, has gained 14,000 members per year; the M. E., South, giving 400,000 to start with, with the presiding eldership her increase has been 14,190 per year; A. M. E. Church, with presiding eldership, 6,000; A. M. E. Z., half presiding eldership, 4,179; Republican Methodist Church, no presiding elders, —; Independent M. E Church, no presiding elders, —; M. P. Church, no presiding elders, 527; W. M. Church, no presiding elders, 511.

We have not the figures of the C. M. E. Church. These figures will show the wisdom of every church that has stuck to the presiding eldership system. The enemies of the presiding eldership must give us something to offset these figures, or stop babbling about a system that they seem to know so little about.

Study these figures and mark the contrast. Give the Church some rest, or give her something new. You may call me to account for this letter, but don't blame me, blame these figures.

IDEAS FOR GENERAL CONFERENCE OF 1888.

BY REV. I. F. ALDRIDGE.

I hope it will not be amiss for me to present a few ideas for the General Conference of the A. M. E. Church to consider. The conference will make a mistake if it should fail to curtail the expenses of General Officers and appropriate and pay more money to poor town itinerant preachers who got less than $150 per annum. It will he a greater mistake if it fails to open the way for the widows and orphans of itinerant preachers, who are now receiving comparatively nothing, who ought to be cared for by the Church

The General Conference of 1884 said that each orphan of itinerant preachers "shall have or receive $50 and the widows $100 each, but not until the condition of the treasury will warrant it." Perhaps this is the mighty bar that closes the door against all appropriations made at the last General Conference, except the one to pay General Officers; why, it is a bar against the appropriations made to pay the Bishops' salaries. The law must have been drawn up by a General Officer. But with a little economy in the annual appropriations that are now being made the contributions would be larger and given in better faith. Let the widows and orphans of itinerant preachers have a few "loaves and fishes" for their comfort, in honor of our deceased husbands who fell like heroes in the strife on the Christian field of battle. When the Church begins to care for her servants who labor on missions from year to year, at starvation wages, the effect will be marvelous; but as it is, we are continually begging for money and the people do not see the immediate benefits and therefore have lost all interest in our general finances It is no slight task to raise four or five general collections annually, and build up the current expenses. To do all this somebody must go wanting. We have known brilliant young itinerant preachers who have become chipwrecked upon the itinerant sea for the want of financial aid They have been forced to the wall on accounnt of debts contracted without the probability of paying them; however, not intentionally. What is $100 or $150 per annum for a preacher and his family? And yet we have some God-called men in the ministry who receive even less than that for a year's work. We are losing ground upon the mission field for the want of money to build houses in which to worship God as we ought.

There was a time when we could hold meetings in any common place, but that time is past, and, therefore, our well organized chnrches must help to build the missions. But how can we do this If we pay anch high wages to our General Officers? The Church cannot afford it. But what must be done? you ask. Why, at present we have seven General Officers who receive a fixed salary of $1,350 each, which amounts to $9,450 a year, and perhaps it would be well to make known the important fact that this does not include traveling expenses and the branch Publishing House that was to be at Charleston, S. C.

Now, the General Conference of 1888 ought to consolidate the office of Business Manager, Secretary of Sunday Schools and Secretary of Education and place a good and faithful man at the head; make the Financial and Missionary departments one and place a man at the head of it who can keep an account of all money collscted by these departments. Let the editor of the RECORDER take charge of the Review also, then appropriate $6,500 to these four Officers and $20,000 to pay Bishops. Should we have ten Bishops the total amonnt would be $25,500 per year; and whereas the Church is now called upon to pay $117,600 to Bishops and Officers per quadrennium when $102,000 per quadrennium ought to pay all neccesary expenses of Bishops and General Officers, and thus we would save $15,800, which would do our widows and orphans much good. Let us ponder these things in our heart and look well to the interest of the Church of our fathers.

A GOOD MAN FOR THE OFFICE

BY REV. L. S. SLAUGHTER.

A great deal has been said relative to the vacant seats on the Bishops' Bench caused by death, and the filling of said places by the living. I suppose there is hardly a man in the connection who is not in some way interested. There is a host of names already mentioned, and some of the brethren whoee names are mentioned are strangers to me; some are not. I heartily indorse the name of one mentioned, but there is more than one to be elected. I desire to offer another. Knowing that it is custom and courtesy to put the last named first, and that among our people the first name generally leads, and hoping the rule may hold good in this case, I now in a reverse way nominate my man. But first allow me to say, it is possible it is with my man as others are with me, i. e., they don't know him, and for that cause I desire a few words by way of recommendation. This brother is of Northern birth, but for the last nine years a resident of the South; a man who esems to be resolved to live and die South; a man who, if elected, will live among the people whom he serves; a man whose ability cannot be questioned; a man whose devotion to the cause of African Methodism and the education of our people has no equal in his present rank; a man who has given the connection two years' hard labor, working in the capacity of Commissioner of Education; a man whose mind, heart, feet and hands are in the work night and day; a man who, on being offered one of our churches in the North, which would have paid him $2,000 per annum, said he would rather stay where the greatest amount of work was to be done; a man whose character stands unblemished; a man who asks for nothing but work; a man who has the tools to work in any literary field. I speak of the Rev. A. M Green, of the Louisiana Annual Conference.

Baton Rouge, La.

REVISION OF THE DISCIPLINE.

BY REV. JAMES MADISON.

I do not believe, as some of our brethren, that we ought to do away with the presiding eldership altogether, but leave it optional with the annual conferences We of the West don't want it, neithar do we need it, therefore leave it optional and we will he pleased East, West, North and South, members and laity. While I am a strong African Methodist I do not see the need of the presiding eldership in the Fourth Episcopal District; but if the next General Conference says we must have it, then I for one say, make no more Bishops and retake those we have and give them good salaries for their work. Our present Bishops, if rotated, can certainly do the work with the assistance of the presiding elders, and rest half of their time. We read in the Good Book, Jams 3, 1, 2 which says: "My brethr-n, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the great condemnation; for in many things we offend all" Now, my brethren, too many presiding elders make confusion and cause many officers. More Bishops? No; not if the presiding elder system continues as it now is. But let the General Conference look after and make better provision for home and foreign missionary work. Save more money for our poor men on these poor missions, to care more for our old worn-ont preachers, ministers, widows and orpbans. Our great connection should have an orphan's home and an old folks' home; poor struggling churches should be paid for; educational interests and the moral, religious and intellectual training of our people are needed more than additional Bishops or presiding elders.

ON BISHOP SHORTER

BY REV. JAS. D. BARKSDALE.

MR. EDITOR:—I would like to say a word in relation to the death of Bishop Shorter. This noble old veteran, as the entire Church knows, was a man of superior qualities. His place will be hard to fill, not for the superfluous gloss or literary polish, but as an uncompromising enemy to wrong and a just and righteous jurist—as a wise and efficient executive officer. We younger ministers in the South Carolina Conference had styled him "Pap" This originated with Rev. Rivers, who is also gone from "labor to rest." In visiting my former conference (Columbia), I carried the title there, so that the younger ministers there spoke of him among themselves as "Pap" I have often laughed pleasantly at the Bishop's straightforward way in coming to a conclusion; but when reached it was generally unquestionable for judgment, justice and truth.

Bishop Shorter was a man, as it has been thoughtfully said, who wasted no time in "parliamentary platitudes," but to him it was go through, get to the point as quickly as possible. The Church has lost one of its mightiest men in Bishop Shorter. There are many sad hearts among the ministers as one of the brethren wrote me. Yes, brother; I feel sure that "the wheel will turn another way" O, that we had the rotation system in our Church. One by one the "old landmarks" decay and fall; one by one they pass away Rest thou in peace, Bishop, with loved ones who crossed before thee; thy name shall leave fresh memories of thee in a thousand hearts, which shall bloom each day like flowers of spring. Save the Church, O, God; the great men of Israel are falling.

—When daily life is to do the will of God, no disappointment is possible; neither can failure come in. Step by step following is the most quieting, disentangling thing in all the world.

A GLORIOUS OCCASION.

OPENING OF WM PAUL QUINN A. M. E. CHAPEL, BASTROP, TEXAS.

BY F. J. WEBB, JR.

The grandest time this flourishing town has ever had took place during this week, which has been one of the festival rejoicing to all true African Methodists and Christians. On the 13th of June the corner-stone was laid and from that time till the 20th, when the contractors turned over the building to the trustees, the work of all has been continual. The result is a splendidly constructed frame building, the best house of worship in town, and capable of seating fully five hundred people. On the evening prior to the opening day our section was visitad by one of the most terrific cyclones Texas has ever had. Every church building in our town and adjacent country was utterly demolished, with the exception of our own. God's power is great and shown in many wonderful ways.

Two years ago the Rev. H McKenna, justly called by our leading paper the "Black Beecher of Bastrop," came here and started and continued to build a suitable house of God. In this connection we would mention an accident, strange but true. Soon after the laying of the corner-stone a strange hen laid fourteen eggs on top of the stone and in due time fourteen thriving young chicks were hatched. The hrood is all alive and flourishing. The chnrch, when the Rev. McKenna took charge, had but thirty-six members in good standing. They have, each and every one, we are informed, done their duty. Our church is said, by the leading white journals, to be an ornament to the town. The steeple of the building can be seen many miles away. To our little pastor belongs all the praise for the success of our grand rally. To him, so nobly assisted by his efficient Board of Trustees, belongs all the credit of paying for the parsonage and cancelling no such on our church debt We wish we could have some more McKennas in our district. On our opening day an elaborate programme was executed, many distinguished visitors being in attendance.

The choir, under the leadership of Miss P. E. Bryan, daughter of our presiding elder J. R. Bryan, sung some of the most beautiful songs ever heard in Bastrop. On the following Monday evening a grand concert was given, the entire proceeds of which were devoted to church purposes. We are preparing for our annual conference, which convenes here the 15th of December under our beloved Bishop A. W. Wayman.

Bastrop, Texas.

A TRIP TO FLORENCE, S. C.

BY REV. W. H. HEARD.

MR. EDITOR:—According to a promise made months ago, I took the train August 16th for Florence, S. C. I was met at the depot by Rev. R. E. Wilson, the pastor of our church in this village. We were soon at the residence of Sister Mills, a noble African Methodist. Her husband is a member of the M. E. Church, but a great friend to our Church. In our journey to Florence we passed the farming districts of Berkeley, Williamsburg, Georgetown and Darlington counties. The crops are very encouraging to the farmers, and something is anticipated for a hard year's toil; but the question is, Will that something be realized?

Let us digress a moment, and show you the system under which our people labor in these districts. They receive checks redeemable at the stores of the neighborhood A disconnt is made on the face of the check, goode are sold at credit prices and interest charged on this account at settling day. Whiskey is sold at these stores and much money is thrown away for this luxury. Our people are in worse condition than the Irish. Many ministers suffer under this check system. Our people are in a fearful condition; they cannot rise with these odds against them. But let us turn from this gloomy picture to one more pleasing. Rev. E. E. Wilson is carrying on a protracted meeting at Florence. He has had much success. Some twelve souls have been added to the church, and eight converted. Our church is the weakest and smallest of any of the colored churches We have only seventy members,—but the building is snbstantially and neatly finished. Rev. J. W. White deserves much praise for the work done here by him in securing a house of worship at this point.

The spiritual life of the African Methodist Episcopal Church at Florence has been below par, but Rev. Wilson, by his eloqnent sermons and Christian deportment, has given new life to our work here. He is highly esteemed by the citizens of Florence of all denominations and races. He has made African Methodism a fact in this town.

Rev. F. W. Sasportas, pastor of the M. E. Church; is an "old war-horse," Rev. E. E. Roberts, the leader of the Baptist denomination, is one of the first men of the State of his church He is a cultured Christian gentleman, and has more than a thousand members,—but says to his brethren, "Come in, the harvest is great." We were classmates in the South Carolina University. The men of that class have been a power in South Carolina, and even in the United States.

At Florence we have a grand field for development. It would pay to apply our mission funds to each places as Florence, Beaufort, George'e, Bagwell, Williston, Walterboro, Summerville, Aiken and Darlington in making them stations. Our circuits can be made self-sustaining by adding points enough, but all these towns should have pastors and preaching every Sabbath and Sunday school.

Rev. W. R Alston was with us on Thursday night and preached a sermon that will not soon be forgotten by those who heard it. He is a preacher on the Wesleyan order. May he continue to vindicate the cause of Christ and African Methodism. The Marion District under elder Flegler is progressing. He carries a broad blade—bright and sharp.

CHURCH NOTES OF SOUTHEAST MISSOURI.

BY REV. P. M. LEWIS.

Wednesday, June 15, 1887, the Sunday School Convention of the Second Presiding Elder District of Missouri Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Church convened at Bonne Terre, Mo. After proper organization the business of the convention was dispatched with great rapidity. The reports from the schools represented showed much improvement from last year. Quite a number of the schools were not represented and several of the district were not at the convention.

At this little town there has been erected this conference year by the Rev. Mr. Dunnavant and his good and brave people, a splendid church edifice, and thirty odd members have been added to the membership also.

On Friday, June 17th, Rt. Rev. Bishop John M. Brown, D. D., D. C. L., arrived here. He met Rev. W. B. White, presiding elder of the district, and the ministeral brethren present, and encouraged them to go forward with the work, trusting in God and doing the right. At 3:30 P. M. the excellent brass band of Potosi led the Masonic Lodge of De Soto, Mo., to the church, where the Bishop led in the ceremonies of laying the corner-stone of said church, assisted by other ministerial brethren and the lodge. Through the entire work of the Sunday School Convention and the laying of the corner-stone, Mrs. Alice M. Lewis, as chorister and organist, and Miss Katie Wills, an excellent alto songstress, furnished good music. The entire collection from all sources for the chnrch on this occasion was $190.

The total cost of the church when finished will be from $600 to $700, and the brave young minister and his people have paid between $300 and $400. Under conditions less them many give us more such working pastors and people.

The A. M. E. Church at Jackson, Mo., under the pastoral care of Elder E. Q. Plummer, is in a desperate struggle rebuilding, and on July 4, 1887, the corner-stone was laid, and by collections and entertainments during the day and night raised about $100, I am told. This work moves on grandly.

The Rev N. C Douglass is also building a church at Crystal City, Mo., and is working hard He hopes to get in under cover by August 4, 1887.

The churches and pastors in this district are laboring hard and praying for better times. Many souls have been added to these churches this conference. On this work 32,

This church is setting against the mighty waves of sin, trying to stem the current, and while her good old veteran soldiers are leading on in ways of wisdom and righteousness, the young volunteers and well wishers, in the full exercise of their strength, are bringing up the rear.

Cape Girardeau, Mo.

OUR NEW DEED.

We again call the attention of the pastors and presiding elders to the form of Warranty Deed we have prepared and published for general use in the purchase of church properties. The form is simple, and plain as plain can be, yet it is believed to cover every point in the law. It was drawn by an old experienced attorney, with our Discipline before him. Price, 25 cents per copy, or 5 for $1.00.

Address,

J. C. EMBRY,
Box 906, Philadelphia, Pa.

Look out for a splendid programme for the great Centennial of African Methodism in November next. The Philadelphia Conference committee held a session this week and arrangements will be pushed.

J. C. EMBRY.

EDUCATION.

DEAR BRETHREN:—The time is fast approaching for us to make another grand rally for the cause of Christian education. Our district comprises all the conferences in the States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and the Indian Territory. With our host of earnest and sacrificing workers we expect great results from the endowment effort. The educational interest is increasing all over our broad connection, and thousands of young men and women rap at the doors of our institntions. The 4th district has over three thousand soldiers on the field, and they expect us who stand at the head of affairs to make such provisions and to furnish such supplies as will enable them to wage a successful battle against ignorance, vice and superstition.

Let no man in our ranks falter, and remember that all moneys collected on the third Sunday in September must be sacredly consecrated to education.

The Southwest this year must rise and shine, but it must do so through us as leaders. Great things are expected of you, brethren, and in God's name let us make one grand rally for the elevation of our race and the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom.

This is our last effort before General Conference, and we urge you, dear brethren, to stir up your whole people, and rally all your forces for Endowment Day, so we may render a good account of our stewardship. Let no man be unfaithful in this great struggle. Come to time and show your strength.

Send 75 per cent. of all collections to me at Waco, the remaining 25 per cent. to Dr. W. D. Johnson, at Athens, Ga.

Yours for God and humanity,

WM. D. BURGAN,
Secretary Fourth Educational District, Waco, Texas.

SAND FOR CORN.

In the days of Nero there was great shortness of food in the city of Rome, although there was abnndance of corn to be purchased at Alexandria. A certain man who owned a vessel went down to the sea coast, and there he noticed many hungry people straining their eyes toward the sea, watching for the vessels that were to come from Egypt with corn When these vessels came to the shore, one by one, the poor people wrung their hands in bitter disappointment, for on board the galleys there was nothing but sand, which the tyrant emperor had compelled them to bring for his colosseum. It was inhumanly cruelty, when men were dying of hunger, to command trading vessels to go to and fro, and bring nothing else but sand for gladiatorial shows, when wheat was so greatly needed. Then the merchant, whose vessel was moored by the quay, said to his shipmaster, "Take those good head that thou bring nothing back with thee from Alexandria but corn; and whereas aforetime thou hast brought in the vessel a measure or two of sand, bring thou not so much as would lie upon a penny this time. Bring thou nothing else, I say, but wheat: for these people are dying, and now we must keep our vessels for this one business of bringing food for them." Alas, I have seen certain mighty galleys of late, loaded with nothing but mere sand of philosophy and speculation, and I have said within myself, "Nay, but I will bear nothing in my ship but the revealed truth of God, the bread of life so greatly needed by the people." God grant us this day that our ship may have nothing on board it that may merely gratify the curiosity or please the taste; but that there may be necessary truths for the salvation of souls. I would have each one of you say: "Well, it was just the old, old story of Jesus and His love, and nothing else." I have no desire to be famous for anything but preaching the old Gospel. There are plenty who can fiddle to you the new music; it is for me to have no music at any time but that which is heard in heaven. "Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, to Him be glory forever and ever!"—Rev. C. H. Spurgeon.

DIED OF YELLOW FEVER.

Elder R. S. Sims, pastor of our church at Key West, Fla., died last week with yellow fever. He was found at his post when he fell. His dear wife is confined to her bed with the same malady, He leaves a wife and seven or eight children, with many friends and relations to mourn his loss. Elder Sims was one of the bright lights of the East Florida Conference.

Cultivate forbearance till your heart yields a fine crop of it. Pray for a short memory as to all unkindness.

Good qualities are the substantial riches of the mind, but it is good breeding that sets them off to advantage.

Sin is never at a stay; if we do not retreat from it, we shall advance to it; and the further on we go, the more we have to come back.

Church News.

Rev. E. M. Willingham, Muscogee, I. T., writes:—"The A. M. E. Church at Vinita, I. T., is now up, for which we have been struggling for a long time."

Rev. Robert A. Johnson, of Cleveland, Ohio, says:—"Although I have said nothing through the RECORDER this year, I have been working all the same. We have been enabled to pay over $1,000 this year on the main debt. It took Herculean work to do this, and I thank God that he fitted me for the emergency. The brother who may follow me will have the way clear to double that amount next year."

A PICTURESQUE RESORT IN CHILI.—"Santa Lucia" is the most beatiful place in all South America—the most beautiful place I have ever seen. It is a pile of rocks thousand feet high, cast into the centre of the great plain on which the city stands by some volcanic agency. It was here that the United States astronomical expedition of 1852 under Lieutenant Gillis, made observations. Before that time, as far back as the Spanish invasion, it was a magnificent fortress, commanding the entira valley with its guns, and tradition has it that the King of the Araucanians had a stronghold here before the Spanish arde came. After the departure of the United States expedition, Vicunae McCenna, a public-spirited man of wealth in Santiago, undertook the work of beautifying the place, and by the aid of private subscription with much of his own means, sought all the resources that taste could suggest and money reach to improve on nature's grandeur. His success was complete. Winding walks and stairwaye, parapets and balconies, grottoes and flower beds, groves of trees and vine-hung arbors, follow ena another from the base to the submit, while upon the west, at the edge of a precipice 800 feet high, is a miniature castle and a lovely little chapel, in whose crypt Vicunaa McCenna has asked that bis bones be laid. Below the chapal, 300 or 400 feet, on the opposite side of the hill, is a level place on which a restaurant and cri-door theatre have been erected. Here on summer nights come the population of the city to eat ices, drink beer, and laugh at the farces played upon the stage, while bands of music and dancing make the people happy. This is a resort of the aristocracy.—W. E. Curtis in Harper's Magazine for September.

THE BEST OF ACADEMIES.

Under the above complimentry heading the Media American of a recent date said:

"The Shortlidge Academy for Boys has become a Great Educational Institution, with a success so marked and widely known that it draws students from all parts of the continent. Improved methods of education, practical and capable instructors, careful preparatory for College life, combined with reasonable charges and every means for the promotion of physical health, strength, and good habits are the features which distinguish this Academy for Boys above others. Media is proud of it and of its enterprising founder, Mr. Swithin C. Shortlidge."

PHILADELPHIA, SEPT. 1, 1887.

IN THE absence of our amiable editor the past three weeks, the Manager and foreman have labored to keep the paper up to its standard in the matter of editing and selecting matter. Some difficulty with machinery at the press last week gave many blurred and unsatisfactory papers. This is the sole complaint we have to make since editor Lee left us.

OF COURSE, no editor can enjoy publishing his own name in such prominent relations as the editor of the RECORDER's appears in Dr. J. H. A. Johnson's series of excellent articles. Such association of the same name has been suppressed uniformly heretofore, but the explanation given by Dr. Johnson, together with the fact that many are pleased to have his strong pen play its part again, protects him against the exercise of the editor's taste.

AGAIN THE annual cry comes from South Carolina: "The negroes will starve the coming winter." Owing to disease, pestilence, flood or famine, the planters are unable to feed them, and must come from elsewhere. South Carolina is an unfortunate State. It is well that its white populace, feels a sense of responsibility for its black populace. The latter has evidently contributed as largely to the peace and prosperity of South Carolina as the former, by blood and tears.

ENDOWMENT DAY is approaching. This is our last round before the General Conference. The first four years' work of our new organization will end with the third Sunday in September. How much can we add to the sum of the past three years? Our educational necessities are about three times as great as four years ago. Are our abilities equal to them? Should the Church place $25,000 at the disposal of the Secretary of Education for 1887-'88 he could do wonders for us.

OUR CHURCHES in Chicago are furnished with able pastors. The work accomplished by them there last year and elsewhere other years is proof of this. Should Elder T. W. Henderson succeed in his plans for this year, he will give the connection one of its finest church building on the site now occupied by old Quinn Chapel. The addition and improvements made by Elder Reed and the members of Bethel Church have made that building one of the most beautiful and commodious church edifices owned by colored worshipers in the city. The indebtedness is but little greater than when they commenced operations, though their work cost about $5,000. The church on the West Side had its debt reduced by $2,000 during the past two years. Elder Knight, who has been its pastor in that time, intends to reduce it by as much more this year. St. Paul's is the baby church, but it is expected that Elder Jacobs will make it the equal of some of the others, should he remain in the pastorate two or three years. The people of that city have a mind to work. They are spirited and proud.

WHEN THIS number of the RECORDER is circulated thousands of school teachers and pupils will have taken on the feelings peculiar to entering upon their work for another year. Trunks will be packed for traveling and the mind will begin to anticipate the pleasures and pains of school life. The complex throng, the variety of mind, the manifestations of morals, the new associations, the renewal of old associations, the responsibilities consequent upon all these, the pleasure of learning and the hopes of teaching, all exercise the mind of teacher and pupil. Parents, too, are engaged in this, one of the most important classes of the business of modern civilization. Parents are wishing for school to open to get rid of the responsibility of home government. This is next to the lowest form of thought about school time; the still lower being that of opposing schools and scholarship. But there are thoughts engaging parents' minds relative to school opening that are of the noblest character. There are far-seeing parents, wide-awake parents, patient, progressive parents who peer into the great future and see in the schools of the present the protectors of the future.

NO MORE cheery, pleasant or healthful Methodist paper came to our office this week than the Southern Christian Advocate, published at Columbia, S. C. We are persuaded that the editor of that paper has a warm heart and a clear head. In its make-up, heading, etc., the Southern Advocate is an exceedingly handsome paper, as well as sensible and sound. Concerning the general criticism of the Georgia Glean bill through the Northern States, the Southern cites, with humorous but telling effect, the case of Prudence Crandall and her Canterbury school and the severe and barbarous conduct of the mobs that broke it up. Also the severe laws passed against it, under which the saintly Quakeress was sent to jail. Nor is good old Boston forgotten. A case is cited when her eyes were as large and fierce with Pagan rage at the thought of African negro enlightenment as the most orthodox mossback of to-day. It closes with this remark: "Connecticut and Massachusetts have doubtless learned better manners since then; but, with the facts of history on record, our brethren 'up yonder' should 'go slow' in their condemnation of the South.'" The RECORDER can only say for the comfort of our friends in the North, they believe in the command of the Master: "When thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

WE ARE constantly in receipt of letters, sometimes to the editor and sometimes to the manager, containing a trifle of 25 cents or 50 cents on subscription to the paper, and a long letter of inquiry for lost friends. We have now on file a long list of these letters. They will never be published, because the paper cannot afford it. We print these inquiries to aid our circulation, and the rule is, one full year's subscription. For any one thus subscribing for the paper the manager prints a short notice of 6 to 10 lines free of charge, nor do we obligate ourselves to keep such notice in the paper longer than is convenient to us—two times, or one month, or three months. Only so much space can be given to this sort of service. When the column gets too full, we take out some and put in later ones. The RECORDER is worth the subscription we get for it. It costs more than all its subscriptions ever covered. The notices are printed free to encourage the subscriber and to get other subscribers, so as to give a wider field for our advertisers who pay us hard cash for the space they use. Now, then, please understand: a year's subscription must come with the notice. No matter if you have just paid a regular subscription three months ago, if you want a notice you must send another year—$2. We will give you full credit for both years. But no money, no notice.

IT WOULD be well for our people to form a strong land league with an eye on the West. The open West, the wide West, the wild West and other terms indicating the seeming inexhaustible territory of the Mississippi basin and the Pacific slope, will soon become obsolete by reason of the vast immigrations concentering there from all parts of the world. Land is still cheap. By a little ingenious husbanding and consolidating of forces, colored men could own hundreds of thousands of additional acres there within the next ten years. It is our opportunity. Everything invites us, everything impels us, to seize this opportunity. Color or condition prejudices is not so prominent where all is new; both races are nearly in the same condition and all are interdependent. There is a variety of climate there that adapts itself to all persons. Land is exceedingly low in price. A round million of us are in circumstances absolutely without promise or encouragement. Nothing more emphatically brings out the great love manifested for us by our brethren in the South as independent movements of this kind. We shall have a much easier time securing our proper place and privileges by taking strong and progressive steps toward self direction and providence than by any other means. It is really an incumbent duty upon all colored men to aid in raising the race above the position of especial dependents, that our brethren of the other race may be relieved from claiming to be our guardians and supporters. Such relation as this is only one step above the condition of absolute slavery. This combination of power presupposes large confidence in one another and the investment of money upon this confidence. As with other people, so with us; if our wealthy men do not come to the relief and assistance of our poor, our case is hopeless.

IT MAY be noticed that the Educational Board authorises the 25 per cent. of educational money, that the law says shall be used for the creation of an endowment fund for Wilberforce University, to be retained by the Secretary of Education for the support of the department. This direction is evidently inspired by righteous consideration of the case, but can hardly be called equitable. On passing the law governing our educational work, the General Conference failed to make any provision for the support of the department in its operations, except that that the Secretary's salary was ordered paid for two years. It says nothing concerning the source whence his salary shall be derived during the remaining two years of the quadrennium, nor from what source he shall derive his travelling expenses and the expenses of board meetings, collections, etc. Looking this matter of design and demand squarely in the face, one other conclusion be reached than that the General Conference intended that the expenses of the department not provided for should come out of the money raised for education, or that the department should support itself? Out of 100 per cent., not 25 per cent.

Would not the spirit of the law have been perfectly carried out had the Board arranged to support the department from the base rather than from the per cent.? may well be asked. The difficulty in carrying out this, clearly the only just course, lies in the fact that the 25 per cent. is supposed to come into the Secretary's hand, while the 75 per cent. is retained by the local boards for distribution in the educational work of their districts. The board probably doubted its ability to secure any part of this; so concluded to draw the full support for the management of the 75 per cent., as well at the 25 per cent., all from the 25 per cent. because this is in hand. Could the Board not have managed sufficiently wisely to secure from local boards an equitable proportion of their funds to pay for their own general government? However, this much is plain, the department must be supported. The best thing is to rally to its support in the manner ordered by the board. It is hoped that the 25 per cent. will all go as ordered by General Conference to the Educational Secretary, since there is no other provision made for the support of the department.

"WE ALL DO FADE AS THE LEAF."

The death of the Rev. Daniel Curry, D.D., who died at his home in New York, August 17th, deprives American Methodism of a great intellectual star, and the M. E. Church of one of the strongest men she has ever produced. The native power of the man is easily indicated when we are reminded that he was graduating from college, (such as they were) when the present generation of settled men were still in the cradle. When we were learning to walk, just fifty years ago, this man left college to begin the work of a teacher. That he should be editor of the Methodist Quarterly at the age of seventy-eight tells its own story of the breadth and perennial verdure of his powers. The South and the North respond to each other in the surrender of their great men of the past generation. Every Methodist preacher felt that he had lost a friend and a mighty soldier from the army when good old Dr. McPherson, of the South, died only a few months since. Now, the North gives up her Dr. Curry. One by one we cross the river.

LOYALTY.

This little word is played upon a great deal. Often with little sincerity, but usually in good faith. However, good faith is of little value where good judgment is wanting, or where good comprehension is absent. Is that people loyal whose pastor says, "My people's a loyal people" and in the next breath says, "If you push that matter (a matter perfectly loyal and reasonable) my people will rebel?" do not such expressions encourage rebellion? Loyalty in the people is fostered by loyalty in the pulpit. No-where else does the word of Scripture more certainly show its truth—"that which a man sows, that shall he reap"—than in this case; nowhere else does "like priest, like people" find a better illustration. The only way to keep the spirit of loyalty large is to act it largely in every exercise and in every office. "Our people won't hear it" is often declared of certain requirements of law. More frequently than otherwise the people do not object till they hear their pastor declare the requirements an unendurable burden. The Afrieo-American race is naturally loyal, made so by long years of servitude.

The miserable prophesies made for disloyalty among us are the result of chronic dissatisfaction in the minds of the few; not of the feelings of the masses. Loyalty in the A. M. E. Church is by no means small. There are, besides honest grumblers, some thoughtless, selfish and inconsistent leaders, who would seem to account their own personal ends the most important object to be gained. These are often very useful to the conduction in everything else but this. It were well if they could be controlled in this. They cry, "lions are on the streets" when there are no lions there. They exclaim, "I warn you, I warn you!" when their warning is more dangerous than that against which is given. The needless confusion of laws that ought to be plain adds to the increase of this spirit of disloyalty. Too much interpretation as well as much learning may make mad. That which is explicit requires no other exposition than that of common sense.

LOGIC—PHILOSOPHY.

The use of logic as the instrument of reasoning is in some degree natural to every sound mind. We can never forget a brilliant and beautiful illustration of this by a gentleman of the Missouri Legislature soon after the war. He showed how the Indian warrior in his eloquent harrangue to his followers employs the same processes of thought that are found in the profound disquisitions of Plato or Bacon. The elements employed are the same, viz., the major and minor premises and the conclusions. Often one or the other of the premises are assumed, but this does not invalidate the conclusion. But when either of the premises is absent or false, then we have infallibly a fallacy in the conclusion. The world is full of fallacies. A large proportion of all that is written in books, pamphlets and newspapers is fallacious. The merest rhetorical flourishing is often palmed off on the public for sound reasoning, and then the writers stand aside and gaze at their productions with evidently happy amazement and wonder why every one does not admire and applaud them. We are led to these reflections by what we observe in the writings of many of our young men for the press. The effort in most cases seems to be to make readable compositions and to "shine" by sheer eloquence, that is, by the use of pretty rhetorical images and by sallies of wit. This may do well enough in fiction, but when men essay to write of matters grave and very important; when they aim to instruct on subjects which affect the general welfare, it will not do. The reasoning here, to be of any value, aye, to be anything else than positively harmful, must be predicated upon facts. And just here is the difficulty; here lies the rub. There must be the major and minor elements, i. e., a number of particular instances referred to a general principle well known. But this sort of thing requires study and hard work, a great deal more of painstaking, indeed, than the average young writer is willing to endure. No instrument of writing is valuable for the words it contains except as they are symbols of truth. Other things equal, a writer will be infinitely more esteemed for the solidity and conclusiveness of his utterances than for anything else he can employ.

A certain young man, writing in the Star of Zion on the financial condition and policies of that Church, weaves a long web of self-satisfying fallacies. Bishop S. T. Jones, than whom there is no nobler man in Afro-American Methodism, pursues the young man's essay with a keen, logical surgeon's knife and demonstrates the utter worthlessness of the whole labored article because of its false, illicit methods. We could earnestly wish some venerable strong man of our Church, who is apt in the art of logical debate, would pursue and riddle in the same way some of the gifted, but fallacious, writers among us. It would do them great good and save many from being misled. Since it has become fashionable for anybody to write his immature "views" and have them printed in the RECORDER, the habit of carefully weighing a subject and getting all possible light before writing on it, and then laboriously revising every sentence, so as to be sure of its significance in every word and of its truth, has well nigh passed away. Greater care, hard-er work and deeper study is the need of the hour.

PAGANISM AGAINST CHRISTIANITY IN THE AMERICAN CHURCH.

The cloud arising on the face of our Southern sky expands along the horizon, dark and portentious. It is full of fore trial for our race in this country, and the prophecy of trouble for the nation.

We clip the following from the Independent of August 25th:

The minority of the late Southern Presbyterian Assembly, by a majority action of the Assembly on the question of union with the Northern Presbyterian Church, held a conference some time ago, in which about fifty took part and appointed a committee of eight—five ministers and three elders—to embody the grounds of their opposition in an open letter. This letter, which is one of great length, has just been given to the public. It is signed by Drs. B. M. Palmer, R. L. Dabney, R. K. Smoot, J. L. Girardeau, and C. R. Vaughn, and Elders Collier, Prince and Armstrong. These grounds are set forth under four heads. The fourth is as follows:

"IV. An insuperable barrier to union with the Northern Church is the race problem, which the presence of the Negro in such numbers at the South forces us to consider."

The letter deals with this question with great fullness, going back to the dispersion of tongues to show Gods' purpose to separate mankind into groups and keep them apart. On no point, it says, are the people of the South more sensitive than on that of amalgamation. If blacks and whites are brought together by reintegration with the Northern Church the result in the South would be ominous.

"It is easy to see how with a view to ecclesiastical subjugation, Negro churches could be multiplied of infinitesimal proportions, packing our courts with Presbyters of that race, to whom the Church would be in entire subjection. . . . How can the two races be brought together in nearly equal numbers in those confidential and sacred relations which belong to the ministry of the Word, without entailing that personal intimacy between ministers and people which must end in the general amalgamation of discordant races? . . .

"Nor can we think of any device by which we may be preserved from these dangers, in the bosom of the Northern Church."

These published sentiments, formal, studied, emphatic, show the drift of feeling at work in the bosom of Southern society. Respectable numbers of thoughtful men in the three leading branches of Protestant Christians in that section declare plainly and fully their reasons for the position they assume, and the impossibility of modifying their policy. It is easy to speculate on the solution of this difficult problem, but it is certain that God alone can foresee the outcome. We have only this to say, that if there is not a peaceful and happy solution, contributing to the glory of Christ and the advancement of humanity, then our hope for the final triumph of the gospel will be greatly shaken.

No very sharp power of analysis is necessary to find the root of trouble with these dear Christian (?) brethren. It is simply the old pagan race-pride that has kept the various clans and tribes of men in a state of perpetual war for thousands of years. It is the fount in whence has flown half and more of the red tide of human woe from the days of murderous Cain until now. Hence the title of this article.

The most stubborn thing in the human heart, and the most difficult to subdue, is caukerous, scornful pride—as the full story of this pride in the ancient pagan world. These men are afraid of the possible reunion of discordant races. "The destiny of ourselves and our children is at stake," is the implication in all they say. The feeling is that the colored people, as also all the dark-hued races, are essentially inferior; hopelessly so, in physique, in intellect, and in the constitution of the moral nature. Therefore, union with them must be resisted at all hazards. But what is the true destiny of the Anglo-Saxon and all other races of men, in the light of the New Testament teaching? Is the idea anywhere set forth that anyone of these is to conquer the earth for itself and hold it for the propagation of a creed, and, if you please, a handsome, high passed away. Greater care, hard-er work and deeper study is the need of the hour.

"Proud Greece all nations else Barbarious held,"

Christian world to witness the righteousness of his act, severed his relation with the "Mother Church," went forth to plant a vine and fig-tree under which he and his people, with all others who might choose to come, could worship God without let or hindrance. The seed then planted has become a mighty tree and the trumpet tones then sounded are still echoing in the land.

Allen is dead, but, though dead, yet speaketh, and from the battlements of the skies, where the clarion notes of angelic trumpeters forever resound, appeals to us never to let perish from our remembrance that the seed of the glorious fruitage of religious liberty which we to-day enjoy was sown by the fathers amid tears and keenest agony. They bore the yoke that we might be free; they groaned that we might rejoice.

With a just appreciation of the brave and courageous spirit possessed by the fathers, as well as the benefits which we enjoy as the result of their self-sacrificing toil, and in order that from the standpoint of a century's development we may take a retrospect of the past and review the principal events pertaining thereto; and above all that we may give thanks to God for raising up so great a man as Richard Allen, the founder of the First Independent African Methodist Society in America and the chief among his people in his day and generation, our Bishops, by oracle, proclaimed and duly published, have bidden us to prepare for a season of thanksgiving and jubilee to take place sometime during next November, and thus fittingly celebrate the centennial of the organization of the first independent African Methodist Society in America. There is great anxiety as to the extent to which the celebration will be observed. Some have predicted that it will be a failure. A failure? Never! If we hallow the memories of our fathers; if we appreciate the noblest qualities in man; if we would make known that the name of Allen is deeply imbedded in our affections, and if we would not have the future historian write that African Methodists in 1887 were so narrow, selfish, ungrateful and indifferent to the claims of their own institutions as well as to the demands of religious patriotism, that they allowed the proposed celebration of the centennial of their existence to prove a mere mockery, we will at once begin the work of preparation and continue it with tireless energy so that our centennial period shall close amid a blaze of glory, thanksgiving, rejoicing and praise. Let us prove both abundant in rejoicing and liberal in giving, and thus start out upon our second centennial epoch with our Publication Department free of all encumbrances and with a sufficient amount remaining to enable the Manager to provide all the appliances necessary to meet the growing demands of our Church.

I appeal to the watchmen on the walls of our Zion to cry aloud and spare not. Let it known in every region of the land that this is our year of jubilee, and that after a test of one hundred years we stand before the Christian world without a single banner trailing in the dust and with increasing confidence that the God of our fathers is our God, and that we shall continue the warfare until the brotherhood of man is as fully accepted as is the fatherhood of God.

OUR COMING GREAT CENTENNIAL.

Many inquiries come to us from all sections about the coming Centennial Jubilee of African Methodism and the programme of the same. To all these questions we can only give this general reply at present: 1. The month of November is the time set apart for the jubilee. At the Episcopal meeting in Atlantic City in July, it was the opinion of the Bishops and brethren present that the whole Church should join in the celebration, but that we could not fix upon one day for all, on account of the many conferences to be held in that month. Ten conferences, embracing more than half the ministers and members of the connection, will be held in November. This alone is a circumstance unparalleled in our history. It was decided, therefore, to set apart the whole month, including all the Sabbaths, as the centennial or jubilee month; but especially to emphasize one of the three Sabbaths, 13th, 20th, or 27th. Thus all the churches of the entire connection would have an opportunity to participate in the jubilee. The final winding up and general gathering to occur in this city (Philadelphia) from Tuesday, November 22, to Sunday, 27. 2. The programmes have not yet been fully prepared and approved by the committee, but to make the matter plain to all we give this illustration: (a) the Bishops of the Church, all of them, and the general officers, constitute a general committee, Dr. B. W. Arnett, secretary; (b) committee of programme and details, Revs. B. W. Arnett, J. C. Embry and the following members of the Philadelphia Conference: Rev. C. C. Felts, chairman; L. J. Coppin, J. S. Thompson, O. T. Shaffer, and, we think, B. W. Bolton, or J. W. Beckett (?) Bishop Brown is chairman of the working General Committee. But since he will be nearly the whole interval in the far West, and in California, he verbally deputized the Manager to go ahead and push things in his name.

3. All pastors, with the Board of Stewards and Stewardesses and superintendents, are made the managing committee of each church and Sunday school.

4. ADVICE: We advise every pastor who is going to take part in the jubilee, to call his committee, as above-named, early in October, decide at once what week in November you will hold your celebration or jubilee, first week, second week or third week. In all cases closing on Sunday. It should begin not later than Wednesday of the week chosen. As soon as you have settled the time notify this office, for programme, and for the number of envelopes you may need.

We shall print at least fifty thousand (50,000) with our Church motto, centennial motto, and likeness of Allen. These are "centennial free-will offering" envelopes, and can't be duplicated.

This is an outline of the whole.

KNOWLEDGE.

BY REV. G. W. SPEARMAN.

"The fear of the Lord teudeth to life; and he that hath it shall abide satisfied; he shall not be visited with evil."—Psalms 19, 23

Knowledge is great power, and it sustains a man through all the changing events of life. Knowledge is acquired from books, from the study of nature, from observation, from intercourse with our fellow beings and from the study of the highways and let them drink of the human character in all ages; compelled, therefore, after this week, to raise the prices on most of them to cover cost and expense. We change our rates this week.

J. C. EMBRY.

ATLANTA, GA., August 26, 1887.

To the Ministers and Members of the Second Educational District, including the following conferences, viz: Columbia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, North Georgia, and Macon:

DEAR BRETHREN.—Our next Endowment Day will be the third Sunday in next September. I earnestly trust that each minister will endeavor to do his best to make our educational collection a success. Dr. William D. Johnson, our Secretary of Education, is anxious for his department to stand second to none. Therefore, let us rally, as this is the last educational collection this side of the General Conference.

I am fraternally yours,

W. J. GAINES,
Secretary Second District.

Wisdom is regarded as the experience of age, and usually as men grow older they become wiser. It grows with our growth and strengthens with our strength; but we are told in Holy Writ that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom," and admonished in early life to "remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth," and to "keep my commandments and live; and my law as the apple of thine eye. Bind them upon thy fingers, write them upon the table of thine heart." So we see that youth is the time to begin to lay up wisdom and acquire knowledge; and the fear of the Lord in early life is the beginning of wisdom. Youth is the time to bind the laws of the Lord on the fingers and write them on the table of the young heart; and when the years shall come with all the cares of life and the changes which time shall make, the law of right shall be on the fingers, and the fear of the Lord graven on the table of the heart as on the tablets of stone from the brow of Sinai. We are commanded to "search the scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life."

The Israelites were commanded to teach the law of Moses to their children. And where else can the law of life be better learned or the foundation of wisdom found than in that wonderful book,—the Bible—which is the word of God, written by his own unerring fingers? Truly it is a wonderful book; surely it is the word of God, for no mortal mind could conceive its teachings, and no human intellect could so admirably adapt it to the wants and conditions of the human race in every age, in every clime. It is the source of all knowledge, the beginning of all history, the foundation of all law, the germ of all science, the wellspring of all philosophy and the foundation of all poetry and song. It addresses itself to the human heart in all ages and in all conditions. It is in keeping with the experience of the human race, from Adam all along down the stream of life to the present day. It truthfully and faithfully portrays the dark side of human nature and holds up to view the sin and wickedness of human character in all ages; and then with a flood of glorious light it reveals the grandeur and splendor of the human soul, its lofty ambitions, its grand possibilities, its God-like attributes and its immortal destinies. It furnishes rest and relish to the joys and pleasures of life; in the deep waters of affliction it is a panacea for all our troubles and in dark and rayless adversity it whispers hope to the heart and becomes "a lamp to our feet and a light to our path."

The history of Moses is a transcript of the plan and schemes of God in the creation of the world as he flung it into space from his mystic hand and started it on its grand mission in the universe. Judges, kings and chronicles are replete with the first science of governments, the rise and fall of nations, the ebb and achievements of kings and rulers of men; their sins and virtues; their successes and failures. The Psalms of David are pathetic odes, reaching every sentiment of the lounging soul-and touching every feeling of the human heart.

The prophets are full of strange visions and striking prophecies touching the destines of men and nations and reciting God's mysterious providence in his dealings with his people. The book of Job is a grand and musical anthem on human life, while Isaiah is a lofty poem, full of rapturous imagery, noble sentiment and romantic and charming incident. And the New Testament recounts the most wonderful transactions that heaven and earth ever witnessed. The life of Christ and the story of the Cross are crowded with the strangest and most wonderful incidents; the most novel and romantic circumstances; the most pathetic and tragic issues, and the most tremendous consequences the world ever knew or dreamed of. The strange story of the advent, the career, passions, tragedy and ascent of the Saviour is the "oldest, newest, strangest, truest, greatest, saddest that the world has ever known."

And where can all these wonders be found but in the Bible? And where can they be better taught or better learned than in the Sabbath school? The Sabbath school is God's nursery for childhood. Here the children learn of the awful majesty, wisdom and power of God, and the gentle, meek and loving character of Christ. Here lessons are instilled into the young heart, that cling to it through all coming life. The beautiful Sabbath mornings and the holy influences linger fadeless and fresh in memory's storehouse all through life down to old age. The sweet songs of the Sunday schools, the recitations, the prayers and holy praise follow us like shadows or a lovely dream through all the devious ways and intricate maizes of subsequent life. Then gather the children into the fold. Gather them in from the highways and let them drink of the fountain of knowledge, "for whosoever drinketh of thiswater shall never thirst." Like Saul at the feet of Gamaliel let them sit at the feet of Jesus and "learn of me, for I am meek and lowly and ye shall find rest to your souls."

EVERGREEN COTTAGE,
Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug 24, '87.

The Bishops of the A. M. E. Church are hereby informed that a joint meeting of the Bishops of the A. M. E. Zion Church will be held at Montgomery, Ala., on the 15th of December, 1887, to be opened at 10 A. M.

The object of the joint meeting is for farther consideration of the question of "organic union" according to the Articles of Agreement of the joint commission of the African M. E. Church and African M. E. Zion Connections, held in Washington, D. C., July 15-17, A. D. 1885.

In view of the importance of such a meeting before the General Conferences of the two Connections, in May, 1888, we hog that the Bishops of both connections will arrange their official obligations and printed private affairs, as to have no excuse for absence from the Montgomery meeting in Alabama at the date fixed.

Signed in behalf of both Boards of Bishops,

DANIEL ALEXANDER PAYNE,
SINGLETON THOMAS JONES.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Pastors or superintendents having Children's Day money in their possession will please forward the same at once so that it may be reported in the Annual Record. We are keeping the report open in order that every school may be represented. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH,

Aug. 28, 1887.

Notice to ministers buying the school text books in the course of studies: Owing to the high prices now asked by publishers for these books, we can no longer furnish them at the rates published in the RECORDER catalogue of last winter.

We do not expect to make profit on these books to students, but we must have our money back for their cost and expense of handling. We are compelled, therefore, after this week, to raise the prices on most of them to cover cost and expense. We change our rates this week.

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, fifteen hundred dollars in a short time; that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have had the matter under advisement and have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these urgent demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also in our Church organ, which appeal you are now reading. What will you do with it? How will you answer it? Will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over this matter carelessly and cast it from your minds. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not a State normal, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we cordially invite and joyfully hail students of every nationality and religious faith; but this university is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned and controlled by this Church as a body, and the day that her doors are closed for the want of means that day the 600 members of the A. M. E. Church become responsible and are or will be justly charged with the folly and crime of their negligence and stupidity. But her doors will not be closed; you will not suffer such a shame to light the fair name of our dear Church. Brother Trustees, we appeal especially to you. We as a Board are your servants, executing, as far as we can, your will. We ask you to give us aid. Our agents cannot call upon many of you in person. To you who read this appeal and are at a distance too remote for our local agents to call upon you in person and present the cause of our university and the great need of immediate action, we earnestly ask you in the name of God and a common humanity; in the name of the work accomplished in the past by Wilberforce; in the name of her many noble sons and daughters that have gone out from her and in their moral, intellectual and religious strength have lifted high the torch of reason and intelligence and with Christian heroism have unfurled the banner of the Redeemer; for the sake of this institution her enemies have plotted under the guidance of God in the past and for the sake of what lies within the realm of her power to do in the future we beseech and implore you to send as early as possible to the Secretary whatever you may be able to give in this direction. And for every dollar you give God will bless you many fold. Any amount you may send will be duly acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home are going to aid us, but we want our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with them. If they will do this in a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that within the next thirty days the fifteen hundred dollars will be realized and the burden removed. Brethren, for once respond to our earnest call, and relieve us of this embarrassment. It is our purpose to publish the names of the donors after the canvass of our local agents shall have been concluded, and we sincerely hope to be able to have in the list the name of every trustee of the University.

Yours, with anxious waiting, signed by order and on behalf of the Executive Board of Wilberforce University,

J. P. MAXWELL,
Secretary.

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS, AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH,
No. 1424 R. I. Avenue,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4, 1887.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHUCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask your father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness!"

Next November will be one hundred years since Richard Allen and his compeers left St. George's M. E. Church, in the city of Philadelphia, (1787) and the Bishops of the semi-annual meeting adopted the following Preamble and Resolutions:

WHEREAS: November next, 1887, will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the Methodist Society of Philadelphia convened together in order to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of worship, and even pulled them off their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seats." (See preface to the A. M. E. Church Discipline,)

AND WHEREAS: This is the most decisive act of the religious colored people in the United States, and we know of none like it of the descendants of Africa in the world; if we except the Resolve of the Haitians under Toussaint, Cristophe, Petion and Boyer. Those men were to Hayti and San Domingo, in a civil and political sense, what Allen, Jones, Tapsico and others were to the colored Christians of America; that they were manhood, freedom, and manhood christianity. We must fully recognize their action a success—a republic we have—all therefore recognize their manhood because their act proves this. To resist oppression is Church or State is manly. Toussaint and Allen are by us honored, reverred and loved. The success of Allen and his compeers is demonstrated, for it has given us the largest colored organization in the world. It is therefore proper and right that we should commemorate an event so important and so full of interest to us as a race. Therefore be it

Resolved, first, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that next November, a date in that month he hereafter fixed, to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that sermons be preached at all our fourchees throughout the connection. The order of exercises to he fixed by each Conference, quarterly conference, and pastor and each church. A general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Resolved, second, As our publishing interest has long suffered, because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected to be appropriated to assist in the paying off of debts now resting on our Publication Department.

Adopted.

COMMITTEE ON ARRANGEMENTS: J. M. BROWN, T. M. D. WARD, H. M. TURNER, R. R. DISNEY, B. W. ARNETT.

We ask co-operation. If you intend to cooperate will you send us a line signifying your approval and intention to act, by addressing a note to No. 1424 R. I. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Any plan suggested by you please forward to me.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN M. BROWN, Chairman,

P. S.—I wish you unity, prosperity and holiness, and that next year will be the crowning year of our Church.

J. M. B.

Let the effort made by us this year for education be worthy of the occasion. Life's great mission is to enlighten and Christianize the world. This is every man's highest calling.

Now, my dear brother in the ministry, we ask you in the name of your high and sacred calling, in the name of the elevation of our race, in the name of the enfranchisement of ten thousand of our brethren in the South, to raise as much money as you possibly can for Christian education.

To aid in this work a beautiful Goldplated Medal, with the Lord's Prayer engraved on one side, will be awarded to every child or adult who may raise sixty cents by Endowment Day Punch Card and forward it to me. Every member of the Church should secure one of these medals. Urge the Superintendent and Sabbath school to commence the work immediately. Give the Superintendent his circular.

I can send by return mail all the cards you want. Write immediately and let me know how many to send.

Our sincere and fervent prayer is that God may bless abundantly your efforts.

Very respectfully,

JOHN G. MITCHELL,
Sixth and Broadway, Cincinnati, O.

Publication Department
OF THE
A. M. E. CHURCH.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. When this is not done our rule is to send the amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circuit or station and request that the goods be sent to another place. We do not mention this very important fact.

4th. For all money sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, numbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, write to us about it, but be sure to give the number of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it. We have had orders sent us that the superintendent sent us money, etc., but we do not know who is his superintendent unless he writes us his name. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circuits, stations.

5th. Sign your name to your communication. We cannot tell whose a letter is to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flourishing. It is useless and often renders obscure what would otherwise be legbie writing.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without any instruction accompanying it. How do we know what to do with money sent then?

8th. We have lost a great deal of money by sending supplies C. O. D. because the parties whom we thus favored failed to take them from the express office. In consequence of this neglect and absolute loss which we have borne because of it, we have decided to positively refuse to grant any more C. O. D. favors to anyone. Please do not request them.

9th. Our business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them, or send you a catalogue, price list, blank and return envelope.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginning of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not give until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past; in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature for the benefit of two or three persons or else lay ourselves liable to a "rake over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Lesson Papers are ordered, they are filed in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessons, Reward cards and other such matter are put in one wrapper. When you order both inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and number. Unless you do this it will be returned to us while you are coming us for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for his Sunday school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office, as medium of communicating with us through a person who has permanency location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above instructions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who labor with us, intrusted with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH.

LIVER DISEASE AND HEART TROUBLE.

Mrs. MARY A. MCCLURE, Columbus, Kansas, writes: "I addressed you in November, 1884, in regard to my health, being afflicted with liver disease, and heart trouble, etc. I was advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription and Pellets. I used one bottle of the 'Prescription,' five of the 'Discovery, and four of the 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' My health began to improve under the use of your medicines, and my strength came back. My difficulties have all disappeared. I can work hard all day, or walk four or five miles a day, and stand it well; and when I began using the medicine I could scarcely walk across the room, most of the time, and I did not think I could ever feel well again. I give your remedies all the credit for curing me, as I took no other treatment after beginning their use. I am very grateful for your kindness, and thank God and thank you that I am as well as I am, after years of suffering."

LIVER DISEASE.

Mrs. I. V. WEBBEL, of Yorkshire, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I wish to say a few words in praise of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' For five years previous to taking them I was a great sufferer; I had a severe pain in my right side continually; was unable to do my own work. I am happy to say I am now well and strong, thanks to your medicines."

Chronic Diarrhea Cured.—D. LAZARUS, Esq., 276 and 277 Decatur Street, New Orleans, La., writes: "I used three bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it has cured me of chronic diarrhea."

"THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse the blood, which is the fountain of health, by using DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, and bodily health and vigor will be established.

Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the worst Scrofula, or blood-poison. Especially has it proven its efficacy in curing Salt-rheum or Tetter, Fever-sores, Hip-joint Disease, Scrofulous Sores, and Swellings, Enlarged Glands, and Eating Ulcers.

INDIGESTION, BOILS, BLOTCHES.

Rev. F. ASBURY HOWELL, North Platte, Pastor of the M. E. Church, at Gibbon, Nebraska, Co., J. says: "I was afflicted with catarrh and indigestion. Boils and blotches began to make their appearance on the skin, and I experienced a tired feeling and dullness. I began the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as directed by him. Soon the eruptions and blotches commenced coming out of my skin, and I continued the use of the 'Discovery' until I was entirely free from them. My appetite is now good, and I am free from dullness. I consider that the 'Golden Medical Discovery' has saved me from a spell of sickness that would have kept me from my work for months, if not from the grave. I have also used 'Pellets,' and find them to be the best pill I ever used. I have recommended your medicines to many others, and they have used them with the same good results as myself."

A TERRIBLE AFFLICTION.

Skin Disease.—The "Democrat and News," of Cambridge, Maryland, says: Mrs. ELIZA ANN POOLE, wife of Thomas Poole, of Williamsburg, Dorchester Co., Md., has been cured of a bad case of Eczema by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The disease appeared first in her feet, extended to the knees, covering the whole of the lower limbs from the feet to the knees and elbows and became so severe as to prostrate her. After being treated by several physicians for a year or more she commenced the use of the medicine named above. She soon began to mend and is now well and hearty. Mrs. POOLE thinks the medicine has saved her life and prolonged her days."

Mr. T. A. AYERS, of East New Market, Dorchester County, Md., vouches for the above facts.

All Travelers

Whether by land or sea, who are liable to be out of reach of drug stores and doctors, would do well to have a supply of Ayer's Pills at hand. For this purpose, the Pills are put up in bottles as well as boxes, and may be conveniently carried in one's pocket. Six of the most distinguished physicians of Syracuse, N. Y., in giving their joint testimony as to the excellent medical combination of Ayer's Pills, make this point: "Their beautiful coating of gelatine and sugar is a great advantage, in that it protects them from change by time or climate, and renders them pleasant and even agreeable to take."

"During the twenty-five years I have lived on the frontier," writes John McDowall, of Sweetwater, Col., "Ayer's Pills have been my best friend. I have lived, mostly, where there was no doctor within twenty miles, and have been hard sick several times. I always kept Ayer's medicines on hand, and with them, and the Almanac, have pulled through. I have also doctored others, and believe I have saved some valuable lives by the use of Ayer's Pills."

A MIDNIGHT PRAYER.

In the mild silence of the voiceless night,
When, chased by airy dreams, the slum-bers flee,
Whom in the darkness doth my spirit seek-
O God, but Thee?

And if there be a weight upon my breast—
Some vague impression of the day fore-gone—
Scarce knowing what it is, I fly to Thee
And lay it down.

Or if it be the heaviness that comes
In token of anticipated ill,
My bosom takes no heed of what it is,
Since 'tis Thy will.

For O! in spite of past and present care,
Or anything besides, how joyfully
Passes that almost solitary hour,
My God, with Thee.

More tranquil than the stillness of the night,
More peaceful than the silence of that hour,
More blest than anything; my bosom lies
Beneath Thy power;

For what is there on earth that I desire,
Of all that man can give or take from me?
Or whom in heaven doth my spirit seek
O God! but Thee?

CONSECRATION.

BY REV. T. W. HAIGLER, B. PH.

Consecrate me, Lord, to Thee,
Let me ever holy be;
Lead me through this world of night,
Ever walking in the light.

Speak through me from Zion's Hill,
Help me publish Thine own will.
In Thy vineyard success give,
Till I'm called with Thee to live.

In the mission field of God
Tell the story of the Cross:
God will ever you sustain,
Till we meet in heaven to reign.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—ITS PRESENT NEEDS.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 5.

Twenty-five years ago the name of the A. M. E. Church was sufficient to capture and hold within its folds one-sixth of the colored race of the United States. That day is past, and you can no more keep the colored race within our Church by the old methods than you can keep a horse in bit by feeding it upon apple cider. The age demands something new, the rising generation demands something new, the colored race demands something new, and the world demands something new. The first new thing that our Church demands, is a unity of action; the second, a newness of purpose, and the third is a united front. With these our future trimphs are as sure as the flow of time. Without these our defeat is as certain as the existence of matter. Under the head of our first proposition, many subjects come up for discussion, but with all of these we have no time to deal, so we shall only note a few. First, then, is fealty to law, which must have the precedent over every thing else. Without this, the terms "man" and "beast" could have no meaning. Without this, nature long since would have been shipwrecked. Without this, nature's God would have long ago proved himself to be an Eastern Juggernaut, to powder every object, both animate and inanimate. With this, States exist; with this, nations grow strong; with this, kingdoms and empires live for centuries; and with this churches fulfill their intended functions. If this be true in every department of human research, can it be less true in the A. M. E. Church? Certainly not. Unity of action, we repeat, is the present need of the A. M. E Church. But you ask, how can this be brought about? The way is plain. Let all within the jurisdiction learn to keep its law—both the letter and spirit. Let us say right here—and we say it with all the emphasis we can gather—we have no respect for lawbreakers, whether found among the bald knobbers of the West, ballot-box stuffers of the South, bribe-takers of the North, bank cashiers of the East, or law rependiators of our own Church.

This brings us to one of the most remarkable incidents in the history of the A. M. E. Church; the New York Conference voting for and its Bishop appointing one of its members to a charge for the fifth time in open violation of the law of our Church. The New York Conference is one of the ablest, if not the ablest, conference in our connection, and we are surprised that it should tolerate such actions, much less give them its support. If such actions had occurred in one of those conferences whose members are "only fifteen years old" it would have been bad enough, but when we consider the composition of the New York Conference—its graduates, its scholars, its able divines and its aspirants for the Bishopric, the whole thing becomes ridiculous. But let us take another view of this matter.

The effects of this fifth year appointment reach far beyond the boundaries of the New York Conference Yes, its effects will be seen sooner or later throughout the length and breadth of our connection, for every other church under our jurisdiction has the same right to petition its respective Bishop for a fifth, sixth or seventh appointment; and, to be consistent with the precedent, the request must be granted. Here one Bishop save a preacher can be sent to a church as long as the members desire him; another one declares four years is the limitation. One Bishop thinks that the wishes of our Church should be granted even if it does violate the orders of the General Conference. Another says that the lawe of the General Conference are supreme and must be obeyed at all hazards. Perhaps we are wrong; may be the New York Conference can show that there was no lawbreaking in this matter. If so, we shall be more than glad to hear from it; but until this is done we shall forever look upon it as a high-handed violation of the orders of our General Conference.

In closing this article we must pay our respect to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Allow us to say we thought it was the duty of every church organ to defend the laws, the usages and the institutions of the A. M. E Church against every assault, whether made by false friends, or open foes; but I found I was mistaken, for here is law-breaking right under the nose of the RECORDER, but still she is as silent as the grave. Where, we ask, is that powerful pen of Dr. Lee's with which he sometimes deals such deadly blows to the enemies of right? We ask, and the only answer we receive is, where is it? Not a word of protest, not a word of condemnation. Give us unity or give us death. "In union there is strength;" is as true now as it was in 1776.

In our next we shall take up our second proposition—A oneness of purpose in relation to the great mission of the A. M. E Church," and will try to point out our great danger.

Tallahassee, Fla.

SEASIDE SAUNTERINGS.

BY REV. J. T. JENIFER.

"Mamma, can't you ask God to show us some place where we can get cool?" said our little Bertha artlessly one ex ceedingly warm day lately.

"Wait, my daughter, till after July 31st, when the memorial services in respect to the life and labors of that great and good man, Bishop Shorter, are held by Bethel Church, Providence, and the Children's Day exercises are over, then we shall go to look for a cool place," said mamma.

Having celebrated the anchorist with the members of the Providence Church, on Tuesday, the 9th, we took our grip-sack, put into it the Bible, Discipline, one unfinished sermon, the New England Conference minute, the Independent, the "Monte Piece" Poloniun, "Sunday School Notes," "Unitarian Principles," by E. E. Hale, and "Orthodoxy; its Truths and its Errors," by James Freeman Clark. Off we started to Narragansett Pier, another point in our district, in search of that "cool place" to spend two weeks' vacation.

"Now, papa says he is going to rest, yet he takes along all these books and things, besides letters to write and daily papers to read. He will have no time to go with us to the beach," says Georgie. "This is the way to rest by diversion, my boy." "Diversion, papa? And what is that?" "Relieving the mind and body from the over one's thing to rest them in doing another. Thus our heavenly Father has arranged the duties and burdens of life durable by the relief and pleasure of their variety."

"You seem to enjoy that Orthodoxy," remarked an observant lady. "You have been so long up here in New England I fear you are becoming tainted with some of these isms and ologies." "Oh no, madam. They who aim to teach others must themselves first be taught" We have been curious enough to acquaint ourselves measurably with the beliefs and opinions of the Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Congregational and Roman Catholic bodies, now we wish to ascertain what the Unitarians do really believe, for as far as the opinions of this sect, they are everywhere spoken against."

It is profitable as well as pleasant to read the opinions of Rev. Edward Everett Hale, Brook Hurford and James Freeman Clark, along the lines of advanced liberal thought and Biblical critisisms, not only because of their great learning and style, but next to Channing, Bellows and T. Star King these men are regarded as anthoritative expositors of Unitarian beliefs.

James Freeman Clark finds some truths in each creed in his "Ten Chief Religions," which are held in common by all Christians. So is it profitable for us to find the common essential gronnds of all believers. One may find much valuable truth by reading "Theodosia" without becoming a Unitarian, as he may by reading Bishop Gibbon's "Faith of our Fathers," and not become a Roman Catholic.

But, Brother Editor, I did not intend to write a dissertation upon books or authors. Notwithstanding, our wise men tell us it is as good way as any to rest the mind to let it run into any profitable field of thought where it finds pleasure. I started out to say a few things about "seaside saunterings."

There are few people who make more of life than those of New England. Ardnous in labors, productive in varied industries, economical and exact in dealings, yet no people seem to know better how to combine with their toils profitable and pleasant recreation

It is marvelous to observe the extent to which these far-seeing white men have brought up and utilized the various nooks, coves and corners along their rock-bound coast for pleasure resorts and money getting. Secluded places which, a few years since, no one would think of having, are now palatial pleasure resorts. Every imaginable device for getting money is found at these chief attractions. The pocket of this white race is like a great trapper; every penny drops into it, spent for whatever purpose. It is humiliating to find so few colored people utilizing these many opportunities for money-making. They flock to them by the thousands a season and spend here and on the boats and cars money by the hundreds, but nine times out of ten colored ladies and gentlemen are denied comfortable accommodations at-place for guests. This week three of the most refined colored young ladies of a New England city went to Narragansett Pier for a few days. While here they attempted to hire a bathing suit and take a bath. They were told that they could not bathe until the afternoon, as the guests objected to colored people bathing during the hours they bathe. Being curious to know the truth of it, I inquired of a colored lady who keeps a bathing house. She told me that all the bath houses are forbidden, by the hotel proprietors, who control the beach, from letting colored people bathing suits after 10 o'clock A. M. and before 2 P. M. Oh, cursed caste! Not a colored man owns a foot of that beach, at Narragansett Pier. It is one of the finest along the Atlantic Coast and the bathing is so delightful that the town is growing at a fabulous rate. It is fast rivaling Newport Lots which a few years since were purchased for $300 are now held for $4,000.

Mrs. L E Williams, an estimable lady, has built and opened a first-class cottage where both first-class white and colored guests this season were quartered and comfortably entertained. It is not the guests who come here that find fault with colored people bathing with them, but the hotel proprietors.

Rev J. P. Stephens, a cultured Christian minister of the A. M. E Church, is making great sacrifices and efforts to erect a church as a place of worship for the visitors.

The Providence and Newport churches and Sunday schools joined each other Aug. 17th, in annual pic-nic at the popular seaside retreat, Rocky Point. August 1st, always a day of pleasure to New Englanders, 3,000 visited this point; about 1,100 went to Oakland Beach, while quite a large number attended the reunion of the veterans at Tremont Temple, Boston. He who failed to go to the meeting at Boston missed a treat he will not get again soon.

Rev. A. W. Upshaw and lady are succeeding finely at Newport.

Calling on George T. Downing, Esq., we were delighted to meet his exceedingly interesting family. Here we found the race of life ninety-nine per cent. of them settle the "nigger" inferiority question.

There seems to be considerable anxiety among some of the colored people to join white churches, especially those will situated in life. Knowing that the Constitution of the United States and my own State don't allow me to choose for them or in any way interfere with religious worship, all I can say, being one of them and wishing to see them cast their lot with those who will do them the most good, is, I hope that they will be benefited. While I am no Catholic, or ever will be, I think that church treats colored people better than any I know in the city. I have often seen the priest in the houses of his colored members, seemingly just as contented as if in the house of his white brother or sister; rides with them on the streets without thinking that he is committing an unpardonable crime.

The annual camp-meeting of the Pensacola District of the A. M. E. Church will convene on the Fairfield next month. As I am opposed to the things that make up this meeting I suppose it will be in keeping with the adage, "If you can't say anything good, don't say anything bad," so I am not in a position to say anything.

NEWPORT NEWS

BY REV. J. M. CARGILL

MR. EDITOR:—I was quite indisposed for three weeks, while in Cambridge, Md., my pleasant little home on the Eastern Shore; and the physician advised me to leave Cambridge and come North. My family being in Newport, I left Cambridge on Tuesday, July 12, and came to Newport in order to recuperate, and spend the time with them. I am very much benefited by my short stay here, and, to speak modestly, never in my life have we been more highly entertained by a host of friends.

We have been the recipients of some twenty different entertainments given in my honor. Among them an English breakfast reception, Mrs. Sarah Ellis, No. 20 DeBlois Court; a fishing party and a private picnic, by Mr. and Mrs. Silas Dickerson, of Eleventh street; an evening tea party, by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Van Horne, John's street.

To attempt to mention the entertainments given to me since I have been here would take too much space; but to say we were entertained, in addition to the above, by Mrs. Nancy Jones, Mrs. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson, Mrs. Bell Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Willhanks, Mr. and Mrs. James Venable, Mr. and Mrs. Francis, Mrs. M. W. Nicholas, Mrs. Louisa Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Hutton, the Bowie girls, and others.

We thank them and others of our friends for these expressions of esteem and confidence; we shall not forget them.

Newport, R I.

CONGRATULATIONS.

YORK, PA., September 2, 1887.

DEAR LEE:—Please accept my congratulations. For forty-five years today, September 2, I have been a member of the A. M. E. Church; for thirty-four years an itinerant preacher; I have witnessed all the changes that have taken place. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER started on the 1st day of September, 1887, in a new form, a better form. The A. M. E. Church has for the first time a paper that does honor to her. Long may she live and grow. She deserves to have 50,000 subscribers. Come, brethren, take hold and work. I am, respectfully, yours in Christ,

WM. WAUGH GRIMES.

DR. LIVINGSTONE'S REPLY.

When Livingstone visited England after his great exploring tour, he was much praised for his sacrifices It was true he had labored much, but what did he reply to this praise? "People talk of the sacrifices I made in spending so large a portion of my life in Africa. Can you call that a sacrifice which is only a small payment on that great debt to God which can never be fully discharged? Say rather that it is a privilege. I have never made a sacrifice."—Spirit of Missions.

All Travelers
Whether by land or sea, who are liable to be out of reach of drug stores and doctors, would do well to have a supply of Ayer's Pills at hand. For this purpose, the Pills are put up in bottles as well as boxes, and may be conveniently carried in one's pocket. Six of the most distinguished physicians of Syracuse, N. Y., in giving their joint testimony as to the excellent medical combination of Ayer's Pills, make this point: "Their beautiful coating of gelatine and sugar is a great advantage, in that it protects them from change by time or climate, and renders them pleasant and even agreeable to take."
"During the twenty-five years I have lived on the frontier," writes John McDowall, of Sweetwater, Col., "Ayer's Pills have been my best friend. I have lived, mostly, where there was no doctor within twenty miles, and have been hard sick several times. I always kept Ayer's medicines on hand, and with them, and the Almanac, have pulled through. I have also doctored others, and believe I have saved some valuable lives by the use of Ayer's Pills."

A MIDNIGHT PRAYER.

In the mild silence of the voiceless night,
When, chased by airy dreams, the slum, hers flee,
Whom in the darkness doth my spirit seek-
O God, but Thee?

And it there be a weight upon my breast—
Some vague impression of the day foregone—
Scarce knowing what it is, I fly to Thee
And lay it down.

Or if it be the heaviness that comes
In token of anticipated ill,
My bosom takes no heed of what it is,
Since 'tis Thy will.

For O I in spite of past and present care,
Or anything besides, how joyfully
I'asses that almost solitary hour,
My God, with Thee.

More tranquil than the stillness of the night,
More peaceful than the silence of that hour,
More blest than anything; my bosom lies
Beneath Thy power;

For what is there on earth that I desire,
Of all that man can give or take from me?
Or whom in heaven doth my spirit seek
O God! but Thee?

CONSECRATION.

BY REV. T. W. HAIGLER, B. PH.

Consecrate me, Lord, to Thee,
Let me ever holy be;
Lead me through this world of night,
Ever walking in the light.

Speak through me from Zion's Hill,
Help me publish Thine own will.
In Thy vineyard success give,
'Till I'm called with Thee to live.

In the mission field of God
Tell the story of the Cross:
God will ever you sustain,
'Till we meet in heaven to reign.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—ITS PRESENCE AND ITS DIFFERENCE.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 5.

Twenty-five years ago the name of the A. M. E. Church was sufficient to capture and hold within its folde one-sixteenth of the colorad race of the United States. That day is past, and you can no more keep the colored race within our Church by the old methods than you can keep a horse fat by feeding it upon apple cider. The age demands something new, the rising generation demands something new, the colored race demands something new, and the world demands something new. The first new thing that our Church demands, is a unity of action; the second, a newness of purpose, and the third is united front. With these conditions triumphs are assure as the flow of time. Without these our defeat is as certain as the existence of matter. Under the head of our first proposition, many subjects come up for discussion, but with all of these we have no time to deal, so we shall only note a few. First, then, is fealty to law, which must have the precedent over everything else. Without this, the terms "man" and "beast" could have no meaning. Without this, nature long since would have been shipwrecked. Without this, nature's God would have long ago proved himself to be an Eastern Juggernaut, to powder every object, both animate and inanimate. With this, States exist; with this, nations grow strong; with this, kingdoms and empires live for centuries; and with this churches fulfill their intended functions. If this be true in every department of human research, can it be less true in the A. M. E. Church? Certainly not. A unity of action, we repeat, is the present need of the A. M. E. Church. But you ask, how can this be brought about? The way is plain. Let all within the jurisdiction learn to keepe its law—both the letter and spirit. Let us say right here—and we say it with all the emphasis we can gather—we have no respect for lawbreakers, whether found among the bald knobbers of the West, ballot-box stuffers of the South, bribe-takers of the North, bank cashiers of the East, or law repudiators of our own Church.

This brings us to one of the most remarkable incidents in the history of the A. M. E. Church; the New York Conference voting for and its Bishop appointing one of its members to a charge for the fifth time in open violation of the law of our Church. The New York Conference is one of the ablest, if not the ablest, conference in our connection, and we are surprised that it should tolerate such actions, much less give them its support. If such actions had occurred in one of those conferences whose members are "only fifteen years old" it would have been bad enough, but when we consider the composition of the New York Conference—its graduates, its scholars, its able divines and its aspirants for the Bishopric, the whole thing becomes ridiculous. But let us take another view of this matter.

The effects of this fifth year appointment reach far beyond the boundaries of the New York Conference. Yes, its effects will be seen sooner or later throughout the length and breadth of our connection, for every other church under our jurisdiction has the same right to petition its respective Bishop for a fifth, sixth or seventh appointment; and to be consistent with the precedent, the request must be granted. Here one Bishop says a preacher can be sent to a church as long as the members desire him; another one declares four years is the limitation. One Bishop thinks that the wishes of our Church should be granted even if it does violate the orders of the General Conference. Another says that the laws of the General Conference are supreme and must be obeyed at all hazards. Perhaps we are wrong; may he the New York Conference can show that there was no lawbreaking in this matter. If so, we shall be more than glad to hear from it; but until this is done we shall forever look upon it as a high-handed violation of the orders of our General Conference.

In closing this article we must pay our respect to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. Allow us to say we thought it was the duty of our Church organ to defend the laws, the usages and the institutions of the A. M. E Church against every assault, whether made by false friends, or open foes; but I found I was mistaken, for here is law-breaking right under the nose of the RECORDER, but still he is as silent as the grave. Where, we ask, is that powerful pen of Dr. Lee's with which he sometimes deals such deadly blows to the enemies of right? We ask, and the only answer we have is, where is it? A word of protest, not a word of condemnation. Give us unity or give us death. "In union there is strength," is as true now as it was in 1776.

In our next we shall take up our second proposition—"A oneness of purpose in relation to the great mission of the A. M. E. Church," and will try to point out our great danger.

Tallahassee, Fla.

SEASIDE SAUNTERINGS.

BY REV. J. T. JENIFER.

"Mamma, can't you ask God to show us some place where we can get cool?" said our little Bertha artlessly one exceedingly hot day in July.

"Wait, my daughter, till after July 31st, when the memorial services in respect to the late lamented President of that great man, Bishop Shorter, are held by Bethel Church, Providence, and the Children's Day exercises are over, then we shall go to look for a cool place," said mamma.

Having celebrated the eucharist with the members of the Providence Church, August 7th, Tuesday, the 9th, we took our grip-sack, put into it the Bible, Discipline, one unfinished sermon, the New England Conference minute, the Independent, the "Mouth-Piece," Pelonhet's "Sandsay School Notes," "Quitarian Principles," by E. E. Hale, and "Orthodoxy; its Truths and its Errors," by James Freeman Clarke. Off we started to Narragansett Pier, another point in our district, in search of that "cool place" to spend two weeks' vacation.

"Now, papa says he is going to rest, yet he takes along all these books and things, besides letters to write and daily papers to read. He will have no time to go with us to the beach," says Georgie. "This is the way to rest by diversion, my boy." "Diversion, papa? And what is that?" "Relieving the mind and body from tire over one thing to rest them in doing another. Thus our heavenly Father has arranged the duties and burdens of life durable by the relief and pleasures of their variety."

"You seem to enjoy that Orthodoxy," remarked an observant lady. "You have been so long up here in New England I fear you are becoming tainted with some of these isms and ologies." "Oh no, madam. They who aim to teach others must themselves first be taught." We have been curious enough to acquaint ourselves measurably with the beliefs and opinions of the Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Congregational and Roman Catholic bodies, now we wish to ascertain what the Unitarians do really believe, for as for as the opinions of this sect, they are everywhere spoken against."

It is profitable as well as pleasant to read the opinions of Rev. Edward Everett Hale, Brook Hurford and James Freeman Clark, along the lines of advanced liberal thought and Biblical criticisms, not only because of their great learning and style, but next to Channing, Bellows and T. Star King these men are regarded as authoritative expositors of Unitarian beliefs.

James Freeman Clark finds some truths in each creed in his "Ten Chief Religions," which are held in common by all Christians. So is it profitable for us to find the common essential grounds of all believers. One may find much valuable truth by reading "Theodosia" without becoming a Baptist, as he may by reading Bishop Gibbon's "Faith of our Fathers," and not become a Roman Catholic.

But, Brother Editor, I did not intend to write a dissertation upon books or authors. Notwithstanding, our wise men tell us it is as good way as any to rest the mind to let it run into any profitable field of thought where it finds pleasure. I started out to say a few things about "seaside saunterings."

There are few people who make more of life than those of New England. Arduous in labors, productive in varied industries, economical and exact in dealings, yet no people seem to know better how to combine with their toils profitable and pleasant recreation.

It is marvelous to observe the extent to which these far-seeing white men have brought up and utilized the various nooks, coves and corners along this rock-bound coast for pleasure resorts and money getting. Secluded places which, a few years since, no one would think of having, are now palatial pleasure resorts. Every imaginable device for gaining money is found at these chief attractions. The pocket of this white race is like a great trapper; every penny drops into it, spent for whatever purpose. It is humiliating to find so few colored people utilizing these many opportunities for money-making. They flock to them by the thousands a season and spend here and on the boats and cars money by the hundreds, but nine times out of ten colored ladies and gentlemen are denied comfortable accommodations at places for guests. This week three of the most refined colored young ladies of a New England city went to Narragansett Pier for a few days. While here they attempted to have a bathing suit and take a bath. They were told that they could not bathe until the afternoon, as the guests objected to colored people bathing during the hours they bathe. Being curious to know the truth of it, I inquired of a colored lady who keeps a bathing house. She told me that all the bath houses are forbidden, by the hotel proprietors, who control the beach, from letting colored people bathing suits after 10 o'clock a. m. and before 2 p. m. Oh, cursed caste! Not a colored man owns a foot of that sea beach at Narragansett Pier. It is one of the finest along the Atlantic Coast and the bathing is so delightful that the town is growing as a fashionable resort, fast rivaling Newport. Lots which a few years since were purchased for $300 are now held for $4,000.

Mrs. L E Williams, an estimable lady, has built and opened a first-class cottage where both first-class white and colored guests this season were quartered and comfortably entertained. It is not the guests who come here that find fault with colored people bathing with them, but the hotel proprietors.

Rev J P. Stephens, a cultured Christian minister of the A. M. E Church, is making great sacrifices and efforts to erect a church as a place of worship for the visitors.

The Providence and Newport churches and Sunday schools joined each other Aug. 17th, in annual pic-nic at the popular seaside retreat, Rocky Point. August 1st, always a day of pleasure to New Englanders, 3,000 visited this point; about 1,100 went to Oakland Beach, while quite a large number attended the reunion of the veterans at Tremont Temple, Boston. He who failed to go to the meeting at Boston missed a treat he will not get again soon.

Rev. A. W. Upshaw and lady are succeeding finely at Newport.

Calling on George T. Downing, Esq., we were delighted to meet his exceedingly interesting family. Here we found Mrs. John Jones, of Chicago, with her daughter, Mrs. Levenia Lee, and Miss Lee. You have only to meet these families to feel as if you have been acquainted with them all your life.

Now, Brother Editor, I have sauntered to the end of the beach at the "Pier;" I think I hear you say, now, stop. I think I will; good bye.

PENSACOLA LETTER.

BY S. D. JACKSON.

Thinking that a letter from this part of the land of flowers may interest some one, I take a few of my limited moments to send you this one. Since I wrote last Pensacola colored people, or a large per cent of them, have done some good things, for which they have the endorsement of all who are in favor of the negro's advancement, irrespective of race. In speaking of what they have done one of the city papers, owned by white men, says that they have done a great good, or words to that effect. Everything taken as a whole, they are making wonderful progress considering the adverse circumstances under which they have to labor. This is no part of the "New South" so often mentioned by some people who can call old new so easily. It is here, as elsewhere, everybody is trying to be ahead or even with each other.

Considering the churches the most important, I will speak first of the A. M. E. Church, under the pastorate of the Rev. J. H. Spears, having a membership of one hundred and some odd This divine preaches quietly, intelligently and free from trying to create too many things that are altogether wrong, distasteful, nonsensical and a mighty power to cause intelligent people to say that we are almost at a standstill. At this church on the 14th inst., in the presence of a vast assemblage of people, Rev. James Brantley preached his last sermon prior to leaving for Howard University. We have here a large and beautiful A. M. E. Zion Church with a very large membership The Baptists here are the most advanced of any in this part of the State. I think I am safe in saying several of them read the RECORDER and in expressing themselves, say that they are highly pleased with it. Another sensible movement is the organization of the Preachers' Association, made up of all the colored pastors of the city. They are at work in trying to get the people of Pensacola to vote whiskey out of it, break up these balls for making money to help sustain churches, also trying to establish co-operation in all good enterprises that tend to benefit the church We are glad beyond expression to see such unity existing among the prelates.

Another pleasing sight is to behold the improvements being made. A large number of our people seem determined to mix morality with Christianity—for without it I don't think any one can be a Christian—and that to a great extent. For several weeks there have been held services of educational meetings in the different churches by colored people Some of the most learned and prominent men made earnest speeches in behalf of education Their speeche were as plain as A. B. C.—I mean to say that they spoke in a manner that everybody could understand their much needed addresses for such a good cause. Home training, moral and intellectual education, have been presented to our people to the entire satisfaction, I believe, of all. Out of all these meetings I am sorry to say I have not heard a word for Wilberforce.

Miss Florence B Taylor, a young lady of our city, who returned recently from the Tuskegee Normal School, after serving nine months, read at all of these meetings excellent papers on education Seeing her improvement others have concluded to do likewise. These meetings have aroused the people as never before. Another sign of improvement is, our people read a larger number of colored newspapers than they ever did, and seem to regard them beyond considering them as "no good." But I am sorry to say that some of the very best men that ought to urge them to read are silent. Still another sign may be noted. The young men who heretofore took no interest in scarcely anything beyond pleasure, are taking an active part in several things of importance and seeking occupations beyond those of menial servitude. Wherever they are given the shallowest chance in the race of life ninety-nine per cent. of them settle the "nigger" inferiority question.

There seeme to be considerable anxiety among some of the colored people to join white churches, especially those will situated in life. Knowing that the Constitution of the United States and my own State don't allow me to choose for them or in any way interfere with religious worship, all I can say, being one of them and wishing to see them cast their lot with those who will do them the most good, is, I hope that they will be benefited. While I am no Catholic, or ever will be, I think that church treats colored people better than any I know in the city. I have often seen the priest in the houses of his colored members, seemingly just as contented as if in the house of his white brother or sister; rides with them on the streets without thinking that he is committing an unpardonable crime.

The annual camp-meeting of the Pensacola District of the A. M. E. Church will convene at Oakfield next month. As I am opposed to the things that make up this meeting I suppose it will be in keeping with the adage, "If you can't say anything good, don't say anything bad," so I am not in a position to say anything.

NEWPORT NEWS.

BY REV. J M. CARGILL

MR. EDITOR:—I was quite indisposed for three weeks, while in Cambridge, Md., my pleasant little home on the Eastern Shore; and the physician advised me to leave Cambridge and come North. My family being at Newport, I left Cambridge on Tuesday, July 12, and came to Newport in order to recuperate, and spend the time with them. I am very much benefitted by my short stay here, and, to speak modestly, never in my life have we been more highly entertained by a host of friends.

We have been the recipients of some twenty different entertainments given in my honor. Among them an English breakfast reception, Mrs. Sarah Ellis, No. 20 DeBlois Court; a fishing party and a private picnic, by Mr. and Mrs. Silas Dickerson, of Eleventh street; an evening tea party, by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Van Horne, John's street.

To attempt to mention the entertainments given in the space I have been here would take too much space; but to say we were entertained, in addition to the above, by Mrs. Nancy Jones, Mrs. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. William Dickson, Mrs. Bell Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Willbanks, Mr. and Mrs. James Venable, Mr. and Mrs. Francis, Mrs. M. W. Nicholas, Mrs. Louisa Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Hutton, the Bowie girls, and others.

We thank them and others of our friends for these expressions of esteem and confidence; we shall not forget them.

CONGRATULATIONS.

YORK, PA., September 2, 1887.

DEAR LEE:—Please accept my congratulations. For forty-five years today, September 2, I have been a member of the A. M. E. Church; for thirty-four years an itinerant preacher; I have witnessed all the changes that have taken place. The CHRISTIAN RECORDER started on the 1st day of September, 1887, in a new form, a better form. The A M E. Church has for the first time a paper that does honor to her. Long may she live and grow. She deserves to have 50,000 subscribers. Come, brethren, take hold and work. I am, respectfully, yours in Christ,

WM. WAUGH GRIMES.
313 Princess st., York, Pa.

DR. LIVINGSTONE'S REPLY.

When Livingstone visited England after his great exploring tour, he was much praised for his sacrifices It was true he had labored much, but what did he reply to this praise? "People talk of the sacrifices I made in spending so large a portion of my life in Africa. Can you call that a sacrifice which is only a small payment on that great debt to God which can never be fully discharged? Say rather that it is a privilege. I have never made a sacrifice."—Spirit of Missions.

MORE BISHOPS.

BY REV. JAMES H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

THE MEANS OF PRESERVING THE EPISCOPAL COMPLEMENT.

This is a proposition that should receive the full attention of the General Conference. The mind, perhaps, has never before been turned towards it, and still it has been a subject effecting the advancement of the Church. It must now, though, be weighed and decided. A certain number of districts must be laid out and kept supplied with the required number of Bishops. We say fourteen, and so will say the General Conference, if it should see the advantage as we see it. Then it will make a provision by which it will keep up the full force of the board. There are two or three methods by which this might be done. By the first there could be a temporary arrangement and by the other two a permanent one

First. The Board of Bishops could be directed to assemble three months after the obit of any member of it, and by due deliberation elect some well qualified elder to act as superintendent of the district until a Bishop should be elected. It could commission him to travel through the district, hold the annual conferences and do every thing not forbidden by the law. He could be known simply as the District Superintendent, entitled to half the salary of a Bishop and to all his traveling expenses. He would have no right to the full salary of a Bishop because he would not be a Bishop. He would be only a substitute to preserve the interests of the district until a Bishop could be elected to keep up the number. Such a proviso would be far better than the sledge-hammer one. It would be the means of keeping the work in order so that the General Conference might improve it and not have to reconstruct it. The Bishops themselves can see that this is a measure much more profitable than the one that orders them to assemble around a district with sledges, mauls and mallets to bang away until the pieces fly in every direction. They could appoint a superintendent, aid him and let him be a nominal Bishop, if you please, and thus preserve in an organic form that that has been made by the General Conference. This would be progression.

Second. The General Conference could be called to assemble in extra session six months after the demise of any Bishop for the purpose of electing his successor. In this event the vacancy could be fully and permanently filled at once. It would promulgate the work without any interruption; and, moreover, indicate such a high regard for the episcopal office and the perpetuation of system that the whole Church would be moved to more fervently support the government. The extra expense would find a full liquidation in increased moral strength. People would then conceive that the managers of the Church were unreservedly concerned in working for its welfare. They would be better satisfied with the course pursued.

The law-making power would then be manifested over and above every other agency in the Church. It would show itself as acting upon the most momentous duty instituted ground. The death of a Bishop at any time ought to exercise the members of the Church as much as the death of a President does the people of the United States. Those of the clergy who have been elected and stand as members elected to the General Conference for four years ought to be incited by law to be deeply concerned in filling the vacancy. This earnestness concerning a vacancy by death ought to be evinced not only in this case, but relative to a vacancy made by any other cause. It should not be left subjected to the question whether anybody should be elected at the next General Conference to fill it. The method of government ought to be so well devised, and the number of Bishops made so indispensable to the prosperity of the Church, that the standing decree would have to be, "A vacancy shall be filled as soon as possible."

Third. The episcopal committee could be made the most efficient branch of government in supplying this necessity. Soon after the obsequies of any one of the honored board, the chairman of said committee could convocate the members of it, at some suitable place, and have all the remaining Bishops present for the purpose of having an election and confirmation of this official. This could be done in the event of a vacancy by any means.

The perpetuation of the full force of the requisite number—fourteen—is a matter of much importance that it should receive immediate consideration in the case of any vacancy. This can be done effectually by no other means so well as by the Episcopal Committee. Let it be commanded by such a strong, able man as the last chairman, Dr. Jas. A. Handy, and be empowered by the General Conference to convene whenever there is a vacancy, that it may elect some one to fill it, and there will be no disorder of the work from the end of one quadrennium to another. The experience we have had in the passing period tells as most emphatically that some remedy must be found for the benefit of the Church in this direction. A clear and well defined law formulated on this project ought to be passed at the next General Conference. It is preposterous for any one to say that two or three Bishops can die, that two or three episcopel vacancies can be made, and that the work can go on just as well as it could before the deaths and vacancies. The logical deduction of this asseveration is, that it is either an absurdity, or that Bishops are no account. He who will, can take either horn of the dilemma. If it is absurd, then it is imperative that the full force should be kept in existence. If it is true, then it is well enough to let the whole board die out. Such are the conclusions from thoughtless declerations made concerning this important subject. Everyone with common sense knows that six men cannot do fourteen men's work. They cannot do it. The work is seriously affected, therefore, whenever there is a lessening of the number. It has been but a few hours ago since I heard one complaint after another in a certain section because there had been no episcopal visits. These complaints are made, but it is not known, even in part, that the ground of them is caused by an insufficient number of Bishops to meet the wants. What conception, then, can be formed of an extension of that ground by a gradual diminution of the number indispensable to to the performance of the work by visiting people in charge? None at all. The good people who are to be nursed and encouraged see what they presume to be culpable neglectfulness, and see an increase of it, but do not realize that on the death of every Bishop, whilst the work is growing with the age, burdens are imposed upon those who are left behind which they can accomplish in no better manner than could the children of Israel both make brick and gather straw. Then it is plain that every Bishop taken from an insufficient number detrimentally affects the work of all of them. Each one can do only a part of his own work and a part of somebody else's. More, then, are needed.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE.

BY REV. I. L. BUTTS, P. E.

MR EDITOR:—Please allow me a little space in the columns of your paper to speak of my district.

At the rise of the last session of the Virginia Annual Conference, April, 1887, I was appointed presiding elder of the Fourth District of this conference.

I arrived at Harmony Circuit May 6, and found Elder George W Pinkard, one of the old pioneers and fathers of the conference, at his post. This is his first year in the field, but he is taking nicely with his people, and they are rallying to him like good soldiers.

Elder George D. Jimmerson is holding the fort at Danville. He is our Nimrod, for he is a mighty hunter." This exercise has been recommended by his physician. But, best of all, Elder Jimmerson is a mighty hunter for souls; less than three weeks after the adjournment of the annual conference, he received over fifty persons into the church and on quarterly meeting day he baptized thirty-two candidates by immersion, and at 3 o'clock, P. M by sprinkling several. This is truly a live church, Sunday school and choir.

At Jacksonville Circuit, Rev. Lemuel Sears, a young man of push and backbone, is pastor. He has commenced his second year with this people. He is much beloved by his flock and the community.

Elder F. F. Crawford is pastor at Martinsville. He was recently transferred from the Tennessee Conference. Good results for God are expected from this change this year.

At Penn's Store Circuit, Brother Jesie C. Young is mastering the situation. I was with him May 22nd.

Everything is bright at Leatherwood Circuit, Brother Simon P. Cornick is at work in this field. The fact that the pastor of last year, who was suspended by the presiding elder, still remains here, has created considerable trouble. He is trying to establish an independent church.

The great church builder, Rev. J Cuffee, at Chatham Circuit, commenced his first year's labor. He is arranging for building, as usual.

At Rocky Mount Circuit, Elder A B. Jenning is crying aloud and sparing not.

Boors' Mill Circuit, under Rev. P. E. Steward, is prospering.

Cave Spring Circuit is playing her part nobly under Elder Robert Armstead, one of the fathers of this conference. He is putting in his fourth year on this work and is still beloved and respected by the religious and irreligious of both races and the circuit would be willing to have him another year if the law would allow another five years' appointment. He is doing a good work.

Salem Station is alive. Elder J. H. Scott, one of our promising young sons of Virginia, is the highly esteemed and respected pastor of this station.

Blacksburg Circuit is being conducted by Elder George W. Nicholson as its pastor. He is one of the sons of Wilberforce and is in every way competent for this field and is making it bright and productive of much good.

Max Meadows Circuit is a field of much promise. Rev. Geo. T. Musaington, a young West Indian, is the shepherd of this flock. He is doing a mighty work. At Max Meadows he has gotten enough lumber on the ground to build a new church, and at the Coves, another one of his points, he has another new church under roof. Brother Musaington is highly esteemed by all and recognized as a scholar.

Rev. James E. Blount is the appointed pastor of Red Bluff Circuit. I held his conference July 9th He has a fine people and the finest country church in my district. It is located at Red Bluff; he has paid off all but $7 00 of the remaining indebtedness on this church since his arrival here. He is preparing to buy a burying ground for his church and community, and also has under contemplation a fine parsonage This is a grand people and they are flocking to him and he is moving on grandly to success.

From Red Bluff I crossed the Iron Mountains to Grayson Circuit. Brother Geo. W. Blount is unfurling our banner and storming the fort here. He is small or low in stature, but destined to be a power behind these mountains. He is at work. As I passed through the gaps of these old, gray, desolate mountains, I thought a better name would be for them rock or stone mountains, for they possess much of this material. But those who named them looked at the internal, and I at the external. But to say the least about them would be to say that they are grand and also the people who live in them. The people told me that on a portion of this work they never saw an African presiding elder before.

China Branch Circuit is tossing the mark grandly with George Rose as its managing pastor He is electrifying the whole circuit with gospel fire. He has had several conversions and accessions since annual conference.

Bland County Mission, Brother Edward E. Mitchell, pastor, is doing good work. He has added some members to the Church this quarter, and brighter prospects are still beaming here for our church.

At Wytheville Station, the energetic and skillful pastor, Elder Geo. W. Taylor, a recent transfer from the Kentucky Conference, is holding his own with an iron grip against every opposition. This is a fine, lively and enterprising little congregation, and also has much intelligence in it. Brother Taylor thinks that he has the finest choir, literary society and Sunday school in the State. Elder Jimmerson's choir at Danville may question his judgment. Elder Taylor before my arrival collected $126 61 to remodel this church. He is looking after every interest of the church, the church, congregation and the community all are flocking to him. We had a grand quarterly meeting; I feel that I can't say too much about this worthy pastor and people.

Wade Spring Circuit was left unsupplied at the adjournment of the aannal conference. I have just supplied it with Brother Esser E. Goodman.

Amherst Circuit is taking her march with her sister circuits, with Brother George Lee as its pastor. He is building up the waste places in Zion. He has one member, by the name of Archer Steptoe, aged ninety years. He says he knew Lynchburg, Va., our city of hills, when there were but three houses in it. He works on the farm as hard as any of the hands every day and is braker than any of his children. He is the father of fifty children. He is a great sodier for Christ.

Lynchburg Station, my finishing point for the first quarter, is pastorated by Elder G. G. Vreeland. This station has many drawy backs, but I think it will recover from the past blows under its present pastor. He has made considerable improvement. His people think that he is a grand man. This district, all things considered, is in a pretty fair condition. The majority of my pastors, like myself, are putting in their first year in most of the fields, and many of them the first year in the ministry. This is truly a missionary district and there is much missionary work to be accomplished here yet. We need more missionary money applied to this district and then more of our experienced men of the conference to take hold of this field. Green hands can't do much in mission fields, especially without some means to assist them. But we have no complaint to make, but merely speak of the needs of this field.

As every lord giveth a certain livery to his servants, charity is the livery of Christ. Our Saviour, who is Lord above all lords, would have his servants known by their badge, which is love.—Lailmer.

BISHOP SHORTER.

BY REV. A. T. HALL.

The death of Bishop Shorter was a very sudden shock, not only to me, but to the Church. We hastily draped the church in mourning and on last Thursday night we spent the time in prayer and talking of the good deeds of that noble and great man, and some remembered a part of the sermon that he preached in this pulpit the last time he made us a visit; but, bless God, he rests from his labors. Last Sunday at Aurora we held memorial services. The pastor read the 3d and 4th chapters of 2 Timothy, the hymn, "Oh, when shall I see Jesus?" and prayer by Rev. P. T. Neace; reading of the life and death of the Bishop from the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, and a fifteen minute discourse from Matthew, 25: "Well done, good and faithful servant." We then sung the 147th hymn, "Servant of God, well done." Several speeches, one by the pastor, who had received four appointments from the Bishop's hand, and one by Bro P. T. Neace, who had received three appointments from him, and one from Bro. Albert Williams, who was well acquainted with him, closed by singing "The gates ajar." Sorrow filled the hearts of all. While the Church and the missionary cause lose one of their best men, yet heaven rejoices at his having gained the port; he stepped up out of the world into the kingdom of grace, and up out of the kingdom of grace into the kingdom of glory; in the first he put off the old men with all his needs and put on the new man; in the second he put off his earthly house and put on his house from heaven and dwells with the saints in light. Who will be the next? Let the General Conference see that they elect men from 35 to 40 years, that will be able to stand travel and the climate of the isles of the sea, Africa, South and North, while the old Bishops fill in nearer home.

Batavia, Ills.

WOMAN'S INFLUENCE.

It is related of Franklin that from the window of his office in Philadelphia, he noticed a mechanic, among a number of others, at work on a house which was being erected near by, who had a kind and cheerful smile for every one he met. Let the day be ever so cold, gloomy or sunless, the happy smile danced like a sunbeam on his cheerful countenance. Meeting him one day, Franklin requested to know the secret of his constant happy flow of spirits.

"It's no secret, Doctor," the man replied; "I've got one of the best of wives, and when I go to work she always gives me a kind word of encouragement and a blessing with her parting kiss; and when I go home she is sure to meet me with a smile and a kiss of welcome; and then tea is sure to be ready; and as we chat in the evening I find she has been doing so many little things through the day to please me that I can not find it in my mind to speak an unkind word or give an unkind look to anybody."

And Franklin adds: "What an influence, then, hath woman over the heart of man to soften it, and make it a fountain of cheerful and pure emotions! Speak gently, then. A happy smile and a kind word of greeting after the toils of the day are of cost nothing, and go far toward making home happy and peaceful."

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN ARBITRATION.—Mr. John Bright has signed the memorial to the President and Congress of the United States in favor of the establishment of a Court of International Arbitration for the settlement of disputes that may arise between England and America. One hundred and seventy-three English, Welsh and Scotch members of the House of Commons have now attached their signatures to the memorial, and nine members have signified their intention of joining the deputation which will go to America during the autumn for the purpose of presenting it. Lord Herschell, who sailed to the United States last week, and Sir Lyon Playfair, who sails on Wednesday, will join the deputation if their visit extend until the time when the memorial is presented.—London Times, Aug. 12.

OUR COMING GREAT CENTENNIAL.

Many inquiries come to us from all sections about the coming Centennial Jubilee of African Methodism and the programme of the same. To all these questions we can only give this general reply at present: 1 The month of November is the time set apart for the jubilee. At the Episcopal meeting in Atlantic City in July, it was the opinion of the Bishops and brethren present that the whole Church should join in the celebration, but that we could not fix upon one day for all, on account of the many conferences to be held in that month. Ten conferences, embracing more than half the ministers and members of the connection, will be held in November This alone is a circumstance unparalleled in our history. It was decided, therefore, to set apart the whole month, including all the Sabbaths, as the centennial or jubilee month; but especially to emphasize one of the three Sabbaths, 13th, 20th, or 27th. Thus all the churches of the entire connection would have an opportunity to participate in the jubilee. The final winding up and general gathering to occur in this city (Philadelphia) from Tuesday, November 22, to Sunday, 27. 2 The programmes have not yet been fully prepared and approved by the committee, but to make the matter plain to all we give this illustration: (a) the Bishops of the Church, all of them, and the general officers, constitute a general committee, Dr. B. W. Arnett, secretary; (b) committee of programme and details, Revs B. W. Arnett, J. C. Embry and the following members of the Philadelphia Conference: Rev. C. C. Felts, chairman, L. J. Coppin, J. S. Thompson, C. T. Shaffer, and, we think, B W Bolton, or J. W. Beckett (?) Bishop Brown is chairman of the working Executive Committee. But since he will be nearly the whole interval in the far West, and in California, he verbally deputized the Manager to go ahead and push things in his name.

3 All pastors in the line of the prophets of all times and climes, it has heard them proclaim their ordinances, and has seen these observances punctually obeyed for hundreds of years, and nothing has come of it; it does not satisfy the prophets of humanity, and it sees much real benevolence actually carried out. But the result is infinitesimal. Nothing comes of it; it does not satisfy the individual heart. The world at large continues untouched and indifferent—first because its common sense is not convinced, and secondly because its secret aspirations are in no degree satisfied. So that it is not altogether the world's fault if it is stolid. Everything has been tried and found wanting. Men rush in crowds to the gold-diggings of California, to the Australian "find;" and in like manner, if any real spiritual or ideal good were proffered, crowds would rush to participate in it. Nothing yet has been given but empty words, and these so-called "goods" have proved as tasteless, and as much Dead Sea apples, as the apples of vice; perhaps even more bitter than the regrets of vice. Though I cannot name the ideal good, it seems to me it will be in some way closely associated with the real beauty of nature.—Richard Jefferies, in the Magazine of Art for September.

THE OLDEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

The oldest man in the world is said to be James James, a colored citizen of the United States, who resides at Santa Rosa, Mexico. He is 135 years old. He was born near Dorchester, S. C., in 1752. He was one of the laborers at Fort Moultrie during the unsuccessful attack of the British fleet in 1776. He was then 24 years old. His master, Thomas James, manned one of the guns during the fight. His last owner was Henry James, who moved into Mexico in 1853 in order that his slaves might become free before his death. At present it was drawn by an old experienced attorney, with our Discipline before him. Price, 25 cents per copy, or 5 for $1.00. Address,

The Bishops of the A. M. E. Church are hereby informed that a joint meeting of the Bishops of the A. M. E. Zion Church will be held at Montgomery, Ala., on the 15th of December, 1887, to be opened at 10 A. M.

The object of the joint meeting is for further consideration of the question of "organic union" according to the Articles of Agreement of the joint commission of the African M. E. Church and African M E Zion Connections, held in Washington, D. C., July 15–17, A. D. 1885

In view of the importance of such a meeting before the General Conferences of the two Connections, in May, 1888, we beg that the Bishops of both connections will arrange their official obligations and printed private affairs, as to have no excuse for absence from the Montgomery meeting in Alabama at the date fixed.

Signed in behalf of both Boards of Bishops,

THOUGHTS SUGGESTED BY ART.

The conception of moral good did not satisfy one while contemplating it. The highest form known to us at present is pure unselfishness, the doing of good, not for any reward, now or hereafter, but for the completion of an imaginary scheme. This is the best we know. But how unsatisfactory! Filled with the aspirations called forth by the ideal before me, it appeared as if even the saving of life is a little work compared to what the heart would like to do. An outlet is needed more fully satisfying to its utmost desires than is afforded by any labor of self-abnegation. It must be something in accord with the perception of beauty and of an ideal. Personal beauty is not enough. The works called good are dry and tejune, soon consummated, often of questionable aims, and leaving behind them when finished a sense of vacuity. You give a sum of money to a good object and walk away, but it does not satisfy the craving of the heart You deny yourself pleasure to sit by the bedside of an invalid—a good deed, but when it is done there remains an emptiness of the soul. It is not enough—it is unsatisfactory to say that it is. I often think the reason the world is so cold and selfish, so stolid and indifferent, is because it has never yet been shown how to be anything else. Listening to the prophets of all times and climes, it has heard them proclaim their ordinances, and has seen these observances punctually obeyed for hundreds of years, and nothing has come of it; it does not satisfy the prophets of humanity, and it sees much real benevolence actually carried out. But the result is infinitesimal. Nothing comes of it; it does not satisfy the individual heart. The world at large continues untouched and indifferent—first because its common sense is not convinced, and secondly because its secret aspirations are in no degree satisfied. So that it is not altogether the world's fault if it is stolid. Everything has been tried and found wanting. Men rush in crowds to the gold-diggings of California, to the Australian "find;" and in like manner, if any real spiritual or ideal good were proffered, crowds would rush to participate in it. Church News.

Rev. W. S. Covington, Carthage, Miss., writes that by hard work he has succeeded in building the best church edifice in that town, and he asks the prayers of the entire Church on his work.

Word comes from Stonewille, Miss., that Rev. E. W. Lampton, the pastor at that place, has had a ten days' revival, and in that time has had 61 conversions. The church is in a prosperous condition

Rev. D. W. Moore, Brooks county Circuit, Ga., writes:—"The circuit has been blessed this year with two grand revivals—the first one in March at Mt. Zion, which resulted in the harvesting of 35 souls, the last one just closed at Sunberry Church with the grandest success ever known there, with 75 conversions, making a total in the two revivals of 110 souls converted, and the fire still burning."

Rev. James F. A. Sisson, Wesson, Miss., writes:—"At Pleasant Grove Church, near Summitt, Miss., a protracted meeting was closed August 20th, resulting in the conversion of fifty-seven souls. The church has recently been seated. The pastor, Rev. E. D. Dukes, is having a year of success. One week ago last Sunday, Rev. G. W. Ellis, one of the pastors of this (Brook Heven) district, was buried."

Obituary.

Sister Molly Brown, wife of Rev. J. J. Brown, departed this life at Green Pond, S. C., June 27, 1887, aged 36 years. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss.

To the memory of the late R. S. Simme, of the Florida Conference, and pastor of the Key West Station:

WHEREAS, Almighty God has, in his all-wise providence, seen fit to remove from us our much beloved pastor, who passed away peacefully from labor to reward August 13, 1887; and

WHEREAS, We feel it but right to show our esteem as a church; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we follow the teaching which we have been so often taught by our beloved pastor: always bow in submission to the will of God. Be it further

Resolved, That we tender our sympathy to the bereaved family and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and also the CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

Rest from thy loved employ,
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter thy Master's joy.

IN MEMORY OF BISHOP JAMES A. SHORTER.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst by death our beloved father, James A. Shorter, ninth Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, who was a true Christian, a pure, earnest minister of the gospel and a loved Bishop; therefore be it

Resolved, That we bow in humble submission to Almighty God, whose wisdom never erreth and who doeth all things for his glory and our good; and we acquiesce in this visitation of his Providence.

Resolved, That his death makes it our duty to say a word in honor of his memory, which will ever be fondly cherished by the people of Eaton, O., for having officiated in the dedication of our chapel here in Eaton, and also for having to dedicate churches here below, but will live in churches dedicated above, "not made with hands but eternal in the heavens."

Resolved, That we tender his loving family our heartfelt sympathy in their great bereavement and we commend them to Him who doeth all things well and who bids us trust in him. To the Church in general we can but exclaim, we shall meet again.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER and the Cleveland Gazette.

IN MEMORIAM.

Our hearts were filled with sadness when we received the sorrowful intelligence of the death of Mrs. D. S. Bentley; but when we think that life's journey has rough places, that pain and suffering mar earthly happiness, then think of our sister who is now in heaven's boundless realms—

"Flecks no thorn-clad flowers,
No tempting joys bewailed," we look up amid our tears and say, "She shall never grow weary nor falter in her eternal home with God."

We, therefore, delegates to this Sunday-school convention, offer as a slight token of our respect for our sister, these resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Almighty Father to take unto himself the beloved companion of the Rev. D. S. Bentley, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Mrs. Bentley the cause of Christianity has lost an earnest supporter.

Resolved, That though her death was hourly expected, we learn from her thus called to know the joys beyond the gates, that "here we have no continuing city;" that "in the midst of life we are in death."

Resolved, That we tender our sincerest condolence to the companion and friends of the deceased, and pray that while they pass under the rod of affliction they may hear the voice of God, saying,

"Ill strengthen thee, help thee, and cause thee to stand; Upheld by My gracious, Omnipotent hand."

Resolved, Further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved pastor of this church.

Evansville, Ind.

John J. Gaillot, of Port-au-Prince, Hayti, entered Wilberforce in the year 1883. He and I entered the same classes and became very good friends; he possessed a very brilliant mind. We were associated together in Wilberforce as classmates for about five years, and many times I would become discouraged with my school work, but I had only to turn to him, and he was ready to offer a word of encouragement.

He was resolute and sincere in all his acts. These are traits to be admired in his noble character. He became afflicted in the early part of '87, but continued to attend his classes until about the latter part of March, when, on account of weakness, he was compelled to stop, yet he seemed determined to accomplish the work.

But after he saw he could not attend school any longer, he became very anxious about going home to see his mother and friends. He seemed to think if he could get home he would get better, so a few weeks before the time of our graduation, he left for his native land, and when he bade me farewell he said, "I hope you all may have success as a class. I am sorry I cannot be with you all." He arrived home on the 9th of June, and on the 27th of the same month the great monster death laid his cold, icy hand upon him and he closed his eyes and fell asleep in Jesus, and today he is resting in the glory land.

I, as a member of the class '87, feel his loss deep down in my soul, and I can assure that bereaved mother and father that they have our sympathy as a class in these their sad hours. Although he was the youngest member of the class he has been summoned first to carry the glad news home to our Maker. Now let us be encouraged, since we know that God worketh all things together for good to those who love him.

PHILADELPHIA, SEPT. 8, 1887.

THE GRAND and heroic contest of the band of Irish patriots in the British Parliament and before the English public, assisted by the great and good Mr. Gladstone and other Englishmen of just and liberal views, is one of the sublimest spectacl s of modern times. Irish autonomy and liberty in subordination to the supreme authority of the British Empire is the end fought for. Its attainment now seems almost sure and not far away. In this great struggle the Irish people and their liberal allies have the sympathy of all liberty lovers throughout the world.

SECRETARY C. S. SMITH has so far recovered as to move about and participate in the general movements of the Church freely. Last Sunday he attended two of our Philadelphia churches, and on Monday, the Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting, making one of his characteristic, thrilling talks. The meeting was highly delighted to see Dr. Smith recovering and to hear of the success of the Sunday School Union. Resolutions were passed expressing the fullest confidence in the management of the Union and pledging a hearty co-operation and patronage. Secretary Smith's presence is highly appreciated in our city. We should not object to his moving here to stay.

IN VIEW of the great diversity of opinion as to the duty of the coming General Conference in reference to episcopal elections, the presiding eldership and financial readjustments, one might think the Christian men who are manifesting so much anxiety on these questions would betake themselves to prayer, rather than waste their precious strength in perpetually shouting their ideas into the ears of the Church. Long ere the time comes for real debate and trial of strength, many good brethren will have exhausted all their resources; and what is worse, most that they have said will have been forgotten. If we remember rightly, when the great Daniel Webster was in the U. S. Senate, and at the apogee of his powers, some one notified him that he would be met in debate on some constitutional question by Mr. Hayne, (!) from S. C., who was in every way his equal as an orator, and superior as a constitutional lawyer. "Very well," said Mr. Webster, "but I challenge him to the husbanding of his resources." It is a strange notion, this wasting of so much ammunition before the tournement comes off.

NO GREATER fallacy in reasoning has been presented in the RECORDER recently than the well-written (!) article of Rev. Aldridge. The article is what they call ad cap tandum vulgus. It is not only unkind in tone toward the men who are working as hard as he, and earning their meagre support as honestly; it is not only misleading in its estimates, which are not true, but it visits a censure on the men, some of whom, at least, are almost sacrificing their lives in the work committed to them by the Church, and that, too, for a pittance paid to them in such a way that they often do not know what to do, through weeks and months of the year, for bread. No other men in the service of the general Church of any other denomination in America is subjected to such treatment. "Consolidate," he says, "and then place a good and faithful man at the head." Then consolidate the others and put "eeapable man at the head of it." Of course all this says, if it does not mean, that the present Manager, Secretary of Education and Secretary of Sunday Schools are neither good nor faithful; that the Financial Secretary and Secretary of the Parent Home and Foreign Missionary Society are not capable of discharging their trust.

IN A RECENT work entitled "Brazil; Its Condition and Prospects," by Hon. C. C. Andrews, late Consul-general to Brazil, published by Appletons, N. Y., 1887, a chapter is given on slavery and the emancipation. It shows that in 1873 there were 1,540,796 slaves in the Empire. He gives a graphic account of the great anti-slavery struggle in the legislature and throughout the Empire in 1885, when the act of gradual emancipation proposed by the Imperial Government was under discussion. It reminds one very much of our great battle with the monster wrong; but differs widely from ours in the matter of bitterness and violence. The worst and fiercest slave-holder on earth was developed in these United States. He shows that only about 24,165 had been freed by the emancipation fund up to '85, from '73; and that above 80,000, had been set free by anti-slavery masters; that the cost of these freed by the government was about $288 per head, and averaged 2000 per annum. A law was proposed to abolish the system outright at the end of five years—1890—but it was defeated. The present law, however, designs more rapid work than the old. Yet Mr. Andrews is of opinion that the American people will drink, free of duty, coffee raised by slave labor in Brazil for at least twenty-five years to come.

Let it be known and remembered that we Americans are helping the Brazil slave-holders by purchasing their coffee, and at the same time adding to the profit of slave labor by admitting the product free of duty. On the whole, slavery "dies hard." Mr. Andrews has given a very interesting book. If we can find reasonable terms we shall put a few copies on sale at the Book Store.

THE ARTICLE of Brother Kershaw is timely. While there may be many palliating circumstances, determining the actions of appointment making, unknown to any but the appointers, it is plain that we are retrograding very fast in the matter of disregarding the law of time limitation. Bishop Shorter, in an episcopate life of nearly twenty years, holding in his hand some of the appointments that are most perplexing, never disregarded the time limit.

There can be no sympathy extended Brother Kershaw in his personalities, however. No African Methodist minister could have an appointment if it were not given to him. The people's right to position should never be abridged nor a pastor's obedience maligned. Brother Kershaw is mistaken as to the RECORDER'S actions. While the RECORDER said nothing concerning the especial matter referred to, it has more than once spoken hodly against the general practice. It has said that after six years we oonld as well go on to twenty-five.

As a matter of reason, it is altogether probable that the connection has neither gained nor saved anything in any case of overstepping the legal limit of appointment, bnt so long as the appointing power is unable to see this probability no strictures of the RECORDER avail anything. As to conferences voting with reference to the appointment of a certain minister to a given charge in an itinerating Methodist connection, it is too ridiculous to mention. It confers upon a Bishop no power nor relieves him of any responsibility. It is as doiog nothing; therefore merits no attention.

EPISCOPAL DISTRICTS, OR CIRCULATION- WHICH?

It may be thet our Church will continue the district plan beyond 1880. Indeed it is probable that it will do so. It may he wise that this should be the case, but there is considerable argument in favor of the wisdom of a different method of episcopal supervision. The district system is urged as the best on the ground that it brings the Bishops and pastors into a much closer relationship. This is trno respecting any one given Bishop and his conference, but the rotary plan gives the entire bench of Bishops the larger knowledgo of the whole work and the entire ministry. It is also urged that the present system enables Bishops to develop any given district enterprise. While this is trne, it is equally trne that there is plainly danger to the connection in this very district advantage. The lines of connection betwoen Bishop and districts are numerous. Some of them are no benefit to the connection, others are highly serviceable. The regular periodical council of the Bishops would enable them to utilize most of the better and shun the effects of the detrimental. Certainly the good of the whole connection is of paramount importance to the good of any part of the connection.

Less "my" and more "ours" in our episcopal language would be a hopeful step for the connection. This "I" practice checks general progress, narrows our ministerial powers and gives unnecessary occasion for ecclesiastical misunderstandings and semi-scandal, by rendering the government in the district more or less autocratic, being modified by the views of a single man.

An hour's talk with any two of our chief pastors will convince ono that the difference of opinion, understanding of law, mode of exconting it, comprehension of the mission of the Church, etc., found between them would have less ill influence upon the masses, by interchange of supervision. In order to not allow these differonce to do damage to the Church, however, there should be fuller legal expression, with specific sanctions. No system of supervision will be successful until the spirit of reverence for law reigns supreme in the heerts of our executors, and harmony of construction exists, either by the force of conventionality or the force of reason. If our law for electing delegates to General Conference, our law for controlling general funds, our law pertaining to missions, our law governing educational affairs, our law regulating the publication business, any of these is susceptible to more than one construction, interpretation and mode of action. Our episcopal council could easily fix upon one of these constructions or modes and exclude all others throughout the connection. This done as soon after General Confersnce as possible would give harmony to our general and especial work. It would overcome much of the opposition offered to episcopal rotation.

There is a general desire that our Bishops should be more widely distributed, some say in their districts, but if a Bishop is to reside in a given district, where he is supreme, then the General Conference would certainly be well to dispense with the presidieg eldership, with thanks for past services; for then the people might justly complain of being overburdened. If the Bishop is to be situated in the centre of his district for the purpose of being in full acquaintance and sympathy with his men, there would hardly seem to be much need of any intermediate class of men. There is much less difficulty in a fair and equitable distribution of episcopal residences under the rotary plan then under the district plan. Districts are liable to be changed every quadrennium. Not infrequently these changes would throw the residences in inconvenient relation to the whole territory constituting their districts, but residences fixed with reference to the distribntion of our membership would be far less liable to this inconvsnience. Among the important subjects for the cogitation of these elected to the ensuing Gsnoral Conference, very few are of greater importance than this.

CHURCH FINANCE.

It is only in modern times that the leading nations of the earth have mastered the problem of revenue so as to attain comparative financial ease. Indeed, it may be said truthfully that the nations of the earth may be rated as to enlightenment and power by the excellence and success of their respective systems of revenue. In the days of Louis XIV. of France, or from about 1660, for more than a hnndred years France was the best financier and the leading power of Europe or of the world. We could wish the limits of a common editorial would permit a somewhat detailed account of this epoch in French history as it relates to the development of industry and the methods of revenue, hnt we cannot. In brief, Louis, contrary to the customs of his immediate predecessors, displaced the retinue of intriguers and place hnnters who had wasted the nation's strength and surrounded himself with the very best men the nation produced; the wisest, the most independent and practical. As a result, the kingdom ascended as by magio and took its place at the head of the world's affairs. So much as to a great netion. Old England next took the lead as to matters fiscal, and by bravely eschewing war, has well nigh held her place nnto this day. We all know how vexations are the questions of taxation and revenue in our own nation, our commonwealths, and especially in our great and growing municipalities. Under the old ecclesiastical system in Europe the Church, as to her finances, was only a department of the State, her revenues being provided for by direct action of the legislature. In the progress of enlightenment the bond between Church and State has been greatly weakened in many parts of the old country, and in our own country the two are constitntionally divorced. Here, then, is the olearest field for the development of systems of church finanoiering. Here she must rely upon her own bare resources, and by her own endeavors succeed or perish. The Church has no power to levy taxes, except in the moral obligation to give or pay, imposed by her covenants under sanction of Scripture. The manifold and weighty enterprises of a modern ecclesiastical establishment demand an immense amount of money. At least three things she must do: 1, Maintain an aggressive missionary department, so as to be always enlarging her borders and introducing new life into her organism. An extensive and well planned missionary system is about as costly as mainteining a standing army. 2, She must sustain an influential place in the work of edncation, training her workers and enlightening her people, or she will lose at the spigot, as the saying goes, faster than she wins at the bung. 3, She must furnish a literature for the moral oulture of her people. These, superadded to the support of her olergy, and the constant erection and support of temples of worship, comprehend a prodigious scheme that is almost parellel to the cost of civil government itself.

The question, how oen the money needed to carry on the work of the Church he secured with greatest certainty and the least burden? has never yet been answered. There are many good people who regard "begging" and "rallys" as little less then a nuisence, to be tolereted only because no other adequate means have been fonnd. We beord an influential leador in the Church at one of the General Conferences talking lustily of "the resources of this great Chnrch." One could scarcely refrain from laughter. What are the resources of this Church or any church, unless, forsooth, it has been enriched hy bequests of its wealthy members? Missionary enterprise calls for money and spends it, but makes none. Schools and seminaries of learning are never self-sustaining. They are a perpetnal hurden until endowed. Only the business of publishing up to this date in the history of Chnroh work has afforded the Church any impertent return for money invested, or that has given any hope of relieving the Church from the burden of its support, and at the same time affording a constent reliehle source of revonue. Within the last twenty-five years, a few of the great denominations in America, and perhaps a few elsewhere, have developed publishing interests that earn a large surplus. Especially is this true since the growth of a mammoth Sunday school literaturo. Some of the stronger denominations are able to support their general functionaries from this source, and also greatly assist their other enterprises. Up to the present date, the best church financier has been the best solicitor and the best manger of a rally. But he of the future will be the man who can best organize a working force around some grand ent rprise under the Church's fostering care. The church of the future will not only make its own catechism, hymnal, discipline and Sunday school lessons, but will also make its own school text-books, its own pulpits, and a thousand other things it needs. Bnt, beside this, she must develop the apostolio rnle of giving, and that, too, more methodically than yet attained. Last of all she must study to use more wisely the means put in her hands. No one can dispnte that thousands are wasted by mismanagement in building and furnishing houses of worship, through the ignorance and inexperience of the persons in charge. Surely the financial problem is one of the gravest confronting the Church to-day.

Queer weather visited portions of New England last Tnesday afternoon. In Salisbnry, N. H., and vicinity, there was rain and thunder, but hail fell for half an hour. Three inches of hail fell at South Hanson, Mass., and "piled up like snow banks," in Dayville, Conn. At Westport, near New Bedford, Mass., no rain fell, and but one clap of thunder was heard, but the chaff that preceded the latter struck a harn, that was soon totally destroyed.

Notes on Education.

Wilberforce University opened on the 7th inst.

The Institute for Colored Youth opened last Monday with a large attendance.

The Trustees of Amherst College have recommended that the number of students be hereafter limited to 300.

Professor Asa Gray, of Harvard, the world-renowned botanist, has just received the exhalted degree of D. O. L., from Oxford.

Dr. Nathaniel Archer Randolph, one of the Professors at the University of Penneylvania, was drowned while bathing near Atlantic City, N. J.

The Colored State University of Alabama is to be located at Montgomery. James Hale, colored, has been elected treasurer. Faculty to be half white and half colored.

Howard University, Washington, will commence the industrial, normal, preparatory, law and college departments on the 14th inst., and the medical department on October 3d.

Willis H. Bocock, who has just been chosen Professor of Greek in Hampden-Sidney College, Virginia, is but twenty-two years old. Longfellow was but nineteen when he was made Professor at Bowdoin.

Cornell University will lose $1,500,000, willed to it by Mrs. Jennie McGraw Fiske. Her husband, Prof. Fiske, contested the bequest, and now the general term decides in his favor, reversing the surrogate's decision.

The Glenn hill, which made teaching white and black children in the same institution a prison offense for Georgia teachers and school officers, has been superseded by another, introduced in the Georgia House last Saturday, and promptly passed. The new bill declares that the co-education of the races is contrary to the intent of the constitution, and directs that the Governor be directed not to draw his warrant in favor of the Atlanta University for the State's annual appropriation of $8,000 until satisfactory assurance is given that it shall be applied exclusively for the education of colored children. It will be seen that it differs from the defunct Glenn bill malely in being free from the obnoxious penal provision of the latter measure.

DISTRICT NEWS.

Rev. C. A. Harris, presiding elder of the Huntsville, Texas, District, says the brethren of that district seem filled with enthusiasm.

Rev. R. Johnson, presiding elder of the Monticello, (Ark.) District, says: "The Monticello District is in good working order. Our district conference was a success We are having revivals all over the district and peace and harmony prevail."

Rev. B. W. Morris, presiding elder of the Second North Carolina District, writes: "When I took charge of this district last November, being appointed by Bishop Campbell, who was acting for Bishop Turner at that time, I found the work in some things not as good, in others quite preiseworthy. I can now say we are getting on very well, with but few exceptions"

Rev. T. W. Haigler, presiding elder of the Third District, North Ohio Conference, writes: "The above named district is progressing nicely. The preachers all speak of reporting an increase at the next annual conference Peace and harmony prevail through the district. Rt. Rev. Jabez P. Campbell, D.D, LL. D., was with us at Toledo, Aug. 19th, and his sermon was very instructive, interesting and full of historical allusions. The Bishop is certainly a historian as well as theologian. A reception was tendered the Bishop with music and literary taste, in which Mr. F. D. Hightower and Miss Flora Brown read essays. The people were delighted with this visit and asked the return of the Bishop. Toledo Station is on the progressive road."

A SUCCESSFUL RALLY.

August 7, Rev. W. W. Grimes and the people of York, Pa., made a strong effort to relieve their church of a debt of long standing. The following sums of money were reported by the five canvassers: Brother Henderson, $54 35; Charlee E. Webster, $17.75; Brother Dorov, $28 90. The Hall list, $20 57, and Rev. W. W. Grimes, $35.55, grand total, 157.42. This money was disbursed as follows: paid on indjment mortgage, $150; on printing, $9.75; presiding elder's traveling expenses, $2 50. The remaining debt is $250.

OUR WOMAN'S COLUMN.

Queen Carola, of Saxony, has established a free kindergarten for the benefit of children of poor laborers on her estate, Sibyllenort, where she annually spends part of the summer.

Miss Bobinson, in the Fortnightly Review, suggests, as a relief to working women, that they should have technical training, and thus be fitted to do some things so well they can command place and pay.

Denver, Col., is to have a college for women, modelled after Wellesley and Vassar. The "Ladies' College Society," which has the matter in obarge, is to be incorporated, and will raise $750,000 in real estate and cash.

San Francisco, Cal., has a society called the "Woman's Congress," composed of one hundred or more of the thinking women of the city, the same having been in working order for five years. Its object is the investigation of all subjects, political, social and religious. None but women are admitted.—Cor. San Francisco People.

Miss Sarah Ewing, of the Sampson Manufacturing Company's shoe shop, in North Adams, has won the prize offered by a button machine company, for the operative who, on one of their machines, would sew on the most buttons in one day of ten hours. Miss Ewing's record was 27,154 buttons, an average of forty-five and one-fourth for each minute in the day.

Mrs. D. G. Croly ("Jennie June") has been made President of Mrs. R. P. Newby's Woman's Endowment Cattle Company. The company has died its certificate of incorporation in New Jersey, and has a capital stock of $1,500,000, divided into 3,000 shares of $500 each. The company has control of nearly 2,000,000 acres of fine grazing land in New Mexico, on which there are now 6,000 head of cattlo. The stock is to be placed with women as an endowment for their children.

Helen S. Abbott, of Philadelphia, has been elected a member of the Philadelphia Society in this city, of which Benjamin Franklin was one of the founders. Only six women have been elected during the one hundred and twenty years of the society's existence. The first lady was Franklin's friend, the Princess Dashkoff. The others were Mrs. Mary Somerville, Maria Mitchell, Mrs. Agassiz and Mrs. Carl Seiler, of Philadelphia, author of "The Voice and Singing." Miss Abbott is admitted for what she has done in analytical chemistry.

"In all of the essentials of life Kansas is a self-sustaining State. It can feed and clothe itself from its own acres." So says the Topeka Capital, and it may say it all the more truly now when its women are to have a hand in the politics of the Stete, and thns aid in secnring those finer products from which comes the bread that does not perish with the using, such as the highest self-respect, honor, honesty, sobriety, piety, love of truth, justice and mercy. These, with material ahundance, make an ideal State. But it can only come where women and men have equal rights and work together.

The Roman Catholic Church has made a little loop-hole through which women may teach and speak in public. Cardinal Lavigerie, of Brussels, says: "I am convinced that women will be able to civilize and Christianize the African youth with fer greater success than men, and I have teken all necessary measures to obtain that object." He is undoubtedly right. No man will envy or covet the hoi, sickly and unpaid position. Women are always free to go where pestilence rages. Those who fear voting will be too hard for women, never raise a donbt or an objection as to the ability or propriety or wisdom of putting women in such places.

At the Northwestern Summer School of Methods, held at Normal, Illinois, the subject of social purity was presented. Miss Jenny B. Merrill, of New York City Normal School (anthor of "Shield and Buckler"), spoke, and was followed by Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Straight and Mrs. Putman. All of these ladies are teachers, and they spoke to an audience of teachers, including representatives from thirty-three States, four Territories and Canada. Social purity leeflets were distributed and eagerly taken by the teachers, the supply not being equal to the demand. Much interest was manifested by the teachers and it was a broadcast sowing of good seed.

THE CENTENNIAL OF AFRICAN METHODISM.

BY REV J. T. JENIFER.

MR. EDITOR:—The dates are rapidly approaching and time is short. Is it not necessary that the chief committee on Centennial Programme give, through the columns of the RECORDER, a general outline of what is to be done, i. e., what is to be general and what local, the place or places where and the times when the Centennial exercises will be held, also what is proposed to do with the literature of the occasion? This year each and every department in the connection, local and general, should receive additional interest and renewed effort so as to bring out greater results than ever—results which will close the first century of African Methodism with a showing that shall be compatible with the spirit of the movement, crowning the century's growth and prosperity with a zeal equal to that of the fathers

What event in the early history of the colored people has given to the negro of America higher incentives, more encouragement than the spirit and achievements of Richard Allen and his followers?

The Allen movement was not the impulse of an obstinate individnality; it was the promptings of piety, pity and patriotism exerted by manly independence,—such independence as protests against caste at God's altar, and demands free religious thought and action and worship.

African Methodism is, therefore, a formation which had its conception in necessity and was born of the times. How fortunate for the Church at its transition period in the race history that the centennial of this movement happens at this time.

There is rising a generation who knew not Pharaoh nor the fathers. Let us then commemorate this event by refreshing the memory of the fathers, and do not forget the fore-mothers. Impart instruction, kindle new enthusiasm, gather and preserve the literature, assemble the people, organize centennial circles among adnits, juvenile centennial clubs among the young, thus moving all along the line. Let the music begin; thanks to God for his many mercies in aiding us in our efforts at self-help, self development and independent ecclesiastical government, which has been so benefical in results to the people. Let us raise this year $100.000 for general purposes. But be sure to relieve the Publishing Department from burden of debt; give it improved buildings, with complete press appliances.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 31, 1887.

A WORD FROM THE MANAGER.

To my dear brother ministers of the Church: The last round of annual conferences for this quadrennial term has begun. Our Bishops have been obliged, we suppose, to group the fall and early winter conferences close together—eight in August and September, eight in October, ten in November and eight in December, making thirty-four of the forty-four conferences of the connection in a little more than four months. In this it would be impossible for us, even if our editor could go ont and stay in the field with us, to visit all, or even a majority of these sessions, to collect our subscriptions and press the sale of our publications.

We are heartily thankful to the dear brethren in Iowa, Illinois and the little new-born Michigan for the noble patronage given us by the hand of Dr. Lee. Two hundred and eighty dollars came to us from these three little conferences for subscriptions, hills and merchand ze. We urge every pastor to pay his subscription in full to the paper, and at the same time get two or three subscribers in your charge. We will send the paper from now until January 1st to any address for fifty cents. Show the paper to your people and ask them to subscribe.

2. We have still on hand a few copies of that truly great work, "Genesis Reread," that we offered sometime back at seventy-five cents to clear a 200 lot. If you would supply yourself with a copy before they are all gone, now is your time. Send your orders at once.

3. Have you seen our new Ritnal yet? If you have not you have missed a treat. Send for it. Only 45 cents. A very nice one, leather bound, 60 cents, and a fine morocco hound copy for $1.00 The handsomest little book ever published by our Church, 202 pages.

4. Dnring the three months, September, October and November, we have some heavy hills to pay. We need money and must have it.

From now nntil December 1st we will give 20 per cent. off and prepay the freight on orders for Hymn Books and Disciplines and Rituals and love-feast tickets, etc., on all orders of $10 worth or more. On $20 worth, cash with order, we will give 25 per cent. off and prepay the freight.

Last of all, we want to speak once more for the RECORDER. We have resolved to raise one thousand new subscribers for the RECORDER by the 22nd of December, if possible. On that date we purpose issning our centennial number of the paper. This issne is to contain the list of churches and pastors who take part in the celebration, and the amount contributed by each for the Centennial Fund. We shall send out five thousand copies for distribution and sale.

Now, in order to get our one thousand snbscribers, we shall offer the following liberal indncement: When two hundred and fifty cash subscribers have been obtained, we will give to the minister or other gentleman who procures the highest number of the two hundred and fifty names, a hunting case, lever gold watch, worth fifty dollars; or will send him, if he prefers it, forty-five dollars in gold by express. If a lady obtains the highest nnmber of cash subscribers of the first two hundred and fifty, we will give her either the gold premium or a brand new Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, worth fifty dollars. In like manner and in like amounts, we will reward those who help us to raise the second two hnndred and fifty, until the whole thousand shall have been procured. Now, we want all who will undertake to help in this effort to send in and get our commission as agent.

Enroll your name and begin at once. Ten persons procuring twenty-five each, would get the two hundred and fifty.

Begin and push your effort. You need only work at night, or when you have nothing else to do. At class, at prayer meeting, at the lodge, anywhere, get the names on your paper and begin to collect; fifty cents now, and fifty cents again, until you get the whole. As often as you get ten or twelve dollars send it in.

Write as soon as you read this, and let us know what you will do.

Yours, &c.,
J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, fifteen hundred dollars in a short time; that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have had the matter under advisement and have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these urgent demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also in our Church organ, which appeal you are now reading. What will you do with it. How will you answer it? Will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over this matter carelessly and cast it from your minds. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not a State normal, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we cordially invite and joyfully hail students of every nationality and religious faith; but this university is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned and controlled by the Church as a body, and the day that her doors are closed for the want of means that day the 400,000 members of the A. M. E. Church become responsible and are or will be justly charged with the folly and crime of their negligence and stupidity. But the doors will not be closed; you will not suffer such a shame to blot the fair name of our great Church. Brother Trustees, we appeal especially to you. We as a Board are your servants, executing, so far as we can, your will. We ask you to give us aid. Our agents cannot call upon many of you in person. To you who read this appeal and are at a distance and remote for our local agents to call upon you in person and present the cause of our university and the great need of immediate action, we earnestly ask you in the name of God and a common humanity; in the name of the work accomplished in the past by Wilberforce; in the name of her many noble sons and daughters that have gone out from her and in their moral, intellectual and religious strength have lifted high the torch of reason and intelligence and with Christian heroism have nurtured the banner of the Redeemer; for the sake of all the institution has accomplished under the guidance of God in the past and for the sake of what lies within the realm of her power to do in the future, we beseech and im; lore you to send as early as possible to the Secretary whatever you may be able to give in this direction. And for every dollar you give God will bless you many fold. Any amount you may send will be duly acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home are going to aid us, but we want our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with them. If they will do this in a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that within the next thirty days the fifteen hundred dollars will be raised and the burden removed. Brethren, to you we respond to our earnest call, and relive us of this embarrassment. It is our purpose to publish the names of the donors after the canvass of our local agents shall have been concluded, and we sincerely hope to be able to have in the list the name of every trustee of the University.

Yours, with anxious waiting, signed by order and on behalf of the Executive Board of Wilberforce University,

J. P. MAXWELL,
Secretary.

EDUCATION.

DEAR BRETHREN:—The time is fast approaching for us to make another grand rally for the cause of Christian education. Our district comprises all the conferences in the States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and the Indian Territory. With our host of earnest and sacrificing workers we expect great results from the endowment effort. The educational interest is increasing all over our broad connection, and thousands of young men and women rap at the doors of our institutions. The 4th district has over three thousand soldiers to the field, and they expect me who stand at the head of affairs to make such provisions and to furnish such ensppliee as will enable them to wage a successful battle against ignorance, vice and superstition.

Let no man in our ranks falter, and remember that all moneye collected on the third Sunday in September must be sacredly consecrated to education.

The Southwest this year must rise and shine, but it must do so through us as leaders. Great things are expected of you, brethren, and in God's name let us make one grand rally for the elevation of our race and the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom.

This is our last effort before General Conference, and we urge you, dear brethren, to stir up your whole people, and rally all your forces for Endowment Day, so we may render a good account of our stewardship. Let no men be unfaithful in this great struggle. Come forth and show your strength.

Send 75 per cent. of all collections to me at Wacc, the remaining 25 per cent. to Dr. W. D. Johnson, at Athens, Ga.

Yours for God and humanity,

I. M. BURGAN,
Secretary Fourth Educational District,

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS, AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH,
No. 1424 R. I. Avenue,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 4, 1887.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask your father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness!"

Next November will be one hundred years since Richard Allen and his compeers left St. George's M. E. Church, in the city of Philadelphia, (1787) and the Bishops of the semi-annual meeting adopted the following Preamble and Resolutions:

WHEREAS: November next, 1887, will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the Methodist Society of Philadelphia convened for the purpose of taking into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of worship, and even put them off their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seats." (See preface to the A. M. E. Church Dicipline,)

AND WHEREAS: This is the most decisive act of the religious colored people in the United States, and we know of none like it of the descendants of Africa in the world; if we except the Society of the Haitians under Toussaint, Christophe, Petion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo, in a civil and political sense, what Allen, Jones, Tapasco and others were to the colored Christians of America; their act was manhood, freedom, and manhood christianity. We must fully recognize their action a successful republic we have—all therefore recognize their manhood because their acts prove it. To resist opposition in Church or State is manly. Toussaint and Allen are by us honored, reverred and loved. The success of Allen and his compeers is demonstrated, for it has given us the largest society of genuine colored men in the world. It is therefore proper and right that we should commemorate an event se important and so full of interest to us as a race. Therefore be it.

Resolved, first, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that next November, a date in that month be hereafter fixed, to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that services be held at all our churches throughout the connection. The order of exercises to be fixed by each Conference, quarterly conference, and Pastor and each church. A general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Resolved, second, As our publishing interest has long suffered, because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected to be appropriated to assist in the paying off of debts now resting on our Publication Department.

Adopted.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS:

J. M. BROWN,
T. M. D. WARD,
H. M. TURNER,
H. B. DISNEY,
B. W. ARNETT.

We ask co-operation. If you intend to cooperate will you send to me signifying your approval and intention to act, by addressing a note to No. 1424 R. I. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Any plan suggested by you please forward to me.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN M. BROWN, Chairman.

P. S.—I wish you unity, prosperity and holiness, and that next year will be the crowning year of our Church.

J. M. B.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. When this is not done on our rule is to send that amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circuit desiring it sent to some other place, and do not mention this very important fact.

4th. For all orders sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, nnmbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, with reto us about it, but be sure to give the number of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it. When a packer writes to us that his superintendent sent us money, etc., we do not know who is his superintendent unless he writes us his name. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circnits, stations, etc.

5th. Sign your name to your communication We cannot tell who sent a letter to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flonrishing It is useless and often renders obscure what would otherwise be legble writing.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without any instruction accompanying it. How do we know what to do with money sent thus?

8th. We have lost a great deal of money by sending anpplies C. O. D. because the parties whom we thus favored failed to take them from the express office. In consequance of this naglect and absolute loss which we have borne because of it, we bove decided to positively refuse to grant any more C. O. D. favors to anyone. Please do not request them.

9th. Our business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them or send you a catalogue, price list, blank and return envelope.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginnig of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not arrive until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past; in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature for the benefit of two or three persons or else we are liable to a "raking over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Lesson Papers are ordered, they are rolled in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessoune, reward cards and other such matter are never in one wrapper. When yon order both inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and number. Unless you do this it will be returned to us while you are tbinaing for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for his Sunday school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office. This method of communicating with us through a person who has permanent location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above instructions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who are, with us, intrusied with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH.

A Kansas City paper is very profuse in its praises of a young man who by being cool and collected prevented the possible destruction of the city, a few days ago, by fire. If the young man had only been warm and scattered there would be no Kansas City to-day.

The Best Remedy
For Dyspepsia is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Other medicines may give temporary relief; but Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes a positive and permanent cure, as thousands can testify all over the country.
"My stomach, liver, and kidneys were in a disordered condition for years," writes R. Wild, of Hutto, Texas, "and I never found any medicine to relieve me, until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Less than six bottles of this remedy cured me."
Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of Holyoke, Mass., was for a long time a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, trying, in vain, all the usual remedies. At last she began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and only three bottles restored her to perfect health.
"I have gone through terrible suffering from Dyspepsia and Indigestion," writes C. J. Bodemer, 145 Columbia st., Cambridgeport, Mass., "and can truly say Ayer's Sarsaparilla has cured me."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

. . . Transfer caltem hunc a me.—MARO 14, 36.

Ah, burdened soul,
Quite heavy is the load already borne,
And hath been since thy long and sad sojourn;
But say, O burdened soul,
To whom can this transference now be made?
On whom can man's great guilt be laid?

Ah, sorrowing soul,
Already filled with more than earthly grief—
Of sufferers all, O Jean, more than chief.
But say, O suffering soul,
Where is the empty heart that can afford
To drink the indignation of the Lord?

Ah, suffering soul,
Already hath hell's pains got hold of thee—
A sufferer such as earth did never see.
But say, O suffering soul,
Where is the one on earth, in hell or heaven,
Prepared to say: Thy sins are all forgiven?

A REPLY TO REV. I. F. ALDRIDGE.

BY REV. C. S. SMITH.

In the RECORDER of Septemher 1st, under the head of "Some Ideas for the General Conference of 1888," Rev. F. Aldridge, by implication and insinuation, makes an unjust and unkind assault upon the General Officers of the Church. It is difficult for me to conceive what prompted Brother Aldridge to write such an article and assume such an untenable position on such an important matter. By a species of reasoning wholly at variance with the facts, as will hereafter be shown, he has concluded that the General Officers are responsible, 1, For the failure of the Bishops to receive their salary regularly and promptly; 2, For the failure of the widowe and orphans to receive their allowance; 3, For the failure of missionaries to obtain their portion, and the poor preachers any assistance from what is furnished them by the churches they serve, and then unjustly insinuates that some one of the General Officers, in his own interest, must have formulated a certain paragraph contained in the present Dollar Money law.

His "idea" that the present number of General Officers should be reduced and their salary decreased does not concern me now, though I shall briefly refer to it before I close. I most emphatically deny that the General Officers, in any manner whatever are responsible for the failures above cited. What is the true status of the General Officers? Their number is fixed by the General Conference and elected by the same. Each one is assigned to a specific work at a given and uniform salary. The last General Officers elected served as General Officers, each to receive a salary of $1,350 per year.

The Dollar Money law provides that the Financial Board, when "the condition of the connections in their judgment shall warrant it," shall appropriate certain fixed sums for the support of worn-out preachers, the widows and orphans of deceased preachers, etc. The clause first quoted has been acted upon by Brother Aldridge, and with seeming vengeance he exclaims, "Perhaps this is the mighty bar that closes the door against all appropriations made at the last General Conference, except those to pay General Officers; why, it is a bar against the appropriations made to pay the Bishops' salaries;" which is equivalent to saying that the General Officers must be paid their salaries, even though the Bishops and other claimants on the General Treasury of the Church should not receive a penny,—a most grievous error, indeed. Nowhere in the Discipline can be found a priority clause in favor of the payment of the salaries of the General Officers. The Financial Board has ruled that the Bishops—not the General Officers—are to be paid first, and said rule has been in force ever since the adoption of the Dollar Money system. As to the law regulating the amounts to be appropriated to worn-out preachers, widows, orphans, etc., in what manner are the General Officers a bar to its operation? The percentage of Dollar Money that constitutes the Church treasury is conditional and disbursed by the Financial Board, and the General Officers, the Financial Secretary alone excepted, have no more to do with it than does Brother Aldridge.

The failure of the Financial Board to make the appropriations ordered by the last General Conference is not due either to the number of General Officers or their salaries. In my humble judgment it is due to the fact that the action of the General Conference pertaining thereto was anticipatory, being based upon the assumption that "one dollar" would be collected annually "from or for each member." Has the "one dollar for or from each member" yet been realized? Let us see. Our membership is rated at 400,000. "One dollar for or from each member" would give us an annual revenue of four hundred thousand dollars. Instead of this, however, the largest amount of dollar money raised in any one year will not exceed fifty thousand dollars, while the average is about forty-five thousand. Fifty thousand is one-eighth of four hundred thousand, and one-eighth of one dollar is twelve-and-a-half cents, which is the amount contributed by our members for what is erroneously termed the "support of the general interests of the Church." For it is to be remembered that forty per cent. of all the Dollar Money raised is retained by the annual conferences, and that no part thereof goes into the general treasury. Sixty per cent. of the Dollar Money is the true amount that constitutes the fund for the support of the general interests of the Church. I have said that our members, instead of paying one dollar per annum, as anticipated by the law, do not, on an average, pay more than twelve-and-a-half cents, as evidenced by the actual amount realized.

There is still a little more figuring to be done before I leave this point. For we must ascertain what portion of the 12½ cents goes to the general fund and what to the annual conferences. Twelve and a half cents are equal to 124 mills, 60 per cent. of which is equal to 74 cents, which is the true amount realized "from or for each member" for the support of the general interests of the Church, while the remaining 40 per cent. of the 125 mills, which is equal to 5 cents, is the portion of the 12½ cents retained by

A MEMORIAL MEETING IN HAYTI.

SAN DOMINGO MISSION, }
August 17th, 1887. }

At a meeting of the Official Board, held August 3d, instant, Superintendent H. C. C. Astwood announced to the Board that, in accordance with a notice read from the New York Freeman of July 2, he felt pained to announce the sudden death of our beloved missionary Bishop, James A. Shorter, and moved that a committee of five be appointed to draft suitable resolutions of sympathy; a copy duly executed be sent to the family of the deceased in token of our sincere condolence with them in their trying hour of distress, and that a copy be sent to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER for publication, and one sent to the Missionary Secretary, J. M. Townsend, to be presented to the Missionary Board. The superintendent further suggested that the church be draped in mourning for the space of sixty days, in memory of our departed father and friend, and a funeral sermon be preached to his memory; the sermon to be forwarded, with the resolutions, to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER with a request for its publication.

Rev. A. H. Mevs appointed the following committee: Superintendent H. C. C. Astwood, Deacon Francois Claudio, Local Preacher Simon J. Hall, and Secretary Charles R. Williams. By request of the Board Rev. A. H. Mevs was added to the committee Brother Astwood was appointed to preach the sermon on Sunday, the 14th instant.

The committee reported the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, In the providence of Almighty God, the source of all blessings and goodness, our beloved Brother and Bishop, James A. Shorter; has been called from labor to reward; and

WHEREAS, His life of Christian rectitude and philanthropic deeds in behalf of his race and the cause of Christianity has called forth the admiration of all good men who knew him; and

WHEREAS, As a missionary Bishop he has always stood ready to propagate the gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, at home and abroad, for the uplifting of down-trodden humanity and the salvation of souls, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the San Domingo Mission, recognizing the virtues, goodness and bright Christian principles of our beloved Bishop Shorter, hereby extend our sympathetics to his bereaved family and our sorrowing church connection, praying for the support and comfort of our Heavenly Father in this trying ordeal of suffering and deprivation.

Resolved, further, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this mission, and copies be forwarded to the bereaved family, the Missionary Secretary and to the Editor of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER expressing our great sorrow for this irreparable loss to our Church, our missionary and educational departments.

IN MEMORIAM.

Funeral sermon preached in memory of Bishop James A. Shorter, Missionary Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, by Superintendent H. C. C. Astwood, of the San Domingo Mission, Sunday evening, August 14, 1887.

Opening hymn, 747:

"Servant of God, well done,
Rest from thy loved employ;
The battle fought, the victory won,
Enter the Master's joy.

The voice at midnight came;
He started up to hear;
A mortal arrow pierced his frame;
He fell, but felt no fear."

Theme, Victory. Text, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."—37th Psalm, 37.

One of our great secular poets has splendidly and truthfully written that "Lives of great men all remind us,

We can make our lives sublime;
And departing, leave behind us
Footprints in the sands of time.

Footprints that, perhaps, another,
Sailing o'er life's solemn main,
A forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
Seeing, shall take heart again."

These words are not foreign to our subject to-night. They are conspicuously applicable, as we view the great Christian character of Bishop Shorter, teeming with spiritual excellence, like a beacon light, pointing upward to the skies. We would tread this gloomy pathway of duty with sadder hearts than we do, but for the splendid victory achieved on the Lord's side. This great soldier of the Cross, after many battles and conflicts, when death was about to do its worst, could exclaim, "Jesus is able, is willing to save, Jesus saves me now."—Blessed words! Glorious words! Victory for God! Victory for the Church! Victory for the race he so nobly represented.

The words of our text are fittingly suitable to this noble and great Christian character; so full of light and love, attracting with great power all thoughtful minds toward it like a magnet.

He began life like a hero. At 21 he did not, like most young men, go out into the world depending upon himself as most of them generally do. The saloon and the gambling institutions were not his choice, worldly allurements did not attract him at all, he seemed to have had a higher aim, and stepped at once into the army of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Thus equipped, he was prepared to fight the battles of life. At once he took a bold stand as a Christian. In it he could see all of the true greatness to be achieved in this life and a glorious hope beyond. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace." At the age of 29 years we find him entering the Christian ministry, step by step following the path of duty laid down by the Master. He did not stop, nor weary nor tire by the way until he had reached the very climax of Church preferment, when, at the age of 51, he was elected and ordained Bishop in the A. M. E. connection. He became at once a Paul, "not ashamed of the gospel of Christ," expounding it to be the "power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth."

The author of our text was a man supremely fitted to point out the character of the good and the great; he began life so lowly himself, with a strong belief in the God of his fathers. His experience was so varied, his faith so severely tested, his hope so permanently fixed, that under the most trying circumstances and under the severest ordeal of trial, for getting his kingly power, his worldly greatness, the strength of his armies, in wealth of his dominions, he flies to a higher refuge and exclaims, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want: he maketh me to lie down in green pastures, he leadeth me beside the still waters, he restoreth my soul: though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me; Thy rod and Thy staff shall comfort me."

This was Bishop Shorter's reliance: "Jesus saves me now." The psalmist, in his criticisms upon the characters of good and bad men, begins by saying, "Fret not thyself because of evil-doers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity. For they shall soon be cut down like the grass and wither as the green herb. Trust in the Lord and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land and verily thou shalt be fed." His confidence is confirmed by saying—"I have seen the wicked in great power and spreading himself like a green bay tree. Yet he passed away, and, lo, he was not; yea, I sought him, but he could not be found. Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

Divine excellence! Stupendous power! We apply the words of our text to the unblemished character of Bishop Shorter. He was a perfect man. Perfection in its general sense does not belong to frail humanity, but as far as it is possible to apply it to mankind, Bishop Shorter was a perfect man. His Christian integrity made him so. His truthfulness made him so, his generosity, so conspicuous and his charity so large and unselfish, and his love for mankind so marked, that in looking over his vast field of beneficence, we cannot fail to apply the language of the text, "Mark the perfect man."

I point to his character to-day with pride, and say to our young men, follow in his footsteps. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; walk in it." No drunkard's grave will overtake you, none of the dissipations of youth, with their leprous stains, will cling to you, causing you to cry out, "Unclean! unclean! unclean!" Ah, nay; but, being washed in the blood of Jesus Christ, you would become good citizens of the commonwealth and anticipated residents of the glorious city beyond. His home was a happy home No domestic discords to mark those sacred recesses which made him happy, thrice happy. The altar of Christ was erected at the marriage stand and carried into his peaceful abode. His children were reared up under its influence and the call to him blessed. It was a home of peace, it was a home of love. His last family prayer was a remarkable one, and as significant as it was remarkable: "If it should be Thy will to call me hence before the day closes, I pray Thee to take me to dwell with Thee, O Father, forever." Blessed is the man who can pray such a prayer upon the very verge of eternity. "Mark the perfect man."

The sudden death of Bishop Shorter is not only sufficient cause to awaken the Church with which he was so long identified, but the whole Christian world. What infidelic theory can gainsay the glorious and rapturous victory achieved for the Bible and Christianity in the death of this good man?

No doubting theories, no blasphemous braggadocio, no evolution or beclouded scientific dogmas, but one bold and unflinching declaration of Christian faith whilst looking straight into the spirit world, "Jesus is able, is willing to save; Jesus saves me now." The ministry of the A. M. E. Church, this is a loud call to encourage us "to press forward to the mark of our high calling as it is in Christ Jesus." To its members this is a glorious victory, saving you of free salvation if you prove faithful to the end. To our Bishops and patriarchs it is a consolation, knowing that after the battle of life is fought and the victory won, that "Jesus is able, is willing to save; that Jesus saves me now." "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

He was an upright man in the full sense and power of that word. No immoral debris surrounded his splendid character; he was a bright example of true Christian manhood, tolling on for the betterment of mankind and the defense of the Cross. He came upon the stage of action at a peculiar time; men tried and strong were needed then; it was an era of the persecution of a race; a Chinese wall of ignorance surrounded them, the chains of bondage enslaved them, the Church of Christ rejected them. They were helpless, down-trodden and forlorn; they had a Saviour and a hope in the Cross, but it was beclouded by the cruel Christian institutions of that age, which preached the enslavement of humanity and tolerated the oppression of human boudage. They found no consolation in the word of God preached from the mouths of false prophets, and the then sanctuaries had no place for them in common with the people of God. The words of Holy Writ, like a distant hope, kept ringing in their ears, "How long, O Lord, holy and true, dost thou not judge and avenge our blood on them that dwell upon the earth" They clung to that hope, being made doubly strong by the invitation of the Master, "Come unto me, all ye that do labor and are heavy laden, and I will give thee rest."

God has never failed to listen to the cries of his people, and ere the shackles of slavery were broken by the strong arm of the Nation, our spiritual Joshua came, in the person of the immortal Allen, and proclaimed religious liberty. It was a good time. Wounded hearts that were sorely bleeding rejoiced when the A. M. E. Church was born Bishop Shorter joined the army of saints that were to battle for the religious freedom of his people. How well that duty was performed the Church's history will proclaim until its entire membership will have been translated and all mankind called before the judgment seat of God to render an account of the deeds done in the body; and now our aged and beloved Bishop Shorter. "If judgment begins at the house of God where shall the sinner and the ungodly appear?"

It is a serious warning, the Church has been shaken from center to circumference. The ministry is called upon to reflect. What may we not have to pass through before the meeting of the next quadrennial? Our Bishops are all veterans, scarred and bruised by the battles of many ages. The venerable Payne, Campbell, Brown, Ward, Wayman and Disney have all passed the meridian of life; they need our prayers, that God, in his wise judgment, might spare them to us, so that by the council of age we might be guided in the selection of those who must fill the places of those who have fallen asleep The life of Bishop Shorter is a splendid criterion by which to judge the men who may be called upon to fill these responsible positions—men who are fit to live, men who are not afraid to die, men who, like our lamented Bishop Shorter, when passing through the vale can exclaim, "Jesus is able, is willing to save; Jesus saves me now."

Many there are in the life of Bishop Shorter and step at once in the Church of Christ, being assured by this triumphant Christian death that "Jesus is able, is willing to save; Jesus saves me now."

These badges of sorrow and of mourning here to-night, these hearts bowed low with grief, these eyes suffused with tears, though separated by distance and the mighty deep from those who are weeping for the lost, the loved and the brave, yet our hearts are united with the hundreds of thousands of voices in prayer to Almighty God for the grief-stricken Church and bereaved family. With these we add our feeble prayers, and as the great volume of praise and song swell to high heaven in behalf of this great Christian victory, we shout: "Glory, and honor, and praise, and thanksgiving, and power be unto our God and to the Lamb forever and ever," that "Jesus is able, is willing to save; Jesus saves me now."

One sweetly solemn thought,
Comes to me o'er and o'er:
I'm nearer home to-day,
Than ever I've been before.

Nearer my home, nearer my home,
Nearer my home to-day,
Nearer my home in heaven to-day
Than ever I've been before.

Nearer my Father's house,
Where many mansions be;
Nearer the great white throne to-day,
Nearer the crystal sea.

Nearer the bound of life,
Where burdens are laid down,
Nearer to leave the cross to-day,
And nearer to the crown.

Be near me when my feet
Are slipping o'er the brink,
For I am nearer home to-day,
Perhaps than now I think.

A WORD FROM THE MANAGER.

To my dear brother ministers of the Church: The last round of annual conferences for this quadrennial term has begun. Our Bishops have been obliged, we suppose, to group the fall and early winter conferences close together—eight in August and September, eight in October, ten in November and eight in December, making thirty-four of the forty-four conferences of the connection in a little more than four months. Of course it would be impossible for us, even if our editor could go out and stay in the field with us, to visit all, or even a majority of these sessions, to collect our subscriptions and press the sale of our books.

We are heartily thankful to the dear brethren in Iowa, Illinois and the little new-born Michigan for the noble patronage given us by the hand of Dr. Lee. Two hundred and eighty dollars came to us from these three little conferences for subscriptions, bills and money. We find this a golden fruit, the real success; and here the Saviour's sayings are truly applicable, "Ye are the salt of the earth;" "Ye are the light of the world;" "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven." And though the private Christian needs this heavenly adorning, yet how important in the ministry of the Lord! The ensuing General Conference is fast approaching, at which time, according to the writings of Dr. Johnson, the Church needs eight more Bishops. If they are needed through the judgment of the General Conference, surely they will be elected. But they should be men who possess self-government and are full of the Holy Ghost and of faith, and much people will be added unto the Church. Were it not for the religious of self-government in relation between rulers and subjects. Under its influence, rulers properly estimate the origin and dignity of their authority; so far from preaming that right to rule others is the effect of chance, or that it is an inherent right, or that it is merely the gift of the people themselves, they believe they receive their power from God. Realizing the principles of ministers of God, they feel the force of their high obligations, and far from trusting solely to human wisdom, which has led so many of the great and mighty men of the earth in the paths of cruelty and oppression. Great are the advantages arising from self-government in our religious relations.

To view the subject particularly as it applies to ministers and hearers, the work of the ministry must be acknowledged, by all who believe the truths of revelation, and hope for happiness beyond the grave, to be the most important in which fallible man can possibly engage. It extends in its effects and consequences beyond the limits of time and includes the highest happiness or misery of millions by leading them to felicities or woes which baffle description. The political decisions of senates may affect nations with calamity or deliver them from it, but the good and evil which they administer must terminate with the present life. It is not so with the ministry of the gospel. The effects which result from the faithful or unfaithful labors of those who stand forth as ministers of Christ to persuade sinners to be reconciled to God may, indeed, be perceived in every stage of human probation; but they will become more conspicuous as life draws toward its close. They will remain unextinguished at death and assume in eternity a visible and permanent character. Great are the advantages arising from self-government in our social relations.

Of all the associations formed in this life that of the conjugal state is the most endearing and the most important. But the happiness of this relation depends so much on the principle of self-government that, without the proper management, reciprocally, in the parties, of temper and conduct, the happiness contemplated will not be realized, but the connection itself will become an occasion of the most direful ills of life. Still, when those who have formed this important relation and taken upon themselves these solemn obligations have learned to rule their own spirits, "to walk in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless," they will realize the blessings of a happy union of kindred minds and will aid each other in ruling their own spirits and in preparing for higher enjoyments.

By a good man we may understand a benevolent man. This definition is equally applicable to Barnabas, born in Cyprus, an isle of the Mediterranean Sea. Visiting Jerusalem, as some suppose, at the feast of Pentecost, by the preaching of the Apostles he is converted, sells his land, and brings the sum thus obtained and lays it at the Apostles' feet,—not a part, Ananias like, but the whole sum,—thus at once consecrating and supplying the necessities of the poor persecuted followers of his Lord. He was full of the Holy Ghost. Allusion is not so much made, as approhend, to the marvellous gifts of the Holy Ghost as the indwelling of the spirit,—happifying the soul, illuminating the understanding, correcting the judgment, and subduing the will, hallowing the affections, purifying the conscience and captivating the thoughts; thus sanctifying the whole man.

His success. "Much people was added to the Lord." He not only had one to rejoice in witnessing the effects of divine grace in the conversion of Grecians at Antioch, through the instrumentality of his countrymen, but his own labors, it would seem, were blessed to the salvation of many more; "much people were added," not merely proselyted to an opinion, creed or sect, but "to the Lord." Convicted of sin, converted from the error of their ways, they joined the band of young converts, or the first named "Christians" in that city. Though they had been "aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, strangers from the covenant of promise, without God and hope in the world," and sometimes, thus far off, they were now "made nigh by the blood of Christ."

In conclusion let me say that some of the conferences have already elected their delegates, and some are to be elected to represent them in the ensuing General Conference of the A. M. E. Church. Be such, brethren, you send your best men, and if more Bishops are needed, try to select such men as will emulate the example of Bishop A. W. Wayman, then you can rest satisfied that the Church is safe under their care, and "much people will be added unto the Lord."

MEETING OF DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

BY REV. A. J. NIXON.

MR. EDITOR:—Please give space in your valuable paper for a few sketches of the meeting of our district conference, which met in the little historical town of Graham, N. C., on the 9th August, nit. Suffice it to say, Elder D. F. Newby and his good people spared no pains in making preparations for our reception, and the time appointed, was anticipated, a grand session. The conference was called to order by Rev. F. F. Giles, presiding elder of the Greensboro District, who made a few very interesting and pointed remarks touching the business of the conference and his regret of not being able to have called the conference earlier. He then announced the conference ready for business. We then proceeded to the election of the different officers, whereupon Rev. C. Sampson, of Greensboro, was elected vice-president, and your writer secretary. By consent of the conference the president was allowed to appoint the several committees, as per discipline. This being done, the hours of meeting and adjournment were fixed and also the boundary of the conference.

Rev. J. W. Dr. Moses B. Sheppard preached to a crowded house, using for his text, Phil. 3. 8: "Yea, doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus, my Lord," &c. The subject was masterly handled, and the audience appeared to enjoy it splendidly. After the sermon Rev. D. F. Newby lifted a collection of $2.88. The business of the conference was systematically carried on and not a stone left unturned. Rev. F. F. Giles, president of the conference, proposed three applicable subjects for discussion of the conference: 1st subject, "Shall the ministers of the traveling connection organize and attend Sunday schools?" Rev. D. F. Newby led off on this subject, and was followed by Revs. Jas. Jenkins, J. M. D. Hill, C. Sampson, G. A. Smith, F. P. Greenlee and F. F. Giles. They all held that that was a part of the ministerial duty, and any minister thus refusing to act in the premises would soon find himself a failure. Rev. Giles stated that this was the certain reason why he proposed this subject, and he also wanted to hear the brethren speak their sentiments as open confessions sometimes are good for the soul. Next, 2nd subject, "Why have the people departed so far from the old landmark of the fathers as to refuse preachers when sent to them by the proper authority, and are they justified in so doing?" Your writer led off on this subject, followed by Revs. G. A. Smith, D. F. Newby, W. M. Oberlie, C. Sampson, and F. F. Giles. Various reasons were given as the causes which lead to this rebellion. Rev. Smith said that outgoing ministers are more the cause than anything else. He says to the people, "Conference disregarded you. They sent B, but he can't preach; he is broken down spiritually and morally; and besides, he is no elder. I am an elder, and can do the business of the church, and if you will say so, I will stay here and serve you all the year," &c. Elder Giles also stated that he had grave reasons for proposing this subject; that the evil is becoming seemingly greater with our people. The 3rd subject, "Shall a Christian minister take an active part in labor organizations and prohibition movements?" Rev. G. A. Smith first fired at this mountain and was followed by Revs. F. P. Greenlee, C. Sampson, J. M. D. Hill, F. F. Giles, M. B. Shepard, and Brother H. S. Roberts. All the brethren made telling and soul-stirring remarks, and they seem to think that a Christian ministers ought not to take stock in these issues, but his sphere should be limited to the pulpit. Next, singing, "Stand up for temperance," &c. The several committees made their reports, and the conference being through with its business, adjourned sine die. Benediction by Rev. C. Sampson.

THE TEST BY RESULTS.

When George Stevenson, the inventor of the locomotive, was about to start out on his first trip, he declared that the water in his boiler carried a power that would revolutionize the carrying trade of the world. The same test which decided the merits of the claims for the powers of steam, is a fair one for to-day. One of the most striking of these developments is Compound Oxygen. For while it is almost mat vii, incredulity. The idea that it could be stored in water and transported long distances met with the same doubt that had greeted every other new statement in the line of powers in nature. But the same perseverance that had in so many fields won success led to patient endurance of the test by results; and they have made it an accomplished fact that oxygen in a compound form can be stored away for future use to be drawn upon as may be required. Tens of thousands are now living witnesses of this truth. The letters received and on file in the office of Drs. Starkey & Palen, No. 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, from their patients, reports cures in asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, dyspepsia, eczema, diseases of the eye, of the ear, consumption, rheumatism, diseases of the kidney, headaches, and other diseases. Nervous prostration from mental strain and overwork has in many cases given way to renewed powers and enjoyment of life.

These reports are numberd by thousands and come from men and women in every position in life. A college president, Vermont, writes that though he is well on in years, his voice has been restored so that he can give his lectures and addresses without inconvenience, after for a long time having been a sufferer from throat disease. When such wide-spread agreements as to results is witnessed, there can be no doubt as to Compound Oxygen. A well prepared digest of the history and working of this remarkable revitalizer in the form of a two hundred page brochure will be sent free by addressing Drs. Starkey & Palen, No. 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BOOKS.

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr James Porter's Hints: 1st. Because it furnishes the most methodical method of preaching effectively. 2nd. Because "it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success." 3rd. Because "it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to correct them." Its reviewers advise ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "it points out lines of study to receive are not furnished by other homiliticul works."—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, practical sense." Because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated,—because it is assured by many that to be the most profitable book they ever read. —"Worth its weight in gold."

IS THE BIBLE TRUE, AND FROM GOD?

Read Dr. Porter's late book called "Christianity Demonstrated By Experience," it will settle the question forever and ever in your souls on this. Buy a copy and keep it to lend to the poor society, and several to unbelievers. On sale by Rev. J. C. Embry, Price, $1.50. A new supply just received.

PHILADELPHIA, SEPT. 15, 1887.

REPLIES to Revs. Johnson and Kershaw's scriee of articlee are coming in. Correspondente will find them both pretty well intrenched.

THE COLORED prese is improving weekly, and is attracting the attention of all men. The colored newspaper is not tossed aside as it once was.

PROGRESS does not consist in marching, alone. The children of Israel were making quite as good time standing still seeing the salvation of God as they were when going forward.

WE RESUME our position at the desk, glad to greet our familiar correspondents. Much matter has accumulated during tho past five weeks. It will be worked off as fast as possible.

AT ITS meeting last Monday, the Philadelphia Preachers' Meeting discussed "The qualifioations essential for a Bishop." The probability is that this is a question of one eide only.

THE ceqtennial will be worth the consideration of the whole connection. A thoneand times we have talked of "gala days." In Novemher every African Methodist should try to find one of those days if he has to make one "gala day."

THE ENTHUSIASM over the prospects of our centennial seeme to he increasing. Dr. J. T. Jenifer has ordered four hundrod centennial envelopes, Dr. W. B. Derrick has issued a very lengthy programmo. Others are preparing to make it a great day in Zion.

THE PROGRESS of literature is equal to the progress of art and science; as literatare is the indication of a people's state. Tho literatnre of our own race offers an excellent opportunity to observe this fact. Its development is marked; yet there is great room for improvement.

IN OUR edncational notee we olip from the Xenia, (O.) Gazette a note to the effect that a new school district will he created, centering at Wilherforce. To any one familiar with the territory this is regarded as a good movement, if it hae for its objoct the ereation of a black district.

WE HAVE received a card from Hon. Charles H. J. King, U. S. Consul to Liberia. Among other things, Mr. King wisely orders the CHRISTIAN RECORDER as a paper from his country that will "truthfully tell the movemonte of his race." Mr. King expects to visit America next winter.

NEXT SUNDAY is Educational Day. How much will the Chnrch realize? Another demand for a generous effort on the part of all meuhere is made. It being the last annual call for this purpoee till next General Conference, Secretary Johnson expecte a good report. If everyhody paye something we shall settle matter with ease.

BESIDES THE air of devotione! business that a nice hymn hook gives a lady or gentloman on his way to ohnrch, the interesting appearance of a hymn book in hand in the assembly would seem to excite every ohnrch member to buy a hymn hook. There are some congregatione in which there are next to no hymn hook sometimee not even on the pulpit. Hymn books oost only from 90 cents to $4 00.

THE WORK and character of Allen were consistent with those of general American Methodism and its propagatore. Speaking of the Baltimore Conference of 1784, when American Methodism was organized, he eays, "Many of the ministers were set apart in holy orders at this conference, and were said to he entitled to the gown, and I have thonght religion has been dosliniog ever sinco."

OUR GOOD Southwestern Advocate friend assures some unnamed complainant against the A. M. E. Phnlishing Honse that he wonld he well treated at the M. E. Pnblishing House. Yes, but there are a few of ne who know that in the Church represented by the Sonthwestern, there is many a complaint against the M. E. Pnblishing Houee. Of course the editor of the Advocate knowe nothing of them.

BISHOP BROWN calle on the brethren of the Fourth District to forward their Dollar Money on to Dr. Arnett at once. This is the first appeal of the kind we have seen for a long while. It would he well for all concerned if some one wonld call the attention of brethren to this eubject; many who are holding their money for annual conferences would gladly forward it, if they had the least suspicion that it was needed.

AFTER ALL it is evidant that Georgia does oare something shont what the outside world thinks. It does not like to send the good professore of the Atlanta University to the chain-gang while the world ie looking on. That is very considorate in Georgia; there is no better way to oxoito the world against it than by throwing to it a martyr or two. Two or three teachers put on "the gang" would bring against the State an irresistible force. It can enjoy its modified sin better than it would have done the nnmodified.

MR. WANAMAKER, whose inventivo genius, like his commercial genine, seeme almost exhanstless, last week distribnted a chaste little book of 64 pages, entitled "A Sonvenir of the Constitutional Centennial," containing the Doolaration of Independenoe, the Constitution of the United States, Washington'e farewell address and Lincoln's speech at Gettysbnrg, with the following pledge printed on the back:

> Recognizing the importance to every American of the documents printed in this book, I hereby accept this copy from the firm of John Wanamaker upon the condition that I will observe the Centennial Anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the United States by carefully reading it.

THE Xenia (O.) Gazette annonnoes the death of the venerable Samnel Wilson, D.D., September 5th. Dr. Wilson was about eighty years of age. He was of the United Presbyterian Church, one of the noblest of men. For several years he was professor of Hebrew at Wilberforce University. All the theological graduatee of that institution prior to 1874 got their Hebrew from him. Thongh he tanght hy the old methode, he wae an efficient teacher. His devotion to the Christien cause was great. A more highly consoientionse man is rarely met. With him the ten commandmente meant eternal life to the faithful and obedient, and eternal death to the nnfaithful and disobedient. His personal objeot lessons are as precions as his lessons in the Hebrew.

WE VERY much regret the pnblioation of the article from Brother I. S. Grant, justly oritioised by Brother Nelson. It is contrary to our onstom to publish what evidently wrongs either the living or the dead; this article does both. As to the living, it involves all inolnded in its terms. It has been the oust'm of the Manager and Editor during the past three years to interchange service whenever they conceived it necessary to the advancement of the department. Preparing to transact business at several conferences for the Manager, being hurried in the preparation, we hastily handed the article to the compositors. But for a statement from the Manager in a letter that he had written an editorial on the subjeot, this note would have appeared three weeks ago. The Manager failed to publish the editorial because he was informed that we had handed the Grant article to the compositors.

THE WESTERN CONFERENCES, like those of the East and South, are prodncing some very promising men. The transition in our pulpit ie, perhaps, quite rapid enough. We are informed by one aged ministers, now and then, that the fathers inolnded some ministers who were snperior to almost any of our modern preachers. This is evidently true, bnt the nnmber of well furnished ministere was not nearly so great as now. Preaching is an aot that does not depend alone upon advanced learning. There are some ministers who are so thoronghly endowed with native pulpit elements that, without high edncation, they are more powerful than many otbere who are well edncated. Bnt in addition to all this there were some men among our ministers forty yeare ago who were well informed. It is not comparison, however, that we started to make, bnt declaration of facts. The nnmber of ministers who are masters of their position is increasing so rapidly that it looks as if we should soon be able to supply all our ohnrches with plons, scholarly pastors.

THIS ISSUE of the RECORDER comes out amid the rush and excitement of the Constitntional Centennial in Philadelphia. At this writing great preparations are being made to parade, display, entertain hie excellency, the President of the United States, etc. It ie a big time to those Americane who have inherited all the favors of a centnry of American constitutional liberty. The negro is little inspired. The constitution has recognized and protected his manhood only eighteen years. He is trying hard to attach himself to the enthnsiastic train, bnt it ie difficnlt for enthnsiasm to enable the orsatnre of eighteen years as strong as those of one hnndred years. The negroes of 1969 will find something that will awaken great centennial enthnsiasm; when they will have been moving nnder its provisions a full centnry. It is very important, however, that the negro take on just as much of the general spirit of rejoicing as possible. In recognition of his suffering in the development of the materially and socially, he should have received an especial place of honor in the provisions for oelebrating, not in a "separate wagon," bnt on the committees, etc.

THIS WORLD and this life are organized of mysteries. The crystalization of matter is as wonderful as is its creation, when pushed to the most remote extremity. No topio relative to mind, carried to the greatest possible study is less mysterious than is the existence of mind itself. Last week a man who had been nnconscious twenty days died in Buffalo. Thongh he was dead (to the appearanoe) he still lived dnring those days; but there came a day when he did not live—he died. Dying, did he still live? "If a man die, shall he live again?" comes rolling up on the wheele of time. What is life? What is death? There are many conditions in life concerning which science can say bnt little. There are comatose states occupying from one hour to several months, in different cases, from which the snbjects of the Manager and Editor during the past three years to interchange service whenever they conceived it necessary to the advancement of the department. Preparing to transact business at several conferences for the Manager, being hurried in the preparation, we hastily handed the article to the compositors. But for a statement from the Manager in a letter that he had written an editorial on the subjeot, this note would have appeared three weeks ago. The Manager failed to publish the editorial because he was informed that we had handed the Grant article to the compositors.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

I had no intention to represent the good people, especially the ministers of Gibson City, Ill., where I was so kindly treated, as being affected by the "Horse-shoe Bend," as appeared in recent editorial correspondence. In connection with the letter an editorial on the "Horse-shoe Bend" was sent; pages were confused; hence the reflecting editorial correspondence. The ministers of Gibson are a conrteous brotherhood and the people very hospitable Those are some thinkling men in the city The chief mannfacturing interest is that of canning. In this several colored persone are engaged The celebrated historio name, "Mark Anthony," is honored in the person of Mr. Mark Anthony, who was for many years manager of a section of the largest farm in the country, more recently proprietor of a large stone manufactory. At present Mr. Anthony is managing two barber shops in Gibson. He has a pleasant home and an interesting family. His eldest son, Mr. Robert Anthony, is a graduate of the city high school and at present a student in the law department of Wilberforce University, expecting to graduate next June He is an excellent penman, having received several medals in recognition of his originality and advanced standing in the art. He has taught penmanship in several teachers' institntes in his State, where all were Caucasians Brother S. S. Mitchell, lay delegate to the late General Conference, is also in business in Gibson. He is not enjoying good health. A very huey man is Brother J. H. Dorsey and a very thoughtful one is the Rev. Robert Green, local deacon in the M. E. Church. Brother Green is a quite well posted Methodist. One of the best blacksmiths of the city is Mr. W. H. Connere.

THE ILLINOIS CONFERENCE.

Thongh I spent hnt three daye in this conference in Cairo, I found it a warm conference, sitting in a warm city in very warm weather. The brethren of the conference treated our Department handsomely. Brother E. C. Joiner, then pastor at Cairo, had made ample provisione for entertaining the conference, though he was in poor health. I was pleasantly situated on Eleventh street, near Commercial avenue, with Mr. George Bell, who proved to be very conrteous, entertaining and patient. The Illinois Conference is advancing. They have the presiding eldership in accordance with law. The two presiding elders are Revs. H. Brown and P. C. Cooper. Rev. J. D. Peterson was chief secretary of the conference. Bishop Brown extended all the favor to the Pnblication Department that could be asked. Mrs. Brown was at the conference and, as at all conferences to which she eccompanies the Bishop, was highly appreciated as a visitor. I was mistaken when I reported in former correspondence that Mrs. Brown accompanied the Bishop to the Pacific Coast. Dollar Money at this conference was on the up grade. Missionary and educational reports were fair. Considerable new work was reported The Bishop was very careful that brethren should aim at still advanced work next year.

In addition to General Officers reported from the Iowa Conference we had the company of our Secretary of Education, Rev. W. D. Johnson, D.D., on his first visit to the far West. As usual Dr. Johnson carried away the people's notion that he is a good preacher. The conference lasted only six days. This left me five days before the Michigan Conference. It requiring one of these to reach Chicago, I spent three days there, the guest of Rev. W. G Reed, pastor of Bethel Church. Elder Reed has accomplished a wonderful work there in the past two years, having lengthened the church building and added a story to it, besides having it finished and furnished in modern style. His spiritual success has equelled his financial. Easy-going and unassuming, he is exerting a powerful influence in his society. He is a hard student, a progressive and vigilant pastor. I took a few minutes' time to call upon friends formed while attending the Iowa Conference: Mrs. Hall, who entertained me at the expence of Brother Weekly, presiding Elder Trevan, whom I met the loss of her Haytian parrot The missionary office is an interesting place also I should like for some who say "Townsend's got nothing to do" to go there and see the amount of work turned out by him and his good assistant, who hae to he his chief sometimes.

From Richmond I came on to Pittsburgh, where I attended a celebration held by one of my Wilberforce friends, Rev. W. H. Palmer. The celebration was a failure, bnt the man is apparently a great snccese. At the celebration I met Revs. W. H. Brown, of New Brighton; W. S. Lowry, of Allegheny; B. Wheeler, of Pittsburgh; J. H. Morris, of Connelleburg; Brooks, of the Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, and Brookens, of the Zion Church. Brother Palmer had a good hand and all that, but the people failed to materialize extensively. From thie place I come home to attend to my official duties.

THE A. M. E. CHURCH—THE VALUE OF ITS FAULT-FINDERS.

BY REV. A. J. KERSHAW.

No. 6.

We ask permission from your many readers to change the lines of our discussion as mapped out in our paper No 5.

Natnre presents in all of her courses two antagonizing forces; or, in the langnage of Seward, there is an "irresistible conflict" going on in both departments of our world—its physical and its moral—that must necessarily continne until time delivers up its keepings to the great hereafter. There seems to be a very large class of persons within our Church that is always ready to draw a sword or give a blow to fault-finders They seem to forget by acting thus they become fault-finders themselves, hence we write for this class's benefit and will attempt to prove that fault-finders are the world's great purifiers, both morally and physically, and without these we would have nothing bnt darkneee, stagnation and death.

First, let ns examine the fault-finders of the physical world, or, in other words, the counteracting influences found throughont the length and breadth of physical nature. After this we shall enter the moral and mark the contrast. Now to the physical. Take the laws of motion; what would become of our solar system if it were not for its two great fault-finders, the centrifugal and centripital forces? If one of these should cease its efforts at fault-finding our earth would be hurled through space, and, according to the law of inertia, would continne forever. If the other should become inactive we should soon find ourselves npon the burning plains of the sun. We will not attempt to confine these forces nor their influences to our system, for we believe they are designed to go wherever the projecting compase of almighty goodnese has yet to survey new roads for new worlds, and new boundaries for new systems. Here we find a great contest for the mastery. Take the atmosphere surrounding our earth and here the voice of the fault-finders can be heard; their hands are conspicuous and their doings are puplic.

Chemistry telle ne that our atmosphere is composed of two elements. One of its essential parts contains the principle of flame, and if it were not for the other, which is its God-appointed fault-finder, or its counteracter, our earth would be enveloped in flames that would soon raduce to liquid form the hardest substance in nature Separate the atmosephere's oxygen from its nitrogen and you have a place hotter than all the furnaces of Bahylon; hnt the air's great fault-finder is the lightning. It is an admitted fact that our atmosphere often becomes impregnated with the germe of deadly diseases, and the lightning, finding fanlt at the corrupted state of our air, gathers her spear, leaps from angry clouds to taunted earth, burns up these germs and purifies the air and makee it fit for the use of man, animal and plants.

Time and space will not allow us to travel throngh all the departmente of physical nature in search of her fault-finders. The inventory is too numerous, our collections would he too large. A few more illnstrations and we must dismiss this member of our discnesion. Friction is the fault-finder of motion; attraotive the fault-finder of repnlsive force; distance the fanlt-finder of gravitation; and so is heat to cold, light to darkness. So much for a sketch of the physical world. We pass to the moral and we here find ourselves upon the very threshold of our theory and a boundless field for discussion. We claim, first, that the world's fanlt-finders are among its greatest heroes and without them she would have been still wrapped in her primitive darkness, both civilly and religiously. We think that it is high time that some one was paying dne respects to this class of the world's benefactors, and when yon denounce them as hemagogues and fanatics you simply condemn your true friend. To what class, let us ask, is the world indebted for its republican form of government if not to the fault finders? This class, becoming dissatisfied with despotism, tyranny and the "divine rights of the kings," has transformed the governments of the old world into republics and constitutional monarchies. It was the fault finders who laid the foundation of our own government and fault-finders cleansed it from the seven-headed monster of human slavery It was the great Luther and his fault-finding colleagues that led the reformation and put a stop to the onward movement to the "mother of harlots;" it was John Wesley and his fault-finding allies that gave a mortal wound to the doctrine of predestination. It was the fault-finders of our own Church who etrangled, killed and buried, the very horr they were born, thoee three etrange babies—high churchism, ritnalism and apostolic succession. Christ found fault and for the fault finding the world's first gift was a manger for a cradle; the last, a cross. Paul was another great fault-finder, bnt if he had lived in our day Brother Miller or some one else would have read to him the riot act and demanded that he etop habbling or he hanged by sheriff "Fussation."

So much for the value of the world's fault-finders. Let us return to our own Church. We are free to say there is a class of our preachers who demand that all fault-finders of our Church have their placee in that lake that hnrns with "disappointments" and no appointments; for, as we ask these brethren to look well and examine the class of men whom they want thns pnnished? We think it is unfair to hang us young sinners for the sin of fault-finding, when you allow to go scot free such hardened sinners as Bishops Payne, Campbell, Turner and all the rest of the Bench, for if fault-finding is a sin, Bishop D. A. Payne is the greatest sinner in our Church, because for nearly sixty years he has stood pointing out our defects as a Church, our unbolines as Christiane and our ignorance as a race. Dr. Tanner is another great sinner; for sixteen years he has kept and talked with the greatest fault finder of the age (the RECORDER), for remember evil communication corrupts good manners, and I repeat, you shall not hang me so long as you allow him to continue to sin. Dr. B. F. Lee is another big sinner, and if hanging is to be the order of the day he must be the third man hanged, for look at his fault-finding editorials Some call them "pop guns," but I am sorry for the man behind whom they "pop." Let us take a retrospective view of our past history as a Church and the first that we see is the great fault-finder, Rev. Richard Allen He being a fault-finder he built a fault-finding Church, and you should not be surprised if some of his sons should strive to follow in his tracks So much for the fault-finders of the moral world, now for the contrast in the physical world.

We have light as the fault-finder or counteracter of darkness in the moral; we have the pulpit, the school house and the press as the fault-finder of ignorance, superstition and crime. In physical motion we have friction as its fault-finder; in the moral there is the sanctified heart and a purified conscience; and so on we could multiply illustrations by illnstrations to an indefinite length. Bnt time and space will not allow, so we hasten to a close Now, brother A. Telle you that our argument is too far from the subject of discussion. Says he, "We are only talking about those who are always finding fault with that which is right." Well, brother, we have read somewhere in a book where it is said, "All men are right in their own sight, but God examines the heart." From this you see the fault-finders are as much right as those who find fault with them. Finally, we have adopted fault-finding as our life-work, so you must not blame me for following my calling.

LESSON HELPS IN FOUR GRADES.

THE TEACHER'S QUARTERLY. A thirty-six page pamphlet devoted to lesson helps for teachers and older scholars. Its value is enhanced by the introduction of appropriate forms for opening and closing exercises, hymns and tunes, maps, dictionary of proper names, etc.

THE SCHOLAR'S QUARTERLY. Similar to the above, but with such necessary changes as adapt it to the wants of scholars in the main school. It is marvelously cheap. Five or more copies to one address, per quar., 7 cents each.

THE JUVENILE LESSON PAPER is a four page weekly, designed for younger scholars who have outgrown the infant class, but who retain their fondness for pictures and simple stories. 20c pages for a dime!

THE CHILD'S RECORDER, now beginning its eighth volume with a larger issue than ever before, offers superior attractions for the coming year. AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, fifteen hundred dollars in a short time; that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have had the matter under advisement and have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these urgent demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also in our Church organ, which appeal you are now reading. What will you do with it? How will you answer it? Will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over this matter carelessly and cast it from your minds. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not a State normal, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we cordially invite and joytully hail students of every nationality and religious faith; but this university is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned and controlled by this Church as a body, and the day that her doors are closed for the want of means that day the 400,000 members of the A. M. E. Church become responsible and are or will be justly charged with the folly and crime of their negligence and stupidity. But her doors will not be closed; you will not suffer such a shame to rest on the fair name of our grand Church. Brother Trustees, we appeal especially to you. We as a Board are your servants, executing, as far as we can, your will. We ask you to give us additional aguets cannot call upon each of you in person. To you who read this appeal and are at a distance too remote for our local agents to call upon you in person and present the cause of our university and the great need of this application, we earnestly ask you in the name of God and a common humsuity; in the name of the work accomplished in the past by Wilberforce; in the name of her many noble sons and daughters that have gone out from her and in their moral, intellectual and religious strength have lifted high the torch of reason and intelligence and with Christian heroism have unfurled the banner of liberty and manhood; for the sake of all this institution has accomplished under the guidance of God in the past and for the sake of what lies within the realm of her power to do in the future we beseech and implore you to send as early as possible to the Secretary whatever you may be able to give in this direction. And for every dollar you give God will bless you many fold. Any amount you may send will be duly acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home are going to aid us, but we want our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with them. If they will do this in a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that within the next thirty days the fifteen hundred dollars will be realized and the burden removed. Brethren, for once respond to our earnest call, and relive us of this embarrassment. It is our purpose to publish the names of the donors after the canvass of our local agents shall have been concluded, and we sincerely hope to be able to have in the list the name of every trustee of the University.

Yours, with anxious waiting, signed by order and on behalf of the Executive Board of Wilberforce University,

J. P. MAXWELL, Secretary.

EDUCATION.

Dear Brethren:—The time is fast approaching for us to make another grand rally for the cause of Christian education. Our district comprises all the conferences in the States of Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and the Indian Territory. With one host of earnest and sacrificing workers we expect great results from the endowment effort. The educational interest is increasing all over our broad connection, and thousands of young men and women rap at the doors of our institutions. The 4th district has over three thousand soldiers on the field, and they expect us who stand at the head of affairs to make such provisions and to furnish such supplies as will enable them to wage a successful battle against ignorance, vice and superstition.

Let no man in our ranks falter, and remember that all moneys collected on the third Sunday in September must be secredly consecrated to education.

The Southwest this year must rise and shine, but it must do so through us as leaders. Great things are expected of you, brethren, and in God's name let us make one grand rally for the elevation of our race and the advancement of the Redesmer's kingdom.

This is our last effort before General Conference, and we urge you, dear brethren, to stir up your whole people, and rally all your forces for Endowment Day, so we may render a good account of our stewardship. Let no man be unfaithful in this great struggle. Come forth and show your strength.

Send 75 per cent. of all collections to me at Waco, the remaining 25 per cent. to Dr. W. D. Johnson, at Athens, Ga.

Yours for God and humanity,

I. M. BURGAN,
Secretary Fourth Educational District, Waco, Texas.

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

EPISCOPAL ROOMS, AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH,
No. 1424 R. I. Avenue,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 4, 1887.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHUCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centenuial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask your father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness!"

Next November will be one hundred years since Richard Allen and his compeers left St. George's M. E. Church, in the city of Philadelphia, (1787) and the Bishops of the semi-annual meeting adopted the following Preamble and Resolutions.

WHEREAS November next, 1887, will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia because this colored people belonging to the Methodist Society of Philadelphia convened together in order to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of worship, and even pulled them off their kness, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seats." (See preface to the A. M. E. Church Dicipline,)

AND WHEREAS: This is the most decisive act of the religious colored people in the United States, and we know of none like it of the descendants of Africa in the world; if we except the Resolve of the Haitians under Toussaint, Cristophe, Petion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo, in a civil and political sense, what Allen, Jones, Tapsco and others were to the colored Christians of America; their act was manhood, freedom, and manhood christianity. We must fully recognize their action a success—a republic we have—all therefore recognize their manhood because their acts prove it. To resist oppression in Church or State is manly. Tonsaint and Allen are by us honored, revered and loved. The success of Allen and his compeers is demonstrated, for it has given us the largest colored organization in the world. It is therefore proper and right that we should commence on a grand scale thousands of full of interest to us as a race. Therefore be it.

Resolved, first, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church vest that next November, a date in that month be hereafter fixed, to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that services be held at all our churches throughout the connection. The order of exercises to be fixed by each Conference, quarterly conference, and pastor and each church. A general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Resolved, second, As our publishing interest has long suffered, because of her indebtedness, that a contribution he made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected to be appropriated to assist in the paying of debts now resting on our Publication Department.

Adopted.

COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS:

J. M. BROWN,
T. M. D. WARD,
H. M. TURNER,
B. R. DISNEY,
B. W. ARNETT.

We ask co-operation. If you luteud to cooperate will you send to me signifying your approval and intention to act, by addressing a note to No. 1424 R. I. Avenue, Washington, D. C.

Any plan suggested by you please forward to me.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN M. BROWN, Chairman.

P. S.—I wish you unity, prosperity and holiness, and that next year will be the crowning year of our Church.

J. M. B.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. When this is not done our rule is to send that amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circuit desiring it sent to some other place, and do not mention this very important fact.

4th. For all money sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, numbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, write to us about it, but be sure to give the number of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it. When a pastor writes to us that his superintendent sent us money, etc., we do not know who is his superintendent unless he writes us his name. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circuits, stations, etc.

5th. Sign your name to your communication. We cannot tell who sent a letter to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flourishing. It is useless and often renders obscure what would otherwise be legble writiug.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without any instruction accompanying it. How do we know what to do with money sent thus?

8th. We have lost a great deal of money by sending supplies C. O. D. because the parties whom we thus favored failed to take them from the express office. In consequence of this neglect and absolute loss which we have borne because of it, we have decided to positively refuse to grant any more C. O. D. favors to anyone. Please do not request them.

9th. Our business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them or send you a catalogue, price list, blank and return envelope.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginuig of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not arrive until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past; in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature for the benefit of two or three persons or else lay ourselves liable to a "raking over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Lesson Papers are ordered, they are rolled in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessons, reward cards and other such matter are never in one wrapper. When you order both inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and number. Unless you do this it will be returned to us while you are abusing us for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for his Sunday school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office. The method of communicating with us through a person who has permanent location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above instructions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who are, with us, intrusted with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH.

The following words, in praise of DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesse peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. They are fair samples of the spontaneous expressions with which thousands give utterance to their sense of gratitude for the inestimable boon of health which has been restored to them by the use of this world-famed medicine.

$100 Thrown Away.

JOHN E. SEGAR, of Millenbeck, Va., writes: "My wife had been suffering for three or three years with female weakness, and had paid out one hundred dollars to physicians without relief. She took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did her more good than all the medicine given to her by the physicians during the three years they had been practicing upon her."

The Greatest Earthly Boon.

MRS. GEORGE HERBERT, of Westfield, N. Y., writes: "I was a great sufferer from leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, and pain continually across my back. Three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' restored me to perfect health. I treated with doctors for nine months, without receiving any benefit. The 'Favorite Prescription' is the greatest earthly boon to poor suffering women."

Threw Away Her Supporter.

MRS. SOPHIA F. BOSWELL, White Cottage, O., writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of your 'Pellets.' I am doing my work, and have been for some time. I have had to employ help for about sixteen years before I commenced taking your medicine. I have had to wear a supporter most of the time; this I have laid aside, and feel as well as I ever did."

It Works Wonders.

MRS. MAY GLEASON, of Nunica, Ottawa Co. Mich., writes: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has worked wonders in my case.

Again she writes: "Having taken several bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I have regained my health wonderfully, in the astonishment of myself and friends. I can now be on my feet all day, attending to the duties of my household.

3 Physicians Failed.

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present a like array of symptoms to the family physician, who, not having studied them to the cause, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

Jealous Doctors.

A Marvelous Cure.—MRS. G. F. SPRAGUE, of Crystal, Mich., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhœa and falling of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a good part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no lasting benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that if he would get me some of your medicines, I would try them against the advice of my physician. He got me six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took three bottles of 'Discovery' and four of 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a sound woman for four years. I then gave the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years."

THE OUTGROWTH OF A VAST EXPERIENCE.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever discovered for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the uterus, or womb and its appendages, in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. It promotes digestion and assimilation of food, cures nausea, weakness of stomach, indigestion, bloating and eructations of gas.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic derangements of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women sold, by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. Large bottles (100 doses) $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.

Or Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's large, illustrated Treatise (160 pages) on Diseases of Women.

VISITORS TO PHILADELPHIA

DURING THE

State Fair & Constitutional Celebration

are most cordially invited, while in the city, to visit our immense establishmout, which is said to be the largest store in America devoted exclusively to retail Dry Goods.

This store is considered by Philadelphians one of the sights of the city; and a visit to Philadelphia will be incomplote if the vast interior of our mammoth building remains unexplored.

We take this opportuuity of assuring the visiting public that all who call upon us will be heartily welcomed, whether they come to buy or simply to view the vast and varied stock of Dry Goods to be found on our counters.

We have made extensive preparations to accommodate the vast number of sight-seers who will visit our store during the next two weeks; and are fully prepared to give all comers our prompt and careful attention.

Hair Neglected

Soon becomes dry, harsh, coarse, and full of dandruff; it loses vitality and turns prematurely gray, or falls out rapidly and threatens early baldness. A careful dressing daily with Ayer's Hair Vigor—the best preparation for the purpose—will preserve the hair in all its luxuriance and beauty to a good old age.

"My hair was faded and dry," writes Mabel C. Hardy, of Delaware, Ill., "but after using only half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it became black and glossy. I cannot express the gratitude I feel."

Frederick F. Coggeshall, Bookseller, 51 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass., writes: "Some six or seven years ago my wife had a severe illness, in consequence of which she became almost entirely bald and was compelled to wear a wig. A few months since she began to apply Ayer's Hair Vigor to the scalp, and, after using three bottles, has a good growth of hair started all over her head. The hair is now from two to four inches long, and growing freely. The result is a most gratifying proof of the merit of your admirable preparation."

"STAMMERING,"

Stuttering AND ALL DEFECTS OF SPEECH PERMANENTLY CURED

Mr. Fred. J. Crocker, a member of my former church in Providence, R. I., was known to be one of the worst stammerers in the city, if not in New England. His case was so stubborn and painful that his friends could not engage in conversation with him, even for a short season. After a short course under your treatment, he visited Providence, to astonish his friends with the ease and freedom with which he conversed. They are convinced that you now deserve their confidence in your ability to cure the worst of stammering. God bless you in your work of making the "Dumb to Speak" Sincerely yours, ALBERT E. MORE BISHOPS.

BY REV. JAMES H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

X.

THE PROVISION TO BE MADE FOR THE OLDEST BISHOPS.

We want more Bishops for one of the noblest of purposes, and that is to preserve and honor the sires who have done well in discharging their duties. Reverence to old age at all times is commendable. It was one of the lessons which were most earnestly taught the Lacedemonian youth. They were taught to respect old men by saluting them, by giving way to them on the streets, by rising up to them in all companies and public assemblies. Lysander said "old age bad no where so honorable an abode as in Sparta, and that it was an agreeable thing to grow old in that city." Those who are veterans in any benefical service should be nursed and kept effective as long as this can be done by any means. An imposition of excessive duties upon them, the compulsion of them to bear heavier burdens than aged men should bear, is downright cruelty. An encouragement of their ambition to labor, as they did in the prime of life, is an absolute lack of sympathy. Good old men are always desirous of doing work beyond their power of endurance, and will go, sometimes, until they fall down in their tracks. To permit them or to encourage them to do this is not an exhibition of brotherly love and kindness. Humanity requires better treatment of them in every respect. If it is by any means possible to pursue a course that will contribnte to a prolongation of their lives, it is meet to pursue that course. The reverse of this results in something like a modified degree of manslaughter. The treatment of old men affects either their brevity or longevity. Care, then, should be always exercised in this direction.

Men who have grown gray in the Church, and have made their gray heads a crown of glory because they have walked in the ways of righteousness and ministered unto the saints, should be taken as subjects for the highest consideration. They should be preserved for their good, ripe counsel.

Every bishop has been faithful, fatherly and kind, should be revered when he reaches his three score years and ten. Bishops in a church who have reached this age and spent their days in honor should have every provision made for their continued influence, happiness and comfort.

Their burdens should be lightened and their ease of mind increased. This cannot be done, though, whilst the business affairs and spiritual duties of the Church are imposed upon such a limited number as are not able to bear them. One object to be kept in view, then, in increasing the episcopal force is to the preservation of the senior Bishops. The work is to be so regulated and re-adjusted that they may be situated to feel relieved and not aggrieved. It is to be divided so that no just or many parts as will make it practicable for each Bishop to discharge his duty to the full extent of the law. Then those senior Bishops are to be fixed just where they ought to be for the purpose of sustaining their paternal influence in their declining years. Coming as near to this point as we possibly can by giving three conferences to a district and regulating the number of square miles (for be it known that it is the nnmber of square miles which should be considered and not the nnmber of members) we can situate those Bishops so that they can be made conspicuous as the honored fathers of the Church and at the same time live with an increased episcopal influence for good. This can be done thus where it cannot be done by the "happy-go-lucky" method that is observed at the present time. Let the old Bishops be kept near their base of operation and they will be better able to show more of their efficiency. By the way of illustration—

1. The General Conference should settle Bishop J. P. Campbell right down in the First Episcopal District. It should do this because he has his home in it, and his work would begin at home so that he would not have to waste his strength in traveling away from home to begin his work. Honored and beloved as he is in his home district, he would be able, by this situation, to do more minute work than he could do in any other field of labor. He would be able to travel by easy stages the different States forming his field of labor and keep himself fresh to administer at every point. This would be a great deal better than putting him to the necessity of traveling through Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina to reach his work in South Carolina. The case is so plain that it needs no extended argument. It would be a glowing tribnte of respect, moreover, paid to the Bishops, aid given to his efficiency and credit cast upon the connection.

2. Bishop John M Brown should be stationed in the Second Episcopal District. He could then proceed at once from his home in Washington to attend to his duties in the States adjacent to the District of Columbia and thence to North Carolina. Throwing all the energy, industry and zeal into those States that he now applies to different sections of the United States, he would be still more notable in the manifestation of his ministerial power. Such an appointment as keeping him confined to this circumscribed episcopal limit, would enable him to husband that strength which is expended in hard traveling that it might be infused into his preparation for spiritual service. He could surely by his talent, education and refinement in this wise do more for God and man, and have improvement in his health, although three States and three conferences would be a heavy tax upon him. Let all whom this may concern give it due deliberation.

3 Bishop Daniel A. Payne should be appointed to the Third Episcopal District. He lives at Wilberforce, and Wilberforce is in Ohio, a part of the Third District. Let him be settled down there where he could enjoy the comforts of his cosy cottage, and he would be better prepared to work for the intellectual as well as spiritual interests of his Church. He has at his home in this district a large accumulation of literary matter, an orderly arrangement of papers, books and pamphlets, which he could handle for the benefit of the work. The connection would be made to feel the presence of his talents by the opportunity he would have to use the material at his command. He would be able to do more for this district than he could do for any other one in the connection. And not only this, but he could be delegated with power to do more than he could do elsewhere for the cause of education. The General Conference could make him Regent of Wilberforce University as well as Presidiug Bishop of the Third District, and by such an act could enable him to do for the University that which no one both it and its President far more influeutial in their educational operations. This would be honoring him for the work that he has done in that institution as well as for that he has done and the noble connection. The advantages would be a great by this means that we may all well say —"It is a consummation devoutly to be wished." The good effects would be felt throughout the land and Bishop Payne would be duly nurtured in his old age. He in Ohio as Regent of Wilberforce and Presiding Bishop of the Third District, would be an increased power for the good of the connection.

Let these propositions be adopted for these veterans in the prelacy be in this wise relieved from arduous duties away from their home districts, and they will be known as the peculiarly distinguished Bishops emeriti in every part of this land. They will be the topmost characters (if the work should be properly divided and an adequate number of Bishops elected) of an ecclesiastical system that would gain the admiration of all good people among generations yet unborn. The African Methodist Church would be made conspicuous for its exemplary recognition of service and its establishment of methods for good government. Amen! And so let it be.

MOSES WAS MORALLY TRAINED.

BY REV. AUGUSTUS W. WATSON, LL. B.

Great epochs demand great men, and they are furnished by Providence when the full time arrives for their occupation. They are a part of the government of the earth and their fidelity to the eternal plan of man's redemptions was evidently conceived by our Maker from the beginning of time. Man's fall was provided for, not that it must occur, but, occurring, it should be provided against. Great men live great lives in proportion to their exention of the will of Providence and the accomplishment of his wonderful ends; the means for success have always been found in reach of the man to enable him to conform to the will of God the seeming inadequacy of our power has always been supplemented when the time arrived for decisive action. The cat of the Almighty must go forward with its precious cargo, even if heaven, for the time, has to be robbed of its most noted angels. The darkness of the human mind becomes illuminated and aided by divine power, and no obstacle can pervert the salvation of mankind, if they will only take in their redemption and properly value the blood and love and mercy and long suffering of the blessed Saviour Moses was the executor of the will of God. The bloody decrees of Pharaoh, and the murderous hands of his sycophants could not crush out his noble life. He was but an illustration of divine protection, and the end for which his life was given and the object of his mission could not be thwarted by the most violent enemies that inhabited the earth. For forty years he lived surrounded with all the seductions of earthly power, a well-favored and attractive man, with vigor, intellect and manly beauty to draw and control human passions, but God had hedged him about with his own mother's love, with her tender care, that debarred and meliowed down his sinful heritage to the ways of providence. Mother, precious, responsible mother, look at thy son, an embryo Saviour, and then look at Moses, with all the alluring temptations that surrounded him, and ask thyself the question: "What has God entrusted to my care?" Here the grand lesson of human destiny seems to find its starting point. The mother of the Saviour is the mother of the saved, and the moral advancement of humanity is largely entrusted to her care, with the seed which she only can plant in the heart of her son when she is devoted to him. What an eternal harvest may be gathered from her mission at the coming of the Son of Man! The grand life of Moses was the result of his mother's early "Christian" character and her training prepared him for all the requirements of governing men and nations. He was taken, cheerfully taken away from political and social grandeur and chose rather to suffer affliction with his people than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season. He was taken into direct companionship with his Maker, it is true, but not until the integrity of his mother's character had been indelibly stamped upon him. For forty years he was the pupil of God in the Wilderness; he was in daily contact with the source of all knowledge, the very fountain of wisdom covered his face as the waters do the great deep, with nothing to distract bis mind from the great work laid out for him, the magnitude of which alarmed him and raised a well-founded question in his miud of his ability to execute it. He had, however, from his fidelity, gained a power with God which amounted to persuasive influence and the declared purposes of Jehovah were even abated and relaxed under the eloquence of this "stammering tongne," but firm and confiding heart. His devotion to the duty required of him has never been surpassed by man; his faithfulness to his people is a model of national devotion; his zeal for them lost bim favor with his Maker and deprived him of a sepulchre among his kindred. The glory that illumined his shining face on Mount Sinai was but a reflection from the burning bush, and the veil that covered it a part of the mantle of God. Holy ground for forty days had robbed him of thirst and hunger, and the glory that filled his soul made him unfit for any other place on earth than a burial ground prepared by the same hands that sculptured out the Ten Commandments and would introduce him himself to the confrontation direct from Mount Sinai. Every living soul has access to the same glorious end, and the Saviour that he typified is the resurrection and the end and will finally give his faithful followers power over the world, the flesh, and the devil and ultimately transplant them in the Canaan of eternal bliss.

We have in Moses some of the most powerful proofs of man's immortality. He gave up the glories of earthly power and high distinction, fame, wealth and royalty, for the faith that was in him of a higher life than earth could possibly supply. He abandoned earthly power among men for divine power with God. He evidently felt a divinity in his own nature kindling to a blaze of soul illumination, establishing his own kinship with his eternal counsellor. He preferred to suffer affliction with his own, the people of God, for the reason that he apprehended the unmeasurable distance between the temporal and the eternal. What a halo of glory must encircle the brow of the grand man of God! What a "recompense of reward" for faithfulness to a cause that lifted him heavenward every step he took along the checkered path of his life, and how noble must he have felt when summoned to accompany the pure old prophet Elijah to the Mount of Transfiguration, to escort the resurrected Saviour to the mansions of the blest.

"WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE NEGRO?"

BY REV. N. H. JEFFERSON.

Of the five races of men which exist on the globe there is no question which seems to agitate the minds of the Caucasians as that of the negro. This question, "What shall we do with the negro?" is very often discussed in debating societies, and in the household and secret conversations. The progress of the negro is creating such an excitement that obstructions and hindrances are thrust across his pathway by his brother in white to impede him; but the negro is destined to go on. He is now perceiving the value and importance of intelligence; hence his development of the brain and cultivation of the mind. The negro is seizing every opportunity and taking advantage of all that is to be attained educationally. The American government has often construed "negroes or people of African parentage" as aliens, but with joy I can say that the negro is creating a flag, defend and protect our country, the land of the free and the home of the brave.

—Rev. Wm McDonald, Methodist minister of Boston, has declined the honorary title of D. D. tendered by the Upper Iowa University, saying, after stating reasons, he prefers to be known as William McDonald, of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The "woods are (not) full of them."

THE NORTHWEST.

BY REV. JOHN M. HENDERSON.

Environment has a very apparent influence in moulding and determining the character of individuals, as well as directing and shaping the fortunes of a community or nation.

I never yet, during years of extensive travel, have found a thrifty class of our people among slow-going, prejudiced and thriftless whites; but in towns and cities of stirring enterprise, pure social life and good educational facilities, you will usually find that our people, if there, are like their surroundings. The influence of association, and even the influence of example, is most potent. The whites of the South, being the dominant class, because of the shiftlessness and immorality existing in their midst, are, to a great extent, responsible for the perpetuation of a similar element among our people.

In this far away North western section, nestled among the hills, at the head of the navigation of the Mississippi river, is a civilization destined to become the marvel of America. No one without a personal visit could or would be able to conceive of the marvelous twin cities. The limits of St. Paul and Minneapolis are adjacent, and together include a population reaching nearly one-half million of persons. At present over five thousand houses are in process of erection. Large factories and shops are building, while Eastern capital is busy endeavoring to locate others. The people of this country are energetic and boldly enterprising. Business goes ahead with a dash and vigor which mocks the slower and more cautious methods of the East. Capital seems to be inexhaustible and enterprise knows no fear. Religion is not neglected, but rather occupies a prominent place in the attention of the community. The church is held in high esteem and exerts a powerful influence. Social life is unburdened with many of the shams and notions of the East; yet to have a good and respectable social stand is held as one of the darling aims of all. In the midst of such a community are about two thousand or more colored people. Many of them have not been impervious to the influences at work around them, but have imbibed the prevalent spirit of enterprise. Those who have gone into business or entered into the industrial struggle with the same spirit that characterizes their neighbors, have been about as successful as white men of equal ability and means. Some of our people, such as Mr. Syles and others, are the owners of many valuable residences, each of which will rent for sixty dollars and upwards per month. Colored men who seek wealth here are called upon to confront about the same obstacles as lay in the path of our people all over the land, the only difference being the surroundings are a greater source of inspiration and incitement. Consequently many of our men have had the courage to go ahead, regardless of discouragement, and have won victories most surprising.

St. Paul is a city of beautiful homes. Architecture here takes a bolder flight than in any other American city. English precedents are forgotten and we have a style of architecture peculiarly and exclusively American. Architecture is a recognized and respected art, and architects are held as professional men. Mr. Frank Robinson, lately returned from Europe, has already made a mark as an architect and artist.

We are represented in the civil service as well as in State and city positions. Some of our young men occupy honorable places as clerks and book-keepers with our leading merchants; we also have a few young ladies whose ability has been recognized. Thus you can see there is no great antagonism between the races here. We have two colored churches—Baptist and Methodist. The Baptists have lately completed the Pilgrim Church, begun by Rev. Bird Wilkins a year ago. It is a most magnificent and beautiful structure, thus far unrivaled in the West. Not from a desire to surpass but for the reason our larger and more wealthy congregation demands it, we have undertaken a building which in size and interior finish will surpass the splendid Pilgrim Church. Our building was commenced by my predecessor, that prince of pastors, Rev. C. S. Jacobs. By October 1st we hope to have entered our Church. Its seating capacity will be over 550. The interior will be finished in true Gothic style. Three of the large windows are marvels of beauty and art. We have a congregation suitable for such a church.

In this city is presented the unusual phenomenon of well defined social circles. The line of discrimination is closely and fearlessly drawn—character, culture and tastes are made the criterion. In the last two years over four hundred new comers have settled here, many of whom already own beautiful homes. The openings and advantages offered worthy and industrious colored people of the better class are unexcelled anywhere.

I must close. It is pleasant to note that the A. M. E. Review has a larger circulation in the twin cities than in any other Western community. By Christmas, I intend by God's help to send in a club of at least fifty subscribers to the RECORDER. We are now earnestly engaged in an effort to raise $2,400 by October 1st and the prospects are that we will exceed that amount. We have issued one hundred and fifty books. The bearer of one of these, Mr. Gilliard, a grandson of Daniel Coker, received over one hundred dollars during the first day of his effort. Daniel Harding, Richard Taylor, Carlos Williams, Wm Queen, Columbus Waldon and Thos. H. Lyles have each undertaken to raise at least four hundred dollars apiece, with the aid of a band of twenty each which has been assigned them. Mrs. Lyles, Mrs Russell and others are also enthusiastically at work. Pray God that our undertaking, which is rather a stupendous one, will be successful and that by next conference we can pay off every dollar of indebtedness which will necessitate us to raise for trustee purposes over six thousand dollars.

DEFENSE OF THE COLUMBIA CONFERENCE.

BY REV. C. PIERCE NELSON.

MR. EDITOR:—You will favor us by allowing space in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER for the purpose of defending the fair names of the members of the Columbia Annual Conference than whom a better body of men cannot be found. For several issues of the past, articles of scurrility and of a libelous nature, defaming the fair name of one of the grandest conferences of the connection, composed of men noted for their virtue, morality, honesty and the highest Christian qualities, are and have been held up to the world as being composed of men who are purchasers of the Bishops and of the presiding elders and of their appointments, and their seats in the General Conference of the Church.

I beg to reply to the article in your issue of August 11, 1887, under the caption, "You Cannot Buy Me," by Rev. I. S. Grant, of Orangeburg, S. C. The brother says that these words were those of Bishop Shorter, and that he used them, "it seems as if he had a knowledge of the fact that some man or set of men had been in the habit of buying their appointments with presents of $50 and $60. He says the brethren knew who did receive these presents, and from whom they came." Now, Brother Grant, let the public know the set of men who buy their appointments; secondly, the Bishop that received such a large sum of money. Be honest, "If I have to be a lackey to be a presiding elder I never will be one; to buy my way to the General Conference I never will get there. Many of the delegates to the last General Conference bought their way there." Now, will the brother tell the public, before whom he slanders his own conference delegates, the price agreed upon and to whom it was paid, and name the men who purchased their seats? I was a delegate, so I ask you to name all the parties. You say this fact can be demonstrated; let your truth be forthcoming; name the parties you name and I will assist in expelling the briber and the bribe-taker for his seat in the last General Conference. The brother says that he hopes that the next Bishop we shall get will be a man that is none of these presents can buy. Will the brother name the preacher, for the information of the public, whom he undertakes to instruct on the subject of bribery in the Conference of which he is a member? And again he says that Bishop Shorter "threw out a dynamite and uprooted many things," but he does not and cannot tell us about a single thing that he has uprooted; but he further says, in the same breath, that that class intended for positions to seek them, and not they seeking position. If such was true of the writer himself, he would have no need of writing such opprobrious articles against the presiding elders and a certain class of men whom he terme as purchasers of the Bishops and presiding elders of the Columbia Conference. If the brother is waiting for the position to seek him he would he more quiet; but the trouble is this: position seems to be against him, and for that he charges the members of conference with corruption, because some of their appointments than the writer, perhaps, thinks he has himself. The brother says that "upon 1888 there are many eyes opened, and the boys (meaning brethren,) are going to speak their opinion though the heavens fall." What does the brotber mean by this? Does he mean to say that there is a combination for disloyalty or for evil? We have a guide to go by in the election of delgates to the next General Conference, and it is no more than the duty of every member of the Conference to be governed by the law, and when the brother writes such defamatory articles against his own conference, and when the Church organ publishes to the world that the leading men of the conference are corrupt bribe-takers, and the Bishops, all save Bishop Shorter, have been aiding and abetting this wicked practice, somebody believes it to be true, or they believe the writer to be an insane man. Brethren of the connection, I most emphatically deny the bill of charges made against my brethren and my conference, my Bishops and presiding elder. I further denounce the article before the connsction as being absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue, and, if not as I have stated, let him name the Bishops, the presiding elders, the ruling elders, the delegates to the last General Conference who are and were guilty of these low, wicked and unministerial practices; and should he fail to made good these grave charges against a class of men in the conference, to be held before the conference responsible for the article.

In conclusion I have to say that no other conference has been ridiculed through the RECORDER as this conference, and the general tone of the articles has been to arouse the suspicion of the public against the honesty, integrity and morality of the conference The lessons left by the late lamented Revs. A. T. Carr, Edwards, Miller, Graham, and a host of others shall never be forgotten. The life of the late Rt. Rev. Wm. F. Dickerson, D. D., who comes in clandestinely for some of the blame and abuse of some of the articles that arraigned the conference before the public, will always be precious. When he fell he left us his mantle. We would say to the brethren that we should not quarrel with the dead. Let us be Christian enough to settle our differences without publishing them to the world. The Columbia Conference stands ready to do her duty by her enemies, and when she fails it is because such is an unwritten law. Always watchful vigorous and faithful, her members seek only to put the law into execution, so if Brother Grant fails to substantiate his charges he must be held guilty before the connection as defaming the name of one of the grandest conferences in the connection.

THE ILLINOIS CONFEBENCE.

Owing to the Bishop finding it necessary to his getting to the site of the California conference at the proper time, he called the Illinois Conference for August 13th, instead of 17th, as published in the paper.

At Cairo, Ill., on the morning of August 13th, at 9 o'clock, Rt. Rev. John M. Brown, D.D., D.C.L., called the conference to order and conducted the preliminary religious service, in singing hymn 331, praying and reading 23d Psalm. The prayers of Revs. E. P. Moore and P. W. Chester followed.

The Bishop's address to the conference was graceful, thoughtful and calculated to leave proper impressions upon our minds much longer than the time of this conference. Bishop Brown is a wise, pious and fatherly man, whom every one must love.

Rev. N. J. McCracken, secretary of the last conference, called the roll. The conference was organized by electing Rev. J. D. Peterson secretary; Rev. E. P. Moore statistical secretary; Rev. H. Simons, engrossing secretary; T. A. Clark, reporter to the CHRISTIAN RECORDER, and the announcement of the following committees was made: Worship, E. C. Joiner, Henry Brown, H. Depugh; Finance, E. C. Joiner, P. C. Cooper, E. P. Moore; Dollar Money, P. C. Cooper, N. J. McCracken H. C. Burton; Education, W. H. Hammond, A. A. Burley, J. B. Dawson; Circuits, Missions and Stations, H. Brown, P. C. Cooper, J. B. Dawson, E. P. Moore, H. Depugh; Temperance, A. A. Burley, T. W. Cleaves, Jr., Secretary; Judiciary Committee, W. J. Davis, J. B Dawson, P. C. Cooper, H. Depugh, E. C. Joiner; Sunday schools, B. T. Tanner, H. Simons, J. B. Dawson; Bible Cause, E. C. Joiner, W. H. Hammond, T. A. Clark; Publication Department, N. J. McCracken, W. H. Chambers, Henry Simons; To Examine Candidates for Admission, W. J. Davis, J. B. Dawson, J. W. H. Jackson. First year, N. McCracken, H. C. Burton, H. Depugh; second year, Henry Simous, E. C. Joiner, H. Brown; third year, A. A. Burley, J. B. Dawson, W. J. Davis; fourth year, W. H. Chambers, T. W. Henderson, C. C. Cooper; To hold Educational Money, W. G. Rhineheart; To hold Mite Missionary Money, S. McDowell; To hold other Missionary Money, C. Holmes.

At 3 o'clock P. M. the Rev. A. A. Burleigh, A. B., preached the annual sermon; text, Acts 14: "Whom when Paul saw, he thanked God and took courage." The sermon had been prepared with care, and was delivered in a style to make the Divine presence felt.

Sunday 7:45 P. M. to 9 P M., love feast conducted by Revs. H. J. Davis, P. C. Cooper and H. Simons; at 10:30 A. M. Bishop Brown preached a sermon that led into the depths of God's love, and inspired his hearers to trust and faith in the Lord Jesus. As a pattern in the pulpit the Bishop has very few superiors. His sermons are characterized by a heavenly unction and a cultured spirit that produce excellent religious results. At 3 P. M. a learned and spiritual sermon was preached by Dr. B. T. Tanner, editor of the A. M E. Church Review. The Church is justly proud of the erudition and good judgment displayed by the Dr. in managing the Review. At night Rev. Wilkins preached in the Missionary Baptist Church. Bishop Brown in the M. E. Church and Dr. B. W. Arnett in the A. M. E. Church. It is said that the M. E. audience was delighted with the Bishop's sermon. As always so on these occasions, Dr. Arnett was quite equal to the demands of the hour.

On Monday morning, after a learned sermon on education by the Rev. W. H. Chambers, the conference held an interesting mass meeting, at which spirited speeches were made by Drs Arnett and Tanner and others.

On Tuesday the missionary meeting was well attended by the populace, and who responded to the call for missions with $25. The missionary sermon by Rev. Charles Holmes was accompanied by much ardor. Elder Holmes' manner pleased the audience as well as the Bishop.

The conference temperance society held its anniversary Wednesday; the sermon was preached by Rev. J. B. Dawson. The sentiment, style and subject were all that the conference could ask. Impromptu addresses were made by several brethren. Dr. B. F. Lee presided the ordination sermon, after which four candidates were ordained. The reports to the conference show an increase in membership, church building and finances over last year. Dollar Money raised in the Springfield District, $385 70; in the Cairo District, $253 20; total, $638 90.

The conference was highly pleased to have the presence of Mrs. Brown, whose excellent qualities the Bishop so frequently mentions as exemplary of a good Methodist minister's wife. All must agree with him, for Mrs. Brown is all that is inclnded in the term, a Christian lady.

Drs. Lee, Arnett, Johnson and Tanner were kindly received and entertained personally and as representatives of their respective departments, and in a rare treat to have so large a number of General Officers at our Western Conferences. We esteem it as an especial honor conferred upon the conference, and invite them to come next year or advise their successors so to do.

The literary meeting was a success. Our conference is improving in point of education. The standard of admission is strictly adhered to, yet five young ministers admitted this year were equal to the demands of the Discipline. The hot weather that attended our session did not seem to diminish the interest created in the city by the first sessions. The church was crowded at each night. The conference lasted hut six days, including Sunday. Dr. W. D. Johnson preached a sermon on the closing night, Thursday, that will be remembered long.

The conference has been grandly impressed by Bishop Brown and regrets having to give him up next spring. He is kind, fatherly, strong and impartial. We noted him a special indication of our good feelings for him, but that only poorly expressed our hearts. Mrs. Brown is quite as popular with us as the Bishop. We were pleased to have Revs. T. M. Lewis, of the Missouri conference, and T. W. Henderson and J. Woods, of the Iowa Conference, with us. So far as I have learned the most of the brethren are well pleased with their appointments.

The conference regretted the absence of Dr. C. S Smith, whom the General Conference has placed in the position of Secretary of the Sunday School Union; the confidence in his ability and absence was caused by severe sickness. However, trusting that God will raise him up, we are comforted by the brilliant record he is making in the department.

Correspondent.

A WORD FROM THE MANAGER.

To my dear brother ministers of the Church: The last round of annual conferences for this quadrennial term has begun. Our Bishops have been obliged, we suppose, to group the fall and early winter conferences close together—from August and September, eight in October, ten in November and eight in December, making thirty four of the forty-four conferences of the connection in a little more than four months. Of course it would be impossible for us, even if our editor could go out and stay in the field with us, to visit all, or even a majority of these sessions, to collect our subscriptions and press the sale of our books.

We are heartily thankful to the dear brethren in Iowa, Illinois and the little new-born Michigan for the noble patronage given us by the hand of Dr. Lee. Two hundred and eighty dollars came to us from these three little conferences for subscriptions, bills and merchandize. We urge every pastor to pay his subscription in full to the paper, and at the same time get two or three subscribers in your charge. We will send the paper from now until January 1st to any address for fifty cents. Show the paper to your people and ask them to subscribe.

2. We have still on hand a few copies of that truly great work, "Genesis Revised," that we offered sometime back at seventy-five cents to clear a 200 lot. If you would supply yourself with a copy before they are all gone, now is your time. Send your orders at once.

3. Have you seen our new Ritual yet? If you have not you have missed a treat. Send for it. Only 45 cents. A very nice one, leather bound, 60 cents, and a fine morocco bound copy for $1.00. The handsomest little book ever published by our Church, 202 pages.

4. During the three months, September, October and November, we have some heavy bills to pay. We need money and must have it.

From now until December 1st we will give 20 per cent. off and prepay the freight on orders for Hymn Books and Disciplines and Rituals and love-feast tickets, etc., on all orders of $10 worth or more. On $20 worth, cash with order, we will give 25 per cent. off and prepay the freight.

Last of all, we want to speak once more for the RECORDER. We have resolved to raise one thousand new subscribers for the RECORDER by the 22nd of December, if possible. On that date we purpose issuing our centennial number of the paper. This issne is to contain the list of churches and pastors who take part in the celebration, and the amount contributed by each for the Centennial Fund. We shall send out five thousand copies for distribution and sale.

Now, in order to get our one thousand subscribers, we will offer the following liberal inducement: When two hundred and fifty cash subscribers have been obtained, we will give to the minister or other gentleman who procures the highest number of names in excess of that number, a hunting case, lever gold watch, worth fifty dollars; or will send him, if he prefers it, forty-five dollars in gold by express. If a lady obtains the highest number of cash subscribers, when two hundred and fifty, we will give her either the gold premium or a brand new Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, worth fifty dollars. In like manner and on the same conditions we will reward those who help us to raise the second two hundred and fifty, until the whole thousand shall have been procured. Now, we want all who will undertake to help in this effort to send in and get our commission as agent.

Enroll your name and begin at once. Ten persons procuring twenty-five each, would get the two hundred and fifty.

Begin and push your effort. You need only work at night, or when you have the spare time in the day. At class, at prayer meeting, at the lodge, anywhere, get the names on your paper and begin to collect; fifty cents now, and fifty cents again, until you get the whole. As often as you get ten or twelve dollars send it in.

Write as soon as you read this, and let us know what you will do.

Yours, &c.,
J. C. EMBRY, Manager.

OUR NEW DEED.

We again call the attention of the pastors and presiding elders to the form of Warranty Deed we have prepared and published for general use in the purchase of church properties. The form is ample, and plain as plain can be, yet it is believed to cover every point in the law. It was drawn by an old experienced attorney, with our Discipline before him. Price, 25 cents per copy, or 5 for $1.00.

Address, J. C. EMBRY,
Box 906, Philadelphia, Pa.

Notice to ministers buying the school text books in the course of studies: Owing to the high prices now asked by publishers for these books, we can no longer furnish them at the rates published in the RECORDER catalogue of last winter.

We do not expect to make profit on these books to students, but we must have our money back for their cost and expense of handling. We are compelled, therefore, after this week, to raise the prices on most of them to cover cost and expense. We change our rates this week.

J. C. EMBRY.

To the Ministers of the Fourth Episcopal District A. M. E. Church. Greeting:

Send to Rev. B. W. Arnett, Wilberforce, Ohio, all the Dollar Money you have on hand. If you have none collect it immediately as he is in need of it to meet obligations contracted before the conference were changed. Let every one do his duty and forward the money. Don't fail.

JOHN M. BROWN, Presiding Bishop.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Pastors or superintendents having Children's Day money in their possession will please forward the same at once so that it may be reported in the Annual Record. We are keeping the report open in order that every school may be represented. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH,
Aug. 28, 1887.

BY REV. JNO. C. BROOK.

Again in our history as a Church the time is rapidly rolling on when our legislators shall assemble for the purpose, we trust, of deliberating wisely relative to the needs of our Zion. More now, perhaps, than ever before in the history of our Church is needed all the wisdom, loyalty, religion and discretion that can be commanded by the respective delegates to the General Conference of 1888. Much of our future prosperity, as a Church, will largely depend on the wisdom of the legislation of this body. It is well, therefore, that the views of the constituency from different sections of the country be given, that the thinking minds of the General Conference may be the better enabled to judge of the enactments that may be necessary for the general good of the whole. A broad and comprehensive legislation is necessary. Sectional needs may not be the necessities of the whole, and from this standpoint we think all judgment should be based.

1. If I recollect aright at least more Bishops are necessary. Since the last quadrennium three of our executive officers have passed away; of those who still survive four at least give evidence that they are beginning to "Time, the enemy's flag is waving on the outpost, and soon they must surrender. Their names are household words all over the land; but we must also give them up; therefore wisdom dictates that more are necessary; just how many let the assembled wisdom of the General Conference decide—certainly not less than five. The kind we need is portrayed in 1 Tim. 3, 1-7. No better description can be given by any man. If they come from the North, South, East or West let them be measured by St. Paul's estimate of Qualifications. Let them be both mentally and physically strong—men who possess the ability and the will to travel at large through their districts. Go to any of these sections and you will present our connectional interests to the people, and almost the first complaint we meet, and perhaps the most difficult to apologize for, is, we are hardly ever so fortunate as to see our Bishop in the past we have been enabled to partially meet these objections with the plea of an extensive district, increasing weight of years and physical disability. That excuse is admitted so far as our venerated fathers of long years' service is concerned, but it will not be so readily accepted in reference to the episcopates who may be selected in 1888.

Another characteristic to be considered is evenness of temper. A tyrannical elder is apt to be very much in disposition after he is elevated to the episcopal bench. Bishop Ward, in his "closing words for the quadrennium," published in the RECORDER of September 1st, presents the names of nine different places lost to us because somebody blundered. The responsibility of those blunders lies, perhaps, on more than one pair of shoulders. Supervision is necessary, and supervision cannot be unless some episcopal head is easy of access to supervise. May heaven direct our legislators to a righteous selection in their vote for the Bishopric.

2. As to presiding elders: it must be conceded that Section 7, articles 1 and 2, page 117, prendered this sub-executive department obnoxious. There has been a manifest hostility on the part of the ministry and laity ever since that enactment has been on the statutes. Various opinions are extant relative to the necessity of the office. Arguments pro and con have been given by learned magnates as well as by the lesser lights. It will be perhaps one of the most difficult questions for the nineteenth session of the General Conference to solve. But I am of the opinion that no better disposition can be made of the matter than to leave it optional with each annual conference to decide whether it is a necessity for them to have presiding elders or not. If that is not done, then at least allow the annual conferences to elect their own presiding elders, that our Bishops may be relieved from the suspicion of favoritism that is too often hinted. In the annual conference elects the wrong man, then they themselves confess their own error of judgment and cannot throw the responsibility off their own shoulders. We as a people have settled in different parts of our country by force of circumstances, consequently our population in some sections is much more sparse than in some others; therefore the needs of the one section are not the necessities of the other, and each conference can best decide for itself as to its relative wants or needs in this particular direction; and when I say this, I am satisfied that I voice the sentiment of a large majority of the First Episcopal District at least. In our next we will say a word in relation to the many collection days now incumbent upon us as to whether or not this is the best method.

It is said that a base ball pitcher cannot improve his curves by getting on a bender.

THE ROMANCE OF MISSIONS.

Bishop Taylor's little band of missionaries is making steady progress in its march across Africa. The letters sent home are as full of interesting incidents as Haggard's story of the search for "King Solomon's Mines." Yet time and distance are for these missionaries shattered by modern science. A telephone is to be placed along the Congo route, and about the same time this will be put up the little steamer for navigating the Congo River is expected by the Bishop. The steamer will be supplied with apparatus for throwing a stream of water on the belligerent natives. There will also be an electric light on the boat, and in time this also will be introduced into the mission stations of the African wilderness. This doubly armed with the Gospel and with the magic of modern scientific invention the missionary hopes to complete a chain of mission stations completely across the heart of the dark continent. This hard working Methodist missionary is accomplishing more than the widest dreams of any romancer ever decked out his mythical adventures in. He has called for a new band of stalwart Christian workers to go out to him in the Fall, and farmers, builders, or men with a trade are donbly useful in this new country.—Christian at Work.

THE OLDEST CITY IN AMERICA.

Santa Fe is said to be the oldest city in America. That the statement is not true can be easily proved because the question of its origin and age is wrapped in mystery. When Coronado explored Mexico in 1542 he found many Indian pueblos on the Rio Grande, and speaks of several which must have been near the present location of Santa Fe. The one which it is generally supposed was on its precise site was called Tequa, and is at that time stretched along its river banks for six miles. Coronado reported that he found here a beautiful and fertile valley, under high cultivation by the Indians.

This was in 1542. Visiting Santa Fe to-day it is hard to realize, amolent as the old ruins look, that one can really be gazing on walls which Coronado saw nearly three centuries and a half ago. It is still harder to realize what must have been the oppressions and cruelties which have brought about the present degraded and wretched condition of the Indians whose ancestors formerly occupied and cultivated the whole valley. That a race which over 300 years ago had reached comfort and success in agricultural and arbors occupations should be to-day an abject, supine, wretched race of beggars, is a melancholy comment on the injustice they have received. They did not sink without struggles. In 1680 they rose out of the Spanish settlers and all the Roman Catholic priests, pulled down most of the churches, and—pathetic and significant act—covered up and concealed, so far as they could, every mine in the country. Only too well they knew that it was to the presence of the precious metals that they owed all their sufferings. For twelve years they held their own, but in 1692 they were again conquered and the Spanish power was reestablished. After the last great battle in this contest 400 young Indian men and maidens are said to have been distributed as slaves in the Spanish families. After this there were frequent, to time revolts and insurrections, but each one only plunged the unfortunate Indians into deeper misery.

Santa Fe being the seat of government, was always the point of attack, the chief centre of strife, and very terrible scenes have been enacted here. As late as 1837 a Mexican Governor, who had ruled with great severity and laid oppressive and unjust taxes on the Indians' crops, was murdered by them under circumstances of tragic horror. Several of the pueblos, united together, had raised an army and marched on Santa Fe. Underrating their force, the Governor went ont to meet them and was driven back. He then attempted to treat with them, but they would hold no parley, and as he was returning to the city he was captured. His head was cut off and kicked like a football from camp to camp. They then put it on a pole and set it up defiantly within a few rods of the city walls. The secretary in whose handwriting the obnoxious decrees had been promulgated they treated with subtile cruelty, sparing his life but cutting off both his hands and setting him free with the taunt that he would not any longer write orders for tyrants. At night three brave Mexican women stole out of Santa Fe, found the Governor's body, wrapped it in a blanket, and buried it in the cemetery, now deserted, on the hill Northeast of the plaza. This was the last struggle the Indians made. They were soon subdued and remained peaceable until they came, with the rest of the New Mexico citizens, under the government of the United States in 1846.

There is still standing in Santa Fe one building which has been the home of the most prominent persons and the scene of the most important events through all these vicissitudes of the city and its government. It is still called, as it was called when it was built in 1581, "The Palace." Anything less like a palace could hardly be conceived of. It is a low adobe building, one story high, with a veranda running its entire length. It makes the North wall of the plaza, and in it are still the Governor's home and all the offices of the government, the United States and Territorial court room, libraries, Congress Halls, etc. It has been so often repaired that it has lost much of its ancient look, but the massive walls and heavy hewn beams remain unchanged, and will no doubt bear their mute witness to its artiquity for a century or more to come.—St. Louis Republican.

WORK NOW.

Young man, do not leave it to a future day, but do it now. Man of middle age, you have a vivid sense of the rapidity with which your years have gone, but they will go just as rapidly in the future as in the past. Man of old age, you have to make haste—you have no time to lose.

The ancient law said concerning the sale of an estate: "According to the number of years thou shalt diminish the prios." The nearer they were to the jubilee year the cheaper they were to sell their land. So the nearer you come to the end of your days you ought to hold earthly things more loosely and prize heavenly things more highly. When your business day is drawing to a close, you hasten to conclude your work, dispatching sometimes in an hour more than in all the day that went before.

When Napoleon went on the field of Marengo it was late in the afternoon, and he saw that the battle was really lost, but, looking at the western sun, he said: "There is just time to recover the day!" and giving out his orders with rapid and characteristic energy, he turned defeat into victory. So, although your sun is near to setting, there is time to recover the day. Avail yourself of the eventide, lest your life end in eternal failure.—Rev. William M. Taylor, D.D.

A FORTUNE IN AN ACCIDENT.

A rather laughable story is that anent the origin of blue-tinted paper, one so much in vogue for commercial uses. The wife of an English paper manufacturer, named William East, going into the factory on the domestic wash-day with an old-fashioned bluing bag in her hand, accidentally let the bag and its contents fall into a vat full of pulp. She thought nothing of the incident, and said nothing about it either to her husband or his workmen. Great was the astonishment of the latter when the paper turned out a peculiar blue color, while the master was wroth at what he regarded as gross carelessness on the part of some of the hands. His wife was a woman—kept her own counsel. The lot of paper was regarded as unsalable, and was stored for four years. At length East consigned it to his London correspondent, with instructions to sell it for what it would bring. The unlucky paper was accepted as a happily designed novelty, and was disposed of in open market at a considerable advance in price. Judge of Mr. East's surprise when he received from his agent an order for a large invoice of the despised blue paper! Here was a pretty dilemma: he was totally ignorant of the manner in which the paper had become blue in color, and in his perplexity he sent the matter to his wife. She promptly enlightened her lord; but in turn kept the simple process secret, and was for years the monopolist of the blue commercial paper manufacture.—Science.

RECEPTION TO BISHOP BROWN.

The reception of Right Rev. John Milton Brown will take place in Bethel A. M. E. Church, San Francisco, Thursday evening, September 8th, at 7.30 o'clock. Bishop Brown, of the A. M. E. Church of America, who has full jurisdiction, by authority of his church, over this, its Fourth Episcopal District, is now presiding over the deliberations of the twentieth session of the A. M. E. Church, California Annual Conference, in this city and county of Sacramento. This, we are informed, is the official visit to this State of the distinguished divine, to attend the ecclesiastical bodies of his church; and the good people of California, regardless of faith or creed, who have the honor of his acquaintance, thrice greet and welcome him. The Bishop will preach Sunday evening, September 11, at 8 o'clock, in Bethel A. M. E. Church, Powell street.—Elevator.

THE A. M. E. Church at Newark, N. J., is lost to the connection after a struggle of many years. The facts are that the building is on entailed land. This fact was only recently discovered; so the society, after having paid thousands of dollars on the property, decided to abandon it and are worshiping in a hall, intending to build soon.

GOING TO press two days earlier last week than usual, September 13th we received the following pungent telegram after our forms were on press: "Facing impending obligations, Wilberforce awaits with intenee anxiety the result of next Endowment Day. The child of a great connection appeals for help from her founder. Will the Church hear? Will the Church answer? God will return seven-fold every gift. S. T. Mitchell, President Wilberforce University."

DR. MARSHAL W. TAYLOR died in Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11th. From his own standpoint Brother Taylor has made a lively editor. He has not had an enviable position. While the majority of the members of his church are white, he has edited a paper almost entirely for colored readers. He has certainly shown himself zealous for his church and the success of the Southwestern. His position on race relations as they exist in this country in general differed widely from that of many of our leaders, but he has probably been as wise as any other would have been in the same office. We mourn his death and sympathize with the Church in its loss.

THE REV. HORACE TALBERT, the day after his fourth son was born, September 15th, laid a corner-stone for a new church in Westbury, Long Island, N. Y. It is seldom that a greater enthusiasm is evinced by a people on such an occasion. Westbury is a borough in which a number of colored persons live in good style, mechanics, farmers and common laborers. The people have been formerly worshiping as Free-will Baptists, with few except ions, but lately were organized as African Methodists. There are thirteen members. They propose paying for their church, which is to be 26 by 36, as they go. They raised about $150 at the stone laying and have several hundred more in sight. Among them are some good farmers. Mr J. A. Payne is a nurseryman, Mr. A. A. Cunningham is a blacksmith and Mr. E. Williams is a farmer, owning a good sized farm for New York. He reminds those who know them, of Mr. M. R. Badger, of Cedarville, Ohio, and Mr. W. C. Lee, of Gouldtown, N. J. These people had provided dinnor for hundreds out under a temporary shed and ample arrangements for worshipers under a copions tent. There were present Revs. Jackson, Heath, Gibbons, West, Townsend, Hamilton, Shepherd, Steveuson, Cole and Hunter, of the New York Conference, and Mowbray and Digge, of the New Jersey Conference.

The presiding elder, Rev. W. L. Hunter, delivered the dedioatory sermon. The neighboring towns were very generous, especially Jamaica, which probably feels a little motherly pride in the infant church. The Jamaica choir, under Brother Brooks, who is one of the lay delegates to our next General Conference, made very beautiful music. It has seldom been the privilege of the editor to spend a more pleasant day than that spent at Westbury.

IN A DISCOURSE last Sunday, the Rev. Mangasar M. Mangasarian, a quite popular Armenian pastor of a Philadelphia church, speaking of the National Constitution, pronounced it defective, in that it does not give "equal rights" to women. Among other things he says, "We allow the lame, the blind, the slave and the negro to vote." Who constitute this "we," Brother Mangasarian; and in what sense do you use the term "allow" in reference to the negro? Certainly if the negro is simply allowed, Mr. Mangasarian is not party to the grace exercised. We rather feel inclined to think that the United States has shown no grace, but, considering that it is civilized and christianized, a hard, ungracious heart to the negro, but a gracious heart to men of the class which includes Brother Mangasarian. The negro has every claim upon this country that entere into the sum of claims to any country. It is simply nonsense for this young minister of only a few years in the United States to chime in with the general song of the white American, which makes all the better standing of the negro "by grace allowed."

Foreigners require but a few years to enable them to fall in with the popular line of misconception on this subject. If the Afro-American is a oitizen by allowance, we should like to know what, according to our good Armenian's judgment, constitutes a oitizen by merit. Is it two and a half couturies' residence? The negro has it. Is it birth on American soil? This hoon is the American negro's. Is it sufferings and privations? The negro has borne them. Is it thrift? That of the negro, considering oiroumstances, is unparalleled in this country. Is it patriotism? A score of battle-fields, from Boston to Appomattox: from the 18th to the 19th century, including all the wars of the colonial and constitutional Americas, shall answer for the negro. We have heard this oant argument used by Susan B. Anthony, Olive Logan and Anna Dickinson; we can endure it from American white women who, having a oase to gain, catch at a straw; but we cannot allow a man who has only fairly learned the glorious features of our great government to deal in such silly reference to us without calling his attention to the fact that the negro has never asked any favor, but his dues only from the U. S. Government. This he will continue to demand, until the last vestige of injustice towards him is swept from oivil, social, religious and political life and every right accorded other oitizone be acquired by him.

THE DEATH OF REV. T. A. CUFF.

A note was just prepared for publioation in this number of the RECORDER, stating that Brother Cuff was improving, when word oame saying that he had passed away about 6 o'clock Monday morning, September 19th. He was descended from two of the oldest colored families in New Jersey, the Cuffs and Murrays. His grandfather, Reuben Cuff, was one of the historic sixteen men who signed the charter of religions rights that constitutes the Discipline of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. The Cuffs are almost all African Methodists, and are numerous in New Jersey, principally in Salem and Cumberland counties. They are a thrifty and respectable family. Elder Cuff was born in Salem county. He was converted in early life; has been a preacher for about thirty-five years and an itinerant preacher about twenty-five years. His itinerant work has been confined to the Philadelphia and New Jersey Conferences. He lies down to his everlasting rest without a blemish on his personal character or ministerial record. He has not been noted as an extraordinary preacher, but easy, uniform and practical, he has done much to sustain the cross of Jesus Christ. Revivals under his preaching have been occasions of many hundreds coming into the Church. He leaves a widow and several children. May the church be tender toward them.

OUR MODELS.

The object lessone in everyday life are our most potent educators. The Afrioo-Amerioan people in all matters of oivilization and religious affairs have the patterns set by our brother in white. In government, in philosophy, economy, in thinking and writing, in speaking and singing he is our type. His excellence is the aome of our ambition and his extreme degradation our darkest ideal of ruin. His wealth and the way of obtaining it; his poverty and his way of shunning it—all are the best we have; and, with him, we believe he represents the highest type of oivilization attained by sinful man. We frequently twit one another on the one hand with being mere imitators, and, turning next instant, admiringly point to the great accomplishments of the white race and say, "Now, look at the white people; they never do that way, or you never see them doing thus and so."

This kind of contradiotory talk occurs very frequently in a colored organization with the presumption and energy of our Church. A good friend says, "Yes, let us have the episcopal district plan and be original" forgetting that there is no element in the idea that has not its counterpart in some church economy. The combination may have some originality; but the same man is likely to tell us a dozen times a year in a warning tone, "You would not see — church do that way." We are told, by our own brethren, with a curl of acorn on the lip, "O, this is all the white man's religion; we are only imitators." Yes, this is true, hnt thank God, it is the black man's religion, too. It is the best known to us. When we shall, by the perfect works of the Holy Ghost, become able to lead in religious matters, if he wishee us to do so, religion as taught by us to those who are rising in the scale of personal support and directiveness may speak of the black man's religion, hnt that will not change the religion. The grace of God has appeared unto all men; now let the grace of man appear unto all men. As he has laid down his life for us, so we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. Dr. W. D. Johnson says, "When a man is in the darkness he does not care who hrings the light to him." It is a very weak thing for us to make light of the religion of Jesus coming to us in the white man's form. Still it is se weak to be placid receivers and not doers of the word. We must follow and load at the same time. We should not undervalue the ability to do either. There are many good things for us to learn yet from the Canoasian race.

THE GREAT CONSTITUTIONAL CELEBRATION.

During Thursday and Friday of last week Philadelphia was the gayest, happiest, freest and fullest city in the union. It was literally overrun hy the hnndreds of thousands of visitors and the many thousands officially connected with the Centennial. The great event of the termination of the first hundred years of the constitutional union was so wisely and gloriously celebrated as to leave no donht on the mind of observers that the people appreciated the constitutional liberties granted by our magna charta and are equal to any emorgency connected with constitntional responsibilities. The adequacy of a people to the constantly growing demands of a nation is demonstrated as grandly and impressively hy snch display as by the severe test of arms.

The management of the great Centennial Exposition of '76, and of this of '87 mnst be set down hy historians as hrilliant accomplishments of stupendous designs. The conception and adjnstment of the millions of details and the annport of the ponderous weight of such expositions call ont the most manly, wise and rugged mental character, while the actual harmonious performances completed according to design almost to a letter indioate a highly refined nature.

The whole city glittered with intellect, trembled beneath the gravity of a century of high mental cultivation, glowed with good cheer and snsoiced itself hy a higher virtue. Rulers, diplomats, military chiefs, exalted jurists, profound scholars, eminent writers and holy prelates actually linked hands and hraced hearts with the poor, the outcast, the ignorant and the vicions in common joyousness. Houses, horses and shipping were regaled in flags, the air resounded with music and the sound of gune.

On Thursday the grandest parade of industries and display of art that has ever been seen in this country took place. A whole day the long line of wares, machinery, the wagons of trade, practical demonstrations of machinery, etc., was in motion. On Friday was the grandest military display that Americans ever witnessed. On Friday night the Centennial Commission tendered a reception to President and Mrs. Cleveland, in the Academy of Music. This was practically a reception hy the President; for he and Mrs. Cleveland shook hands with several thousand persons. During an hour and a half their hands and heads were in motion, responding to similar movements hy the masses. What a pity that we Americans, after looking at this popular couple all day, subjecting them to the ordeal of recognizing thousands of saintes and shaking thonsands of the hands that lie nearest to the more important handles of government, could not be satisfied till we had forced them to take just as many of us hy the hand as could possibly crowd into their immediate presence in one and a half hours. It is well, however, in a country whose chief magistaste is practically limited to a term of four years, that he should not be allowed to remove too far from the masses. It is well also that every man for his own sake avail himself of opportunities to come into olose relations with the American representative of exalted powers; since every American is a possible candidate for the most responsible positions in the gift of the people. While monarchies are best conserved by surrounding princes and kings by inapproachable mystery and grandeur, repnhlics are best conserved by bringing all classes into harmonious oneness at every point.

The reception was a grand affair. One is seldom awarded the sight of so much brilliancy of position, talent and power in a single gene. The only two men who have graced the presidential chair, Hayes and Cleveland, were there, with the two remaining leading chieftaics, Sherman and Sheridan. Then there were governers, honored foreign diplomats and home statesmen with most attractively attired ladies. The effects of this whole affair—the Centennial—like that of 1876, is to impress a colored American with the thought of how much work he has done to reach the present American achievements and how small a recompense he has received; how loosely, after all, he is connected with other Americans. Here and there a colored soldier, here and there a colored regiment, here and there a representation of industries hy colored men, hut our attachment to all that make our friends respected, loved, feared, honored and followed is by far too weak. Those friends are elevated many degrees hy all such demonstrations and, in the world they have many of them. At the Presidential reception it was a pleasure to observe four or five colored officers among the military personages present. The inspiration of the whole exposition was not small upon any man. The colored American should study these demonstrations of American grandeur and greatness with pride and hope, fixing his determination strong and large to exert all his powers to reach the aome of the American idea. He has a great way to travel, but he also has a great power hy meane of which to accomplish the journey. The growth of men and the growth of great men are different phases of the eame thing.

Rev. J. H. Morgan, presiding elder of the Sixth District, New Jersey Conference, writes: "A review of my district shows the following: Salem is about holding her own. Yorktown, Rev. B. H. Coleman, is struggling along under adverse circumstances. The same may be said of Rev. W. M. Watson at Bushtown. At Swedesboro, Rev J. W. Rose is doing a grand work. He has torn down the old church and is building anew, and has quite a nice sum to start with. Bridgeton, Rev. A. H. Newton, has borrowed $800 from the building association, thereby arranging the old debt and repairing the tenements, which will pay off the claim in rents Gouldtown, Rev. H. P. Thomas, is somewhat nnsettled as yet. Greenwich, Rev. G. T. Waters, is doing a good work At Franklinville, Margaret Wilson, our evangelist, is finishing a new church."

THE LOOM OF LIFE.

All day, all night, I can hear the jar
Of the loom of life, and near and far
It thrills with its deep and manifled sound,
As tireless the wheels go always around.

Busily, ceaselessly goes the loom
In the light of day and midnight gloom,
The wheels are running early and late,
And the woof is wound in the warp of fate.

Click, click! there's a thread of love wove in;
Click, click! another of wrong and sin!
What a checkered thing this life will be
When we see it unrolled in eternity!

Time, with a face like mystery,
And hands as busy as hands can be,
Sits at the loom with arms outspread,
To catch in its meshes each glancing thread.

When shall this wonderful web be done?
In a thousand years, perhaps in one,
Or to-morrow. Who knoweth? Not you
nor I;
But the wheels turn on and the shuttles fly.

Ah, sad-eyed weavers, the years are slow,
But each one is nearer to the end I know;
And some day the last thread shall be woven home,
God grant it be love instead of sin.

Are we spinners of wool in this life-web—say?
Do we furnish the weaver a thread each day?
It were better, then, oh, my friend, to spin
A beautiful thread than a thread of sin!

Literature.

Mr. Frank R. Stockton's sequel to "Mrs. Lecke and Mrs. Aleshine" will be called "The Dusantes," and it is authoritatively announced that the new story will thoroughly and satisfactorily dispose of Mrs Lecks, Mrs. Aleshine, and other old friends, and will, moreover, tell all about the famous, but so far invisible, family whose name it heare. "The Dusantes" will begin in the December Century, and will be concluded in three numbers.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett will contribnte a short serial to the coming volume of St. Nicholas, which is said to be a worthy snccessor of that author's famone "Little Lord Fauntleroy," which appeared in St. Nicholas a year ago. Joel Chandler Harris, John Bnrroughs, Frank R Stockton, H H. Boyesen, J. T. Trowbridge, Col. Richard M. Johnstone and Lonise M. Alcott are among the many distingnished writers who will contribute serial and short stories to St. Nicholas for 1888.

One of the most prominent personages of the literary world just now is Miss Marietta Holley, popularly known as Samantha Allen, or Josiah Allen's wife She became a favorite very early in her literary career, and each new issue from her pen has added to her fame, until, for her latest work, "Samantha at Saratoga," Messrs Hubbard Brothers paid her a princely sum, and the book is delighting a bit It will donbtless ontsell all her previous issues, as it nnqnestionably outshines them all in the fascinating vein of humor which Miss Holley is so happy and so rich Preparing for this work, Miss Holley went to Saratoga and spent an entire sea son, with eyes and ears open, and with brain and pencil vigorously at work She went in her famous seamed rob of Josiah Allen's wife, her imaginary Josiah at her side, with his characteristic blunders, faux pas, and quick, boylike enthusiasm. As Samantha Allen Miss Holley is observant, unsophisticated, outspoken, and sound to the core on every question of propriety. Such a couple in the whirl of Saratoga would certainly develop many remarkable situations and utter many funny comments It is here the humor of the book arises Plain, back-country village life, and gay, artificial Saratoga life are so wide apart, that each side becomes ludicrous to the other. These ludicrous, laugh-provoking contrasts are the dominant features of Miss Holley's book. To these mirth-making presentations of the author the artist's pencil has added a rich entertainment. Over a hundred drawings have been made to illustrate the text by Frederick Opper, the leading artist of Puck. Burt Wilder, too, has done a share in embellishing this attractive book. These artists make their pictures talk, and between the text and the talk of the pictures the reader looks and laughs and laughs and looks again. Altogether, the book is a rare product, and its purchasers will not be disappointed. Published by Hubbard Brothers, Philadelphia.

The Ninth Annual Report of the Free Medical and Surgical Dispensary for Women and Children, of Cleveland, O., shows commendable activity and progress. All the officers of the Dispensary Society and the entire staff of physicians and surgeons are women. Kate Parsons is the treasnrer.

Mrs S C. Eccleston, who returned recently to the Argentine Republic, is one of the six een women teachers who went from Philadelphia about four years ago at the urgent request of the Argentine Minister of Education and were placed in charge of public schools in the several provinces The schools are making splendid progress.

Mrs. Gould is one of the richest widows in the Woodland district of California. Recently her only daughter eloped and the old lady proceeded to disinherit the girl with a heart. Three days later Mrs. Gould learned that the parents of the groom had also closed their doors against the young couple, so she became angry, declared her daughter as good as any woman on earth and concluded by forgiving all and presenting bride and groom with a comfortable share of her home and fortune.

Certain men in times past, as well as in Georgia at present, have clamored to be protected from the ambition of the black man. We have a very poor opinion of such chape, for they admit their inferority when they ask for special legislation to bar out the blacks; but much as we despise this cowardly exhibition of intoleranee, we despise the man more who will by word, act or deed prevent women from entering the lists to compete with him in her endeavor to earn an honest livelihood. Woman should have an equal chance with man, and so far as we are concerned we are not in the least afraid to arm her with the ballot.—Meadville Republican.

Mrs. Ada C. Bittenhender, who is making an active canvass for Judge of the Supreme Court in Nebraska, is the first woman ever nominated for a seat on the Bench and the only lady lawyer in the State. She is Superintendent of the Department of Legislation and Petition in the State Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and Associate Superintendent of the same department of the national body. In 1882 she was admitted to the Bar, passing a very successful examination in open Court, having studied in the office of her hneband, and is his partner therein. She is spoken of as having an impressive address, magnetic personality and winning manners, and as very courteous and conciliatory in Court towards opposing counsel She has often practiced at the Bar of the bigest tribnnals, traveling from artists's pencil has added a rich entercircuit Court to Court, and ranks among the leaders of her profession. She was enthusiastically nominated by the Prohibition party.

Notes on Education.

Prof. Peter H. Clark, Ohio's most prominent colored democrat, has been appointed principal of the State Normal School at Huntsville, Ala.

The Southern Workman of September reports 217 pupils entered to date of writing; 15 more boys than girls, a smaller majority than usual. Beside Virginia, which furnishes 140 students, fourteen other States, including Massachusetts, contributed to the number.

After fifty years of experience in the higher teaching of women, South Hadley, the pioneer of all our schools, now proposes to become a full-fledged college. It was necessary, or it would he left far behind The new time requires new plans. We welcome the sixth college, and the third in Massachusetts. Massachusetts needs no fewer female colleges than male, and no institution has earned a higher honor than that founded by Mary Lyon.—Independent.

The question of forming a new school district at Wilberforce will be decided to day. Probate Judge Cooper appointed E. J. Williamson, of Beavercreek township, Dan. H. Geet, of Spring Valley, and Leroy Green, of Yellow Springs, as commissioners to take testimony as to the necessity of establishing a district, to fix the boundary and locate the building, and they are on the grounds to day viewing the situation. The district will undoubtedly be made. —Xenia Gazette.

Principal B. T. Washington, State Normal School, Tuskegee, Ala., says: "As an evidence of the value of industrial training in our graduating class, 1886-'87, are two painters, one tailor, two carpenters and five farmers. All the girls will go out with good training in general housekeeping. All are prepared to teach. We are making a special effort to reach the country students, for these are the ones most likely to reach the plantation and give the people the benefit of their training."—Southern Workman.

OUR CENTENNIAL is a constantly growing movement. Never saw anything like it in our Church. The man who will take no part in celebrating this grand occasion will get badly left. No nee talking against it; its gone! Ohio Conference fairly boomed it; Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield and Xenia, Chillicothe, Galipolis and Zanesville will all be heard from, "And all the stars that round them beam." Hurrah!—No;—well, we're going to have a good time, God willing.

EVERGREEN COTTAGE,
Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug 24, '87.

The Bishops of the A. M E. Church are hereby informed that a joint meeting of the Bishops of the A. M E. Zion Church will be held at Montgomery, Ala., on the 15th of December, 1887, to be opened at 10 A. M.

The object of the joint meeting is for further consideration of the question of "organic union" according to the Articles of Agreement of the joint commission of the African M. E Church and African M E Zion Connections, held in Washington, D. C., July 15-17, A. D. 1885

In view of the importance of such a meeting before the General Conferences of the two Connections, in May, 1888, we beg that the Bishops of both connections will arrange their official obligations and printed private affairs, as to have no excuse for absence from the Montgomery meeting in Alabama at the date fixed.

Signed in behalf of both Boards of Bishops,

Obituary.

DEATH OF REV. GEO. H. SIMMONS.

Rev. George H. Simmons departed this life Monday, August 15th, 1887. He was stricken with paralysis in the early part of 1886, on the Goose Creek Circuit, Charleston District. Unable to do any work, he and wife moved to Marion to be with their only daughter, Mrs. Georgiana Ward, where he was a sufferer till the day of his death. Rev. Simmons was one of the pioneers of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in the Marion District. He held successfully every charge that was assigned him, and was much beloved by all who knew him. He passed away in full triumph of faith on the day and date above mentioned. He has left a wife, a daughter, a little grandson, and many friends to mourn his loss.

Another soul has quit the troublesome shores of time:
Another soul has gone to heaven to rest.

W. R. ALSTON.

HOME THE PLACE FOR THE SICK.

Home comforts and the congenial society of loving friends will do more toward effecting a cure, if accompanied by proper treatment, than a long and lonely sojourn in some far-away famed health resort. One of the saddest word-pictures ever drawn is that of the resort for consumptives described in Dandee's "Numa Rumestan." Visitors to Pau or Nice are constantly reminded of the futility of the climate cure by the deaths that thin the ranks of the hopeful patients. Drs. Starkey & Palen therefore recommend the Home Treatment by their Compound Oxygen to patients suffering from lung or throat diseases as far preferable to the Southern or European journey, with all the attendant vexation and expense that traveling entails. They will send from their office, No. 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., a complete treatise on the use of this new healing agent. It costs nothing.

QUESTIONS FOR THE CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask thy father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the ways which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness."

The hundredth year of the first colored Methodist Society in America, "ont of which grew the African M. E Church," will be celebrated November, 1887, according to the following resolutions of Bishop J. M. Brown adopted by the Council of Bishops in Washington, D. C., January 22, 1887:

WHEREAS, November next (1887), will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the M. E. Society convened to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of God, and even pulled them down from their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seat"

WHEREAS, This most decisive act of our religious colored people in the United States has nothing like it in the world, if we except the resolutions of the Haitians, under Toussaint, Christophe, Petion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo what Allen, Coker and Wesley Jones were to the colored Christians of the United States. It was one of the cases of manhood Christianity. All recognized that they proved the manhood of the descendants of the African race, in their resistance of the proscription in Church and State. Toussaint and Allen, by their manly actions and love of freedom, deserve to be remembered by all their African descendants to the latest generation:

Therefore, we think that the A. M. E Church should commemorate the first efforts of individual organization among the people called Methodist, and especially as the man who was leader in the efforts of manhood Christianity was the founder and the first Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, Richard Allen Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend the Bishops to appoint a committee of five who shall have complete control of the whole matter and manner for the celebration in all of the conferences, and at Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Pa., November, 1887.

The following committee was appointed: Rev. J. M. Brown, D. D., B. W. Ward, H. M. Turner, R. B. Disney and Dr. B. W. Arnett.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that next November, a date in that month he hereafter fixed to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that services be held in all of our churches throughout our connection. The order of exercises to be fixed by each conference, quarterly conference and pastor and church; the general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Second, As our publishing interest has long suffered because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected will be appropriated to assist in paying off the debt now resting on our Publication Department.

Third, That the detail of all arrangements be left with the General Manager and his committees.

Fourth, That all moneys he sent to Bishop J. P. Campbell, 1923 North Eleventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Fifth, That the first Sunday in November be observed as "Century Day" by all the churches.

Sixth, That the ministers and officers of the churches select some person to deliver one or more addresses on the subjects named in the programme.

Seventh, That all persons having subjects assigned them on the general programme will prepare them for publication in the Centennial volume. The general length of each address to be twenty-five minutes.

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, fifteen hundred dollars in a short time; that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have had the matter under advisement and have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these urgent demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also in our Church organ, which appeal you are now reading. What will you do with it? How will you answer it? Will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over this matter carelessly and cast it from your minds. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not a State normal, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we cordially invite and joyfully hail kindness of every nationality and religious faith; but this university is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned and controlled by this Church as a body, and the day that her doors are closed to the boast of means that day the 400,000 members of the A. M. E. Church become responsible and are or will be justly charged with the folly and crime of their negligence and stupidity. But her doors will not be closed; you will not suffer such a shame to blot the fair name of our great Church. Brother Tunsless, we appeal especially to you. We as a Board are your servants, executing, as far as we can, your will. We ask you to give us aid. Our agents cannot call upon many of you in person. To you who read this appeal and are at a distance too remote for our agents to call upon you in person and present the cause of our university and the great need of immediate action, we earnestly ask you in the name of God and a common humanity; in the name of the work accomplished in the past by Wilberforce; in the name of her many noble sons and daughters that have gone out from her and in their moral, intellectual and religious strength have lifted high the banner of freedom and intelligence and with Christian heroism have unfurled the banner of the Redeemer; for the sake of all this institution has accomplished under the guidance of God in the past and for the sake of what lies within the realm of her power to do in the future we beseech and implore you to send as early as possible to the Secretary whatever you may be able to give in this direction. And for every dollar you give God will bless you many fold. Any amount you may send will be duly acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home are going to aid us, but we want our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with them. If they will do this in a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that within the next thirty days the fifteen hundred dollars will be realized and the burden removed. Brethren, for once respond to our earnest call, and relieve us of this embarrassment. It is our purpose to publish the names of the donors after the canvass of our local agents shall have been concluded, and we sincerely hope to be able to have in the list the name of every trustee of the University.

Yours, with anxious waiting, signed by order and on behalf of the Executive Board of Wilberforce University,

J. P. MAXWELL,
Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. When this is not done our rule is to send that amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circuit desiring it sent to some other place, and do not mention this very important fact

4th. For all money sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, nnmbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, write to us about it, but how to give the nnmber of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it. When a pastor writes to us that his superintendent sent us money, etc., we do not know who is his superintendent unless he tells us in his letter. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circuits, stations, etc.

5th. Sign your name to your communication. We cannot tell who sent a letter to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flourishing. It is useless and often renders them so that would otherwise be legible writing.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without any letter accompanying it. How do we know what to do with money sent thus?

8th. We have lost a great deal of money by sending supplies C. O. D. because the parties whom we thus favored failed to take them from the express office. In consequence of this neglect and absolute loss which we have borne because of it, we have decided to positively refuse to grant any more C. O. D. favors to anyone. Please do not request them.

9th. Our business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them or send you a catalogue, price list, blank form, or envelope.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginning of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not arrive until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past; in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature for the benefit of two or three persons who live at places too remote to be "raking over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Leaves Papers are ordered, they are rolled in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessons, reward cards and other such matter are never in one wrapper. When you order, do not inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and nnmber. Unless you do this it will be returned to us while you are abusing us for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for his Sunday school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office. This method of communicating with us through a person who has permanent location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above instructions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who are, with us, intrusted with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH.

LIVER, BLOOD AND LUNG DISEASES.

LIVER DISEASE AND HEART TROUBLE.

MRS. MARY A. MCCLURE, Columbia, Kansas, writes: "I addressed you in November, 1884, in regard to my health, being afflicted with liver disease, and heart trouble, etc. I was advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription and Pellets. I used one bottle of the 'Prescription,' five of the 'Discovery,' and four of the 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' My health began to improve under the use of your medicines, and my strength came back. My difficulties have all disappeared. I can work hard all day, or walk four or five miles a day, and stand it well; and when I began using the medicine I could scarcely walk across the room, most of the time, and I did not think I could ever feel well again. I give your remedies all the credit for curing me, as I took no other treatment after beginning their use. I am very grateful for your kindness, and thank God and thank you that I am as well as I am, after 5 years of suffering."

LIVER DISEASE.

MRS. I. V. WEBBER, of Yorkshire, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I wish to say a few words in praise of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' For five years previous to taking them I was a great sufferer; I had a severe pain in my right side continually; was unable to do my own work. I am happy to say I am now well and strong, thanks to your medicines."

Chronic Diarrhea Cured.—D. LAZARUS, Esq., 276 and 278 Decatur Street, New Orleans, La., writes: "I used three bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it has cured me of chronic diarrhea."

GENERAL DEBILITY.

MRS. PARNELIA BRUNDAGE, of 161 Lock Street, Lockport, N. Y., writes: "I was troubled with chills, nervous and general debility, with frequent sore throat, and my mouth was badly cankered. My liver was inactive, and I suffered much from dyspepsia. I am pleased to say that your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' have cured me of all these ailments and I cannot say enough in their praise. I must also say a word in reference to your 'Favorite Prescription,' as it has proven itself a most excellent medicine. It has been used in my family with excellent results."

Dyspepsia.—JAMES L. COLBY, Esq., of Pocatan, Houston Co., Miss., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion, and would eat heartily and grow poor at the same time. I experienced heartburn, sour stomach, and many other disagreeable symptoms common to that disorder. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and I am now entirely free from the dyspepsia, and am, in fact, healthier than I have been for five years. I weigh one hundred and seventy-one and one-half pounds, and have done as much work the past summer as I have ever done in the same length of time in my life. I never took a medicine that seemed to tone up the muscles and invigorate the whole system equal to your 'Discovery' and 'Pellets.'"

Dyspepsia.—THERESA A. CASE, of Springfield, Mo., writes: "I was troubled one year with liver complaint, dyspepsia, and sleeplessness, but your 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me."

Chills and Fever.—Rev. H. E. MOWRY, Montmorenci, S. C., writes: "Last August I thought I would die with chills and fever. I took your 'Discovery' and it stopped them in a very short time."

INVIGORATES THE SYSTEM.

BLEEDING FROM LUNGS.

A TERRIBLE AFFLICTION.

Skin Disease.—The "Democrat and News," of Cambridge, Maryland, says: "MRS. ELDA A. POOLE, wife of Leonard Poole, of Wilkinson's Neck, Dorchester Co., Md., has been cured of a bad case of Eczema by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The disease appeared first in her feet, extended to the knees, covering the whole of the lower limbs from the knees, then attacked the elbows and became so severe as to prostrate her. She was treated by several physicians for a year or two she commenced the use of the medicine, and in a few months was entirely well and is now well and hearty. Mrs. Poole thinks the medicine has saved her life and prolonged her days."

MR. T. A. AYRES, of East New Market, Dorchester County, Md., vouches for the above facts.

HIP-JOINT DISEASE.

MRS. IDA M. STRONG, of Ainsworth, Ind., writes: "My little boy had been troubled with hip-joint disease for two years. When he commenced the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' he was confined to his bed, and could not be moved without suffering great pain. But now, thanks to your 'Discovery,' he is able to be up all the time, and can walk with the help of crutches. He does not suffer any pain, and can eat and sleep as well as any one. It has only been about three months since he commenced using your medicine. I cannot find words with which to express my gratitude for the benefit he has received through you."

"GIVEN UP TO DIE,"

He said I might try cod liver oil if I desired, as that was the only thing that could possibly save me. I tried it, but never over consumption so far advanced. I tried the cod liver oil as a last resource, but was so weak I could not keep it on my stomach. My husband, not feeling satisfied to give me up, though he had bought for me everything he saw advertised for my complaint, procured a quantity of your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of Africa's Wisdom." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Each member the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask thy father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness."

The hundredth year of the first colored Methodist Society in America, "out of which grew the African M. E. Church," will be celebrated November, 1887, according to the following resolutions of Bishop J. M. Brown adopted by the Council of Bishops in Washington, D. C., January 22, 1887:

WHEREAS, November next (1887), will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the M. E. Society convened to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of God, and even pulled them from their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seat;"

WHEREAS, This most decisive act of our resolute, colored people in the United States has nothing like it in the world, if we except the resolutions of the Haitians, under Toussaint, Christophe, Petion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and East Domingo what Allen, Coker and Absalom Jones were to the colored Christians of the United States. It was one of the cases of manhood Christianity. All recognized that they proved the manhood of the descendants of the African race, in their resistance of the proscription in Church and State. Toussaint and Allen, by their manly actions and love of freedom, deserve to be remembered by all their African descendants to the latest generation:

Therefore, we think that the A. M. E. Church should commemorate the first efforts of individual organization among the people called Methodist, and especially as the man who was leader in the efforts of manhood Christianity was the founder and the first Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, Richard Allen Therefore, he it

Resolved, That we recommend the Bishops to appoint a committee of five who shall have complete control of the whole matter and arrange for the celebration in all of the conferences, and at Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Pa., November, 1887.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that on the first Sunday in November, a date in that month be hereafter fixed to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that services be held in all of our churches throughout our connection. Order of exercises to be fixed by each conference, quarterly conference and pastor and church; the general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Second, As our publishing interest has long suffered because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected will be appropriated to assist in paying off the debt now resting on our Publication Department.

Third, That the detail of all arrangements be left with the General Manager and his committee.

Fourth, That all moneys be sent to Bishop J. P. Campbell, 1923 North Eleventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Fifth, That the first Sunday in November be observed as "Century Day" by all the churches.

Sixth, That the ministers and officers of the churches select some person to deliver one or more addresses on the specific name in the programme.

Seventh, That all persons having subjects assigned them on the general programme will prepare them for publication in the Centennial volume. The average length of each address to be twenty-five minutes.

AN APPEAL IN BEHALF OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY.

Dear brethren and friends, the condition of our university makes it necessary for us to appeal to your noble generosity in this our great crisis. We are compelled to raise, by some means, fifteen hundred dollars in a short time; that amount is past due, but our creditors are indulgent and have promised to give us an opportunity to raise the money. We, the Executive Board, have had the matter under advisement and have appointed President Mitchell and Secretary Maxwell local agents to collect as much as they can in order to meet these urgent demands. We have further authorized and ordered an appeal to be published in our local papers and also in our Church organ, which appeal you are now reading. What will you do with it? How will you answer it? Will you respond to it as liberally as you can? May God help you so to do. We ask, we beseech you in all kindness not to pass over this matter carelessly and cast it from your minds. Brethren, this is your institution; it is the property of our Church and not a State normal, as some have already said. Our doors, it is true, are opened to all and we cordially invite and joyfully hail students of every nationality and religious faith; but this university is the property of the A. M. E. Church, owned and controlled by this Church as a body; and that her doors are closed for the want of means that the 400,000 members of the A. M. E. Church become responsible and are or will be justly charged with the folly and crime of their negligence and stupidity. But her doors will not be closed; you will not suffer such a shame to blot the fair name of our great Church. Brother Trustees, we appeal especially to you. We as Board are your servants, executing, as far as we can, your will. We ask you to give us aid. Our agents cannot call upon many of you in person. To you who read this appeal and are at a distance too remote for our local agents to call upon you in person and present the cause of our university and the great need of immediate action, we earnestly ask you in the name of God and a common humanity; in the name of the work accomplished in the past by Wilberforce; in the name of her many noble sons and daughters that have gone out from her and in their moral, intellectual and religious strength have lifted high the torch of Christian intelligence and with Christian heroism have unfurled the banner of the Redeemer; for the sake of all the institution has accomplished under the guidance of God in the past and for the sake of what lies within the realm of her power to do in the future we beseech and implore you to send as early as possible to the Secretary whatever you may be able to give in this direction. And for every dollar you give God will bless you many fold. Any amount you may send will be duly acknowledged and judiciously applied. We feel assured that our friends at home are going to act as we want our friends and brethren abroad to co-operate with them. If they will do this in a liberal way we feel perfectly satisfied that within the next thirty days the fifteen hundred dollars will be realized and the burden removed. Brethren, let once respond to our earnest call, and relieve us of this embarrassment. It is our purpose to publish the names of the donors after the time set by our local agents shall have been concluded, and we sincerely hope to be able to have in the list the name of every trustee of the University.

Yours, with anxious waiting, signed by order and on behalf of the Executive Board of Wilberforce University,

J. P. MAXWELL,
Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION OF THE A. M. E. CHURCH.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO ALL WHO HAVE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS WITH THIS DEPARTMENT.

READ, RE-READ AND REMEMBER.

1st. We do not take postage stamps. If you cannot obtain Post Office Money Order, which is the safest method to send money, you can send by registered letter. These are issued by every post office in the United States. If your postmaster insists on selling you stamps you insist the more on having him register your letter.

2nd. Send the exact amount of money required to pay for the goods you order. When this is not done our rule is to send that amount of supplies which the money sent will pay for.

3rd. When you order from us, always write plainly at the bottom of your letter the place where you wish your supplies sent. Very often persons write us an order from one place on a circuit desiring it sent to some other place, and do not mention this very important fact in their letter. Hence the delay.

4th. For all money sent to us for Sunday school literature we send a postal card receipt, numbered. If your order is delayed, or if there is any irregularity concerning it, write to us about it, but be sure to give the number of your receipt card and the name of the person who sent the order or signed his name to it.

5th. When a pastor writes to us that his superintendent sent us money, etc., we do not know who is the superintendent unless he writes us his name. Always send the names of persons and not names of churches, schools, circuits, stations.

5th. Sign your name to your communication. We cannot tell who sent a letter to us when there is no name signed to it.

6th. Write your name in large, plain letters. Avoid flourishing. It is useless and often readers obscure what would otherwise be legible writing.

7th. Never send a postal note, money order or express package without any instruction accompanying it. How do we know what to do with money sent thus?

8th. We have lost a great deal of money by sending supplies C. O. D. before learning whom we thus favored failed to take them from the express office. In consequence of this neglect and absolute loss which we have borne because of it, we have decided to positively refuse to grant any more C. O. D. favors to anyone. Please do not request them.

9th. Our business is conducted on a strictly cash basis. If you are not familiar with our prices write to us when you wish to buy and we will freely quote them, or send you a catalogue, price list, blank forms, etc., gratuitously.

10th. Always collect your money for supplies and have it appropriated for them at least two weeks before the beginning of each quarter; this will prevent much delay. Very often orders do not arrive until one-half or two-thirds of the quarter is past; in which case we have to print an extra amount of literature at the benefit of two or three persons or else lay ourselves liable to a "raking over" by them.

11th. When the Teachers' and Scholars' Quarterly, the Juvenile and Gem Leaves Papers are ordered, they are rolled in one package together. The catechisms, song books, primary lessons, reward cards and other such matter are never in one wrapper. When you order one you inquire for two packages at the post office.

12th. If your city has the free delivery system have your mail directed to the street and number. Unless you do this it will be returned to us while you are abusing us for neglect.

13th. Every pastor is hereby earnestly requested to have some one, who is permanently located in his work, elected Sunday school supply clerk, whose duty it shall be to send for all orders for his Sunday school supplies.

We hope this will be done at once by each pastor and that he will send us the name of the one elected to this office. This method of communicating with us through a person who has permanent location in a place will lessen difficulty and greatly facilitate intercourse between us and our patrons. It is hoped that this request will receive immediate attention. We have purchased new books in which to record the names of Sunday school supply clerks and we anxiously await their names. A postal card will serve for this purpose. Hoping that the above instructions will be received with the kindly spirit with which they are given, and praying the blessing of Almighty God upon all those who are, with us, intrusted with the children's welfare. Fraternally,

C. S. SMITH.

LIVER, BLOOD AND LUNG DISEASES.

LIVER DISEASE AND HEART TROUBLE.

MRS. MARY A. MCCLURE, Columbus, Kansas, writes: "I addressed you in November, 1884, in regard to my health, being afflicted with liver disease, and heart trouble, etc. I was advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription and Pellets. I used one bottle of the 'Prescription,' five of the 'Discovery,' and four of the 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' My health began to improve under the use of your medicine, and my strength came back. My difficulties have all disappeared. I can work hard all day, or walk four or five miles a day, and stand it well; and when I began using the medicine I could scarcely walk across the room, most of the time, and I did not think I could ever feel well again. I give your remedies all the credit for curing me, as I took no other treatment after beginning their use. I am very grateful for your kindness, and thank God and thank you that I am as well as I am, after years of suffering."

LIVER DISEASE.

MRS. I. V. WEBBER, of Yorkshire, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., writes: "I wish to say a few words in praise of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Purgative Pellets.' For five years previous to taking them I was a great sufferer; I had a severe pain in my right side continually; was unable to do my own work. I am happy to say I am now well and strong, thanks to your medicines."

Chronic Diarrhœa Cured.—D. LAZARRE, Esq., 276 and 277 Decatur Street, New Orleans, La., writes: "I used three bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it has cured me of chronic diarrhœa."

GENERAL DEBILITY.

MRS. PARMELIA BRUNDAGE, of 161 Lock Street, Lockport, N. Y., writes: "I was troubled with chills, nervous and general debility, with frequent sore throat, and my mouth was badly cankered. My liver was inactive, and I suffered much from dyspepsia. I am pleased to say that your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' have cured me of all these ailments and I cannot say enough in their praise. I must also say a word in reference to your 'Favorite Prescription,' as it has proven itself a most excellent medicine. It has been used in my family with excellent results."

Dyspepsia.—JAMES L. COLBY, Esq., of Yucaton, Houston Co., Miss., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion, and would eat heartily and grow poor at the same time. I experienced heartburn, sour stomach, and many other disagreeable symptoms common to that disorder. I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' and I am now entirely free from the dyspepsia, and am, in fact, healthier than I have been for five years. I weigh one hundred and seventy-one and one-half pounds, and have done as much work the past summer as I have ever done in the same length of time in my life. I never took a medicine that seemed to tone up the muscles and invigorate the whole system equal to your 'Discovery' and 'Pellets.'"

INVIGORATES THE SYSTEM.

Dyspepsia.—THERESA A. CASS, of Springfield, Mo., writes: "I was troubled one year with liver complaint, dyspepsia, and sleeplessness, but your 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me."

Chills and Fever.—Rev. H. E. MORLEY, Montmorenci, S. C., writes: "Last August I thought I would die with chills and fever. I took your 'Discovery' and it stopped them in a very short time."

INDIGESTION, BOILS, BLOTCHES.

REV. P. ASBURY HOWELL, Pastor of the M. E. Church, of Nelsonia, Del. Sussex Co., writes: "I was afflicted with catarrh and indigestion. Boils and blotches would appear on the surface of the skin, and I experienced a tired feeling and dullness. I began the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as directed by him for such complaints and in one week's time I began to feel like a new man, and am well. The diseased humors and catarrh were the best remedy for bilious or sick headache, or tightness about the chest, and last taste in the mouth I have ever used. My wife could not walk across the floor when she began to take your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Now she can walk quite a little ways, and do some light work."

A TERRIBLE AFFLICTION.

Skin Disease.—The "Democrat and News," of Cambridge, Maryland, says: "MRS. ELIZA ANN POOLE, wife of Mr. Wm. H. Poole, of Hamburg, Dorchester Co., Md., has been cured of a bad case of Eczema by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The disease appeared first in her feet, extended to the knees, covering the whole of the lower limbs from the knees down, to the elbows and became so severe as to prostrate her. After being treated by several physicians for a year or two she commenced the use of the medicine named above. She soon began to mend and is now well and hearty. Mrs. Poole thinks the medicine has saved her life and privileges for days."

MR. T. A. AYRES, of East New Market, Dorchester County, Md., vouches for the above facts.

HIP-JOINT DISEASE.

MRS. IDA M. STRONG, of Ainsworth, Ind., writes: "My little boy had been troubled with hip-joint disease for two years. He commenced to use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets,' he was confined to his bed, and could not be moved without suffering great pain. Only now, thanks to your 'Discovery,' he is able to be up all the time, and can walk with the help of crutches. He does not suffer any pain, and can eat and sleep as well as the rest. He is only four about three months since he commenced using your medicine. I cannot find words with which to express my gratitude for the benefit he has received through you."

BLEEDING FROM LUNGS.

JOSEPH F. MCFARLAND, Esq., Athens, Ia., writes: "My wife had frequent bleeding from the lungs, before she commenced using your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She has not had any since its use. For some six months she has been feeling so well that she has discontinued it."

GIVEN UP TO DIE,

MRS. ELIZA ANN POOLE, wife of Mr. Wm. H. Poole, of Hamburg, Dorchester Co., Md., has been cured of a bad case of Eczema by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

The opening of the theatre season has caused a demand for big hats, and it is now the duty of the clergy to denounce big hats as being productive of profanity.

A saloon in New York has the floor ornamented with silver dollars. To the man with the jimjams the polished coins look like the grinning eyes of the snakes a man sees when in liquor.

We are like southern plants taken up to northern soil. They grow the same, but they are always failing of their flowers. The poor exiled shrub dreams by a native longing of a splendid blossom which it has never seen, but is dimly conscious that it ought somehow to produce. It feels the flower which it has not strength to make in the half chilled but still genuine juice of its southern nature. That is the way in which the ideal life, the life of full competitions, haunts us all. We feel the thing we ought to be beating beneath the thing we are.—Phillips Brooks.

The Great Success

Of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is due to the fact that it meets the wants of the people, being economical to use and always reliable and effective. Its ingredients are the best, and their combination the result of profound study and skill. Thus, for all diseases originating in impure blood, Ayer's Sarsaparilla stands unrivaled.

"As a blood-purifier and general builder-up of the system," says Eugene I. Hill, M. D., 381 Sixth ave., New York, "I have never found anything to equal Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Mrs. Eliza A. Clough, Matron of the M. E. Seminary, Tilton, N. H., writes: "Every winter and spring my family, including myself, use several bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Experience has convinced me that, as a powerful blood-purifier, it is superior to any other preparation of Sarsaparilla."

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla gives better satisfaction than any other blood medicine I handle."—Geo. W. Whitman, Druggist, Albany, Indiana.

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr James Porter's Hints. 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success. 3rd. Because it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service, and how to avoid them. 4th. Because it advises ministers to read the work carefully, because "they will find it to be a regular mine, and much good sense;"—because "it is a book for all ministers, however educated,—because it is earnestly by many to be the most helpful book they ever read. —Worth its weight in gold.

XI.

THE BUSINESS IDEAS NEEDED IN THE EPISCOPACY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF CHURCH WORK.

Great institutions are moved by ideas. A host of men with brain force sparkling like a glittering constellation can turn every wheel of the highest organization. That bright conception of contrivances and of remedies for necessities, which puts in motion latent agencies for practical results, is the essential power underlying all organic existence. It impels, develops and establishes organized bodies for the general good of man. Words without ideas are like arrows without heads. Men of ideas start the wheels for human progress and supply the means for keeping them in motion. The interests of society depend upon them.

A great institution like the A. M. E. Church continually needs the application of vital force to drive it ahead in meeting its obligations. And, moreover, in proportion to its development it must be supplied with such accelerants as will meet its demands. Adulations of some great founder, clapping hands in the intensity of joy, productions of all the wealth of verbosity form no fulcrum for ascending nor basis for existence. Business ideas are needed in proportion to the advancing age.

The episcopacy of a church is as a grand observatory. It is the station at which, and in which, men must see, form conceptions, and devise plans with "malice toward none, and with charity for all" to promote every interest of the church, both spiritual and temporal. It is the position in which men must be placed whose qualification of its episcopacy increased according to the spirit of the times. The demands for such a provision are urgent on every hand There are many more projects than there were to foster true piety, and the people are called upon to sustain them. In complying with this demand they expect to see the good effects of their donations. They anticipate improvement of Church institutions and relief of needy agents. To give them satisfaction in this direction their money must be managed in a judicious manner. The representative men of the Church in the episcopacy must have keen business eyes to see that the money is profitably applied at the time or economically preserved for the future. It is by this method, and this alone, that the temporal power of the Church can be so increased that it will be conducive to the promotion of spiritual interests. Let there be a fertility of business ideas in the Episcopal Board, according to present demands, and the force of them will be felt at Wilberforce, in Philadelphia, in every part of the land, in Africa and among the West India Islands. The A. M. E. Church will extend its operations, and become more terrible than an army with banners."

Hagerstown, Md.

KEEP OUT OF THE PAST.

Keep out of the past! for its highways
Are damp with malarial gloom,
Its gardens are sere, and its forests are drear,
And everywhere moulders a tomb.
Who seeks to regain its lost pleasures
Finds only a rose turned to dust,
And its storehouse of wonderful treasures
Is covered and coated with rust.

Keep out of the past! It is haunted.
He who in its avenues gropes
Shall find there the ghost of a joy prized the most,
And a skeleton throng of dead hopes.
In place of its beautiful rivers
Lie pools that are stagnant with slime,
And those graves gleaming white in the phosphorous light
Cover dreams that were slain in their prime.

Keep out of the past! It is lonely
And barren and bleak to the view,
Its fires have grown cold and its stories are old,
Turn, turn to the present, the new!
To-day leads you up to the hill tops,
That are kissed by the radiant sun,
To-day shows no tomb—all life's hopes in bloom—
And to-day holds a prize to be won.

—Emma Wheeler Wilcox

Mrs. Fairbanks addressed the Conference of Charities and Corrections at its session in Omaha, Neb., August 29, on the subject of work among children. She presented a paper by Mrs. H. H. Pierce, of Davenport, Ia., emphasizing the value of kindness with children.

REV. W. S. LOWRY,
OF THE PITTSBURG CONFERENCE.

The subject of this sketch was born near Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 5th, 1848. His father, Valentine Lowry, was the son of a Scotchman and a native African woman, who was brought to Fayette county, Pa., a slave in 1787. Valentine Lowery was born in Fayette county, a slave, under the "28th law. He married Mary Jane Butler, daughter of Adam Butler. She was a native of Washington county, Pa. The parents of Walter were Christians, the father Free-will Baptist and the mother Methodist. They reared their family in independence, Washington county, Pa They became reduced in worldly circumstances by aiding slaves to escape, removed their farm and went to the coal mines. The mines did not suit Walter; it was too far from the moving world He tried steamboating. His father's health declining, he assumed the responsibility of the family's support and moved them to Birmingham, now South Side, in 1863.

In 1803, being fifteen years of age, he was converted in the Wylie Street A. M. E. Church, under the preaching of the Rev. Soloman H. Thompson, and at once united with said church His father, dying in 1864, left Walter the sole support of his mother and eight brothers and sisters. All who knew him in those days of trial have a high regard for him on account of his faithfulness to his father's family. When in his sixteenth year he enlisted in the army, receiving $550 bounty. He gave all but $10.00 to his mother. He was at once quartered at Camp William Penn, in the 12th Regiment, Co. K, under General Wagner. He was made first non-commissioned officer Having been carefully taught in earlier life to obey and respect law, he made a competent and dignified officer. In October, 1864, the regiment, under command of Col. G. Gibeau, was ordered to Baltimore, thence on to join the Army of the Potomac. This was shortly after the terrible slaughter at Deep Bottom; the country was everywhere marked by the footsteps of death. He was set digging trenches; building temporary houses, hospitals, etc., under rebel fire. He was in the destruction of Fort Brady severely injured and obliged to remain in hospital. He was in the engagement beginning March 28th and continuing till Sunday, April 1st, when the rebels evacuated Petersburg and Richmond, and the Union soldiers sang, "Old master's run away," etc. W. S. Lowry was honorably discharged Oct. 1865, when he returned to Pittsburgh disabled for work. He recovered by spring and learned the trade of plastering.

He was licensed to preach in Wylie Street Church by Rev. W. H. Hunter, 1868. On the 7th day of November, 1869, he was, in the interval of conferences, appointed to Bellefonte Circuit. He first met the annual conference (Pittsburg) in Pittsburg, 1870, reporting the best year's work that Bellefonte had ever made; over seventy conversions in six months. Bishop Brown, acting for Bishop Payne, returned Brother Lowery to Bellefonte. He had some unpleasant experiences on his way back to his work. At Tyrone he was obliged to lie over all night. Prejudice would not allow to him the common treatment given to travelers; so he was obliged to camp in the mountains all night. In the fall of 1870 he entered Wilberforce University, where he remained three years under the training of Bishop D. A. Payne and others. In those three years, doing missionary work, he organized three churches, being assisted in one—Cedarville—by the late Rev. Burton Lewis.

The church seat Jamestown, Cherry Grove and Union Village were organized by Rev. LOWRY. In fifteen days he raised $600 on the Union Village church At the end of three years, his health failing, he was obliged to leave school. He was appointed to the Allentown charge, Pittsburgh Conference. His work there was excellent. During the year he built a church at Phillipsburg, on the top of the Alleghenies. In 1864 he was transferred to the Ohio Conference and stationed at Portsmouth. Later he was appointed to Carthagenia Mission, where his work required him to walk twenty miles between appointments every week. After two years here he was appointed to Steubenville, where he found the church pulled down, the funds squandered and the former preacher driven away in bad repute. By diligent searching he found the officer who had misappropriated the church's money and recovered it. While at Steubenville, Rev. Lowry began a course of study at the West Theological Seminary at Allegheny, Pa. Owing to increased responsibilities in his pastorate he was obliged to abandon his course of study before its completion. While on this work he married Miss Lida A. Robinson, of Shelby County, O., a lady of high degree of refinement, who has proven a very helpmeet to him. His next appointment was Newark, O., where he remained one year, when, by especial request of Bishop Wayman, he was transferred to the Pittsburgh Conference and stationed at South Side, Pittsburgh. At the end of two years of good work here he was appointed by Bishop Shorter to Uniontown, Pa., where he remained three years, remodeling the church. From there he was appointed to Canonsburg, remaining two years, improving the church building and receiving a considerable accession of members He was afterwards appointed to Brown Chapel, Allegheny, which charge he is now serving his third year. Here the greatest work of his life, thus far, has been accomplished.

By a natural tendency to pry into the affairs of his church he has discovered $7,000 worth of real estate belonging to the church, but which had been appropriated by individuals. He is also presiding elder of the Second District, Pittsburgh Conference. He is a brave, thoughtful minister. While preaching in his present church one Sunday night a bullet passed through the window at his back, barely missing his head, a supposed attempt at assassination, when he brushed the broken pieces of glass from his person and continued his sermon from the text, "Thy word is a lamp to my feet," etc.

He is really a successful pastor. His worth to the Church, measured alone by the property saved, is not small. While some lose what others have saved, he saves what others have lost. He has reduced the debt on Brown Chapel considerably and had the building tastefully repaired. This brief sketch places before the youths of to-day the case of a thoughtful, Christian gentleman, who has made a success of life under great disadvantages.

"MORE BISHOPS" REVIEWED.

BY REV. P. M. LEWIS.

[The writer has written a review of Dr. Johnson's papers, quoting extensively. Our of his article in full.—EDITOR.]

Dr. James H. A. Johnson is a scholarly Christian writer. However much others may differ from him, it must be conceded that he has made a worthy attempt to throw light on an important subject.

I propose to state my objections to some of his positions: First, we do not need more Bishops. As to the mode of electing Bishops in the apostolic ages, the Dr. must refer to the spiritual features and not to the rude proceedings, which could not be applied to the proceedings in these times; as the Doctor thinks seekers of the office unworthy of it. Our Church claims to be actuated and guided by the same spirit as they of olden times and to possess the same grace. This does not prevent the entrance of a Judas now, as it did not then. As the apostolic church survived, so will the African Methodist Church.

In his second article, Dr. Johnson speaks of one Bishop as quasi, and refers to the death of three, and refers to the age of half the present Bishops as rendering them feeble. Proceeding the Dr. shows that, being deprived of three by death, and liable to be deprived of the full service of others by age, we must elect others. But when the General Conference raised our number of Bishops to ten it gave us more Bishops than we needed; for, notwithstanding our loss, the remaining ninth and grand Board of Bishops move on upon a well-regulated line of true progress. Our Church, under them, is sweeping the enemies of good from the field. Nor do we feel that any part of our work suffers. Of course I include Bishop Disney as one of our regular Bishops.

Admitting the Dr.'s correctness of judgment concerning the declining vitality of half the board, what does the argument show but that even in this state seven Bishops can do our episcopal work? Their good judgment and long years show that God has blessed them peculiarly to live beyond the allotted time of man. Though five of them will be seventy and one eighty by 1892, this, though a good old age, is not beyond that attained by other good, wise men, who have discharged equally responsible duties; hence, our Board of Bishops need not be superannuated in 1892 The physical declension may not necessarily impair their mental powers. According to the general usages of Methodist Episcopal Bishops, these men can perform their official functions, as some have done, with weak bodies. The functions of such office do not include so extensive traveling and frequent preaching, as the Dr. thinks.

Physical powers are not the chief and highest requisite for the advancement of the Christian Church, but well developed Christian character, assisted by highly cultured minds.

Our Church is infinitely better off with our wise, judicious and just Campbell, Payne, Brown and others, than it would be in the hands of men, ever so strong physically, lacking wisdom and godliness. Too much of the physical, without the proper grace, has already done us much harm. It is not the ox or the lion strength which we require.

The Dr.'s reference to the practice of the United States in retiring officers is not well chosen. The United States retires these men at given ages mainly because they are unable to perform the arduous physical duties required of them, not the mental duties. The church is that spiritual kingdom. God spare our Bishops and give us more like them when we shall need them.

"THOU SHALT NOT LIE."

BY S. A. HARDISON.

There are too many persons who sometimes find it convenient to lie a little The following incident in the life of General Grant is a severe rebuke to such persons. An important conference was being held in the Executive Mansion in Washington. A caller had sent his card, but either the caller was unwelcome or the time was quite unsuitable for his admission. A colored gentleman present turned to a servant and said, "Tell the person who sent up the card that the President is not in." "No," said General Grant, "tell him no such thing." Then turning to his friends, the General remarked, "I don't lie for myself, and I don't want my servants to lie for me." That was noble. If our boys want to copy the example of great men let them pick out such things and follow them. Great men, as well as others, make mistakes. The mistakes they make are not any better or nearer right because they were made by great and leading men. We are not to be excused for following great men into wrong-doing; we should copy their examples only when they do right. The example of General Grant in reference to telling the truth is worthy of copying; his words, with a little change, are worthy of being used as a motto: "I do not lie for myself, and I do not want any one else to lie for me."

WHERE ARE WE DRIFTING?

IS THE EPISCOPACY A SACRED OR POLITICAL OFFICE?

BY REV. N. B. STERRETT.

MR EDITOR:—As the General Conference approaches it is surprising to see the many aspirants for the holy office of a Bishop. Our fathers taught us to believe that it was an office for which God selected men and set them apart for the government of his church, and the office and the men that filled it have always, therefore, been looked upon with the highest degree of reverence But men in these latter days seem to think that God does not know what man he wants to fill that office. They have, therefore, resorted to political rules, with all the chicanery pertaining thereto Men are nominated for that sacred office six months and a year before the General Conference convenes. They declare their nominees to be the men qualified for this sacred office, and II St Paul's description of the qualifications of a Bishop be true, God knows they know no more about some of the men they are nominating than I know about Napoleon Bonaparte's horse The episcopal field is full of candidates working up delegates and formlog combinations, all to secure their election to that sacred office, and thereby defeat God in his design.

I know an aspirant who has his henchmen on every societies among a certain class of ministers in his conference, so as to control them in the election of delegates, and thereby get a delegation that will support him for Bishop Now, I say, unhesitatingly and unreservedly, that such men are no more fit for the Bishopric than any colored man. No man can dictate for God He knows best whom he wants Samuel thought at one time he knew who the Lord wanted, but the Lord went ont and got the shepherd boy that Samuel was not thinking about So will it be with the Bishop in the next General Conference, if men do not pack the thing so that God cannot get at the man he wants.

Now, I ask for the sake of the A. M. E Church and the God whom we serve, let God have a chance at the General Conference of 1888, and then we will have such Bishops as God has called to the holy office, and some of them will be men who have not yet been mentioned in the circle. If God has the control of the matter we will not have eight more, either, for he knows everything and he knows three more are a plenty The General Conference of 1888 could not do a better thing than to pass a resolution that these aspirants should not be elected. Men of brain and talent would do well to stop nominating and give the men who are elected and those who may be elected some advice in regard to the law that should demand their attention. Let the men go to the General Conference nuplegged and unbiased, and God will take care of the Bishopric. Alia tentanda via est.

A CHRISTIAN SOLUTION OF THE PRESIDING ELDER PROBLEM.

BY REV. D. A GRAHAM.

Every writer or legislator upon a question of church polity should first of all rid himself of all selfish considerations. Then he should see that there is no prejudice, revenge, sectional jealousy, or any other limit of the flesh prompting him in his action He should love the Church and every member thereof, willing to suffer wrong rather than to do wrong to any. Believing that all agree with me I ask that this may be the spirit of our council this evening, while the designers and advocates of the presiding elder system sit down as one family to adjust their differences

1st Is there any real need of the system? Yes, there certainly is In those sections of the country where the colored population is large, and our work not well organized, a presiding elder is of great benefit to the Church, if he be the right kind of a man There is so much missionary work he can do for which the pastors have not time. In these same sections there is stronger denominational competition, and a judicious presiding elder can keep the work in better condition to compete with rival churches. Where neither of these reasons are found another steps forward Every pastor in the connection needs a higher authority over him, in closer proximity than it is practicable to have a Bishop When a pastor and his congregation, or a considerable portion there of, become dissatisfied. It is quite essential that some judicial person have the authority to settle the difficulty, if possible, or to remove the pastor and place a more acceptable one in his stead. The need of such authority has been sorely felt in many charges previous to the last General Conference, while its utility has been blessed by hundreds who could say no other good word for the system.

And now let us see what are the objections to the system.

1st. The expense is vehemently urged by the enemies of the system. This item differs in different sections. Where the population is dense, with from two to twenty churches in every county, the presiding elder seldom travels twenty miles without one or more stops, and is seldom one hundred miles. In other sections where the colored population is sparse, he seldom finds more than one charge in a county, seldom finds two charges nearer than thirty miles apart, and often fifty. The limits of his district are often three hundred miles. In these sparsely settled districts the number of churches is not only small, but the membership is also small.

For example, when we undertook to lay off the Michigan Conference into presiding elder districts, we took thirteen charges, as per Discipline, in the eastern half of the State and then had but 640 members Now, these 640 members must, to keep the law, support thirteen pastors and a presiding elder 13x200—$2,600, pastors' salary; 13x200—$2,600, pastors' board, then $1 000, presiding elder's salary. Here is $8 800 these 640 persons as called upon to raise for ministers alone. Of course the $7,800 they take hold of cheerfully, because they think it necessary; but not so this additional $1,000 Don't forget the traveling expenses in riding a district abont 100 miles square. This is a fair sample of presiding elder districts in many of the Northern conferences. I have seen the proportions worse than these; but yet we are told that we should not consider the money at stake, but the good to be accomplished In these districts, however, there is nothing for the presiding elder to do outside of holding his quarterly meetings and collecting his salary.

2d. The next objection to the system is the tyranny exercised by presiding elders in demanding their salary, whether the pastor gets his or not. I heard a high functionary of the Church, who lives in the South, say, "We presiding elders always get our money; because we just let the pastor know that he must have it or we'll see him at the annual conference" This is the worst feature of the whole thing. A tyrannical, wicked hearted man or two between you and the appointing power can compel you to do his bidding or you and family must suffer for bread and butter. If you are able to pay your presiding elder well and make him fine presents, lick the dust off his feet, you may expect good appointments. I have shown that the good and bad which are acknowledged to belong to this system; now let us find the golden mean.

The needs and abilities of the Church are not the same in the North as in the South. Therefore there is none of the mind of Jesus in one section trying to force the other section to come under whatever rule of government the one may find best adapted to its peculiar condition. Therefore, let the system be optional with the annual conferences as formerly. Then where it is needed you can have it and where it is an injurious burden you can let it alone. But, in order that every pastor may have some one in authority over him nearer than the Bishop, let pastoral presiding elders be appointed, each of whom should have charge of a station within his district His duties should be: 1st. To exercise general oversight over all the pastors and preachers within his district. 2d, To administer the sacraments on such pastors as are not in orders. 3d, In case of trouble between a pastor and his congregation or in case of a vacancy in the pulpit or in any other emergency, the duties and powers of the pastoral presiding elder should be the same as those of the regular presiding elders. In no case should such presiding elders receive a salary for their service as presiding elder, but only their expenses; these pastoral presiding elders to be appointed in all conferences which do not choose the regular presiding elder system.

Now, what man who is a real Christian and really desires the best interest of the church North and South, East and West, can object to this solution? Now come, brethren, let us join hands and move against sin, ignorance and superstition. We have no time to be trying to force each other to use the same kind of guns If you can carry a more costly gun than we, we will not complain, but will fight just as hard with what we can afford and ask you to do the same and all will be well What say you, Brother Kershaw? Is not this the only Christian solution?

THE A. M. E CHURCH—ITS TRANSFER SYSTEM. IS IT INFECTIOUS?

BY REV E. M. HARPER.

The transfer system of the A M E Church has been acknowledged by the correspondent to the RECORDER, Aug. 18th nlt., article No. 2, as being "the main pillar of Methodism and co-essential with its itinerant system, and if destroyed will cripple the whole machinery" If this is true, we fail to see or understand the exact position of the writer; for, after he had given it the highest laudatory touch of eloquence, he would in four stated reasons attempt to sweep away the plasticity of the system and then appease the appetence by using some apologetics in saying that "it is wrong to give transferred men the best appointments in any conference, because it goes to encourage that class of ministers in our Church that are now numerous." Further he calls them transfers, but we call them "runners." "Let them take their chances and work themselves up." "Send one to a poor place and the second year he will (for the connection) be one less."

Now, from whence arise these sectional jealousies? Not from the common opinion and belief. What is believed by all men or most men, or is it the estimation discerning in the system what is not revealed by Christian discrimination? Why should we complain of a system that we know but little about, because others do not just think as we do, and then go to work and be so dogmatical in our expression that "all transferred ministers are runners." But I do not think the subject has been carefully studied in all of its phases, for there is some significance in the latter part of the quotation "runner," and we would conclude that the marksman had come short of his mark, for "run" means to move with rapidity, and "ner" not distant, and the noun "runner" means one who bears a message, unless we are to understand the writer to mean "runaway," which would signify a "vagrant, wanderer, a fugitive, and such would not fall from the pen of a Christian minister, for all transferred ministers are not wanderers nor fugitives. All do not seek to be transferred, but are transferred by higher powers. Why should they be the recipients of such epithetic expressions? There is a transferred man in Florida being too warm, and it might be a bit of advice to transfer a small portion of Northern air to that particular portion of Florida for safe keeping, lest the inflation should go beyond compression.

Though, however, we may seem to encourage this didactic discussion as useful and probably instructive, yet we affirm that it can never be the chief law in any certain scientific conclusion, or to the language that we use in speaking of these deliverances of common sense, after distinguishing the real common opinion from the fallacious assimilations of common opinion set up (according to him) by some pretenders who declare that in all cases of common opinion there is always something more than a mere superficial appearance of truth.

All organizations of whatever nature, political, social or religious, fully recognize the power and value of its systems Political bodies are called together not so much for the purpose of selecting candidates for office as for the purpose of vowing certain sentiments, declaring certain principles, and, more than all else, enlisting an enthusiasm that shall rise and fall, swell and fall alone, rising higher and higher, until it shall finally become lost to all control and sweep over the entire nation

No one thing has done more these last twenty years in bringing together and systemizing our people as a race than the transfer system It has not injured the fine qualities of our intelligence, but strengthened them. It has gone forth consentaneous of the end in view. How are nations and people to become acquainted and familiarized—how is the cement of brotherly love to be nutlized, if not by the transfer? The subject has been carefully studied in all of its phases, for there is some significance in the latter part of the quotation "runner," and we would conclude that the marksman had come short of his mark, for "run" means to move with rapidity, and "ner" not distant, and the noun "runner" means one who bears a message, unless we are to understand the writer to mean "runaway," which would signify a "vagrant, wanderer, a fugitive, and such would not fall from the pen of a Christian minister, for all transferred ministers are not wanderers nor fugitives. There is a transferred man in Florida being too warm, and it might be a bit of advice to transfer a small portion of Northern air to that particular portion of Florida for safe keeping, lest the inflation should go beyond compression.

All organizations of whatever nature, political, social or religious, fully recognize the power and value of its systems Political bodies are called together not so much for the purpose of selecting candidates for office as for the purpose of vowing certain sentiments, declaring certain principles, and, more than all else, enlisting an enthusiasm that shall rise and fall, swell and fall alone, rising higher and higher, until it shall finally become lost to all control and sweep over the entire nation

No one thing has done more these last twenty years in bringing together and systemizing our people as a race than the transfer system It has not injured the fine qualities of our intelligence, but strengthened them. It has gone forth consentaneous of the end in view. How are nations and people to become acquainted and familiarized—how is the cement of brotherly love to be nutlized, if not by the home confraternity?

As we see in the opinion expressed in the article of the 18th, a soul as large as the world, which embraces the command of Christ, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel," or one bordering too near to the principles of sordidity, and not enough of confraternity. Our experience has demonstrated to us beyond a shadow of doubt, that the A. M. E. connection and its transfer system is a grand concatenation of this confraternity

What of it if Brother A. or B. should, through the providence of God, occupy one of the higher seats in Jerusalem. God grant that I may be kent from being taught the lesson of the Pharisee, when the little child was brought and set in their midst. No general systematic plans have been in operation for the building up of the Church and connection at large in a more holy faith, other than has been possible in this system.

God in his providence has opened the door of possibility in this direction, and we believe the system will commend itself to every chaste intelligence all over the land, as well as enlist the enthusiasm and devotion of both old and young. In reaching out for a more satisfactory experience in practical piety we have only to listen to the voice that now comes echoing over the land with all the force of a divine prophecy, stirring the hearts and energies of the people with a determination to extinguish everything that would blight the race, and we shall be recreant to the best interests of the connection and the general good of the people, and if he system fails to give a hearty and joyous response to the heaven-born inspiration that now demands, and will be satisfied with nothing short of the transfer system.

"Take my life and let it be Consecrated, Lord, to thee;
Take my feet and let them move,
At the impulse of thy love."

THE ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY

BY REV. WM. H YNOCUM.

Reading carefnlly the history of the Jews, it is observed that, through all their peculiar conditions, which commenced after their departure from Egypt, they thought it worth while to hold celebrations and jubilees on past events These were continued for perhaps two purposes: First, as a recognition of God's favor and divine blessings; secondly, to keep the events fresh in the minds of the children, that they might be handed down by history or tradition to unnumbered generations. And although but few is found in all parts of the civilized world, far from the ancient Jernsalem, many of their former jubilees, celebrations and feasts are observed to-day among that class of people A few days ago a few showed me a card written in Hebrew characters sent to him from the old country, informing him that the observance of the New Year would be in (this) September; that he, with all Jews, though in strange lande, must observe it. The Fourth of July in this country is observed as the day on which the nation was born. Again, Washington's birth is observed generally by the people of New England, the Middle and North ern States A few years ago the centennial of the nation was held on a large scale in the city of "Brotherly Love" Not long since across the proud waters of the Atlantic the fiftieth anniversary of the reign of the Queen of England was observed throughout her domain. The colored people of this country do and should observe the emancipation of the slaves as one of God's divine blessings to the race Because this meets the eye of the reader the people of the nation will have a celebrated the adoption of the constitution, the grandest instrument of the nation some husbands and wives who have lived together twenty-five and fifty years celebrate their silver and golden wedding; we shall soon hold the diamond anniversary of African Methodism

Now, with all these facts before us; we find in every member of the African M E. Church a desire to observe the one hnndredth anniversary of African Methodism in November. First, because one hundred years from that time God, in his wise providence, raised up the sainted Richard Allen and a few others to launch this old ship Thoush the waters have been turbnient, storms have raged, the carnage of war has swept over the land, yet this war-ship, the African M. E. Church, has remained intact, making war upon sin caste prejudice and the oppression of our race It should be written so indelliblo upon the hearts of the ministry, the laymen and the children of the African M E Church that time itself cannot erase it; that tradition and history will cause it to be explained to the children of every succeeding generation. If there ever was a time for the grand evidences of Church patriotism it is now. This love should be laid so deep in every heart, such solid loyalty in ministers and members, that in the next hundred years it may be said not a single church or congregation has been lost to the connection Read the lamentable facts in Bishop Ward's letter in RECORDER, September 1st

Dr. Embry, our good Manager of the Publication Department, has worked, studied and planned for the success of this old department these years until his very brain has been sick. He is now hoping and praying that the centennial will not only be a success in display and oratory, but that it may be a financial success also, that enough money may be raised to pay the last dollar on the Book Concern It can be done with a united effort throughout the connection. It is an old eye-sore which ought to have been out of the way forty years ago. Let us pay it off, brethren, then sell the old disturbing element and go into new and better quarters. I see the RECORDER has put on a new and better appearance, which makes it look more like a Church paper. Pay off the debt, place it on a firm basis, give the Manager two hundred thousand subscribers, with as many different kinds of books and other material in the line of book stores and a faithful, energetic man could not fail in making it pay the Church a large income. I won't write more as I expect to say more soon.

THE PRESENT STATUS OF BETHEL A M. E. CHURCH, COLUMBIA, S. C.

BY PROF. J. W. MORRIS.

MR. EDITOR:—Allow me space in your valuable columns to inform your many readers of the present condition of Bethel A. M. E. Church. Feeling that the entire Church will not be a little interested in us, I take this opportunity to give them some idea of our true condition

I shall not detain you with a recital of our battles and deeds of Christian valor, for the victory is won, the din of battle is hushed and the smoke is rolled away. And then again, we know that peace has its honors just as recowned as those of war. Therefore, it is of peace and not of war I write.

It was the language of the illustrious Charles Sumner, that was applauded to the very echo at Geneva, Switzerland, "There is no peace that is not honorable; there is no war that is not dishonorable" These words are as true in matters of Church as they are in matters of state.

The trouble hitherto attending this church grew directly out of an attempt by a disloyal element to destroy the church, and weaken, if possible, the strong and vigorous administration of the days of unflinching integrity, indomitable will and iron nerves, the lamented James A. Shorter, one of the highest and best evidences of African Methodism and negro manhood Bnt for this, the glory and honor of Afr can Methodism would have trailed in the dust; and, on account of this, it has been held aloft to the admirlog gaze of the world. Thus, by standing square upon the law, and executing the law, we have triumpbed; but we have no clarion notes to sound, no passns to sing.

We have a membership of 325 The debts incurred by us for the preservation and protection of the property, such as lawyers' fees in criminal and civil cases and traveling expenses, were $1,560 00 There remains of this large debt to date, $222 This shows with what rapidity we have paid, and so many opposing difficulties, this debt has been reduced

A mortgage of $400 was pnt npon the church just five days before the meeting of the annual conference in Greenville, S. C. The strangest thing about this mortgage is, that it was given after the church had been declared, from the pulpit, to be entirely free from debt. Another strange thing is, what could have been the object in giving the mortgage and what was done with the money. This will ever remain a mystery. 'Tis strange, this passing strange; 'tis pitiful, 'tis strangely pitiful. Debts of long standing are now coming in for settlement We are putting forth every honest effort to meet these bills, and to lift this mortgage. Think of the idea of mortgaging property worth $10 000 for $400 We have a unique system for meeting the payment of the mortgage, which is working nicely. The loyol 325 members intend to pay every cent of these debts, however dishonestly incurred.

The third quarterly conference of Bethel A M E Church was held on Wednesday evening, September 14, 1887, Rev S. H Jefferson, presiding elder, presiding. This was a delightful occasion. There was a large membership present Every one seemed deeply interested in the proceeds of the conference. The reports were all good and interesting and were promptly made. Stewards' report for this quarter, $190 06. trustees' report for this quarter. $142 04; amount on mortgage for this quarter, $18 84; amount for presding elder for this quarter, $16 00 This makes a total collection during this quarter of $336 94. The excellence of these reports elicited the following words of commendation: "Notwithstanding the many churches of larger membership in the district, and the disadvantages under which this church has labored, yet your reports are the finest in the district." We led last year in reports and we are determined to continue in the lead. History repletes itself with instances to show that members are not always to be relied upon in the calculation of an undertaking, —the little band at Thermopylæ or, perhaps, more appropriately, the little band of Gideon. We are on the upward march and, with God in front, we mean to come out victorious.

EVERGREEN COTTAGE.

Wilberforce, Ohio, Aug 24, '87.

The Bishops of the A. M E Church are hereby informed that a joint meeting of the Bishops of the A. M. E. Zion Church will be held at Montgomery, Ala., on the 15th of December, 1887, to be opened at 10 A. M.

The object of the joint meeting is for further consideration of the question of "organic union" according to the Articles of Agreement of the joint commission of the African M E Church and African M E Zion Connections, held in Washington, D C, July 15-17, 1885

In view of the importance of such a meeting before the General Conferences of the two Connections, in May, 1888, we beg that the Bishops of both connections will arrange their official obligations and printed private affairs, as to have no excuse for absence from the Montgomery meeting in Alabama at the date fixed Signed in behalf of both Boards of Bishops,

HOLINESS, ENTIRE SANTIFICATION.

BY REV. D. F. CALHAM.

"Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it." 1 Thes., 5, 24.

1. This prayer was made in behalf of faithful Christians. "But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief for ve are all sons of the day."—Verse 4, 5, R. V. The preceding chapters all show that the church of Thessalonica was not at all backsliding, but enjoyed faith and love and was the "glory and joy" of the Apostle Paul.

2. This prayer shows that "entire sanctification" is attainable anbesrpent to regeneration. The believers of this Church were not wholly sanctified, though they were "children of the light." If so, the 23d verse is entirely meaningless and nonecessary. Christ prayed that the disciples, his regenerate one, might be sanctified through the truth, and commanded them to tarry at Jerusalem until they were "endued with power from high," or "sanctified wholly," for Peter says of Gentiles that the Holy Ghost fell on them, as on us at the beginning, and "put no difference between us and them, purifying their hearts by faith" This shows that the power that purified or sanctified the Gentiles by faith was the very same power which fell on the disciples at Pentecost, and that it had the very same effect upon them.

3. The text teaches that believers are commanded to be sanctified. God calls the regen-rated a "child" a "walking in the light Christian" to this experience, and pledges his faithfulness to "do it." "For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye abstain from fornication; that each one of you know how to possess himself of his own vessel in sanctification and honor, not in the passion of lust, even as the Gentiles which know not God; that no man transgress and wrong his brother in business-like conference over the town in this matter, because that the Lord is an avenger in all these things, as also we forewarned you and testified, for God called us not for uncleanness, but in sanctification. Therefore he that rejecteth, rejecteth not man, but God, who giveth his Holy Spirit unto you."—R. V. I Thess., 4 Other Scriptures prove this. "Sanctify yourselves, therefore, and be ye holy, for I am the Lord your God. And ye shall keep my statutes and do them; I am the Lord which sanctify you."—Lev 20, 7, 8. "As he which called you is holy, be ye yourselves also holy in all manner of living, because it is written, ye shall be holy, for I am holy."—1 Peter, 1, 16.

4. The text shows that it is to be attained before death. "And the God of peace will sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved entire, without blame at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Faithful is he that calleth you, who will also do it." Jesus prayed, "Sanctify them through thy truth." "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their (disciples') word. And "I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, but that thou shouldst keep them from the evil."—John 17. Luke says we read that "The Lord, the God of Israel, visited and wrought redemption," etc., "to grant unto us that we being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, should serve him without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him all our days." The Hebrew we are exhorted to follow after peace with all men, and the sanctification without which no man shall see the Lord."—R. V.

5. The text teaches that sanctification is a gift received instantaneously by faith; not by growth. We infer that the soul, the spiritual nature, is not really prepared to grow and develop in the graces necessary until it is cleansed and purified from the "carnal mind; the old man; the root of bitterness." This very principle of sin in believers prevents spiritual growth to a great extent. The "old man" can never be grown out of the nature. No, no; but praise God, he can be purged out, destroyed by the ever cleansing blood of Jesus, who came for the very purpose to forgive or "take away our sins," and to destroy the works of the devil"—the old man. An unconditional surrender of our affections, desires and will to God is the condition. Oh, I know this is true by happy experience, and thousands can testify to the same. Brother, brother! the above exposition agrees with the doctrine of our beloved Church. It agrees with "Do yon expect to be made perfect in love before death?" "Are you growing after it?" Now, if a person can be sanctified an hour before death, why may he not be a day before? Yea, why not a year or twenty or any number of years before death? Praise God, he can if he complies with the condition. (Rom. 12, 1.) tial to "soul saving" We know of no successful evangellets who do not believe and experience the blessing of "perfect love." We could mention scores of them if necessary. David prayed for cleansing, for a clean heart. "Then," said he, "will I teach transgressors thy ways, and sinners shall be converted unto thee." Psalm 51. As a practical demobstration of this I refer to the Ohio State Holiness Campmeeting, held at Lakeside, Ottawa and at Mt. Vernon, Ohio, this summer under the management of the M. E. Church. Holiness was preached as a definite work, subsequent to regeneration, attainable instantaneously by faith exclusively. Believers were urged and did seek for and attained thereto, and right in the face of this fact sinners were convicted and converted by the dozens. I was an eye witness to this at the latter named place and know whereof I speak. Some object to the doctrine because, to the shame of some, the experience is abused and disgraced; but this objection will fall to the ground when it is remembered that many more make a sad, sad shipwreck of regeneration. We know we cannot be "kept by the power of God through faith" unless we yield the possession "unto him who is able to keep us from falling and to pres nt us faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy." Praise God!

THE INDIANA CONFERENCE.

BY REV. J. H. CLAY.

The forty-seventh Annual Conference of the Indiana District convened in the A. M. E. Church, Richmond, Ind., August 31, 1887, Bishop J. P. Campbell, presiding. This was by far the most interesting, peaceful and business like conference ever known in the history of our Church in this State. More business was done in less time and in better form than ever before, indicating the progress of intelligence and business methods of this Church. Promptly at 9 o'clock, Bishop Campbell arose and announced the hymn, "And are we yet alive," etc., which was sung with spirit and interest by members of the conference; after which the Bishop led in a prayer that was simple, touching and full of pathos. A Scripture lesson was read; another hymn and prayer. The secretary of last conference called the roll, which revealed the fact that the grim reaper—death—had left our ranks untouched.

Rev. J. Bass was chosen secretary, who selected Dr. D. P. Roberts and T. Price assistants; the usual committees were appointed by the Bishop and the brethren made their financial reports.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

Dollar Money, $673 65; missionary money, $116 09; contingent, $74.99; General Conference, $32 00. Sabbath schools, $79 14; education, $96 51; total, $1 072.38. It will be remembered that at the last session of the Indiana Conference it was divided into two districts, the Indiana and Michigan Conferences, and yet, with only half our former number of churches and people, we have fallen but little below our former standard in finances.

VISITORS.

Our conference was graced by the presence of the following General Officers; S T. Taylor, editor of the RECORDER; S T. Lee, editor of the Review; Rev. Wm. D. Johnson, secretary of Education; B. W. Arnett, Financial Secretary; President S. T. Wilberforce University, and Rev. J. McSmith and Rev. Wm. H. Brown, of Michigan Conference, and C. W. and Z. W. White, of Ohio Conference.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, as per programme, the memorial service in honor to and memory of the late Bishops J. A. Shorter and R. H. Cain was held in the presence of a large audience of sympathizing friends and members of the A. M. E. Church. At the request of the special committee who were in charge of the service, Dr. B. T. Tanner gave a brief and comprehensive outline of the brilliant career and distinguished services of Bishop Cain; while Dr. Arnett, in simple words, in a feeling manner, spoke of Bishop Shorter. The benediction having been pronounced, the large audience departed with tearful eyes and heavy hearts, solemnly, silently, to their respective homes.

Friday night, Dr. W. D. Johnson electrified the conference and large audience by his eloquence, wit, humor and originality. He simply captured Richmond and held it until after the conference had adjourned.

Sabbath morning dawned clear and the sun arose in brilliancy with healing in his wing. Bishop J. P. Campbell preached at 3 at Grace M. E. Church (white), one of the largest and most fashionable churches in Richmond. The audience was large and appreciative. The Bishop chose his text from Rev. 22, 5. To try to convey an idea of the sermon on paper, would be injustice to the discourse, however vivid or elaborate the description. Dr. Arnett spoke at the same church at night, and Dr. Tanner preached at the First M. E. Church; Dr. Johnson at A. M. E. Church. Thus closed a Lord's day, with new hope planted and more respects for the race and Church gained and the duties of life better understood and more highly appreciated.

DELEGATES TO GENERAL CONFERENCE

Upon first ballot Dr. D. P. W. Roberts was elected to lead the delegation, whose election was made unanimous. Rev. J. H. Clay was elected on second ballot as the secular delegate and Revs. M. Lewis and J. Bass, alternates. The delegates were urged by the conference to use their influence to have the presiding eldership made optional.

PRESIDING ELDER DISTRICTS AND APPOINTMENTS

First District, J. B. Ferguson, Franklin, Ind

Second District, D. P. Roberts, Richmond, Ind.

Third District, J. H. Clay, New Albany, Ind.

Fourth District, J. Michem, Princeton, Ind.

Fifth District, J. Bass, Crawfordsville, Ind. The next conference will be held at Crawfordsville, Ind., Aug. 29th, 1888.

NOTES.

The well-known generosity of Rev. J. M. Townsend was further demonstrated during this conference in a novel way and upon a larger scale than ever before. His splendid palace, by special invitation, the conference repaired for dinner and tea for three or four days in succession, to sit at a table where wit and humor flashed and sparkled and the table groaned beneath well filled dishes of well cooked food, while his queen scattered sunshine and good cheer into all hearts by royal welcomes and happy smiles

Here is the home also of that great and good man, Bishop Quinn, whose worthy widow still survives him, and well does she maintain the dignity and hospitality of her distinguished husband.

Bishop Campbell's lecture on "His tour to the Isles of the Sea and its results," was both inspiring and instructive.

The conference received Dr. Roberts back from the Ohio Conference, to which he was transferred last, with open arms and many expressions of appreciation. And rightly.

Rev. D. S. Bently transferred to the Pittsburgh Conference.

For the first time in the history of the Indiana Conference, no one was ordained, nor was there a judicial committee needed. This was the first time in twenty-eight years that there was no one to be ordained to either elder's or deacons' orders. Bishop Campbell says this was the most orderly, business-like conference he ever held.

Brother Reid, of Bethel A. M. E. Church, Chicago, Ill., saw a star in the West and came out to study its significance.

Wednesday night, at 7.30, Rev. R. McDaniels preached the annual sermon, which was well received. He chose for his text the words of Christ: "All power is given into my hands." Subject, "The power of the gospel." There were many expressions of approclation and approbation during the delivery of the sermon.

GENERAL CONFERENCE NOTES.

BY REV. J. M. MURCHISON.

The South Arkansas Annual Conference will elect her best men as delegates to the General Conference this term. We believe the pres ding elder system should be retained. Let the General Conference say what the qualifications of the presiding elder shall be, educationally, morally and religiously, and then let it be in the power of the annual conference to see that none other occupy the office. Let the annual conferences elect their presiding elders and let the Bishop appoint and the annual conferences confirm. Several Bishops more are evidently necessary

We will admit that the M. E. Church has very few Bishops compared with the larger number of members and still one of her Bishops has never had one-fourteenth of the work to do that six Bishops are doing in the A. M E Church. The negro has peculiarities that are not possessed by any other people. It is an easy matter for the pastors of the M. E. Church, North or South, to convince their people that the Bishop has legitimate reasons for not visiting them. But our people think it is negligence on the partof our Bishops, and pastors can't explain it out of their minds. Especially is this the case in the South. Let the next General Conference elect a sufficient number of the right kind of men to the office of Bishop to make it possible for them to visit, any and all parts of the work if necessary. Let none of our old Bishops be superannuated. The Church cannot do without them while they live.

REV. I. S. GRANT has sent the RECORDER an article scoonding Dr. Johnson's nomination of Elder M. B Salter for the episcopacy. Rev. J. P. Chavis adds the name of Rev. Samuel Washington and Rev. G. E. Taylor seconds the nomination of Rev. A. Grant and nominates Rev. W. B. Derrick, D. D.

THOUGH Endowment Day is over, Dr. J. G. Mitchell still keeps up the fire. He wishes to have the sums received thus far greatly augumented during the fall. He is distributing reward medals to those who push the canvass. The medal is beautiful, bearing on its face the motto, "Education, virtue and truth" and on its reverse the Lord's Prayer.

REV. W. G. ALEXANDER, of Montgomery, and J. T. Jenifer, of Providence, write congratulatory words concerning the change in the form of the CHRISTIAN RECORDER. The New York Christian Advocate, the Afrioo-Presbyterian, the Philadelphia Sentinel and other exchanges have also made complimentary notes on our change. Thanks, good friends; it is our desire to make the CHRISTIAN RECORDER worthy of your commendation continually.

THE Evansville (Ind.) Daily Journal of 19th inst. publishes a very flattering commendation of Rev. D. L. Bentley, hy "W." Rev. Bentley has been transferred from the Indiana to the Pittsbnrgh Conference. The Journal, in had Methodist taste, tells where he is going to act as pastor next year. Another prominent minister of a good Western conference transferred last year to take a given charge, bnt somehow, things changed. This appointment business is "mighty uncertain," till you are settled.

SERMONS are heard every week by a large majority of our readers. The fact is, sermons are designed to reach the mind through the ear rather than through the eye. It is rarely that Brother Teneyke sends anything to the RECORDER. His sermon is published, but we do not solicit sermons, nor publish nearly all that come here. They are usually too long for a small paper. Preach your sermons, brethren, and write popular literature. As a rule sermons will not be published in the CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

THE MICHIGAN CONFERENCE published its minutes in two weeks after adjournment in good style. The Ohio Conference published its minutes by the time of adjournment, but not in so good style. Their pages are heavily leaded; hence are about twice as numerous as they should be. No conference can publish a perfect record and have it bound by the day of adjonrnment. Changes are made immediately afterwards. That is a little too progressive. It is astonishing how nicely Ohio has arranged her minutes, however.

PROF. J. W. H. WILKINS, of the Kittrell School, in North Carolina, returned home last week, after raising over two thousand dollars in the East. This is what we may safely call success. It is the work of about nine weeks. Prof. Hawkine is a young man, bnt strikes those who meet him as being intensely engaged in and well adapted to his work. It is a pity that the authorities of the school call him in to the work of teaching, when there are scores who could fill that position, bnt not one in a thousand who could equal him in soliciting money.

WE HAVE NEVER been in sympathy with nominating ministers for the highest position in our Church through the Church organ. We have published a few, bnt beg brethren to refrain from asking that papers dealing in nominations simply be published. There is nothing in those nominations for anyone. There are but few conferences that have not some minister who, they believe, would make a good Bishop. Their delegates can represent them in the General Conference. If we are going to leave this matter with God, Elder Sterrett is quite right, it is time we were submisive.

WE TAKE the liberty to eliminate from the article of Prof. J. W. Morris, president of Allen University, all reference to one of the attorneys retained in the case of the Columbia Church, just as we have failed to publish an article from said attorney on the opposite side of the subject. The Columbia Church has had sorrow and shame enough. The RECORDER will say anything right for its peace and prosperity; nothing, designedly, for its inconvenience. Brethren determined to make it their fighting ground must seonre some other carriage for their cannon. Talking with a prominent business man of Columbia, a member of the Governor's guard from that State, in our centennial week, we learned a good deal about the Columbia trouble. He says the loyal 300 have the sympathies of a majority of the citizens of his race-variety.

SEVERAL of the Ohio towns that are making a great "fuss" about the new school laws are republican, hnt that does not mean that the white people of those towns are willing that black children shall have equal chances with their own in the race of life. A set of hypocrites, they love the black man, his children, his wife and his condition on election days. A set of nnmbskulls; they do not know that they are bnt exposing their hypocrisy that has heretofore been hidden ingeniously. The mixed schools are coming, mixed teachers and all. There is no use of being squeamish about it; it is in the conrse of republican logic. Every republican vote has tended in that direction. Of course the term "mixed" is senseless. The common school law in Ohio includes no such term.

Those awfully outraged towns are in the midst of towns their equals in all respects—both republican and democratic towns—that have by their own option adopted the so-called mixed schools before the State law made them obligatory. They are as virtnous and as free from frightful race incursions as are the little immaculate Ohio towns that close their schools. We can bnt regret that even the Wilberforce District was formed to satisfy this contemptible foolishnese.

TIME AND discrimination are wanting in the preparation of too many books written by colored men. The fact that books of this class sell readily has struck both colored and white men. A looseness and slovenliness that are simply criminal mark about nine-tenths of their works. Snch colored writers only bring uncomplimentary criticisms upon the race. Snch white writers simply help to maintain the character of their race, to get all they can. Language, biography, history, apologetics, poetry, song and romance have suffered from this haste to be colored authors. It is the same in reference to press articles. More than nine-tenths of these are sent to editors written loosely, many in lead pencil. Why do not writers weigh their thonghts? They will keep while being weighed. Why do they not study and correct their writings? The world will give them ample time. Many articles going to our editors lie on the table weeks, for the editor to find time to correct them, which in too many cases means to re-write them. Now and then we receive a scoring from a really good writer, a critical writer, for not properly crossing his "t's," bnt occasionally, like other human beings, he crosses a "t" incorrectly. We ask no thanks for correcting; we like to find an indication now and then that he may fail, hut we do not enjoy so much complaint from those who have put little time on their articles before sending them, because we require time to publish them. Only a moment ago a letter read, "I have no brains for your waste basket. If you are not going to publish my article send it back." This comes from one of our best and most original writers, whose articles would always be published without any delay so far as these facts are concerned, but we cannot do in the RECORDER what we would not do in the African Methodist pulpit, publish heresy. We have published over and over that we do not return unpublished papers. Discrimination is worth as much as time in respect to an article for the public. Of course heresy will read as well as orthodoxy, often better. There are itching ears ready for it, hut our writers must discriminate. Books will not always sell among colored people simply because written hy or about colored people; for there will be critical and correct books on the same topics and by representatives of the same class. There are books out now that might as well be right as strong, and long lived as short lived, bnt which, because of bad judgment, must be redneed to the "choice for 15 cents" shelf very early.

CAKE WALK.

All ministers should be ashamed to allow their names to be coanected with these disreputable displays. No church is bound to subject its young gentlemen and ladies to this nousensical performance for money. Of conrse it is quite as honorable as some other unbecoming acts which ohnrchmen practice, but that is saying nothing in its favor.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT AT BETHEL CHURCH.

Rev. J. W. Beckett, B. D., pastor of Bethel Church, Philadelphia, deferred his Endowment Day to Sunday, 25th inst. It was our pleasure to be with him in the morning when his congregation gave $50 to the cause of education. The Snnday school gave $105.67 in the afternoon and the congregation $150 at night; making a total of $310.67. In the evening a young man preached his "trial" sermon, neither he nor the pastor knowing that he had as auditors Revs. Dr. Speare, Courtney, M. P., and Mr. Edwin Lawrence, all of London, England. Having deep interest in our race these gentlemen had come to Bethel to study the snbject. Elder Beckett sang some of his soul-cheering songs after preaching; the charm was irresistible. When the appeal was made for money to edncate our youths, two of the Englishmen responded with $50 each.

"IT'S THE CENTENNIAL OF OUR CHURCH."

Three girls, each about thirteen years old, were discussing the object of the recent centennial demonstration in Philadelphia. Two of them were white and Roman Catholics, the third was colored and African Methodist. One of the Catholics said the centennial celebration was in respect to signing the Declaration of Independence; the other, that it had reference to the adoption of the constitution. The dispute grew warm, when the African Methodist girl, who had read and heard of the movements of our Church with respect to the coming centennial, seriously said, "Girls, you are both wrong; it's the centennial of our Church." Her conception of what an African Methodist centennial should be was about the right size. Like the little bird that sang, "All the world was made for me," she thought the great excitement that was going on in Philadelphia all concentered in the African Methodist Church. It will be a pity if the Church of which she is a member should allow her high notions concerning her connection to take a great fall next November. Philadelphia, the base of the grandest American jubilees because of the mighty civil American ideas that have been realized here, may well be proud that it is the spot on which one of the noblest of religions struggles of the Afrioo-American race was organized—a struggle that has contributed in no small measure to the settlement of the race questions of the country and to the general advancement, peace and prosperity of the nation. As the whole nation has been stirred by the impulses of the constitutional centennial, so should the whole A. M. E. Church bo; in fact the whole Americo-African race. The question of finance should not enter in our consideration so much as the questions of appreciation and celebration of the completion of a hundred years of the most pronounced and independent organization of the Afrioo-Americans for religions freedom, personal freedom and race advancement. No one can read the sketch of the life of Richard Allen carefully without observing all these facts in his grand stroke and manly stand for room in which and appliances hy which to act. His life work was in the interest of his suffering people. Who will deny that the infinence of the manly deportment, commendable thrift, dignified courage and determined push of the African Methodist Episcopal Church was a highly important factor in bringing about the freedom of the race? No one can question its influence in holding and honoring that freedom when obtained. As it is the pioneer of Afrioo-American snooessful organization, so it has been the pioneer in questioning the rights of slave holders to impede religious exercise, organization and movement by black men. Its early apostles had many a thrilling adventure in advancing their cause in Southern and Southwestern States. The African Methodist Church penetrated into the South more deeply and diffused the Christian doctrines more extensively than all other colored organizations combined, before the war. Its fearlessness in this respect is equalled by its courage in pushing the cause of equal rights in all respects. The world may be directed with pride to its glorious achievements nnder Christ. Now, for a general declaration by the four hundred thousand to whom the heritage of the fathers is given, that the Church shall continue to lead the hosts of our race still in the wilderness. "It is the Centennial of our Church."

—Wilberforce has enrolled an nnusually large number of young ladies this year.

W. A. Robinson, son of Dr. Thomas H. Robinson, of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, has been appointed Professor of Greek in Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

The conty commissioners of Green County, Ohio, have made the black school district, for that is what it means, ahont Wilberforce University. Its directors will be colored its teacher will be colored and its pupils will he colored (?) In a New Jersey district we have had colored school directors more or less, for forty years.

Two young ladies after writing to Prof. Holbrook, of the celebrated Normal School, at Lehanon, O., and receiving his circular and catalogne, were refused admittance because of their color. The Rev. S. G. Dorce, B D., at once escorted them to Wilberforce University, where they were received the same as white students. Wilberforce is a good asylnm from the storms of color-caste.

The University of Pennsylvania recalls the part it plays in original research by the return to this city of the biological expedition, headed by Dr. Dolley, which has spent the summer on the Bahamas and whose work ought to be the beginning of a permanent station there or on our own coast. Professor Drummond, one of the most distinguished of the foreign visitors now in this conntry, addresses the students of the University next week.

That the young women of America are likely soon to surpass their brothers in their intellectual development, seems a startling assertion. But the facts presented by Anna B. McMahan in the American Magazine certainly point in that direction. Women's clubs and similar organizations have provided means of improving the minds of their members, while the males of similar age have been expending their energies on billiards and base-ball.

The superintendent of schools in Cleveland, Ohio (perhaps the model school city of the second class in America), two years ago reported, on the part of the boys in the High School, a loss of 10 6 per cent. from the ratio he stood ten years before. The superintendent at St. Joseph, Mo., whose own proportion of hoy-graduates stood sixth highest in a list of thirty schools that he tahnlated, says: "The young of the country will be compelled in self-defense to prolong their time of study at school or college, or else snhmit to a continual reminder of their inferiority in scholarship to the young ladies with whom they mingle in the social circle."—American Magazine for October.

The operation of the law of last winter which repealed the statute authorizing the establishment of separate schools for colored pupils is producing friction in many places. At Oxford, O., the colored people nearly all deserted their own school and applied for admission to the white school. A public meeting was held, and the School Board was asked to order the colored pupils to their own school. The Board complied with the request, and the colored people propose to apply for a mandamus. At Yellow Springs the School Board has ordered the scools closed indefinitely or until the legislature shall meet and take some action. At Ripley, O., a suit in mandamus has been entered to compel the School Board to admit colored pupils.

The higher education of women is not lessening their fitness to be mothers of the next generation; it is furnishing the mothers of the race to be with the education and culture which will make the training of the generation worthy of its origin.—Herald.

All the training-schools for nurses in Philadelphia are free. This is one profession for women that is not overcrowded, and where women can earn good wages. The chief qualifications are good health, good temper, general intelligence, and a fair common-school education.

Are we an unhealthy nation? There are more than three times as many physicians in America as in France, proportionately. What would become of this army of doctors if American women were to dress properly and exercise in the open air regularly?—Eliza Putnam Heaton, in Brooklyn Times.

Mrs. Governor Claflin, for the purpose of a saving influence on the children who roamed near home, has organized them into a Loyal League, to be officered by the young people themselves. The members all sign a pledge to use no oaths or vulgar language, neither alcoholic liquors nor tobacco, and to seek to perform as many acts of kindness as possible. A fine play-ground on the premises is arranged for them. At their meetings, which are quite frequent, all the formalities of a well-conducted club are scrupulously attended to—of itself an invaluable discipline for the children.

OUR CENTENNIAL is a constantly growing movement. Never saw anything like it in our Church. The man who will take no part in celebrating this grand occasion will get badly left. No use talking against it; its gone! Ohio Conference fairly boomed it; Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield and Xenia, Chillicothe, Gallipolis and Zanesville will all he heard from, "And all the stars that round them beam." RESOLUTIONS OF SORROW.

At a regular meeting of the Preacher's Meeting of the Philadelphia Annual Conference and vicinity, of the A. M. E. Church, held at 631 Pine street, Philadelphia, Pa., a committee was appointed to draft appropriate resolutions in memory of Rev. Thomas A. Cuff, of the Philadelphia Annual Conference, who departed this life September 19, 1887, at Salem, N. J., in the full triumph of faith. The following were offered and adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God, in his wise providence, to remove from our midst our late Brother, Rev. Thomas A. Cuff, and,

WHEREAS, It is but just to declare our high appreciation of the great benefits his life has been to the Church; therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the will of our heavenly father, we do not the less mourn for our worthy brother.

Resolved, That in the death of our late Brother Cuff, the Church laments the lose of one who was ever ready to proffer the hand of aid and the voice of sympathy to the needy and distressed.

Resolved, That we tender to his bereaved family our deep sympathy, and present to them a copy of these resolutions as a token of our respect and veneration for the Christian character of a good man gone to rest, and, with them, we hope to share with our brother the reward of eternity.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE
IN NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

Dr. O. C. STOUT, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I have no doubt of its efficacy in all cases of nervous prostration. I gave it to one patient who was unable to transact the most ordinary business; as he explained it, his brain was 'tired and confused' upon the least exertion mentally. Immediate benefit followed the use of the Acid Phosphate, and he owed his recovery to it."

CENTENNIAL OF THE AFRICAN M. E. CHURCH.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask thy father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led thee one hundred years in the wilderness."

The hundredth year of the first colored Methodist Society in America, "out of which grew the African M. E. Church," will be celebrated November, 1887, according to the following resolutions of Bishop J. M. Brown adopted by the Council of Bishops in Washington, D. C., January 22 1887;

WHEREAS, November next (1887) will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the M. E. Society convened to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of God, and even pulled them from their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seat;"

WHEREAS, This most decisive act of our religious colored people in the United States has nothing like it in the world, if we except the resolutions of the Haitians, under Toussaint, Christophe, Pelion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo what Allen, Coker and Absalom Jones were to the colored Christians of the United States. It was one of the cases of manhood Christianity. All recognized that they proved the manhood of the descendants of the African race, in their resistance of the proscription in Church and State. Toussaint and Allen, by their manly actions and love of freedom, deserve to be remembered by all their African descendants to the latest generation;

Therefore, we think that the A. M. E Church should commemorate the first efforts of individual organization among the people called Methodist, and especially as the man who was leader in the efforts of manhood Christianity was the founder and the first Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, Richard Allen. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend the Bishops to appoint a committee of five who shall have complete control of the whole matter and arrange for the celebration all of the conferences, and at Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Pa., November, 1887.

The following committee was appointed: Bishops J. M. Brown, T. M. D. Ward, H. M. Turner, B. R. Disney and Dr. B. W. Arnett.

The committee met and appointed J. M. Brown, president; B. W. Arnett, secretary.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that next November, a date in that month be fervently fixed to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that service be held in all of our churches throughout our connection. The order of worship to be fixed by each conference, quarterly conference and pastor and church; the general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Second, As our publishing interest has long suffered because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected will be appropriated to assist in paying off the debt now resting on our Publication Department.

Third, That the detail of all arrangements be left with the General Manager and his committee.

Fourth, That all moneys be sent to Bishop J. P. Campbell, 1923 North Eleventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Fifth, That the first Sunday in November be observed as "Century Day" by all the churches.

Sixth, That the ministers and officers of the churches elect some person to deliver one or more addresses on the subjects named in the programme.

Seventh, That all persons having subjects assigned them on the general programme will prepare them for publication in the Centennial volume. The average length of each address to be twenty-five minutes,

HE WOULD NOT PAY A CENT FOR IT.

A gentleman in Birmingham, Ala., seventy-five years old, who had suffered with gout for thirty years, was recommended by a friend to try the Compound Oxygen, but he had so little faith in it that he "would not pay a cent for it." This friend then sent for a Treatment and he consented to try it. At that time he was suffering with intense pain in the knees and feet; the latter much swollen Was greatly emaciated and had been prostrated for weeks at a time. A few weeks since this friend visited him, and then wrote as follows:

COLUMBUS ALA., June 15, 1886.

"I have just returned from visiting Mr. Ward, and was highly pleased to find him much improved. He said his wife are in high spirits. He has had a very bis time for several months. Feet, hands, ankles and knees had been terribly swollen. For months and months he had not been able to have even a part of a night's sleep. After commencing the Home Treatment he had one of his worst spells for two or three days, and had giv n up all hope even of the Compound Oxygen. But he stuck to it. The first of last week he got one night's good, refreshing sleep. When he awoke the next morning he said to his wife, 'I have had a good night's sleep for the first time in months. But this is only temporary. I fear I shall not be able to sleep any to night.' But he did, and every night since he has slept well. He told me, on Sunday, that his hands were in their natural shape now, for the first time in many months, and that he believed the swelling in the knees and ank es would now subside, as they were itching a great deal"

In the Treatise on Compound Oxygen can be found a full history of the remedy, and a large list of many more such interesting cases, which will be sent free by addressing Drs Starkey & Palen No. 1529 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Secretary of Education, Box 265, Athens, Ga.

THE EXTRAORDINARY ATTRACTIONS OF THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION, and the great public interest centered therein, have caused us, for a time, to postpone inviting conspicuous attention to the unparalleled attractions we have to offer the present season.

For the first time since the occupancy of our new buildings we are able to say that we are fully prepared for the transaction of the Dry Goods business in a manner satisfactory to ourselves. Opening our new store addition late in the Spring, we are, naturally, not able to perfect our arrangements the first season.

During the entire summer we have been in a state of preparation, with an army of workmen busily engaged day and night in thoroughly remodeling our store premises, so fully correspond with the new additional buildings, which have also been perfected. This work of preparation and of finishing is at last accomplished, and we are able to open

THE AUTUMN OF 1887

Equipped for business in a way that we have never before With more space devoted to the sale of Dry Goods than any other American house—more than double the number of square feet heretofore occupied by us with the same good—we shall hope the crowding of ably served at all times. former seasons will be avoided, and that our great army of patrons will be most comfort-

With the large additional space and vast increase of facilities for the transaction of business we have extended our lines in every direction and dailog many months back we have made preparations for this season for exceeding all that we have ever attempted in the past.

We now invite the public to view our arrangements, and, in particular, to inspect the great array of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC NOVELTIES, which from this day forward will be displayed on our counters, confident as we are in the belief that no American house can hope to exceed them.

In All Complaints

Of the Stomach, Bowels, Liver, and Kidneys, Ayer's Pills are taken with excellent results. Being purely vegetable, they leave no ill effects, and may be safely administered to any one, old or young, in need of an aperient and cathartic. Physicians, all over the country, prescribe Ayer's Pills and recommend them as a good Family Medicine.

"If people would use Ayer's Pills," says Col. D. W. Bozeman, of Franklin, Texas, "in course, as you direct, very many of the serious ailments that come from torpidity or derangement of the liver and from malarial infections would be avoided. I have used these pills above a quarter of a century and know whereof I affirm."

Herman Bringhoff, jewelry engraver, Newark, N. J., writes: "Costiveness, induced by my sedentary habits of life, became chronic. Ayer's Pills afforded me speedy relief. Their occasional use has since kept me all right."

HINTS TO SELF-EDUCATED MINISTERS.

Reasons why all preachers should read Dr. James Porter's Hints: 1st. Because it furnishes the most natural method of preparing to preach effectively. 2nd. Because it shows how to preach with ease and grace, and yet with power and success. 3rd. Because it exposes numerous errors in all branches of ministerial service and how to correct them. Its reviewers advise ministers to read it with care. Because "they will find in it much that they never thought of"—because "the very hints they do not need to receive are not furnished by other homilitical works—because "it is replete with shrewd, hard, good sense"—because "it will help young ministers, however educated,—because it is scarred by no "hobby" or sectarianism." Is it worth the money? "Worth its weight in gold."

STUTTERING, AND ALL DEFECTS OF SPEECH PERMANENTLY CURED.

Dr. Lewis A. Sayre, Prof. Orthopedic and Clinical Surgery, 205 Fifth Avenue, New York, wrote to Thos. O. Greene, of Jersey City, as follows: "I have seen two gentlemen who formerly stammered VERY BADLY, and who now talk freely without any hesitation or stammering at all. One of these cases was at my clinical Lecture at Bellevue Hospital, and unable to speak without the most horrid grimaces and stammering. In five weeks he went before the same class as a total stranger from a medical man without stammering at all.

EVERLASTING LIFE.

"He that believeth on Me hath everlasting life."—John 6, 47.

Hark, be still while our ears catch the sweet words of love and mercy dropping from the lips of heaven's beloved King! Nowhere in the volume of truth do we find utterances of grander significance. It is the offer of life, happiness and riches to the poor and helpless, whose mortal life is but a quivering thread and whose ways are over shadowed with gloom. And as we stop to consider these words let our prayer to God be, that he will incline our hearts by his sanctifying spirit to believe and trust in the promises of the Redeemer of life.

1st. What is everlasting life? Is it merely a dream floating before us, depicting fancies upon our inward visions, which, when vanishing, leave us sad and disappointed; or is it the continuation of this present mortal existence, with all its heavy toils, cares and distresses? No, blessed be truth and thanks to God, it is none of these. Everlasting life is life in its realness, life in its fullness, life pure, life perfect in all its capacities.

SPEAK OF THIS LIFE!

This life is mockery and our struggles to keep it are all vain. By its enchantments we are deceived; by its counsels we are misguided, and in seeking after the objects of its promises we invariably find disappointment. How often do its pleasures carry us to the summit of delight and then rapidly leaving us to fall into the valley of despair! How often does joy come, bringing with it laughter and song, and then depart, leaving behind it weeping and mourning! How often do pinions take wings and fly away and the princely millionaire steps down beside the lowly, and the brilliant nobleman becomes the companion of the beggar! Such life has been, such it is, but the future life spoken of in the text promises better things. There all surrounding objects, all events and every act will awaken within us most pleasing conceptions and possess a perfect consonance to our finest feelings. O, who have no need of it? All have need of it. You have need of it. Every falling tear symbolizes this fact. Every pain, every feeling of discontentment, every ungratified desire, every groan that is heaved from the bosom of grief, rolling years and changing seasons, old age with its tottering gate, which now to you seems distant, but whose approach will steal upon you like a thief in the night, and death with its terrible workings,—all, all proclaim that you have need of that life that is free from these dreaded cousualities. And this ie your only escape; if you miss this, what the text terms everlasting life, you will miss everything that will be worth having. You will then have imposed upon you a life of sorrow, which is really this life continued with its all sufferinge and miseries increased and intensified. It will be a life that will be equivalent to death, and where death will be preferable to life.

The most intricate and complex of all organizations is the human society. Philosophy and science have contributed largely to the advancement of art, but fails almost entirely when attempting to facilitate and improve the regulation of society. The same fiery conflict of political and social conditions is raging to-day as they were 4000 years ago. Our weakness is demonstrated in every effort we make, and our constant failures prove our need of help from on high. Yea, from Him who is mighty and able to save us, and who we hear speaking to us in the words of the text. This is Jesus coming to help us. Jesus coming to do us good. Jesus coming to make us happy forever; precious Saviour! May he ever be precious to you in redeeming, renewing and sanctifying your soul for that high and happy condition which only the glorified can share. There only will society be perfect in its government, regular in all its operations, free from all domestic jarrings, social inharmonies and political agitations. Ah, this will be a life worth seeking after and worth the earifice of all earthly things to be obtained. It is just the life that you need and must obtain in order to become happy, or if you come short of it you will be forever miserable, where the sunshine of eternal grace will never fall upon you and the light of hope never break through the clouds of despair. Every young man and woman needs it. Time is swiftly carrying you away; the approaching grave is making haste and soon the merry voices that ring around the hearthside of your home and greet you upon the street and in your social gatheringe will greet you for the last time in this word. Oh, the sad departure! And must it be forever? No; not necessarily. Not if we make Christ the object of our lives. Not if we make him the special object of our affections. If we do this then we shall meet again. Jesus will bring us all together face to face; he himself being the central object of endearment and attraction. Then will come the hand-shaking, the hearty congratuiations as we enter into this life which will have no ending. And this will not be all. Here we shall meet the good people that have lived before us; here we shall meet the once little Joseph, who was so pure and virtuous, and whose good behavior won for him the favor of Egypt's highest rulers; here we shall meet the once little David, who by putting all his trust in the Lord, slew the mighty giant and routed the Philistian army; here we shall meet the little Samuel, who held conversation with the Lord and the little Daniel who would not be tempted by the sparkling bowl of intemperance. And also those good women who have immortalized themselves by their good and brave deeds, such as Hannah, who prayed in the Lord's house; Mary, who washed the Saviour's feet; Lydia, noted for her hospitality, and Tabitha, for her good works. They will he there to welcome and join you in everlasting friendship. Then for the first time you will find pleasure without pain, joys without sorrows and society without its upheavals and strifes.

3d. How can it be obtained? Not by wealth, not by wealth, but only by believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. It is God who makes the gift, it is Jesus who saves you. His death upon the cross was the compensation paid for your life. His blood that flowed from his side is the fountain of purification which cleanses you from your iniquities. God's Holy Spirit sanctifies, enlightens and changes you into his image, and renews your relation to him as his children. What a wonderful blessedness! Stop and consider the endearment in which this relation brings you! God the father; God the King and you the children of a King. Glory, glory, glory. Young man, why retreating? Why standing so far away? What leads you to make the fatal choice that you are making? Why loitering by the wayside, listening to the voice of a vain world, whose siren songs deligbt only to deceive and whose counsels are a lie? Why do you stop your ears against the sweet voice of Jesus, whose word is truth, whose look is love and whose touch is life? What will you do in the hour of death, when mother, father and friends stand powerless around your bedside and the nurse for the last time smoothes down your pillow as the physician declares that he can do no more, and the ringing of the clock's bell upon the mantle tells the fatal hour has come? What satisfaction will you obtain by looking back over a misspent life, which, when reckoned up in the scale of justice, is found wanting? How many worlds, with all their vain pleasures, would I not give only to live one-half of that life over again that you might correct the terrible mistake? But as time forbids further enlargement, may this be sufficient to enable me to state that mixed schools, while they are right, theoretically speaking, yet they are not freighted with the results that the native teacher produces in colored schools.

This has been proven and demonstrated in places where comparative records have been kept of the workings of each system. Outside of the matter of distance to attend school, everything favors the separate school system. But, as this hindrance could not be well remedied in many places in Ohio, the teachers were obliged to seek other fields of labor. Thus I am here in Shelbyville, Ky., a servant in the same capacity, that of teacher. A splendid field indeed! Over nine hundred youth of school age in the district, an A. M. E. Church of over three hundred members, most of whom are property owners, a Sunday school fairly represented, with Rev. H. C. Ashly, a very energetic, persevering young man as pastor, as is evidenced by over two hundred additions made to the church during a pastorate of less than two years, and paid off the whole debt. The colored agricultural fair here was another evidence of the thrift and push of the colored people comparing favorably with the whitee. I shall have something to say in my next article of the proposition for fourteen Bishops, as suggested by Rev. J. I will relieve your anxiety for the present by sayiog I am bitterly opposed.

BISHOPS WELCOME.

BY REV. W H. BRYANT.

MR. EDITOR:—We are pleased to say that Bishop A W. Wayman called to see us here at Chester, Pa., last Tuesday night, September 20, 1887. And at 7:45 P. M., the Bishop preached one of his soul-reviving sermons to quite a large number of the members and friends of our church, and I think he has left a lasting impression upon the minds of many who heard him. After preaching the Bishop gave us a short talk in regard to his travels through the South, which was very interesting. The members say that it has been eleven years since they have had a Bishop to pay them a friendly visit, although they live, as it were, next door to Philadelphia. It is the first visit I have had from a Bishop since I have been in the ministry, which has been about ten years, although I have invited them several timee to visit my work, and, by the way, their work as well as mine But I do not think that our dear Bishops should wait for a special invitation to go into any part of our church work. For my part, I shall be more than happy to have any of our Bishops to visit me at any time; and I hereby give a special and standing invitation to all the Bishops and the heads of all the departments of our Church, and all other worthy ministers of the Gospel. My church, my house and heart shall ever be open to receive them. All I ask is to let me know in time, so that I may make ready to receive them.

THE BALTIMORE CONFERENCE ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

MR. EDITOR:—The Electoral College of the Baltimore Annual Conference met in St. John's A. M. E. Church, Baltimore, on the 14th day of September and organized by electing Messrs. J. H. Murphy and Isaac Myers, president and secretary, respectively. Rev. R. F. Wayman conducted devotional exercises. A committee on credentials and permanent organization was appointed. The committee reported the credentials as all being correct and recommended the temporary officers to be made permanent. Mr. Wm. H. Holmes, of St. John's A. M. E Church, Baltimore, and Mr. J. A. Simms, of Metropolitan A. M E Church, Washington, D. C., were elected delegates to the next General Conference. Mr. T. H. Russell and Mr. Cooper were elected alternates. The following resolutions were adopted for the instrnction of the delegatee: 1st, That not more than five Bishops should be elected. 2nd, That each conference be allowed to decide for itself the practicability of the presiding eidership and that the office be made elective. 3rd, The location of all the departments of the Church in one building in some city centrally located. 4th, That the Ohildren's Day collection be turned over to the educational department and Endowment Day be done away with. 5th, That Easter Sunday be continued as Missionary Day, and that the entire collection on that day be used for missionary purposes. 6th, That all General Officers be paid out of the General Treasury. 7th, That the "Dollar Money" collection be done away with, and fifty cent money be inserted, and that amount be collected from each member and the whole amount be turned over to the General Treasury. 8th, That there be but one editor and one manager of the A. M. E. Review and CHRISTIAN RECORDER.

AFRICAN METHODISM IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

BY E. V. C.

MR. EDITOR:—The pastors have all returned from their summer vacations, camp-meetings, etc., and last Sabbath in the various churches showed that the membership have also returned and entered with renewed zeal upon the work of building up Christ's kingdom. Excellent sermons were preached in all the churches. The ministers' meeting assembled on Monday and the following report will show the work accomplished. At Metropolitan Church, Rev. Dr. Steward, the pastor, preached an able sermon. This was the day for collecting the church debt fund More than $200 was realized from the excursion to Harper's Ferry, given by the Sabbath school of that church.

Rev. J. W. Bowser, in reporting for Ebenezer, West Washington, represented the church as being in a properous condition. This pastor reports that he has his flock interested in making arrangements for extensive repairs on the church.

St Paul's, under the pastorage of Rev. C. W. Filzhugh, is in a very propers perous condition. The membership is increasing and the members are working earnestly to raise means to rebuild their church. September 18th was the day set apart for their first effort in this direction.

This is the first year of Rev. J. P. Cox at Pisgah, and the spiritual interest has increased wonderfully under his pastorate. A revival is in progress at that charge.

The Bladensburg charge, which includes one or two points in the city of Washington, remains as it has been for the last two or three years under the pastorate of Rev. C. Jones. Like his cousin, Levi J Coppin, of the Philadelphia Conference, he rests neither day or night that his charge might improve. He is a faithful and devoted A. M. E. minister.

Revs O D Robioson and Arthur Jones are progressing in their charges. They are serving Garfield and Hillsdale Stations.

Rev. Dr. Jas. H. A. Johnson has charge of the work made vacant by the late Rev W. H. Waiers. Dr. Johnson has a peculiar field of labor, assuming two extremes. One part of his work brings him in contact with professors and students of Howard University and the other part with some of the lower strata of the District of Columbia. This faithful man can successfully meet the demands of either of these extremes.

ENDOWMENT DAY IN CHATHAM.

BY REV. HENDERSON DAVIS, JR.

Endowment Day was observed in the A. M E Church of Chatham, Sunday, Septembr 18th. Under existing circumstances the people responded well to the call. Not having the benefit of the programme in time, we could only carry it out in part. Bishop J. P. Campbell, D. D., LL.D, was with us, and added much to the interest of the occasion. He made for himself many warm friends. He preached two eloquent sermons, and notwithstanding his advanced age, spoke with the vigor of a man of forty.

Prof. H. M Joseph of Wilberforce Institute, preached the educational sermon in the evening, which was a masterly effort, and was listened to with marked attention. After the sermon, Bishop Campbell gave a graphic description of the A. M. E. Church from 1787 to the present time. It was very interesting, and as we sat and listened to the recital of its illustrious history, we were constrained to take up the language of David and say: "The work of the Lord is great, sought out of all them that have pleasure in them. He hath shewed his people the power of his works, that he may give them the heritage of the heathen."

BE THOUGHTFUL FOR OTHERS.

BY MRS. N F. MOSSELL.

An old lady some ninety years of age, when questioned as to why she did not attend church more regularly, replied, "Oh! the children run over me so, they have no respect for my age." The old lady's course, might have waited until everyone had passed out to leave her seat in church, but still it was her privilege to leave promptly at the close of the service, and the children should have been trained so that they would have been more thoughtful of the rights of others. Few of us think often enough of one fact: that the aged have but few to sympathize with them. All of us have had our infancy, childhood and yonth, and we sympathize in all these states of existence; but only the aged know what it is to he old, and many of this class realize the fact to their sorrow. How few are sufficiently thoughtful and careful in their treatment of those who have borne the burden and heat of the day.

How many little children, who have plenty and to spare of beautiful papers and books, think of the little ones in the far South deprived of such treasures. Mrs Robeson, the wife of the pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, at Princeton, N. J., was privileged to spend some months in the Northeastern section of North Carolina near Williamston She gathered around her a day school, night school and Sabbath school, and it is touching to hear of the eagerness of these people to learn. They attended all the schools regularly and promptly, paid without a murmur their quota of expense and every paper or book given out was treasured and carried from house to house. The pictures were cut from the papers and pasted up along the chimney and the lessons they taught were daily pressed upon the minds of the little ones. Every new thing taught any one, white or black, in the neighborhood was willingly shared with others until the whole number in that vicinity had gained the accomplishment. How few of us are thoughtful as we should be of the needs of this class of people.

RECEPTION TO FREDERICK DOUGLASS AT WASHINGON.

On Thursday evening, September 22d, the citizens of Washington, to the number of about two thousand, turned out to give Mr. Douglass a royal welcome home. The reception took place in the Metropolitan A. M. E. Church and the exercises consisted of tableaux, addresses and music, and also an original poem of decided merit by Rev. W H. Brooks. Mr. Douglass' response was quite elaborate and abounded in passages of eloquence and wit. He seemed quite affected by this hearty recognition by his fellow townsmen, and said, as he surveyed the scene, "I am a proud man this night, and it would take a much prouder man than I am not to be proud of such an occasion as this." After the public reception, which closed shortly after ten o'clock, the committee of management, in company with Mr. Douglass, repaired to the lecture room of the church and partook of a fine banquet, served up in elegant style by Mr. W. H. Amos, of Philadelphia. The affair is chronicled in all the local papers as having been a complete success and was most creditable to the people of this city and complimentary to Mr. Douglass.

NORTH LOUISIANA ON THE TRANSFER SYSTEM.

BY REV. J H. IFORD.

MR. EDITOR:—I desire space in your paper to express one sentiment on the above subject, as it is one of vital importance and seems to be a topic of general discussion. Some of the annual conferences in our connection have openly denounced the transfer system. If lawless ministers have been transferred from one conference to another in order to save them, the Bishop presiding over his conference on examination of his moral, official and religious character, then and there obtains a knowledge of the moral and religious standing of such ministers, and, hearing complaints against the three above named characters, and then transfers the accused to some other conference without investigating the charges brought against the accused, but simply transfers him, I hold that the Bishop is to be blamed more than the minister transferred. If a minister is transferred from a conference where charges are pending against him the Bishop that transfers him, to a great extent, makes himself party to the crime. Ist, Because he throws the transfer cloak around him and thereby hides him from his charges and looses the reins of justice and says, he is in my hands and you can't touch him. 2, The law of the land says that he who conceals the thief is equally as bad as the thief. North Louisiana is not opposed to the transfer system nor to any of the established usages of the A. M. E. Church; but we are opposed to men coming to our conference September 20, 1887, and not being affected by this hearty recognition by his fellow townsmen, and said, as he surveyed the scene, "I am a proud man this night, and it would take a much prouder man than I am not to be proud of such an occasion as this." work of our Bishops and General Departments would be more successful and the whole Church would move more greatly; but there are so many that seem to think they were intended for something great in the Church, that they don't seem to have time to bother with these little things down here, where they are just waiting till their turn to go up, which, according to their opinion of themselves, should have come long since. I would say to this class of men, stoop low; they that humble themselves shall be exalted. There is a want of respect and confidence among the ministers for one another, and consequenty a want of sympathy and accord; there is a want of connectional pride, and hence man don't hesitate to rush into print with their fault-finding and the character of the ministry is held up to public gaze. This is a violation of the general rules of our Church, and I now predict that it will be no better till we begin to administer the laws of the Church regulating the licensing of men to exhort, preach and the admission of men into the conferences. There is the trouble. It begins in the quarterly conferences; we license the wrong men to exhort, and therefore the wrong man must be licensed to preach, and as a matter of course the wrong man get into the conferences. We must look to the landmarks if we would have our Church work proper; begin in the quarterly conferences; start the right men there; men who love the Church of God in general, and the A. M. E. Church in particular; men who work for Christ; men who are ready to suffer for Christ; men called of God to preach and save souls; men who will not regard a big collection the best proof of their success. Now, we need Bishops, and the Church should engage in prayer for the Holy Spirit to fall upon her—the spirit of wisdom and understanding, and we will find ourselves fully able to do all that God would have us to do. Lord, what wouldst thou have us to do?" Let us come down on the "ground floor" and clean up, and when we get through go up into the general departments. The General Officers are doing grandly considering the circumstances. "Give us a rest."

FLORIDA NEWS.

BY J. T. MOORE.

We have just held our second quarter of this, the "Crescent City Mission," of the eighteen charges in the Jacksonville P. E. District, Rev. P. B. Braddock, presiding elder. We have three churches in this mission—Union Bethel, Crescent City; Mt. Moriah, Welaka; Pleasant Grove, Georgetown; and our efficient pastor, Rev. P. P. Pettis, will soon have another church erected at Pomona, Fla. Our quarter convened at Georgetown, August 6. The conference was called to order at seven o'clock. The usual preaching service was conducted by the presiding elder. Rev. J. L. Moore was elected secretary. We have 129 full members, an increase of 22 since last quarter, and 13 more to be received into full membership. We have paid up all our assessments. We pay an assessment for local education for the Divinity school at Jacksonville and quarterly; likewise our presiding elder assessment. We mean to send our pastor to the ensuing annual conference with a report second to none. Almost every one in this mission regrets to see the close of this conference year, as it will take from us our much beloved pastor, now in his fourth year. We feel that we cannot get along without him. With such a man as Rev. S. P. Pettis at the helm, African Methodism is compelled to be a success. Presiding elder P. B. Braddock is a Christian gentleman who merits all the honor of the position. We cannot do without the presiding elder system. I would like to know of the Rev. D. W. Gilliales, of Lake City, Fla., if all the presiding elders he has met are such as he describes in his article to the Southern Recorder.

A memorial, signed by 200 members of the English House of Commons, is to be presented to the President and the Congress of the United States in person by a deputation of twelve members of the English Parliament. This document calls for a permanent system of arbitration for the settlement of all disputes between the two countries. The memorial is warmly approved by leading English statesmen and by some of the financial papers. We are confident it will find a hearty response on both sides of the Atlantic. Dr. R. H. Recently the people gave Elder Baker a good donation."

Rev. I. Buggs, Micoosukie, Fla., writes: "I have just closed a protracted meeting, having had thirty-nine conversions. The outlook for Dollar Money is good. The Monticello District is thriving. She had been a faithful member nineteen years."

District Conferences.

The Lexington Church and people entertained the conference nicely. The reports showed great progress in the district. Among interesting papers were three by the following ladies from Columbia, Mrs. E. A. Pindle, Mrs. Effie Pickens and Miss H. L. Campbell. Brother J. H. Wade was elected district superintendent.

THE DISTRICT MEETING.

On the 29th, the presiding elder called the district conference to order. Rev. W. D. Chappelle was elected secretary and Brother J. H. Wade, assistant. Presiding Elder Braddock as a Christian gentleman who merits all the honor of the position. We cannot do without the presiding elder system. I would like to know of the Rev. D. W. Gilliales, of Lake City, Fla., if all the presiding elders he has met are such as he describes in his article to the Southern Recorder.

CHINA'S PROGRESS.

It is impossible to estimate the importance—religious as well as commercial—of the final surrender of Chinese conservatism to western solicitation, in the matter of railroads and other internal improvements. For centuries the eighteen provinces of China, each under its viceroy, has acknowledged scarcely any cohering tie—the very dialect spoken in the cities, even, being almost unintelligible beyond their limits. Over all the country has hung the black shadow of ancestral worship; and the omnipresent coffin—not buried and arranged in cemeteries as with us, but dropped upon the soil wherever fung shui indicated—has effectually protected against any invasion of the Iron rail. But all this isolation and superstition are to give way. During the late war between France and China, when Pekin was threatened, Li Hung Chang significantly reminded the authorities that, had they listened to his recommendations and built railways, troops could he quickly transported from the southern provinces to defend the capital. The authorities are now converted to his view. China has a modern and very effective navy—mostly built in England. She has some splendidly equipped arsenals; she has the telegraph; she has several lines of steamships. All these, however, fall to affect the interior of the country. Nothing but the railroad can change that. But when the iron bands traverse the great empire, then the nation will awaken, as did India, and become coherent; the dialects will give place to a national form of speech; fung shui will lose its terror, Christianity and civilization will have free course, and the great nation will enter upon a line of development which will, sooner or later, tift her, as Gen. Gordon predicted, to supremacy in the East.—Zion's Herald.

A HOPE REALIZED.

To cure the sick without the use of noxious druge that often derange every portion of the human organism has been the problem for several generations of practitioners. This hope has found a realization in the use of Drs. Starkey and Palen's Compound Oxygen, which can be administered almost anywhere, and already has taken place in more than thirty seven thousand families throughout this land. A valuable treatise on the subject, and the methods of home treatment, will be sent free to any one interested in the subject. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

One hundred thousand Jews are now professed Christians. There are only 250 missionaries to the Jowe.

In 1800 the entire income for evangelical foreign missions was much less than $259 000. In 1880 the annual receipts have advanced from $6,000,000 to $6,250,000.

WE KNOW of one church that is trying to raise $1,000 for centennial offering.

IT IS HOPED that every conference sitting this fall is arranging to celebrate the centennial of local African Methodism in the charges represented.

DEMANDS for Centennial Envelops and Circulars are coming in quite fast. Evidently the people intend to enter into the celebration with an unusual vim.

PHILADELPHIA churches will aim to lead the connection in centennial results, but Boston, Providence, Cincinnati and Charleston will contest strongly for the mastery.

THE CHRISTIAN RECORDER would like to know why the Southern Recorder has not paid its respects here for the past four weeks. Our contemporary is always welcome; when not received, sadly missed.

AS MANY as five hundred envelopes have been sent to single churches. These churches mean that the centennial of local African Methodism shall impress children with thoughts not to be soon forgotten.

THERE ARE a good many former Ohio school teachers in Southern States —reason: Ohio can't allow colored teachers to instruct in a school attended in part by white children; in this she is even with Pennsylvania and South Carolina, older States.

ON FIFTH page we reprodnce the connectional hymn written by the Rev. B. T. Tanner, set to music by Rev. L. J. Coppin. Our churches and Sunday schools will find it a grand rallying song.

OBSERVE THAT IT IS COPYRIGHTED. The Manager is prepared to receive orders.

IN THE ambitious struggle for nomination for city commissioner in the democratic ranks of Philadelphia, one hero is said to have followed np another hero with a snapping revolver, the latter having used his influence against the former. No life was lost simply because no chamber of the revolver would respond to the click of the hammer. Are these noble citizens?

BETHEL CHURCH, Philadelphia, is well worthy the place of mother of churches in the African Methodist connection. She leads the whole connection in raising ednoational money, $310. Doubtless the members and pastor feel quite as well as those churches that raised nothing for Endowment Day or those who tossed off their little service in this direction in a merely perfnnctory manner.

IF PROHIBITION were made absolutely effective suddenly, the next great step for good men would be to prohibit the appetite for strong drink; for the eruption will reappear somewhere, so long as the virus is shnt up in the system. Frances Murphy's "God helping me" plan will really bring about prohibition much faster than the plans of our political prohibition friends, though properly pursued both will ultimately lead to success.

TANNER'S Outlines of the History of African Methodism is for sale at our Publishing House. This book gives in a nutshell prominent facts in the history of the A. M. E. Church. Those who appreciate the marvelous, providential life that God has been pleased to give this branch of the great vine, will enrich their thonghts and refresh them for centennial addresses by reading this work. Price, $1; Life of Richard Allen and Tanner's Outlines together, $1.40.

GREAT MEN'S sone seem just now to attract the attention of politicians, not for their excellence eo much as for their being sons of their great fathers. John A. Logan, Jr., has been made a member of the Grand Army; Rob't T. Lincoln has been threatened with nomination for President of the United States—Vice-President at least, though it may be remembered that he has refused nomination for the latter place—and Fred. D. Grant is the republican nominee for State Secretary of New York.

SOME New York ministers are complaining that foreign preachers are becoming popular in this country. Colored ministers cannot make this complaint, for foreign ministers do not join them. Now and then one from the American Islands, and more rarely one from Africa, who are so very few that continental American preachers have not thonght on the subject further than to give them a hearty welcome and a full communion; yet some among us proclaim the impossibility of harmonizing Americans connected with an African lineage.

HARMONY of general government is quite easy in our Church and should be required by the General Conference. There should be absolute harmony in construction of all laws by all Bishops of our Church. Another quadrennium of counter-action and counter-statements relative to the edncational law, the missionary law, the general financial law and the presiding elder law will depreciate the value of law in the A. M. E. Church almost beyond recovery. Certainly nothing is easier than such harmony. To have it is more important than the much discussed subject of more Bishops.

THE OLD Anti-slavery Society, still existing, still doing noble deeds, last week, on motion of Mr. William Still, one of its time and service-honored members, voted $100 to Wilberforce University, $100 to Shorter College and different sums to other institutions. Mr. Still does not confine his charity to giving through such organizations, but makes personal donations to such causes. Wilberforce has received considerable recognition from him, as have other schools. The fact that in the midst of the business of the society he thought of Wilberforce merits the kindest consideration of our Church.

PROHIBITION is gaining ground in the political field. Men have been trying many years to find a proper organizing ground for a third party in politics. They have tried the money basis—the Greenback Party—the Workingman's Party, the Mugwump and Independent annexes. A year ago it looked a little as if the workingmen had found the place for organizing the absorbing third party, but their sense seems to be waning and that of Prohibition rising. A large number of ministers have entered into the prohibition struggle with great devotion. Many think Dr. Leonard, of Ohio, may be nominated for President on the Prohibition ticket next year.

THE MONTGOMERY (Ala.) Dispatch indorses the Glenn bill with a zest worthy of the best of causes. Its argument is that of the slave powers fifty years ago. "The negro is inferior; therefore be must remain inferior." "If he is not hampered he might get equal to us; therefore he must be hampered." "If God had designed that the two races should be one he would not have made two." Putting this with the actions of certain school districts in Ohio, we may ask, "Whither are we drifting?" If the words and acts are to be construed intelligently they mean that the negro may remain in this country if he will consent to acknowledge himself in every way inferior, promise to always remain inferior and keep the stamp of inferiority in some prominent position. We do not accept these terms; we shall, by Divine grace, reach the some of Americans or miserably perish in the attempt to reach it.

THE LOSS of two churches in one conference, the New Jersey, one of which is twenty-five or thirty years old, suggests the more carefnl consideration of titles and a closer attention to mortgages, liens, etc. How the Newark church could have passed through all these years without its being known by its pastors, several of whom have been able men, that thousands of dollars were being paid on entailed property, seems strange to those who do not understand it. How these ministers could allow the people to waste their money, paying for property that could never be theirs, seems even stranger. How the trustees, who are supposed to know all about the temporalities of the church, could overlook this fact which so seriously vitiated the people's claim, is strangest of all. If this bad occurred in a conference without presiding elders it might be obarged to that, but New Jersey had presiding elders for several years before it commenced its present compromise supervision.

THE NEW YORK FREEMAN'S reference to the mixed school troubles is very suggestive. It is a natnral question with us whether there is, after all, any distinction between Georgia and Ohio in respect to the white man's opinion of the rights, duties and standing of the black man. If States like Ohio, many of whose towns have educated colored and other children in the same buildings for years, have many other towns that prefer closing to this co-education of the two classes; how these States must cease their abuse of the South. If the highest development of Christian civilization is going to halt right here and cease to be Christian, it is time these religious shams ceased the propagation of their hypocrisy in heathen lands. If the one stumbling-block—educating the masses in all involved in the term—is going to bring to an end all the gilded pretensions of American liberty, this civilization, with all its Christian modification, could well afford to give first place to the civilization of antiquity.

BECAUSE every denomination is educating colored ministers and some of those educated by nearly all denominations are finding their way to the African Methodist Church, we find some difficnlty in settling beliefs and practices. While it is true that there is a certain grounds necessary for liberty and transition essential to the very accomplishments attempted by church organizations, it is also true that there must be given lines as rigid as the rocks.

In the African Methodist ministry are those whose early training has been Baptist, Prochyterian, Roman Catholic, Swedenborgian and Episcopalian. It is no wonder that we disagree on modes of worship, styles of sermon delivery and absolute doctrine greatly. It is no wonder that we are modifying our Church service almost continually. Taking all these facts into consideration, it is well that the General Conference ordered that certain forms should be carried ont when practicable. It will be well if we allow this liberty to remain. The rigid performance of the same services in all churches on all occasions of worship requires only a short time to create a reaction; men ask for relief, the failure to give which causes church disruptions. We may stand long and question whether we are going to remain Methodists-Episcopal, or turn to Episcopal-Methodist.

LIFE OF RICHARD ALLEN.

More than fifty-five years ago this ekotch was written by the Bishop himself. It is an interesting work, showing the grit and tendencies of one of the greatest men of the century. It shows the interest taken by Richard Allen in the suffering among others than his own people. It also shows, by personal letters addressed to him, what prominent contemporaneous men thought of Richard Allen. In these times of centennial preparations this book has suddenly sprung into demand. Send in your orders to the Manager. Price, 50 cents per copy, by mail.

TIME LIMITATION TO THE PASTORATE.

The fact that our legal limitation to the pastoral term has been disregarded three times in a single district in this quadrennium, and that the tendency in all large American Methodist bodies is great to occasionally yield to the pressure of circumstances respecting this question, suggest that there should be definite sanctions affixed to this law, or it should be modified. It might be so modified as to grant a Bishop the privilege of meeting an emergency calling for time extensions on securing the sanction of a majority of his colleagues. It might be modified again to extend the city limitation to six years, for cities of four or more churches.

OUR SCHOOLS DEPEND UPON US.

It is needless to undertake to keep up our schools without positive and regular aid by the Church. Our schools in Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Georgia cannot be supported by epssmodic and irregular action. It is nonsense to say at the same time that we are anxions for the success of these schools, that we are too poor to support them properly, and yet enpport personal domestic denominational extravagance. The African Methodist Episcopal Church is able to support all of its schools, but not, at the same time, to support nnmerous indulgences. It is only a question of time when, without more heart service, our schools will sink below the average colored schools. The speedy attachment of the great heart of our connection to these schools would bring them np to the best standard, commend them to men of liberal minds and large purses and insure their success. We can very illy afford to have our Church schools and their teachers always dragging ont a beggarly life. The churches in the great territory in the midst of which these schools stand should protect them and expect others to assist; not expect others to protect while they assist. As we have said before, our wealthy men, i. e., men of ten thonsand to fifty thousand dollars, must unbend to help bear the burdens of edncation by the Church.

Literature.

"Gathered Jewels" is a new Sunday day school song book by W. W. Whitney, Toledo, Ohio. Its chief commendation is that it excludes all chaffy and secular songs. Added to this is a class of new songs and tunes destined to become popular. A number of our most popular standard hymns and tunes have been selected. The book contains 102 pages. Price, per hundred, $30; single copies, 35 cents. One sample post paid, 25 cents. W. W. Whitney, 111 Summit, St., Toledo, Ohio.

The October Century, with a picture of Harriet Beecher Stowe as frontispiece, is commended to our readers as peculiarly interesting, containing Mr James Loner's "Mrs. Stowe's Uncle Tom at Home in Kentucky;" the "American Game of Football," by Professor Johnston, of Princeton; Mr. Stedhem's criticism on "British Song;" excellent stories, beautiful poems, and striking illustrations. The Lincoln History, in this number, narrates the early movements towards secession as existing in Congress. The war series considers, in an entertaining way, "The March to the Sea."

The frontispiece of the September Cosmopolitan is a fine engraving of Sumner and Longfellow. The life of Sumner is beautifully portrayed by the pen of Arnold Burgess Johnson. The story of Kasper Hauser is told in an interesting style by William Westall, under the title "New Light on an Old Mystery." Harriet Prescott Spofford contributes on aesthetic story, entitled "Uncle Mason's Money." "Shall Americans have Ambassadors?" by Moncure D. Conway, is a very apt question. The Cosmopolitan may be set down by our readers as well worth their attention and money. $2 00 per year, 20 cents a copy. Schlict & Field Co., 29 Park Row, New York.

There is scarcely a better magazine for young people than the St. Nicholas. Our people must pay more attention to such magazines than they are doing. The instruction gained from St. Nicholas in a year is of as much worth to a child of from twelve to eighteen years as his school lessons. The history, biography, natural science, civil science, social science learned are strongly and effectively illustrated. The best talent of our time is engaged to make the magazine successful. The October St. Nicholas ends the current volume. The present story is entitled "An Ivy Spray." Mr. George J. Muneon writes an especially entertaining sketch of "John Greenleaf Whittier."

"A Man by the Name of John," the popular serial now running in Cassell's Family Magazine, opens the October number and is followed by a curious paper on "Some Strange Antipathies." Prof. J. Stuart Blackie continues the second of his thonghtful papers, "A Man's Thoughts About Women." A paper full of curious information is the one on "Locomotives on the Line." The timely subject, "Food, Climate and Clothing," is discussed by the Family Doctor. One of the prize papers on "The Improvement of Domestic Service in America," is printed from the practical pen of Grace Wild Cooper. This is followed by "The Gathbers," which has a full record of the more important inventions and discoveries of the past month.—Cassell & Co., New York, 15 cents a number, $1.50 a year in advance

The coming October Harper's will be enriched with a beautiful series of drawings from E. A. Abbey, C. S. Reinhart, A. B Frost, Harry Fenn, W. H. Gibson, Howard Pyle, and Dn Maurier; beside copies of paintings by John S. Sargent, in an article upon him. The authors represented form a brilliant group, including Henry James, Kate Field, E. C. Stedman Constance Fenimore Woolson, Blanche Willis Howard, Rebecca Harding Davis, Amelie Rives, W. D. Howells Kathleen O'Meara, George William Curtis, Charles Dudley Warner, Bishop Hurst, and others. The comical trials of pleasure-hunting are capitally told by Kate Field in an autobiographical story, called "Our Summer's Outing." The poetry consists of three small gems, namely, "Aaron Burr's Wooing," by Edmnnd Clarence Stedman, illustrated by Howard Pyle; "A Mood," by Amelie Rives; "To a most Comely Lady," by Louise Imogen Guiney.

"The Children's Harvest Festival," a poem by Rev. Edward Laughridge, opens the Quiver for October, and is honored with the frontispiece by way of illustration. Following this we have a thoughtful paper on "The Growth of a Character," by Dean Chadwick, of Armagh. Other theological articles are "Peace, Through Sufferings and Conflict," by the Rev. A. Boyd Carpenter. Then there are articles of a religious nature, not altogether theological, but especially chosen for Sunday reading, such as "The Voice of Autumn in Christian Ears," "Reminiscences of Departed Members of the New Testament Revision Company," "John Goesner's Work for Christ," and "The Sages of All Ages." For every day read ng the fiction of the number, both serial and short stories, will be found very entertaining. "By the Walls of Babylon" is continued and a new one "The Time of Harvest," by Mrs. Emma Hornitrook, author of "Marvelous in our Eyes" is begun. Then there is poetry, the usual Scripture, al reading and a bunch of very pointed "Short Arrows."—Cassell & Co., 15 cents a number, $1 50 a year in advance.

Scribner's Magazine for October has for its leading article a richly illustrated description of "The Paris School of Fine Arts," by Henry O. Avery, who is a graduate of that institution, and therefore writes from abundant knowledge and with true appreciation. The article opens with a brief sketch of the founding and growth of the school, describes the architectural beauties of the buildings, and gives an interesting insight into the methods of instruction, and the system of prizes which creates such intense competition among the one thousand students. The illustrations were made from the handsome photographs of the buildings, which are exclusively made by the French Government. The very popular serial, "Seth's Brother's Wife," will be concluded in November. Prof. N. S. Shaler contributes another of the notable papers in his series relating to the surface of the earth and allied topics, this time on "Caverns and Cavern Life." The poetry in this number includes a delicate tribute to Thackery by H. C Bunner, entitled "On Reading Certain Published Letters of W. M. T.," a sonnet called "Freedom," by Elyot Weld; and poems by Graham R. Tomson and Charles Edwin Markham.

AN EXCEPTION TAKEN.

MR EDITOR:—While sojourning in Burlington, N. J., during the summer, we had occasion to visit the A. M. E. Zion Wesley Church and listen to D. F. Bradley, of Camden Station, preach. On account of our late arrival at the church we failed to hear the text read by the reverend gentleman, but his theme was "Christian armor," chosen from the book of Psalms. We must acknowledge that his subject was well handled; but, like many other of our pulpit orators, we fear he made one grand mistake, especially when he said that the local preachers were generally at the head of all great disturbances that are created in our churches at large. We are compelled to differ from the gentleman in this statement. Brother Bradley must have forgotten for the moment that he himself was once a local preacher, or he must have been one of the class of disturbers and was judging others by himself. If so, we are glad to know the beloved brother has repented of his sins and is now warning his brother locals to repent.

The statement being so generic, we could not refrain from answering. No exception was made. It is hoped that the next time Rev. Bradley has an opportunity to speak before his superior officer, Bishop J. B. Moore, he will be able to control his thoughts all through his discourse, and not become excited and say things that have no reason.

A PRESIDING ELDER'S REPORT.

BY REV. J. HEIGHT BEAN.

MR. EDITOR:—We have completed our second round as the presiding elder of the Seventh District of the New Jersey Annual Conference and we are pleased to report as follows:

Atlantic City has a fine church known by the name of "St. James," built by ex-Presiding Elder James. T. Rex, who did a grand work and doubtless underwent much self-abnegation. It now has for its pastor that excellent young man, Rev. P. F. Matthews, who is a great worker and a disciplinarian and scholar. St. James, at Atlantic City, is in a very healthy condition.

Millville Circuit, having for its pastor that eccentric gentleman, Rev. W. A. Merrill, who with his dear people are busy preparing for the accommodation of the New Jersey Conference next spring. Mr. Merrill is a fine preacher, and his experience will develop into a strong man in the ministry of Christ.

Haleyville Circuit, under the pastorate of licentiate Alexander Wayman Pierce, is in a fair condition and constantly improving. He is a young man of promise; he is willing and obedient, hence a Christian.

J. Height Bean, the iron-clad, who is always selected for broken-down charges, is the pastor of the A. M. E. society at Cape May, who lost their property last year. Their pastor then was Rev. R. H. Coleman. Bean is driving away there, leased the Banaker, paid for it up to next spring, and has organized a building fund and opened a bank account. The state of the society is as good as can be in all the departments (Deo gratias).

FROM CINCINNATI, OHIO, TO WACO, TEXAS.

BY JOSEPH L. LEWIS.

Leaving Cincinnati via the O & M. Railway at 8 o'clock P. M., and being tired from the day's excitement, you involuntarily cont sleep before you are really out of the limits of the "Queen City of the West." It requires about an hour and a half to get really asleep your first night on the road, and just about that time you are informed by the porter of the train, who, without doubt, possesses a good, healthy pair of lungs, that you are at "North Vernon, change cars for Louisville." The door slams and out he goes, leaving you to answer a dozen questions of some old lady who digs you in the back and asks you with each punch what the porter said. You doze again, perhaps sleep, but you are kept continually acquainted with the location of the train. As it is night when the "Hoosier State" is crossed, you see none of it, though you can name the stations passed. When day dawns you are half way across Illinois, among the coal mines, which serve as subjects for conversation until East St. Louis is reached.

East St. Louis, situated on the east bank of the muddy Mississippi, seems alive with business. In a few moments you find yourself traveling over a bridge at least twice as long as our suspension bridge which spans the Mississippi, and St. Louis proper is entered by means of a long tunnel. We are now just ten hours from Cincinnati, having crossed Indiana, Illinois and the father of American waters. Having about two hours to remain in St. Louis, you have time to find a restaurant, where meals are served for fifteen and twenty-five cents, while at the depot they cost about seventy-five cents. After visiting the Court House and viewing the levee, I wandered to the depot, which is a large brick structure with every accommodation. A hall runs from the main entrance to the train department, where there is a large arch. On either side of this arch are several tracks, upon which trains make their entrance and exit: those going eastwardly leaving on the east side of the arch, those westwardly bound leaving on the west side About every five minutes there is a departing train, so it is an easy matter to get left.

We pulled out of St. Louis at 9 o'clock, and just as we got under way we pushed an object off the track very suddenly, which, judging from the splinters, straps of leather and horse flesh flying around, must have been a horse of the class of disturbers and was judging others by himself. If so, we are glad to know the beloved brother has repented of his sins and is now warning his brother locals to repent.

The statement being so generic, we could not refrain from answering. No exception was made. It is hoped that the next time Rev. Bradley has an opportunity to speak before his superior officer, Bishop J. B. Allegretto.

We children prize the gift
That comes with gracious promises,
Our trodden race t'uplift.

We take its altars vow,
To mark its bulwarks, tell its towers,
And hold our place as now.

TO THE BISHOPS, MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE AFRICAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHUCH:

My Dear Brethren:—"Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" the subject-matter of circular—the "Centennial of African Methodism." Its contents are more than a mere passing interest. "Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: Ask thy father, and he will show thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee. Remember all the way which the Lord thy God led hee one hundred years in the wilderness."

The hundredth year of the first colored Methodist Society in America, "out of which grew the African M. E. Church," will be celebrated November, 1887, according to the following resolutions of Bishop J. M. Brown adopted by the Council of Bishops in Washington, D. C., January 22, 1887:

WHEREAS, November next (1887), will be one hundred years since Richard Allen, Absalom Jones and others left the St. George Methodist Episcopel Church in Philadelphia, because "the colored people belonging to the M. E. Society convened to take into consideration the evils under which they labored, arising from unkind treatment of their white brethren, who considered them a nuisance in the house of God, and even pulled them from their knees, while in the act of prayer, and ordered them to the back seat."

WHEREAS, This most decisive act of our religious colored people in the United States has nothing like it in the world, if we except the abolitions of the Haitians, under Toulsaint, Christophe, Petion and Boyer. These men were to Hayti and San Domingo what Allen, Coker and Absalom Jones were to the colored Christians of the United States. It was one of the cases of manhood Christianity. All recognized that they proved the manhood of the descendants of the African race, in their resistance of the proscription in Church and State. Toulsaint and Allen, by their manly actions and love of freedom, deserve to be remembered by all their African descendants to the latest generation:

Therefore, we think that the A. M. E. Church should commemorate the first efforts of individual organization among the people called Methodist, and especially as the man who was leader in the efforts of manhood Christianity was the founder and the first Bishop of the A. M. E. Church, Richard Allen. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend the Bishops to appoint a committee of five who shall have complete control of the whole matter and arrange for the celebration in all of the conferences, and a Bethel Church, Philadelphia, Pa., November, 1887.

The following committee was appointed: Bishops J. M. Brown, T. M. D. Ward, H. M. Turner, B. R. Disney and Dr. B. W. Arnett.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

First, That the Chief Pastors of the African Methodist Episcopal Church request that next November, a date in that month be hereafter fixed to commemorate the one hundredth year since our existence commenced, and that services be held in all of our churches throughout our connection. The order of exercises to be fixed by each conference, quarterly conference and pastor and church; the general arrangement to be fixed by a committee hereafter appointed.

Second, As our publishing interest has long suffered because of her indebtedness, that a contribution be made by all of our churches, and whatever is collected will be appropriated to assist in paying off the debt now resting on our Publication Department.

Third, That the detail of all arrangements be left with the General Manager and his committee.

Fourth, That all moneys he sent to Bishop J. P. Campbell, 1923 North Eleventh St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Fifth, That the first Sunday in November be observed as "Century Day" by all the churches.

Sixth, That the ministers and officers of the churches select some person to deliver one or more addresses on the subjects named in the programme.

Seventh, That all persons having subjects assigned them on the general programme will prepare them for publication in the Centennial volume. The average length of each address to be twenty-five minutes.

SPECIAL
STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER

THE EXTRAORDINARY ATTRACTIONS OF THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION, and the great public interest centered therein, have caused us, for a time, to postpone inviting conspicuous attention to the unparalleled attractions we have to offer the present season.

For the first time since the occupancy of our new buildings we are able to say that we are fully prepared for the transaction of the Dry Goods business in a manner satisfactory to ourselves. Opening our new store addition late in the Spring, we are, naturally, not able to perfect our arrangements the first season.

During the entire Summer we have been in a state of preparation, with an army of workmen busily engaged day and night in thoroughly renovating our old store premises, so that in convenience for customers and in facilities for the transaction of business they will fully correspond with the new additional buildings, which have also been perfected. This work of preparation and of finishing is at last accomplished, and we are able to open

Equipped for business in a way that we have never before. With more space devoted to the sale of Dry Goods than any other American house—more than double the number of square feet heretofore occupied by us with the same goods—we shall hope the crowding of former seasons will be avoided, and that our great army of patrons will be most comfortably served at all times.

With the large additional space and vast increase of facilities for the transaction of business we have extended our lines in every direction, and dating many months back we have made preparations for this season far exceeding all that we have ever attempted in the past.

We now invite the public to view our arrangements, and, in particular, to inspect the great array of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC STUFFS, which from this day forward will be displayed on our counters, confident as we are in the belief that no American house can hope to exceed them.

PHENOMENAL SUCCESS!!

Has attended the introduction of Dr. Scott's Genuine Electric Appliances in the United States. Year after year their popularity grew with unprecedented rapidity, until to-day their merits and reputation are known throughout the whole civilized world. They are simple and agreeable remedies, supremely efficacious, durable and convenient. They do not injure, like medicine, and can be worn with good effect and intense satisfaction by the most feeble as by the robust.

THEY REGULATE AS WELL AS CURE. For this reason they should be worn by all.

The mind becomes active, the nerves and sluggish circulation are stimulated, and all the old-time health and good feeling restored. They are constructed on true scientific principles, imparting an exhilarating, healthgiving current to the whole system. Hundreds voluntarily assert that there is hardly a disease which Electricity or Magnetism may not benefit, cure, and they daily practice the same, as your own physician will inform you.

Here are a few of the Testimonials which the Mail brings us every day:

NONOTUCK SILK CO.

The following words, in praise of DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. They are fair samples of the spontaneous expressions with which thousands give utterance to their sense of gratitude for the inestimable boon of health which has been restored to them by the use of this world-famed medicine.

$100 THROWN AWAY.

JOHN E. SEGAR, of Millenbeck, Va., writes: "My wife had been suffering for two or three years with female weakness, and I have paid out one hundred dollars to physicians without relief. She took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it did her more good than all the medicine given to her by the physicians during the three years they had been practicing upon her."

THE GREATEST EARTHLY BOON.

Mrs. GEORGE HENGES, of Westfield, N. Y., writes: "I was a great sufferer from leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, and was constitutionally worn to pieces. Three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' restored me to perfect health. I treated with Dr. ——— for seven months, without receiving any benefit. The 'Favorite Prescription' is the greatest earthly boon to us poor suffering women."

THREW AWAY HER SUPPORTER.

MRS. SOPHIA F. BOSWELL, White Cottage, O., writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of your 'Pellets.' I am doing my work, and have been for some time. I have had to employ help for about sixteen years, but have not required taking your medicine. I have had to wear a supporter most of the time; this I have laid aside, and feel as well as I ever did."

IT WORKS WONDERS.

MRS. MAY GLEASON, of Nunica, Ottawa Co. Mich., writes: "Your 'Favorite Prescription' has worked wonders in my case."

Again she writes: "Having taken several bottles of Dr. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' I have regained my health wonderfully, to the astonishment of myself and friends. I can now be on my feet all day, attending to the duties of my household."

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, sometimes to be sure, which, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some patient doctor never suspects. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally, to please my husband that if he would get me some of your medicines. I would try them again before the doctor came. He got me six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a second woman for years. It has given me the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she is almost cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years.'

3 PHYSICIANS FAILED.

MRS. E. F. SPRAGUER, of No. 7 Lexington St., East Boston, Mass., says: "Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so felt I could live but a few years. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally, to please my husband that if he would get me some of your medicines. I would try them again before the doctor came. He got me six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a second woman for years. It has given me the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she is almost cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years.'

JEALOUS DOCTORS.

A MARYLAND CURE.—MRS. G. F. SPRAGUER, Crystal, Dorchester Co., Md., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhœa and falling of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a great part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally, to please my husband that if he would get me some of your medicines. I would try them again before the doctor came. He got me six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a second woman for years. It has given me the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she is almost cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost Your years.'

THE OUTGROWTH OF A VAST EXPERIENCE.

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this extensive and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the uterus, or womb and its appendages, in particular. For overworked, worn-out, run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic. It promotes digestion and assimilation of food, cures nausea, weakness of stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, and nervous prostration.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" has also proved itself unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, hysteria, spasms, sick-headache, nervous prostration, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine, sold by druggists, or otherwise, for women's peculiar weaknesses, that is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. See wrapper around bottle. Sold by druggists, or sent by express, prepaid, on receipt of $1.00 per bottle. Address as below.

In pregnancy, "Favorite Prescription" is a "mother's friend," relieving nausea, weakness of stomach and other distressing symptoms common to that condition. It also is a remedy of great efficacy in nursing mothers, imparting an abundant supply of nourish

Be Sure
To ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if you are in need of a Blood-purifier—the only certain and reliable remedy for pimples, blotches, and all other eruptions of the skin. As an alterative,
Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
after a trial of nearly half a century, is universally conceded to be the best ever discovered. It is agreeable to the taste, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed.

An old lady of eighty, Mrs. Mary C. Ames, of Rockport, Me., after forty years of suffering from a humor in the blood, manifesting itself in Erysipelas and other distressing eruptions on the skin, at last began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking ten bottles, she is now, she says, "as smooth and fair as ever."

Frank Jones, 952 Eighth ave., New York, writes: "I suffered from impurity of the blood, which showed itself in troublesome eruptions and mattery pimples on my face, neck, etc. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a complete cure. I had previously tried many reputed blood-purifiers without benefit."

MORE BISHOPS.

BY REV. JAMES H. A. JOHNSON, D.D.

XIII.

THE NECESSITY OF HAVING BISHOPS ON EXTRA OCCASIONS.

Every preacher knows the merit of the subject now under consideration. It is one of the most important links forming the argument that the welfare and accelerated progress of the A. M. E. Church, in the future, depend upon the wisdom to be displayed in the next General Conference in establishing an episcopal board that shall embrace, in all respects, an adequate amount of numerical strength. He who will bend his own stubborn notions to the Divine Power guiding the writer's hand and thoughts will be able to see and will concede the force of this to the full extent. The bearing of this subject upon the case can not be gainsaid by any one who is disposed to bow to reason.

The success of extra religious projects often depend upon the presence of a Bishop, and one is often needed on such occasions. Whenever a corner-stone is to be laid, although elders can do it as well as a Bishop, it is far better and far more profitable to have the presence of a Bishop, that he may carry on services and more impressively represent the character of the connection. The Cath olics make a great display on such occasions and have their big men because they know that it is an auspicious time for the future good of the denomination. They know that by flourishing trumpets and commanding episcopal aid, they can advance the interests of the Church. One Bishop at the laying of every corner stone can make a greater impression than any other official in the order of the clergy. Hence, it would be well in the A. M. E. Church to have it so that whenever a corner-stone was to be laid for an edifice, great or small, a Bishop could be present to perform the ceremonies and say, "In the name of the Triune God, the Father, and Son and Holy Spirit, we lay this stone for a foundation of a house of worship to be created to his service." [illegible] made that one can say and do as well as another, but it is not so. Almost every person knows it, and it will, in the course of years, be seen that the benefits derived from this little source alone greatly outweigh the objections interposed by shallow minds who wrap up their brains in a napkin, tie up their pockets and obstruct the word of grace.

It does frequently happen that ministers say perplexed in making their arrangements for church dedications, because the number of Bishops is so very small that they can hardly catch one as he comes out of the woods. Sometimes the services have to be carried on without such a dignitary; and whenever this is done, it is done necessarily to the detriment of the connection; for many will be disappointed by the absence of a Bishop. This is an occasion so memorable also to the people should be the arrangement made for it. There should be no postponement or substitution because of the impossibility of securing the attendance of a Bishop.

The dedication of a church is a great event and whatever can be done to make it memorable ought to be done without any reservation. There should at all times be a sufficient number of Bishops to meet this demand, so that some one might go to any place and dedicate any edifice, no matter how humble might be its dimensions. In every instance the trustees, stewards and leaders should meet, receive and welcome a Bishop (O, for such an item at the door to give Him in God's name, the keys of the church as a token that they will forever "submit to the Discipline, doctrine and government of the African Methodist Episcopal Church and will never, henceforward permit the ministers and preachers of said church to preach God's Holy Word in said edifice.

The effects of such a substantial, unfaltering arrangement would be observed in a growth of finances, an increase of members, an attraction of friends, a promotion of good government, an intensification of respect for the episcopal order and a higher conception of Africa can Methodism. The most important period in the history of a church edifice is the time of its dedication. People of all classes look to it as a time to be remembered. They anticipate a grand programme and the attendance of shining lights in the clerical circle. At no time, then, should they experience disappointment. Every provision that can be made should be made to meet their anticipation on such an occasion. Being induced once more to allude to the Catholics, we find that Sunday, Sept. 11 of this year, they dedicated St. Ambrose Church at Cresaptown, Md. This edifice, although situated in a small town, became the subject for the attention not only of a Bishop, but of the Cardinal himself. He went there and preached the dedicatory sermon himself. In doing this, policy was manifest and profitable consequence. Similar causes produce like results. Evidently, then, when Protestantism is straining every nerve to check the dangerous progress of Catholicism, the A. M. E. Church should have a full force of its highest order of ministers to meet every demand on dedicatory occasions and to wield their counteracting influence. Whenever a call is made there should be a Bishop to go promptly, whether it should be to dedicate a grand temple in a metropolis or a little frame building down at T. B or near Hole-in-the-Wall. He should go and proclaim the power of his connection. His presence is needed.

And this is the case in the true concerning extraordinary appointments and arrangements for the purpose of liquidating church debts. People sometimes become very indifferent because of their heavy obligations and frequent efforts for extrication. The pastor then in his perplexity is compelled to make an uncommon exertion to arouse them to a sense of duty. He must go to work on a subscription list and plans for a big meeting; and then at the stated time he must have those who will be the most potential to assist him. Prominent men of his own class will be of great service to him; but none of such great service as one whom he could call a Prelate. Hence, he makes all his arrangements with the intent of having encircled him the most eminent official in his land. And then when everything is complete he looks for one. Just as lustily as Richard cried out, "A horse! a horse! My kingdom for a horse!" so does he feel like crying out, "A Bishop! a Bishop! My pastorate for a Bishop!" He knows the advantage to be gained by such a prominent acquisition and how much is to be lost by attending failure. He is therefore worked up to the highest degree of anxiety and does his best to get a Bishop to assist him. The church needs such assistance. If, then, the connection would make ample provision to meet the wants of embarrassed charges, it should give a sufficient number of Bishops, settled in well established districts, to go in such emergencies and give their travelling expenses, if need be, and across the people make a gigantic effort for their own deliverance. By this means the whole connection would be made more prosperous. It would gain at least ten per cent more of advantage than it has gained by the crude, circumscribed course it has been pursuing for lo! a great number of years. Many people disinclined to give would be incited to give by the mere appearance of a Bishop. Members would arise and respond to the call of a pastor when otherwise they would remain indifferent. Is it not clear, then, that the "necessity of having Bishops on extra occasions"—to lay corner-stones, to dedicate churches, to add at special services for the liquidation of heavy debts—is a subject grave in its bearing upon the reason for a full election and well prescribed districts? If it can be truthfully said that a Bishop is of no more service than any other preacher on such occasions, then the argument comes to naught. But the contrary being true, unreservedly it may be asserted that the majesty of the office now stands forth more efficacious on all such occasions than that of any ordinary son of thunder. Delegates, the voice of God regard.

CENTENNIAL REFLECTIONS.

No I.

BY REV. C. S. SMITH.

THE MAN.

Not only is it the inalienable right of man to claim equality of creation and to be free, but to strive to possess the fullest opportunity for his perfect development. The history of mankind presents innumerable events of strange and surprising interest. The birth struggles of revolutions and reformations are in every instance invested with peculiar interest. In modern times, Washington, Tell, Kosenth, Garibaldi, Toussaint L'Ouverture, Luther, Wesley and Allen are names that awaken memories of events which have almost become universal in their sweep, and which stand out in history like mile-stones in the path of freedom and progress.

According to the law of special calling, every successful leader is born with all the essential qualities of such. Behind every great movement there stands a single brain, a single heart and a single hand. Every important event that springs from the bosom of united forces finds its conception in the individual. The study of the individual, therefore, is as much a matter of interest as the influences he creates.

THE MAN.—Words of wonderful import in the history of religious independence among the colored people in the United States. His name, Richard Allen. What do we know of him? History tells us that he was born a slave in the State of Delaware, that while a young man his master allowed him to hire his time, and eventually to purchase his freedom. We are also informed that from a child he evidenced the possession of strong religious convictions, which developed as he advanced in years. His first work in a public way was that of a leader of prayer-meetings, which he conducted while a slave on his master's plantation. He next appears as a religious exhorter, pointing his fellow-slaves to that perfect liberty which is the heritage of the saints. The problem of human impulses is most difficult to interpret and some phases of it seem to be incomprehensible. Here is a man—a slave—discoursing to his fellow-slaves about spiritual liberty. Why did he talk to them about bodily freedom? Why not seek to incite them to an attempt to throw off the tyrant's yoke? Why not heroically exclaim, "Give me liberty or give me death!" Instead of singing, "You may have all this world, give me Jesus?" Why not bid his kindred in bonds to rise, and with knife and torch make havoc among their oppressors rather than echoing the desire (?) warrant of slavery, "Servants, obey your masters?" Why? The "Divinity that shapes our ends, Rough hew them as we may,"

had the destiny of this man in control. It was not for him to lead a "forlorn hope," and thus unknowingly to pave the way for a glorious success, and cause his name to live forever.

In his position as the conductor of prayer-meetings and as an exhorter, he early manifested his inbred qualities of leadership. In his request of his master to allow him to hire his time, and in his subsequent request to permit him to purchase his freedom, he exhibited a spirit of independence that afterwards flowered out in a higher and wider sphere. Two strong and essential qualities he possessed—leadership and independence; inborn qualities that can be cultivated, but not acquired. They are nature's special gift to special persons for special purposes.

THE MAN in his physical aspects was naturally qualified for his mission. He was a fair representative of the nomix ed African type. Hence his qualities of leadership and independence cannot be credited to the predominance of "white blood" in his veins. He was in every respect one of the people whom he was destined to bless. There was no alien blood in him to prompt hesitancy and doubt, or to incline him to seek favor with its kind. Wherever and whenever he met a black form he recognized a kinsman to whom he was bound as with hooks of steel. There were mixed-bloods in the land in his day, and doubtless the same foolish and unreasonable prejudice that exists between some of both classes now, existed then.

THE MAN, however, was too sensible and farsighted to allow himself to be influenced by such a feeling. When the time was opportune for organizing his plans for the religious independence of his people, he chose a bright mulatto as his most trusted adviser. Allen and Cooker are historic names with us. Here is another fact that indicates providential design. The stream of religious independence that was to be started was to be sufficiently broad and deep to bear on its bosom Africa's exiled children of every shade and hue. Glorious Africa—the land that is yet to be the pride of all nations—may thy alien progeny never forget thee! Designing persons have attempted to breed and foster the colorline among us; but, following the example of the illustrious Allen, we have steadfastly refused to be thus deceived. I have briefly and imperfectly outlined the character of THE MAN whose name is our shibboleth, and around whose memory clusters our highest affections. He is our man in a specific sense—the one brain, the one heart, the one hand that stands behind the historic movement for the religious independence of the colored people in the United States. Great in the possession of imbred qualities, great in activity, great in his devotion to a heaven-born cause—when the world's benefactors are summoned to universal view the name of Richard Allen will be called.

DISTRICT EPISCOPACY OR GENERAL SUPERINTENDENCY—WHICH?

BY T. G. STEWARD, D.D.

In showing the necessity for the election of eight more Bishops a laborious and painstaking writer has assumed the district system to be the best and that fourteen episcopal districts are necessary.

Without canvassing now the question of expediency, I would invite your readers to consider, first, the question of consistency. It is generally well known that certain restrictions placed in our book of Discipline represent a kind of compact between the Church and its members. It is distinctly understood that the rules and regulations may be amended from time to time by the General Conference, and the member joining agrees [illegible] changes. But it is just as [illegible] that itinerant general superintendency shall not be done away with. This is the basis of the contract. Now, if the Church should do away with the itinerant general superintendency it would by that act vitiate the contract and consequently absolve every member from his allegiance.

It behooves us, then, to ask what is the general superintendency? For remark at the opening of this question that it is not district superintendency. District superintendency is individual, parcelled, particular superintendency, but by no stretch of language general superintendency. Now, can there be district episcopacy and general superintendency? for the superintendency is as much limited as the episcopacy. The history of the Methodist Episcopal Church shows that no man can be made a Bishop (quasi) and not a general superintendent, as in the case of Burns, Roberts and Taylor. These men are Bishops with limited jurisdiction, missionary Bishops, but not full Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church because not general superintendents.

A general superintendent with limited jurisdiction is too great an absurdity to lodge in the Anglo-Saxon mind. Hence when Bishop Brown defines the position of the African Methodist Episcopal Church as having embraced as a principle district episcopacy, he declares by consequence that she has done away with general superintendency. A general superintendency with no general superintendent is an impossibility, and no number of district superintendents, each fastened to his district by the fiat of the General Conference, can constitute a general superintendency except as a figure of speech. That this is the view held by our Church is evident from the distrust with which the Discipline has ever regarded this district business. Hear the words of our fathers: "Is there not great danger of destroying our itinerant general superintendency by dividing the connection into episcopal districts?" This is a question of thoughtful, intelligent and conscientious men, and in their answer to it they express their fears and declare that the general bishopric as a principle must be recognized.

I need scarcely mention the solemn protests of Bishops Shorter and Brown in 1884 admitting that a district episcopacy established was the funeral of the general superintendency.

But I may go far enough to say that as a matter of fact since '84, except in so far as the matter has been modified by death, we have had subordinate superintendence. The General Conference assumed the work of superintending the connection and appointed the Bishops as its agents. Not only was the general superintendency overruled, but a co-ordinate power of our ecclesiastical system was absorbed. The Bishop no longer exercises his powers ex-officio, but by virtue of a vote of the General Conference limiting his jurisdiction to certain territory. It is plain to my mind that no such question ought to have been entertained and put to a vote, as it is, as I have shown on another occasion, in constitutional and revolutionary. The moderator should have entrenched himself behind the fundamental restriction and declined to be a party to this direct assault upon "Our Fathers' Church." This vote of the conference demonstrates the destruction of the itinerant general superintendency. The questions now presenting themselves are, Shall we drift aimlessly to the sea? Shall we moor ourselves in the harbor of prelacy? Or shall we return to the platform of our fathers? Lest it may be thought that I am magnifying this matter I will submit a few points.

1st. Superintendent among Methodists was used four years before Bishop (Stevens

2. It was "the superintendence of traveling Bishops to whom the entire nation was to be a common diocese."

3d. Bishop Dadly says many Methodists are asking for diocesan episcopacy, hence it is something they have not.

4th The history of the times will show that general superintendency was used in opposition to diocesan episcopacy. It was the distinction represented on one side by White and on the other Allen. District episcopacy is simply diocesan episcopacy under another name.

CONCLUSIONS.

1. General Conference may make districts, but cannot make episcopal districts without encroaching upon the rights of the general superintendents whom it elects. If they are general superintendents, their right and duty is to superintend, not to be superintended.

2. Bishops may lay out their work as they please, in districts or otherwise, but their division of the work affects nobody else but themselves. The district lines made by them ought to have no weight in the General Conference.

"WHAT CAN I DO FOR JESUS?"

What can I do for Him who has shown such love to me?
How can I prove that I feel His mercy full and free?
Fain would I give Him all my soul and its ransomed powers,
Life and its joyous hopes, Time and its fleeting hours.

I will give Him a loyal heart, beating only true to Him;
I will ask Him to make it white, and to keep it forever clean.
I know He will fill it with love—a deepening, widening sea,
Which shall utterly burst its bounds at His feet in eternity!

I will give the years of my life, if they many be or few,
And will seek each day of those years His pleasure to know and do.
Like the flower that turns her face each morn to the rising sun
So will I look to my Lord, to see what He would have done.

I will give Him my good right hand to be foremost in the fight,
To hold His colors aloft on the side of truth and right;
And, should He call me to prove my loyalty with my life,
He shall surely find me fallen in the thickest of the strife.

So will I cleave to Him—His only in life or death,
Blessing His glorious name with my last, long, earth-drawn breath:
Wing my way to Him when my soul has taken flight,
Loving Him, praising Him there without weariness day or night.

THE EARLY FATHERS.

BY MRS. ALICE S. FELTS.

Our fathers! Where are they? Echo answers, where are they? Now that we are thinking and speaking of the coming centennial of independent religious thought by the persons who composed the A. M. E. Church, we naturally call to mind the early fathers and would not hesitate to pay a tribute of respect to them; those of the Philadelphia and Baltimore Conferences being among the first and the herculean work they did, call for our highest admiration. A slight survey of the past will make one wonder at the amount of travel and the hardships they endured to visit promptly their class or prayer-meetings and to preach in school-house or barn if the nearest dwelling-house was too small for the convenience of the neighbors who came together, for they had "meetings" in those days, and the men who directed them we of to-day call unlearned, yet the work organized and the force inspired was strong enough to bind and hold together the reading, cultured and Christian Church of the present time. The work of the early fathers seems to have been to gather up the outcast of our people and teach them the truth of the gospel, the fervency of the spirit, and to imbue them with freedom of religious thought and expression, so much so that we often call it a "fist and heel" religion, but the strength of the religion was as forcible in truth as in words. Those who spoke of being moved by the Holy Ghost did not speak vain. The man who was called of God and sent by the Holy Ghost did not wait for parlor cars and cushioned carriages to cary him to his appointment, but with the spirit of Bishop Quinn, or one of Dobbins' and was off, and meeting his congregation was not expected to give the grand hailing sign of distress to be admitted to his people's hearths and homes, for the people were often as glad to hear as he was to preach, and a dish of mush and milk was often eaten with a thankful heart. Their salary, too, was only what they could get, and often very small as Fathers Bailey, Richard Robinson, Shepherd, Holcomb and a good many others could have told and as many now living can tell.

And yet in their hardships what joyful reasons they must have had; what love-feast and shoutings with glad hallelujahs did they engage in, and as Uncle Natty Murray's (of Springtown, the first church sonth of Camden, N. J.) expressions in love-feast used to, he "Talk, ye champions; it you don't talk 'I'll sing,'" and sing he would such anthems as "Let us sing unto the Lord; to the Lord God of Host; let us sing Jehovah's trimmphs, for his people are free," and in their meetings with the John Wesley idea of fleeing the wrath to come was the foundation of the Church laid. The prayers of those strong, hardy men are its pillars. Sanctification was early preached and practiced among them, most notably by Rev. Peter Gardner, who was as eccentric in his ideas and habits as Rev. Peter Cartright, of the M. E. Church. Education came also hand in hand with their religious as many of them gathered the children together, both in day and Sunday school, teaching them the catechism and Scriptures. Rev. Joshua Woodlin in his day doing much work in teaching day school as well as preaching; even before him, I think, the Ohio Conference had purchased property for church and school, and in almost every locality was a school until a marked speech was made, when in 1844 Bishop Quinn and Bishop Payne gave us our own Wilberforce, our first university. Abont this time, we may say, the flooring of our great church was laid on the pillars early formed, for then much began to read and write letters and they have reached the festooning and decorative department of the Church, in that of rearing fine and costly edifices of worship and many high schools and universities and wanting a large and commodious Publishing House, Official Rooms and furniture to match, with all old debts cleared away, and, as David in hulding the tabernacle, collected gold and silver with which to adorn our church buildings, making them fit for the Lord to dwell in. We would like to stop and look back again and say, all honor to these brave men who dared to do and stand for the right. Through all this great nation there has been none more heroic, more worthy of distinctive honors than those who have contributed to the growth and prosperity of the early A. M. E. Church.

EXTRACTS FROM MR. DOUGLASS' SPEECH.

Fifty years agó the great scientist, Dyonisius Lardner, proved by facts and figures to his own satisfaction, that no vessel could carry enough coal to propel her across the Atlantic, but the ocean amount to nothing against facts accomplished. The City of Rome consumes a ton of coal every five minntes during her voyages. She has 60 furnaces and a crew, including all hands, of 250 persons. To walk her decks is like walking a populous street; she is a small town, not on wheels, but on the waves. Our voyage to Liverpool was marked by two incidents in which you will be interested, since they illustrate the gradual wearing away of race prejudice There was on board the Rev. Henry Wayland, son of the great Dr Wayland, late president of Brown's University. Mr. Wayland had known me years ago and had been my friend in Rochester. He is one of God's freemen. Through him I was made known to many of the passengers, and this reunited in a strong invitation to address the passengers in the saloon, with which I complied. After this I was called upon by Capt. Monroe to move a vote of thanks in a brief speech to Lord Rochester, who had presided at a concert given in the grand saloon by some talented musicians Thus my privacy was at an end, and I had much talking to do which I could not avoid. A striking contrast between the treatment I received during this voyage and that of 40 years ago, was as striking as it was gratifying. Then I could not obtain a first-class passage—even on a British steamship, and was compelled to go in the forward cabin. Now I found myself not only welcome in the first cabin, but treated by every body with special marks of interest and esteem. It is true that, although I belonged in the forward cabin 40 years ago, I made many friends during my stay there, as I was then, as on the late voyage, invited to deliver an address on the saloon deck of the Cambria, but I did not comply till invited to do so by the captain. There were several ex-slave-holders on board and a number of dough faces from the North. I had hardly been speaking ten minutes when one of the wildest, bitterest and most devilish rows occurred that I ever saw. It was only put down by the captain calling upon the boatswain to bring up the irons and threatening to put any one in irons who dared disturb me. A most unfair account of this outbreak of pro-slavery violence has gone into the history of the Cunard line, denouncing me as the cause of the disturbance on the same principle that the slaves used to be denounced as the cause of the war. The fact is, slaveholders at that time were dictators on sea and land, and the Cunard line, although flying the British flag, found it for their interest to yield to slave holding dictation, but I believe that I am the last man to offer proof of such a charge against the Cunard line. I made such a noise in England about it at the time that Samuel Conard himself publicly declared that there should be no more prescription on his ships on account of race or color. Contemplation of the forces of nature is enlarging Stabding on the deck of the City of Rome and moving among its company of passengers so unlike in appearance and character, and then looking ont npon the broad, dashing billows of the Atlantic suggested to my mind the formula that the types of mankind are various. They differ like the waves, but so do they like the sea.

ON GLADSTONE.

Though often charged with seeking the dismemberment of the British Empire, I believe Mr. Gladstone is as firm a friend to the union between England and Ireland as any man in the United Kingdom, but he is for the rule of justice instead of the rule of the bayonet, the rule of love instead of the rule of hate, the rule of trust and confidence instead of the rule of doubt and suspicion.

I wanted to see this famous statesman and orator while in London. It has been my good fortune to hear many of the best speakers in this country and in England. I have heard Webster, Everett, Sumner, Phillips and other great American orators, living and dead; I have also heard Sir Robert Peel, Richard Cobden, George Thompson, John Bright, Lord Brougham, O'Connell and other great speakers in England, and I felt it would be something to hear the peer of any of the greatest of them. Well, the opportunity was afforded me. I heard Mr. Gladstone under the most favorable conditions. It was on the occasion of his motion in Parliament to reject the infamous Coercion Bill. For weeks the hill had been debated and Mr. Gladstone had borne the full share in that debate, and I was anxious to know what he would say further, the tide of public opinion set strongly against him, and the passage of the bill was already assured. The press of the country, for the most part, had kept up a steady fire npon him, and loaded his name with epithets of bitterest kind. The House was crowded, and all eyes were turned npon him when he rose to make his last great effort to defeat this force bill for Ireland, which he knew could not be defeated, but Mr. Gladstone had a duty to perform and he performed it admirably. The first glance at his face impressed me. There was a singular blending of qualities in it, the lamb and the lion were there; saintliness as a veteran soldier and, yet, meek as a saint. His speech was one of the grandest I ever heard, and was listened to with profonndest silence by the whole House. My expectations were high, very high, but in some respects they were far exceeded. For one hour and a half, without pause, and without once hesitating for a word, he poured out one stream of eloqueuce, learning and argoment which seemed to be irresistible. When he sat down the government benches, as well as the opposition benches were immediately emptied, and poor Mr. Balfour, the secretary for Ireland, was left almost without an audience.

My visit to England was in some respects sentimental. I wanted to see the faces and press the hands of some of the dear friends and acqoaintances I met there over forty years ago In our meeting there was something pathetic. Neither they nor I were as young and strong as when we met so long ago. I saw the two ladies who were mainly instrumental in giving me the chance of devoting my life to the cause of freedom. These were Ellen and Anna Richardson, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. They were both living, one aged 79 and the other over 80. Without any suggestion from me they opened a correspondence with Hon. Walter Foward, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Meredith, of Philadelphia, and through them bought me ont of slavery, secured a bill of sale of my body, made a present ol myself to myself, and thus enabled me to return to the United States and resume my work for the emancipation of the slave. It was a great privilege to see these two good women, and to see others who assisted them in raising the money to ransom me. If I had no other compensation for my visit to England, this would have been ample payment Of course many of the precious friends who met me in England, Ireland and Scotland forty years ago have passed away, but I found many of them through their children and in them recognized their noble qualities.

One of the most interesting places for American tourists is the city of Edinburgh, and it was especially so to me, not only on account of the historical associations that cluster about it, and its many beautiful features, but for the memorable controversy I took part in with the Free Church during my first visit to Scotland. The facts are these: That church had sent a deputation to the United States immediately after separating itself from the established Church of Scotland, to collect money to build churches and support its ministers. This deputation went Sonth and collected several thousand pounds for this purpose in the slave States and preemnably from slave-holders. George Thompson, Henry C. Wright and James N. Buffon, lately deceased, made an issue with the church. We felt that it would be good testimony against slavery if we could induce the Free Church to follow the example of Daniel O'Connell in a like case, to send back the money. The debate was sharp and long—the excitement was great. Nearly everybody in Scotland, outside the Free Church, were on the side of freedom, and were for sending back the money. This sentiment was written on the pavements and walls and sang in the streets by minstrels. The very air was full of send back the money. Forgetting that I was in a monarchy and not in this republic I got myself into trouble by cutting, send back the money in the back of a seat. I was soon thereafter arrested for trespassing on the Queen's forests, and only got off by a written apology.

I visited the same spot when over there a few weeks ago, hnt the friendly grass of forty years ago had obliterated all trace of the famous formula and any humiliation, as it was also happily blotted-ont all further need of sentiment itself. The money, however, was never sent back, for Scotchmen do not part with money without knowing wherefore —a lesson which could be learned well to learn, if they ever favorably change their relations to the people and civilization of our age.

I have traveled since I left, not only in England, Ireland and Scotland, but in France, Switzerland, Italy, Athens and Egypt. The most civilized, the best cultivated, and apparently the most prosperous of these countries is England. Nothing here goes to waste, every inch of fertile soil is cultivated and made to yield abundant harvests. The average crop of wheat is forty-six bushels to the acre, exceeding that of our best Western lands. Its fields are pic tures in frames of rich hedges, adorned with leaves and flowers; its people are well behaved, orderly and strong; its cattle large, smooth and round; its public buildings snbstantial and imposing; its houses neat, ample and comfortable; everything here exhibits the mark of thoughtful care. The management of its railroads for the comfort of travelers is somewhat clumsy; they lack over there our excellent system of checks, but the protection of life is more complete, and a higher rate of speed is attained. The railroad crossings for teams are spanned by bridges—no teams cross on the rails, and hence no one is run over as in free America.

I stopped hnt a little while in London, the greatest city, with the greatest popnlation in the world, a population which is jost double what it was 42 years ago. It was two and a half millions then; it has five millions now. I was there long enough to re-visit St. Paul's, the National Gallery, the British Museum, Westminster Abbey, the Tower, Madam Sands and to visit Buffalo Bill's Show—for this is the latest addition to London life—and you would be astonished to see the hundreds of thousands that flock day after day to see this wonder of the Wild West

THE "NEW SOUTH."

Chas. A. C. Lear thus writes to the Norristown Herald nnder the above caption: Not many months since there appeared in both Repnblican and Democratic papers a sensational Associated Press dispatch from South Carolina purporting to be a discovery among the negroes of a plot to murder all the white men, take the women for their wives and the children for their servants, etc. And now comes another dispatch from Honston, Texas, dated Sept. 26, which says a "black insurrection is imminent in Matagorda county." The first dispatch is too absurd even to have found space for printer's ink. And the second one is none the less of a ridiculous character, as the sequel in the dispatch clearly shows. Matagorda county is composed mostly of colored people; they have a colored constable who attempted to arrest a white man, and the latter killed the former and fled; the blacks turned ont to hunt him, and the white border ruffians gather to defend the murderer—hence this great insurrection.

All this news is very well understood by every fair-minded citizen. The Republicans take in the situation at a glance. There is no account from this "negro insurrection" in Texas where a single white man has been killed, "but why was several negroes and more were killed." Poor devils, they start a fuss and all get hntchered. This is the same old story that has been going the rounds of the newspaper press for 18 years; it is stale now.

Bnt snppose there is really a "black insurrection" going on in Texas? Is it to he wondered at? Does not like begot like? Has not the colored Republican in the Sonth been hunted like the partridge upon the mountain ever since he has been made a citizen? And how many of his white brethren have been made to "bite the dnst" for standing up manfully for him? While men who do have the courage this Southern intolerance will never readily "forgive" them, hnt what say the colored men and their few white friends who live in the section of the country where these famous crimes against human rights and civilization take place? They won't say "forgive" for the reason that there are too many homeless orphans and widows whose pitiable condition will redress, while the blood of the slain cries ondo God for vengeance.

Somebody will say that I breathe nothing hnt wrath against the South, bnt I will not be put down by such sayings. Truth is mightier than the sword and when these annual and biennial feasts of blood cease to be visited npon my people and their friends, I will breathe easier and will try to write eulogiums on the section that I now have no pride in nor commendation for.

Election time is drawing near, and it is remarkable that some aggressive act of the negro is always put forward as a protest for setting in motion this feast of blood. If he has secret meetings it is for the purpose of killing the men and marrying the white women, and therefore the red shirters and white liliies are called ont. If he resists being cheated out of his ballot, the governor calls out the militia to put down the insurrection, &c.

Ireland has been contending for her rights for ages by agitation which has cost many of her leading sons their lives, hnt has Ireland half the cause for complaint that the negro of the South has? Compare the condition of the two and then give an impartial the verdict. There is not another race of people known to civilization that would have borne what the negro of the Sonth has borne without rising as one in open rebellion, nor against the national government, hnt against the State governments that oppress, cheat and murder them Ireland is to-day ready for rebellion if she had the means of sustaining herself. The negro had the the means would no more tolerate the powers that oppress him than Ireland would.

If the negroes would go to every election in a body and vote the square Democratic ticket one would never hear of political murders. God made the Republicans the means by which he proposed to liberate the colored race from bondage. In which the race itself was to and did take a leading part, for, says he in His holy word, "I will visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of them that hate me." The fathers introduced and kept slavery the burning question upon the altar of American liberty, and we all know that their sons had to wade in blood and over the heaps of the slain in order to wipe ont the "iniquity," inaugurated by their fathers. A more pointed and plain canse of divine procedure in punishing national crime is not to be found in any history. And shall the crimes which began with the Ku Klux-Klan organization and have been kept up ever since in a greater or less degree, go unpunished? Nay, nay.

Mr. Editor, in my letters I have contented against crime; the crime that the stronger perpetrated upon the weaker for opinion sake, and you know, sir, that I have not misstated the truth in any instance upon this point. Now, what to do is done about this matter of crime? Practically man will do nothing. The Almighty will solve the problem, and may he by "insurrection," as the whites insurrected for causes far less justifiable than the blacks have. The negro has his faults as all races of man have and will ever have. He is to a degree not his fault very ignorant and the majority of those among whom his lot is cast, are as ignorant as himself, and in this instance I may say, "If the blind lead the blind all will fall in the ditch together. This convict lease system is the growth of ignorance; it condemns men to a life equal to if not worse than the "Galley Slave" of historical notoriety. And whenever a true Southern man rises up to denounce this system (as instance G. W. Cable) he has to remove to some Northern State to find a home. Another instance of ignorance among the whites is the offering of a mortgage on his imaginary slave for certain goods, by a North Carolina man who, it would seem, never heard of the immortal Lincoln's proclamation.

Now, for years there was a farmer's convention in the city of Richmond, Va., composed of the farmers of that State, and while debating a resolution upon taxation, one of the speakers said, "The negro never contemplated negro education and does not will its claims by every means in my power." This cnt and dried expression was applauded to the echo. I suppose he referred to the Confederate constitution.

I was born in the Old Sonth, hnt reared to manhood in this mysterious new. Bnt I can find no praise for the powers that rule there until justice and judgment shall be the scepter that governs.

2. To the one procuring the highest number we will give, if a gentleman, a "RECORDER premium" overcoat worth $25, or $20 gold. Or, if a lady, we will give her a "RECORDER premium" silk dress pattern, worth $25, or $20 gold.

Dr. Mitchell, of the Ohio Conference, will engage in the second effort for $50. He says he'll be first-rate to begin now, but prior engagements prevent. He is intending, however, to have one premium out of the first 500. I can see those nine $5 gold pieces in the palm of his hand now, for when he begins—well, wait.

OUR CENTENNIAL is a constantly growing movement. Never saw anything like it in our Church. The man who will take no part in celebrating this grand occasion will get badly left. No one talking against it; its gone! Ohio Conference fairly boomed it; Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield and Xenia, Chillicothe, Gallpolis and Zanesville will all be heard from, "And all the stars that round them beam." Hurrah!—No;—well, we're going to have a good time, God willing.

Pastors will please take notice that the new Revised Ritual and Church Service is now ready for orders. Price, 45c., 202 pages, 16mo. (just 6 inches long by 4 inches wide), handy for the pocket. Soft silk finished linen cover. Bound in roan, flexible cover, 60cts. Finer ones in morroco, gilt, $1.00. Fifteen per cent off when ordering one dozen or more. Mrs. Lucas, of London, Miss Willard, of Chicago, and Mrs. Hannah Whitall Smith, of Philadelphia, have issued a circnlar in which they ask Christian women everywhere to observe November 12th and 13th as days of prayer for a divine blessing upon every form of temperance work in the world.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, DISTRICT.

BY REV. W. H. MIXON.

From the very depth of my heart, I thank the Great Architect of the human buildings for his management way back in the councells of eternity for this humble writer to have a sound body. Since I wrote up my last quarterly report, I have traveled hundreds of miles on horseback, foot, mule wagons, ox wagons, in "dog carts" on the big Tennessee River; I have slept in brick houses, frame and plank houses, log houses and ont of doors, working for manhind; I have entertained all sorts of people, and all sorts have entertained me. Many places the old fathers tell how they used to catch snakes, how they used to "conjure the dogs" to keep them off of them when they would go to see the girls; they dated hundreds of things when the stars fell, etc. I don't know a man who is ever more ready than I am to respect the aged and unfortunate colored people. I know they had only the practical side of life and not the business side, their opportunities for learning were all lim ted, yet it does seem like with intelligent children, with pleasant surroundings, they ought to know when a minister is trying to read and prepare for the Lord's work. I very, very often feel like I'm in good company when all alone.

Notwithstanding our many shortcomings, our district is doing grandly. The pastors and members are meditating their prayers; arranging to give and hear intelligent sermons and have them made "spiritually deep." A revival main is one of the conference claims are being looked after, etc., churches being built and old ones heantified.

St. John has a membership of 800. Rev. W. L. Billups is doing a grand work at Station No. 2. Rev. C. M. Jackson is at Pratt Mines. The people like him; he has been very sick indeed. Florence Station has been resented, painted up beautiful through the leadership of her much loved pastor, Rev. B. B. Fain. Tuscumbia Station has in course of erection the finest colored church in North Alabama. Bailey's Chapel is once more alive. Oak Grove is moving grandly.

Hopewell has been supplied with a local preacher, Brother B. H. Brewer, and is doing nicely. Whitesburgh had a glorious revival. Guntersville is spreading herself. Wards, moving up every way. Huntsville Station needs some improvements. The people need a working spirit and unity. Stevenson Circuit is doing well. Rev. H. T. Crenshaw is loved by the Hawkins Creek people. Decatur Station is doing well. All of the missions seem to be doing well.

I have administered Sacrament this quarter to 912, held 18 love-feasts, visited 8 class-s, attended 2 funerals, 1 marriage, baptized 3, baptized children 20, took in church 14, visited 8 sick ones, organized 2 missions, gave 66 sermons and lectures, and to the local preacher's license, granted 2 local preachers rest until they can find time to study. This is my report.

Prof. W. H. Councill, ex-principal of the State Normal School, Huntsville, Ala., is in my district. He is completing a work especially adapted to colored institntions of learning. It is a supplementary reader containing selections from the leading colored authors —speeches of James H. Hamer and others. We spent three days with this good brother. The people, both white and colored, say Brother Grimes has done and is doing the best work of any minister that has ever been there. He has added one hundred and fifteen converts and members from other denominations to the A. M. E. Church. God bless this noble man.

Newsanville Mission, Rev. P. Johnson is the pastor. He is acceptable with his people and is doing a good work for the master.

Hopeville Circuit, Rev. James Roberts is the pastor. He has had several conversions and has added them all to his church. The people all admire him and are doing all that they can to make it comfortable for him and his family.

There are six other points that we have visited. The pastors all are acceptable with the people and they are doing all they can to build up the Redemer's kingdom and to bless humanity. This district is composed of young men. Your humble writer is first in his 32d year, hnt we intend. God being our helper, to make a better report at the next annual conference for this district than ever was made. We will report one thousand as an increase in the district for this year. We have up to this date seven hundred and five of our one thousand. May God bless these young heroes of the Gainsville District, in their respective fields of labor.

WHAT TO READ.

The printing press has no scruples of consalence. It will print blasphemy as readily as prayer. Thoughts thus preserved may reach the mind only through the eye; and the act may take place secretly. No parent nor companion may know what has thus been allowed to enter and influence. The act is real. The influence may be very great. There are those who would withdraw from foul conversation in shame, who yet make little of permitting their minds secretly and silently to gloat over the page of pollution. Many more do not sufficiently select their reading. An English writer has given us a lecture on the "Companionship of Books." Books are companions. Our companion books must be wisely selected.

Our choice of reading should depend upon the object which we set before ourselves. What do we wish to be or to do? Some sort of answer to that question should be made quite early in life. Let us name some of the objects of reading.

1. We read for pleasure. We do this just as we engage in sport or games or travel, for amusement. In all this there is no wrong, no injury, provided the means and the evil are absent, and provided that the life is not absorbed in this pursuit. A social game may be very pleasant for a recreation, hnt his would be a sorry kind of life who was always absorbed in play. It is the same with merely pleasure reading. A bear story may do very well once in awhile, hut possibly some of our "youth's" papers should give the bears a rest and have a vacation. So novels, or stories of love and making love. Too much of this is as unhealthy as a constant picnic would be. Life is too real, and its demands too pressing to permit the exclusive pursuit of moonshine, or the trifling with what should be held too sacred for publicity. So of humorous reading. It is right to laugh at proper things, hnt to always laugh or try to laugh is as shocking as the condition of the man whose face was snddenly paralyzed, and a laugh, as it were, frozen upon his features.

2. We read for instruction. Books and papers are not the only sources of knowledge; hnt they do give instruction. The labor of whole lives, of whole generations is treasured in a single book. We escape the uncertainty of experiments by the experience of others. By their guidance we go away ont into the fields of knowledge. We could not do this alone. We could not do this without books. Distant countries and distant ages are spread before us. A few hours' reading every day would make any one of us a little time familiar with the great deeds, the great men, and the great thoughts of the world. Bnt we need particular instruction in reference to the questions which we have to answer, and the deeds we have to do. We are or are to be farmers, mechanics, professional men, citizens; we have personal duties to our friends, our kindred, to business and to the world; on these things we need and should seek instruction. This will suggest enough reading to well occnpy our time. This is reading for a purpose. Other reading is not likely to be very helpful. Our purpose will give an interest to our reading, and as other and wider aims open to our pursuit our reading will be extended.

3. We read for culture. We have three sets of faculties, mental, moral and physical. The physical faculties, such as seeing, hearing, are not cultivated by reading except as we are taught to preserve them and see to their health. The moral and mental faculties may be cultivated by reading. By our mental faculities we are able to think, that is, to receive knowledge. to make decisions, to remember. Our knowledge is of right and truth and beauty, and of their opposites. If we make ourselves familiar with the right, the true and beautiful in reading, they will have their influence npon us. We shall be more able to think rightly, and with beauty and strength.

What is true of our mental is also true of our moral faculties. By these we are able to love and worship God. Men and women have lived who through many, and sometimes sore experiences, have learned this moral cultivation. They are our most instructive teachers. We are false to what is of first importance if we disregard their teachings. Let each one, then, set before himself an aim. Let him have a purpose which shall direct his reading. Desultory reading is the occupation of lasiness, and the wasting of opportunities. What we really need and what we may obtain by our reading is mental and moral culture, knowledge and occasional recreation.—Christian at Work.

Says Frank Siddall, "I inhale Compound Oxygen every day of my life, it invigorates the nerve centres. My capacity for work increases, and also my enjoyment of life. I go up to Drs. Starkey and Palen's office. I prefer the morning, for its beneficial influences endures throughout the day. Then I come straight back and buckle to work again. I am a well-man now, and continue its use only as an invigorator; hut both my wife and son have tried it (the former for serious complaints) with the most satisfactory results."

Dr. Starkey left a lucrative practice to apply the fruits of long researches; and if he had advertised as I have done, he would now be a millionaire. But he and his partner, Dr. Palen, are well known. Here is judge William J. Kelley, "the father of the House of Representatives," as he is called. Ask him."

"Yes," said Judge Kelley, "I can indorse all that Mr. Siddall has said about the benefits of Compound Oxygen, for it was the means of restoring me to health after everything else had failed, and I thought I must die. I had frequent hemorrhages. Bnt Compound Oxygen came to my notice; I tried it and was saved."

"I have known Dr. Starkey for thirty years," resumed Mr. Siddall. "He is worthy of my most sincere endorsement. Bnt I wish he would advertise his great remedy."

Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., will send their pamphlet of cures and testimonials to anybody who will write for it.

[From the Baltimore American.]

A number of prominent musical people gathered in the warerooms of Wm. Knabe & Co. yesterday to examine a piano made for him for Senator "Billy" Mahone, of Virginia, for his Washington residence. The instrument was specially designed and built for that gentleman, and is truly a magnificent specimen of the highest mnsical as well as decorative art. It is a full Concert Grand, the same size and general outline as the famous grand Messrs. Knabe & Co. furnished for the Whits House. The case is of rich and beautiful figured mahogany, decorated with inlaid work of white holly, of unique and intricate design, carried out in the most artistic manner. Each panel has a group of different musical instruments, the whole snrrounded by bo der of fine marquetry work, leaves and flowers, etc. The legs and lyre are richly carved and decorated to match the body of the case, the whole producing a striking, and at the same time most refined esthetic effect. The tone is superb, striking the listener by its wonderful volume, depth and richness, combining with greatest power a most refined and mellow character and charming singing quality. the action is perfect and delightful to the performer by its ease and responsiveness.

A shower of stones rattled against a house in Sumpter Co., Ga., one night last May, it is stated, as though at regular intervals. The mysterious fusillade has been repeated, even in the presence of neighbors. No explanation has yet been found.

TO ENCOURAGE SAVINGS.

Doubtless some readers of this paper are stopped from investing their savings by the difficulty of getting together a sufficient sum to make the investment worth while. Others who have sufficient to invest are hindered by the uncertainty of finding safe securities. The advertisements in another column of the J. B. Watkins Land Mortgage Company, Lawrence, Kansas, provides for both classes of investors. The company issues obligations in amounts of five dollars and upwards, bearing interest at five per cent. The obligations can be exchanged for six per cent debenture bonds in amounts of three hundred dollars and upwards. There should be no hesitancy among small investors in taking up with this liberal plan. The security offered to both large and small investors seems ample. The Company has a capital of $750,000, with surplus of $349,307, and has back of it the business experience of 17 years, during which time millions have been invested and not a dollar lost. A pamphlet with full information will be mailed on application.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE IN EPILEPSY.

To the careless eye these two Blankets look alike. They are the same size, and each is equally well made, but one contains one pound more of pure wool than the other.

A question came up: "Shall we follow in the common track of the trade and make all we can out of our customers by charging $1 too much for the 5 lb. Blankets, or shall we throw away $1 and charge $5 for the 6 lb. Blankets?"

52 cases of 6 lb. Blankets, the best all-wool Blankets ever offered by us at $5 a pair. We give you the $1. You get 6 lbs. instead of 5 lbs. of wool. What wonder that you have taken more than half of the 52 cases in the little time they have been here!

About 25 cases left. May take a week for them to go; at most two weeks.

THE EARLY FATHERS.

BY MRS. ALICE S FELTS.

Our fathers! Where are they? Echo answers, where are they? Now that we are thinking and speaking of the coming centennial of independent religious thought by the persons who composed the A. M. E. Church, we naturally call to mind the early fathers and would not hesitate to pay a tribute of respect to them; those of the Philadelphia and Baltimore Conferences being among the first and the herculean work they did, call for our highest admiration. A slight survey of the past will make one wonder at the amount of travel and the hardships they endured to visit promptly their class or prayer-meetings and to preach in school-house or barn if the nearest dwelling-house was too small for the convenience of the neighbors who came together, for they had "meetings" in those days, and the men who directed them were men who may call unlearned, yet the work organized and the force inspired was strong enough to bind and hold together the reading, cultured and Christian Church of the present time. The work of the early fathers seems to have been to gather up the outcast of our people and teach them the truth of the gospel, the fervency of the spirit, and to imbue them with freedom of religious thought and expression, so much so that we often call it a "flat and heel" religion, but the strength of the religion was as forcible in truth as in words. Those who spoke of being moved by the Holy Ghost acted as they spoke. The man who was called of God and sent of the Holy Ghost did not walk for parlor cars and cushioned carriages to carry him to his appointment, but with the spirit of Bishop Quinn, mounted "Dobbins" and was off, and meeting his congregation not expecting to give the grand, hailing sign of distress to be admitted to his people's hearths and homes, for the people were often as glad to hear as he was to preach, and a dish of mush and milk was often served with a hundred heart. Their salary, too, was only what they could get, and often very small as Fathers Bailey, Richard Robinson, Sheppard, Holcomb and a good many others could have told and as many now living can tell.

And yet in their hardships what joyful reasons they must have had; what love-feast and shoutings with glad hallelujahs they sang. One of Uncle Natty Murray's (of Springtown, the first church south of Camden, N. J.) expressions in love-feast used to be "Talk, ye champions; if you don't talk I'll sing," and sing he would such anthems as "Let us sing unto the Lord;" to the Lord God of Host; let us sing Jehovah's triumphs, for his people are free," and in their meetings with the John Wesley idea of fleeing the wrath to come was the foundation of the Church laid. The prayers ing a populous street; she is a small town, not on wheels, but on the waves. Our voyage to Liverpool was marked by two incidents in which you will be interested, since they illustrate the gradual wearing away of race prejudice There was on board the Rev. Henry Wayland, son of the great Dr. Wayland, late president of Brown's University. Mr. Wayland had known me years ago and had been my friend in Rochester. He is one of God's freemen. Through him I was made known to many of the passengers, and this resulted in a strong invitation to address the passengers in the saloon, with which I complied. After this I was called upon by Capt. Monroe to move a vote of thanks in a brief speech to Lord Rochester, who had presided at a concert given in the grand soloon by some talented musicians. Thus my privacy was at an end, and I had much talking to do which I could not avoid. A striking contrast between the treatment I received during this voyage and that of 40 years ago, was as striking as it was gratifying. Then I could not obtain a first-class passage—even on a British steamship, and was compelled to go in the forward cabin. Now I found myself not only welcome in the first cabin, but treated by every body with special marks of interest and esteem. It is true that, although I belonged in the forward cabin 40 years ago, I made many friends during that voyage and was then, as on the late voyage, invited to deliver an address in the saloon deck of the Cambria, but I did not comply till invited to do so by the captain. There were several slave-holders on board and a number of dough faces from the North. I had hardly been speaking ten minutes when one of the wildest, bitterest and most devilish rows occurred that I ever saw. It was only put down by the captain calling upon the boatswain to bring up the irons and threatening to put any one in irons who dared disturb me. A most unfair account of this outbreak of pro-slavery violence has gone into the history of the Cunard line, denouncing me as the cause of the disturbance on the same principle that the slaves used to be denounced as the cause of the war. The fact is, slaveholders at that time were dictators on sea and land, and the Cunard line, although flying the British flag, found it for their interest to yield to slave holding dictation, but I believe that I am the last man of color proscribed on even the Cunard line. made such a noise in England about it as to cause that Samuel Cunard himself publicly declared that there should be no more prescription on his ships on account of race or color. Contemplation of the forces of nature in managing Stabding on the deck of the City of Rome and moving among its company of passengers so unlike in appearance and character, and their looking ont upon the broad, dashing billows of the Atlantic suggested to my mind the formula that the types of mankind are various. They differ like the waves, hut are not like the sea.

ON GLADSTONE.

Though often charged with seeking the dismemberment of the British Empire, I believe Mr. Gladstone is as firm a friend to the union between England and Ireland as any man in the United Kingdom, but he is for the rule of justice instead of the rule of the bayonet, the rule of love instead of the rule of hate, the rule of trust and confidence in stead of the rule of doubt and suspicion. I wanted to see this famous statesman and orator while in London. It has been my good fortune to hear many of the best speakers in this country and England. I have heard Webster, Everett, Sumner, Phillips and other great American orators, living and dead; I have also heard Sir Robert Peel, Richard Cobden, George Thompson, John Bright, Lord Brougham, O'Connell and other great speakers in England, and I felt it would be something to hear the peer of any of the greatest of them. Well, the opportunity was afforded me. I heard Mr. Gladstone under the most favorable conditions. It was on the occasion of his motion in Parliament to reject the infamous Coercion Bill. For weeks the bill had been debated and Mr. Gladstone had borne his full share in that debate, and I was anxious to know what he would say further, the tide of public opinion set strongly against him, and the passage of the bill was already assured. The press of the country, for the most part, had kept up a steady fire upon him, loaded him with reproaches of the bitterest kind. The House was crowded, and all eyes were turned upon him when he rose to make his last great effort to defeat this force bill for Ireland, which he knew could not be defeated, hnt Mr. Gladstone had a duty to perform and he performed it admirably. The first glance at his face impressed me. There was a singular blending of qualities in it, the lamb and the lion were there; dauntless as a veteran soldier and, yet, meek as a saint. His speech was one of the grandest I ever heard, and was listened to with profoundest silence by the whole House. My expectations were high, very high, but in some respects they were far exceeded. For one hour and a half, without pause, and without once hesitating for a word, he poured out one stream of eloquence, learning and argument which seemed to be irresistible When he sat down the government benches, as well as the opposite benches, were immediately emptied, and poor Mr. Balfour, the secretary for Ireland, was left almost without an audience.

My visit to England was in some respects sentimental. I wanted to see the faces and press the hands of some of the dear friends and acquaintances I met there over forty years ago. In one meeting there was something pathetic. Neither they nor I were as young and strong as when we met so long ago. I saw the two ladies who were mainly instrumental in giving me the chance of devoting my life to the cause of freedom. These were Ellen and Anna Richardson, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. They are both living, one aged 79 and the other over 80. Without any suggestion from me they opened a correspondence with Hon. Walter Foward, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Meredith, of Philadelphia, and through them bought me ont of slavery, secured a bill of sale of my body, made a present of myself to myself, and thus enabled me to return to the United States and resume my work for the emancipation of the slaves. It was a great privilege to see these two good women, and to see others who assisted them in raising the money to ransom me. If I had no other compensation for my voyage across the sea, this would have been ample payment. Of course many of the beloved friends who met me in England, Ireland and Scotland forty years ago have passed away, but I saw some of them through their children and in them recognized their own features.

One of the most interesting places for American tourists is the city of Edinburgh, and it was especially so to me, not only on account of the historical associations that clustered about it, and its many beautiful features, but for the memorable controversy I took part in with the Free Church during my first visit to Scotland. The facts are these: That church had sent a deputation to the United States immediately after separating itself from the established Church of Scotland, to collect money to build churches and support its ministry. That deputation went South and collected several thousand pounds for this purpose in the slave States and presumably from slave-holders. George Thompson, Henry C. Wright and James N. Bolfom, lately deceased, made an issue with the church. We felt that it would be a good testimony against slavery if we could induce the Free Church to follow the example of Daniel O'Connell in a like case to send back the money. The debate was a sharp and long one. Excitement was great. Nearly everybody in Scotland, outside the Free Church, were on the side of freedom, and were for sending back the money. This sentiment was written upon the pavements and walls and sung in the streets by minstrels. The very air was full of send back the money. Forgetting that I was in a monarchy and not in this republic I got myself into trouble by quoting, send back the money in the back of a seal. I was soon thereafter arrested for trespassing on the Queen's forests, and only got off by a written apology.

I visited the same spot when over there a few weeks ago, but the friendly grass of forty years ago had obliterated all trace of the famous formula and my humiliation, as it has also happily blotted-out all further need of sentiment itself. The money, however, was never sent back, for Scotchmen do not part with money without knowing wherefore —a lesson which colored people will do well to learn, if they ever favorably change their relations to the people and civilization of our age.

I have traveled since I left, not only in England, Ireland and Scotland, hnt in France, Switzerland, Italy, Athens and Egypt. The most civilized, the best cultivated, and apparently the most prosperous of these countries is England. Nothing here goes to waste, every inch of fertile soil is cultivated and made to yield abundant harvests. The average crop of wheat is forty-six bushels to the acre, exceeding that of our best Western lands. Its fields are picture in frames of rich hedges, adorned with leaves and flowers; its people are well behaved, orderly and strong; its cattle large, smooth and round; its public buildings substantial and imposing; its houses neat, ample and comfortable; everything here exhibits the mark of thoughtful care. The management of its railroads for the comfort of travelers is somewhat clumsy; they lack over there our excellent system of checks, hnt the protection of life is more complete, and a higher rate of speed is attained. The railroad crossings for roads are spanned by bridges—no teams cross on the rails, and hence no one is run over as in free America.

I stopped but a little while in London, the greatest city, with the greatest population in the world, a population which is just double what it was 42 years ago. It was two and a half millions then; it has five millions now. I was there long enough to re-visit St. Paul's, the National Gallery, the British Museum, Westminster Abbey, the Tower, Madam Sands and to visit Buffalo Bill's Show—for this is the latest addition to London life—and you would be astonished to see the hundreds of thousands that flock day after day to see this wonder of the Wild West

THE "NEW SOUTH."

Chas A. C. Lear thus writes to the Norristown Herald under the above caption: Not many months since there appeared in both Republican and Democratic papers a sensational Associated Press dispatch from South Carolina purporting to be a discovery among the negroes of a plot to murder all the white men, take the women for their wives and the children for their servants, etc. And now comes another dispatch from Houston, Texas, dated Sept. 26, which says a "black insurrection is imminent in Matagorda county." The first dispatch is too absurd even to have found space for printer's ink And the second one is none the less of a ridiculous character, as the sequel in the dispatch clearly shows. Matagorda county is composed mostly of colored people; they have colored constables who attempted to arrest a white man, and the latter killed the former and fled; the blacks turned ont to hunt him, and the white border ruffians gather to defend the murderer—hence this great insurrection.

All this news is very well understood by every fair-minded citizen. The Republicans take in the situation at a glance. There is no account from this "grave insurrection" in Texas where a single white man has been killed, "but it was reported that several negroes were killed." Poor devils, they start a fuss and all get butchered. This is the same old story that has been going the rounds of the newspaper press for 18 years; it is stale now.

But suppose there is really a "black insurrection" going on in Texas? Is it to be wondered at? Does not like begot like? Has not the colored Republican in the South been hunted like the partridge upon the mountain ever since he has been made a citizen? And how many of his white brethren have been made to "bite the dust" for standing up manfully for him? White men who do not have to tolerate this Southern intolerance will never readily "forgive" them. The white and colored men and their few white friends who live in the section of the country where these infamous crimes against human rights and civilization take place? They won't say "forgive" for the reason that there are too many homeless orphans and widows whose pitiable condition cries for redress, while the blood of the slain cries unto God for vengeance.

Somebody will say that I breathe not a word against the South, but I will not he put down by such sayings. Truth is mightier than the sword and when these annual and biennial feasts of blood cease to be visited upon my people and their friends. I will breathe easier and will try to write eulogiums on the section that I now have no pride in nor commendation for.

Election time is drawing near, and it is remarkable that some aggressive act of the negro is always put forward as a protest for setting in motion this feast of blood. If he has secret meetings it is for the purpose of killing the men and marrying the white women, and therefore the red shirts and white liners are called out. It he resists being cheated out of his ballot, the governor calls ont the militia to put down the insurrection, etc., etc.

Ireland has been contending for her rights for ages by agitation which has cost many of her leading sons their lives, but has Ireland half the cause for complaint that the negro of the South has? Compare the condition of the two and then give an impartial answer. There is not another race of people known to civilization that would have borne what the negro of the South has borne without rising as one in open rebellion, not against the national government, but against the State governments that oppress, cheat and murder them. Ireland is to-day ready for rebellion if she had the means of sustaining herself. The negro had he the means would no more tolerate the powers that oppress him than Ireland would.

If the negroes would go to every election in a body and form the square Democratic ticket one would never hear of political murders. God made the Republicans the means by which he proposed to liberate the colored race from bondage, in which the race itself was to and did take a leading part, for, says he in His holy word, "I will visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generation of them that hate me." The fathers introduced and kept slavery the hurning question upon the altar of American liberty, and we all know that their sons had to wade in blood and over the heaps of the slain in order to wipe out the "iniquity," inaugurated by their fathers. A more pointed and plain cause of divine procedure hu punishing national crime is not to be found in any history. And shall the crimes which began with the Ku Klux-Klan organization and have been kept up ever since in a greater or less degree, go unpunished? Nay, nay. Mr. Editor, in all my letters I have contended against crime, the crime that the stronger perpetrated upon the weaker for opinion sake, and you know, sir, that I have not mistated the truth in any instance upon this point. Now, what is to be done about this matter of crime? Practically man will do nothing. The Almighty will solve the problem, and may he by "insurrection," as the whites insurrected for causes far less justifiable than the blacks have. The negro has his faults as all races of men have and will ever have. He is to a degree not his fault very ignorant and the majority of those among whom his lot is cast, are as ignorant as himself, and in this instance I may say, "If the blind lead the blind all will fall in the ditch together. This cowiot lease system is the growth of ignorance; it condemns men to a life equal to if not worse than the "Galley Slave" of historical notoriety. And whenever a true Southern man rises up to denounce this system (as instance G. W. Cable) he has to remove to some Northern State to find a home. Another instance of ignorance among the whites is the offering of a mortgage on his imaginary slave, for certain goods, by a North Carolina man who, it would seem, never heard of the immortal Lincoln's proclamation.

A few years ago there was a farmer's convention in the city of Richmond, Va., composed of the farmers of that State, and while debating a resolution upon taxation, one of the speakers said, "The Constitution never contemplated negro education and for one I will resist it by every means in my power." This cnt and dried expression was applauded to the echo. I suppose he referred to the Confederate constitution.

I was born in the Old South, but reared to manhood in this mysterious new. But I can find no praise for the powers that rule there until justice and judgment shall be the scepter that governs.

No use talking against it; it is gone! Ohio Conference fairly boomed it; Cincinnati, Columbus, Springfield and Xenia, Chillicothe, Gallipolis and Zanesville will all be heard from, "And all the stars that round them beam." Hurrah!—No;—well, we're going to have a good time, God willing.

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA, DISTRICT.

BY REV. W. H. MIXON.

From the very depth of my heart, I thank the Great Architect of the human buildings for his arrangement way back in the councils of eternity for this humble writer to have a sound body. Since I wrote up my last quarterly report, I have traveled hundreds of miles on horseback, foot, mule wagons, ox wagons, in "dug outs" on the big Tennessee River; I have slept in brick houses, frame and plank houses, log houses and out of doors, working for manking; I have entertained all sorts of people, and all sorts have entertained me. Many places the old fathers tell how they used to catch snakes, how they used to "conjure the dogs" to keep them off of them when they would go to see the girls; they dated hundreds of things when the stars fell, etc. I don't know a man who is ever more ready than I am to respect the aged and unfortunate colored people. I know they had only the practical side of life and not the business aids, their opportunities for learning were all limited, yet it does seem like with intelligent children, with pleasant surroundings, we ought to know when a minister is trying to read and prepare for the Lord's work. I very, very often feel like I'm in good company when all alone.

Notwithstanding our many shortcomings, our district is doing grandly. The pastors and members are meditating their prayers; arranging to give and hear intelligent sermons and have them made "spiritually discerned." The general rain is falling, conference claims are being looked after, etc., churches being built and old ones beautified.

St. John has a membership of 500. Rev. W. C. L. Billups is doing a grand work at Station No. 2. Rev. C. M. Jackson is at Pratt Mines. The people like him; he has been very sick indeed. Florence Station has been reseated, painted and repaired through the leadership of her much loved pastor, Rev. B. B. Fain. Tuscumbia Station has in course of erection the finest colored church in North Alabama. Bailey's Chapel is once more alive. Oak Grove is moving grandly.

Hopewell has been supplied with a local preacher, Brother B. H. Brewer, and is doing nicely. Whitesburgh had a glorious revival. Guntersville is upraising herself. Wells, moving up every way. Huntsville Station needs some improvements. The people need a working spirit and unity. Stevenson Circuit is doing well. Rev. H. T. Cresshaw is loved by the Hawkins Creek people. Decatur Station is doing well. All of the missions seem to be doing well.

I have administered Sacrament this quarter to 12, held 18 love-feasts, visited 8 class's, attended 2 funerals, 1 marriage, baptized 3, baptized children 20, took in church 14, visited 8 sick ones, organized 2 missions, gave 66 sermons and lectures, renewed 1 local preacher's license, granted 2 local preachers' licenses, received 1 on trial, secured $25, or $20 gold.

Prof. W. H. Councill, ex-principal of the State Normal School, Huntsville, Ala., is in my district. He is completing a work especially adapted to colored institutions of learning. It is a supplementary reader containing selections from the leading colored authors —speeches and addresses, and giving $250 as a prize to the most prominent colored man. This will be a powerful stimulant in the hands of the negro youth. Councill is a great man.

Now, Bro. Lee, and readers, I presume you have satisfied yourselves in reading this letter, I therefore deem it wisdom to stop; but allow me to say before I do stop, that Alabama is the wonder of the world. I want your readers to come and see Alabama—visit the cities in my district, viz., Birmingham, Decatur, Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Florence and Huntsville. Alabama is in the morning of her youth. Where is your State? In the afternoon, I guess. I will now close with an invitation to the General Offices and friends to meet us in Selma, 23rd of November, '87, annual conference. Birmingham, Ala.

GAINESVILLE DISTRICT, EAST FLORIDA CONFERENCE.

BY REV. M. M. MOORE.

At the seat of the last annual conference our beloved Bishop D. A. Payne appointed your writer presiding elder of the above named district, the largest in the State, having ninety-three appointments. I was received gladly by all the ministers on the district. We held our first quarterly conference on the Ocala Mission. Rev. Henry young is the pastor. We had a good meeting. Brother Young has added twenty-five members to his charge.

At Mt. Tabor Circuit Rev. B. W. Wiley, B.D., is holding this charge with a steady hand and is preparing to build a new church. One the Anthony Circuit Rev. B. D. Roberson has his work in a good condition. We preached on Sunday; the Lord was with us. Twelve persons joined the church and a host of others came to this altar and asked forgiveness for their sins.

Rev. J. M. Dukes, the great campmeeting man of Florida, is pastor at Citra. He has added one hundred and fifty members to his church and is hard at work preparing to build another church because the present one cannot hold his congregation. May God bless this young brother in his effort to sava souls.

Rev. P. G. Gowens, the ex-presiding elder, is stationed at Whiteside. He have entertained all sorts of people, and all sorts have entertained me. Many places the old fathers tell how they used to catch snakes, how they used to "conjure the dogs" to keep them off of them when they would go to see the girls; they dated hundreds of things when the stars fell, etc. I don't know a man who is ever more ready than I am to respect the aged and unfortunate colored people. I know they had only the practical side of life and not the business aids, their opportunities for learning were all limited, yet it does seem like with intelligent children, with pleasant surroundings, we ought to know when a minister is trying to read and prepare for the Lord's work. I very, very often feel like I'm in good company when all alone.

Rev. Anthony Brittamy has had several conversions and added a great many to his churches on the Micanopy Circuit. Ocala, Rev. Jas. L. Gray, pastor. We found Brother Gray hard at work preparing for the fall and winter work. Every department of his church was represented by intelligent reports. Rev. Gray is fishing one of the finest parsonages in the State. We preached on Sunday to forty persons for forward and joined. The collection during our stay was $16 00 for the presiding elder and $77 00 for church purposes.

When we arrived at Archer, Rev. Allen Jones, pastor, all the officers were at the church waiting. Brother Jones, the excellent pastor, had been called home to see the last of his dying wife. Things seemed a little awkward on account of his absence. Rev. J. P. Singleton is the pastor of Bronson Circuit. The Lord has blessed him and he has added many souls to his charge.

Cedar Keys is a fine little island city on the Gulf of Mexico. Rev. Lewis Johnson has a nice little chapel and quite an intelligent congregation. The good people are working hard to have their chapel repainted and carpeted. Gainesville is our next point.

Rev. Samuel H. Coleman, A. M., chairman of the East Florida Conference delegation to the next General Conference, is the pastor of the church in Gainesville. Rev. Coleman is accepted as well as his congregation and is revered by all who know him. His congregation is orderly and intelligent. Prof. J. N. Cloton, son of the late Bishop Clinton, is the superintendent of the Sunday school and leader of the choir, which he has made the equal of Allen Chapel choir, Pensacola.

We move on from here to Fair Banks Circuit. Rev. Thomas W. Walker was appointed here, but he has resigned and Rev. Joseph Stafford is in charge and is doing a good work. He will no doubt bring this work up again.

Hawthone Circuit is our next place. Rev. Amos Thompson is here holding the work with a steady hand. We preached for his people on Sunday. One person was converted and ten joined the church.

We went from here to Starke. Rev. J. G. Grimes is the pastor of this circuit. When we got there Brother Grimes had a fine carriage waiting our arrival. We were taken to the parsonage, where Rev. Grimes had prepared a fine dinner for five spiritual guests. With this good brother. The people, both white and colored, say Brother Grimes has done and is doing the best work of any minister that has ever been there. He has added one hundred and fifteen converts and members from other denominations to the A. M. E. Church. God bless this noble man.

Newnanville Mission, Rev. P. Johnson is the pastor. He is acceptable with his people and is doing a good work for the master.

Hopeville Circuit, Rev. James Roberts is the pastor. He has had several conversations and has added them all to his church. The people all seem to like him and are doing all that they can to make it comfortable for him and his family.

There are six other points that we have visited. The pastors all are acceptable with the people and they are doing all they can to build up the Redeemer's kingdom and to bless humanity. This district is composed of young men. Your humble writer is just in his 33d year, but we intend. God being our helper, to make a better report at the next annual conference for this district than ever was made. We will report one thousand as an increase in the district for this year. We have up to this date seven hundred and five of our one thousand. May God bless these young heroes of the Gainesville District, in their respective fields of labor.

WHAT TO READ.

The printing press has no scruples of conscience. It will print blasphemy as readily as prayer. Thoughts thus preserved may reach the mind only through the eye; and the act may take place secretly. No parent nor companion may know what has thus been allowed to enter and influence. The act is real. The influence may be very great. There are those who would withdraw from foul conversation in shame, who yet make little of permitting their minds secretly and silently to gloat over the page of pollution. Many more do not sufficiently select their reading. An English writer has given us a lecture on the "Companionship of Books." Books are companions. Our companion books must be wisely selected.

Our choice of reading should depend upon the object which we set before ourselves. What do we wish to be or to do? Some sort of answer to that question should be made quite early in life. Let us name some of the objects of reading.

1. We read for pleasure We do this just as we engage in sport or games or travel, for amusement. In all this there is no wrong, no injury, provided the impure and the evil are absent, and provided that the life is not absorbed in this pursuit. A social game may be very pleasant for a recreation, but his would be a sorry kind of life who was always absorbed in play. It is the same with merely pleasure reading. A bear story may do very well once in awhile, but possibly some of our "youth's" papers should give the bears and Indians a vacation. So of novels, the stories of love and making love. Too much of this is as unhealthy as a constant picnic would be. Life is too real, and its demands too pressing to permit the exclusive pursuit of moonshine, or the rifling with what should be held too sacred for publicity. So of humorous readlog. It is right to laugh at proper things, but to always laugh or try to laugh is as shocking as the condition of the man whose face was suddenly paralyzed, and a laugh, as it were, frozen upon his features.

2. We read for instruction. Books and papers are not the only sources of knowledge; but they do give instruction. The wisdom of whole lives of whole generations is treasured in a single book. We escape the uncertainty of experiment's by the experience of others. By their guidance we go away out into the fields of knowledge. We could not do this alone. We could not do this without books. Distant countries and distant ages are spread before us. A few hours' reading every day would make any one of us a little more familiar with the great in deeds, the great men, and the great thoughts of the world. But we need particular instruction in reference to the questions which we have to answer, and the deeds we have to do. We are for us to be farmers, mechanics, professional men, citizens; we have personal duties to our friends, our kindred, to ourselves and to the world; on these things we need and should seek instruction. This will suggest enough reading to well occupy our time. This is reading for a purpose. Other reading is not likely to be very helpful. Our purpose will give an interest to our reading, and as other and wider aims open to our pursuit our reading will be extended.

3. We read for culture. We have three sets of faculties, mental, moral and physical. The physical faculties, such as seeing, hearing, are not cultivated by reading except as we are taught to preserve them and see to their health. The moral and mental faculties may be cultivated by reading. By our mental faculties we are able to think, that is, to receive knowledge, to make decisions, to remember. Our knowledge is of right and truth and beauty, and of their opposites. If we make ourselves familiar with the right, the true and beautiful in reading, they will have their influence upon us. We shall be more able to think rightly, and with beauty and strength.

What is true of our mental is also true of our moral faculties. By these we are able to love and worship God. Men and women have lived who through many, and sometimes sore experiences, have learned this moral cultivation. They are our most instructive teachers. We are false to what is of first importance if we disregard their teachings. Let each one, then, set before himself an aim. Let him have a purpose which shall direct his reading. Desultory reading is the occupation of idle men, and the wasting of opportunities. What we really need and what we may obtain by our reading is mental and moral culture, knowledge and occasional recreation.—Christian at Work.

Says Frank Siddall, "I inhale Compound Oxygen every day of my life, it invigorates the nerve centres. My capacity for work increases, and also my enjoyment of life. I go up to Drs. Starkey and Palen's office, I greet the morning, for its beneficial influences are dures throughout the day. Then I come straight back and buckle to work again. I am a well man now, and continue its use only as an invigorator; but both my wife and son have tried it (the former for serious complaints) with the most satisfactory results."

Dr. Starkay left a lucrative practice to apply the fruits of long researches; and if he had advertised, as I have done, he would now be a millionaire. But he and his partner, Dr. Palen, are well known. Here is judge William D. Kelley, "the father of the House of Representatives," as he is called. Ask him."

"Yes," said judge Kelley, "I can indorse all that Mr. Siddall has said about the benefits of Compound Oxygen, for it was the means of restoring me to health after everything else had failed, and I thought I must die. I had frequent hemorrhages. But Compound Oxygen came to my notice; I tried it and was saved."

If I have known Dr. Starkey for thirty years," resumed Mr. Siddall. "He is worthy of my most sincere endorsement. But I wish he would advertise his great remedy."

Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., will send their pamphlet of cures and testimonials to anybody who will write for it.

[From the Baltimore American.]

A number of prominent musical people gathered in the wareroome of Wm. Knabe & Co. yesterday to examine a piano made by the firm for Senator "Billy" Mahone, of Virginia, for his Washington residence. The instrument was specially designed and built for that gentleman, and is truly a magnificent specimen of the highest musical as well as decorative art. It is a full Concert Grand, and in addition to a general outline as the famous grand Messrs. Knabe & Co. furnished for the White House. The case is of rich and beautiful figured rosewood, decorated with inlaid work of white holly, of unique and intricate design, carried out in the most artistic manner. Each panel has a group of different musical instruments, the whole surrounded by bouquets of fine marquetry work, leaves and flowers, etc. The legs and lyre are richly carved and decorated to match the body of the case, the whole producing a striking, and at the same time most refined esthetic effect. The tone is superb, striking the listener by its wonderful volume, depth and richness, combined with great sweetness and most refined and mellow character and charming singing quality, the action and touch perfectly delightful to the performer by its ease and responsiveness.

A shower of stones rattled against a house in Sumpter Co., Ga., one night last May, it is stated, as though at regular intervals The mysterious fusilade has been repeated, even in the presence of neighbors. No explanation has yet been found.
